Faculty Handbook
Vassar College
2021-22
Inspiring and dedicated faculty members are key to the quality of education students receive at Vassar College. In an effort to advance the important work of the faculty, the Dean of the Faculty’s office maintains this handbook to introduce new faculty members to the College’s organization, procedures, and services and to facilitate access to important information for all faculty members.

This handbook is necessarily selective. Faculty members should familiarize themselves also with The Governance of Vassar College, the primary reference source governing College organization and faculty relations. The Governance describes the functions and powers of the trustees and administrative officers as well as the organization and functions of the faculty as a whole and the departments of instruction. Of special interest are sections referring to faculty members’ rights and obligations, principles of academic freedom, and relations of faculty and trustees. While documents like our Governance now exist in many institutions, Vassar pioneered adoption of such a written constitution. Since its first formulation as the Statute of Instruction in 1923, this document has affirmed that “the faculty shall in general determine and shall direct educational policy” -- the cornerstone of Vassar’s tradition of extensive faculty self-governance.

Another resource -- the Dean of the Faculty website at https://deanofthefaculty.vassar.edu/ -- provides centralized access to a number of items of importance to faculty members. See especially Resources for Faculty, Handbooks and Forms, and Policies and Procedures for such things as faculty housing information, the Religious Holy Days calendar, childcare resources, the travel funding request form, the lecture funding request form, the annual activity report form, the travel policy, equal employment and affirmative action policies, and guidelines for department letters for faculty reviews.

The College Regulations describes student governance procedures. In addition to covering social regulations and the constitution of student government, the College Regulations summarizes rules and regulations, including those governing safety and traffic guidelines, applying to all members of the college community.

Faculty members should familiarize themselves with the present handbook’s section on “Educational Policy, Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity, and the Conduct of Classes.” Its regulations and recommendations facilitate the inspiring teaching, conscientious mentoring, and creative scholarship that lie at the core of our profession as faculty members.

As Dean of the Faculty, my responsibility is to facilitate your success as teachers, scholars, and citizens of the College. I welcome your comments on how this handbook and the Dean’s office in general could serve you more effectively.

William Hoynes
Dean of the Faculty

STATEMENT ON ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY AND RESPECT FOR PERSONS

Vassar College values freedom of expression and supports deep engagement in and equitable access to teaching, learning, scholarly research, and artistic endeavor. The College is committed to the pursuit of knowledge, freedom of inquiry, and informed, robust, and inclusive debate. Vassar’s faculty and students may engage with an array of disciplines and issues and are free to explore contested ideas and political positions. Our community welcomes forms of dissent and protest that acknowledge and encourage the expression of different perspectives.

The College recognizes the legal limits to academic freedom and free expression. Unlawful conduct, such as defamation and the incitement of violence, will not be tolerated. As a private institution, Vassar is a voluntary association of persons who share a responsibility to respect the rights, dignity, and integrity of all community members and guests. In addition to adhering to federal and state laws, all community members and guests are expected to abide by Vassar’s governing principles when engaging with one another. Abusive or bullying behavior has no place in this environment.

Membership in an intentional learning community also calls for a spirit of generosity and the ability to question our own assumptions. The College thus urges individuals to approach one another as partners in a learning process that facilitates the creation of knowledge, while fostering a rich intellectual and cultural environment in which all are empowered to thrive. Only a community that honors freedom of expression, different points of view, and mutual interdependence can serve the objectives of a liberal arts education and the needs of the complex, pluralistic society of which Vassar is a part.

A. ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES OF THE COLLEGE AND SERVICES PROVIDED

I. OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Elizabeth Bradley, President

Office: Main Building, second floor, center (M-C207, x7200)

As chief executive officer of the college, the president has overall responsibility for all administrative decisions. The President is a member of the Board of Trustees and serves as liaison between the trustees and the faculty. As chair of the faculty, the President presides at faculty meetings.

The dean of the faculty, the vice president for finance and administration, the dean of strategic planning and academic resources, the dean of the college, the vice president for Technology and Human Resources; Chief Information Officer report directly to the president.

Wesley Dixon, Special Assistant to the President and Board Secretary

Office: Main Building, second floor, center M-C207 (x5334)

The assistant to the president is responsible for coordinating the president’s activities with trustees, alumnae/i, and students.

Office: Main Building, N107 (x5491)

Colton Johnson, College Historian Contact: (email: johnsonc@vassar.edu, Box 473)

II. OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF THE FACULTY

William Hoynes, Dean of the Faculty, Professor of Sociology
Kathleen Susman, Associate Dean of the Faculty, Professor of Biology
Melissa Naitza, Assistant Dean for Academic Administration
Erica Leman, Assistant Director of Academic Administration

Office: Main Building, first floor, north wing (M-N104, x5300)

The dean of the faculty is the chief academic officer of the college and oversees all matters pertaining to educational policies and procedures, the curriculum, academic departments, and the faculty. Chairs of the departments of instruction and directors of other academic programs are responsible to the dean of the faculty, as are the director of equal opportunity and affirmative action, director of copyright management, and the faculty director of the learning and teaching center. Also under the jurisdiction of the dean of the faculty are the offices of grants administration, community-engaged learning, international programs, and the registrar. The dean of the faculty also oversees the learning and teaching center and, in concert with the dean of strategic planning and academic resources, the exploring transfer program. The dean of the faculty is the chair of the Committee on Curricular Policies and the Grants Group.

Members of the faculty may consult the dean at any time, ordinarily by appointment. The staff of the office provides information about procedures and rules that affect faculty members.

The associate dean and the assistant dean for academic administration support the dean in various administrative tasks.

Research Development

Katie Hite, Director

Office: Rockefeller Hall (RH-410, x7661, kahite@vassar.edu)

The faculty director offers support for all stages of a research project, including formulating the project, identifying funding sources, applying for grants, and publishing. Much of the time, these services take the form of consultations between the director and individual scholars. Occasionally, in addition, the director brings together groups of faculty with related research interests or at similar career stages to discuss issues of mutual concern. The Faculty Directors of Research and Teaching Development offer collaborative workshops to assist faculty to identify creative ways to integrate teaching and research. Together with the Committee on Research, the Grants Office, and the Director of the LTRC, the Faculty Director of Research Development facilitates the research activities of faculty at all stages in their careers. Assistance and advice provided during consultations are confidential and are not connected to College evaluation processes.

Teaching Development
Maria Hantzopoulos, Director
Office: Sanders Hall (SH-201, x5638, antelyes@vassar.edu)
The faculty director offers a wide range of support for faculty members. The Early Career Faculty Teaching Seminar sponsors discussions about pedagogy designed to help new faculty make the transition to Vassar’s teaching and learning culture. The LTRC holds additional discussions and workshops for faculty throughout the year on such topics as teaching a first-year writing seminar, using technology in the classroom, grading effectively, creating a teaching portfolio, and valuing diversity in the classroom.

Office of Community-Engaged Learning
Lisa Kaul, Director
Office: Main Building, first floor, south wing (M-S166, x5280)
The Office of Community-Engaged Learning supervises credit-bearing student work off campus. Through the office, students undertake for-credit internships in a variety of organizations and agencies in the local community and in the Hudson region from New York City to Albany where they have learning opportunities that are not ordinarily available in the classroom. Community-engaged learning is supervised by a faculty member who evaluates the merit of the proposed community-engaged learning, determines the amount of credit given, and decides upon the academic requirements for the awarding of credit. More information is available in the college Catalogue.

Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action
Ann James, Director of Equal Opportunity and Title IX Coordinator
Colleen Cohen, Faculty Director of Affirmative Action
Office: Main Building, first floor, south wing (M-S182, x7924)
Vassar College is strongly committed to providing a working and learning environment free from discrimination and harassment, and provides employees and students who feel they are victims with mechanisms for seeking redress. The Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action has overall responsibility for the administration of Vassar’s equal opportunity and affirmative action policies and programs and the College’s Policy Against Discrimination and Harassment. In the performance of their duties, the EO/AA officers are responsible to the president. Members of the College community may contact the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action to inquire about their rights under Vassar’s policies, seek advice and receive information about support resources, informal mechanisms of redress or formal grievance procedures to address a specific situation involving alleged discrimination, harassment, or sexual harassment. Vassar is obligated to investigate every reported discrimination and harassment complaint in a timely manner. The degree and extent of an investigation by the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action depends on whether the complainant wishes to pursue informal or formal courses of actions. Confidentiality for all parties is respected to the extent possible.

Grants Office
Christina Johnson, Assistant Dean for Grants Development and Administration
Gary Hohenberger, Director of Grants Development and Associate Vice President of Foundation, and Government Relations
Amanda L. Thornton, Director of Grants Administration
Michal Woodbridge, Director of Grants Accounting
Office: Main Building, first floor, north wing (M-N111 x 5490)
The Grants Office supports all stages and aspects of the grant process. For further information reach out to grants@vassar.edu
International Programs
Kerry M. Stamp, Director
Office: Main Building, first floor, north wing (M-N173, x5260)
The Office of International Programs coordinates Vassar’s education abroad programs. These include Vassar-directed programs (England, France, Costa Rica, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Russia, and Spain) as well as approved programs sponsored by other colleges and a number of international exchange programs. Students apply for permission to study abroad, and their applications are reviewed by the Committee on Leaves and Privileges.

Learning, Teaching, and Research Center
Kathleen Susman, Associate Dean of the Faculty and Professor of Biology
Matthew Schultz, Director of the Writing Center and Adjunct Associate Professor of English
Hudson Gould, Director of the Quantitative Reasoning Center
Maria Hantzopoulos, Director of Faculty Teaching Development and Associate Professor of Education
Katherine Hite, Director of Faculty Research Development and Professor of Political Science on the Frederick Ferris Thompson Chair
Office: Library, (LI-122, x5957)
The Learning, Teaching, and Research Center (LTRC) is dedicated to addressing the needs of Vassar’s diverse student body. Its goal is to enable students to maximize their unique educational experiences at Vassar College. The LTRC provides an extensive range of academic resources that foster the fundamental aim of a liberal arts education: to facilitate the intellectual and professional growth of ethical, informed, and reflective students who can engage creatively with important social issues. The LTRC houses a peer-staffed Writing Center and Quantitative Reasoning Center, including a Supplemental Instruction Program for select quantitative analysis (QA) courses. The LTRC also offers expert learning support with a focus on developing individual academic skills.

Registrar’s Office
Colleen Mallet, Registrar
Kathleen Giblin, Associate Registrar
Office: Main Building, first floor, north wing (M-N118, x5270)
The Registrar is responsible for the official records of all students, past and present. The office is also responsible for the schedule of classes, registration procedures, examination schedules, and the assignment of classroom space.

The Registrar may be consulted about general requirements of the curriculum, academic regulations, enrollment statistics, registration, and student schedules. Student registration is now done mostly on line. Current course data, including class rosters, departmental enrollments, and advisee’s schedules, are available through the on-line network.

III. OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE
Carlos Alamo, Dean of the College
Office: Main Building, second floor, center (M-C214, x5600)
The dean of the college oversees the offices of the Dean of Studies, the Dean of the College, Student Growth and Engagement, Campus Activities, and Safety and Security.
Luis Inoa, Associate Dean of the College for Residential Life and Wellness
Office: Main Building, first floor (M-C120, 5860)

Dean of Studies
Thomas Porcello, Dean of Studies and Professor of Anthropology
Advisor to the Class of 2022
Christopher Bjork, Advisor to the Class of 2023
The dean of studies advises all students about their curricular plans and other academic matters. Students with questions about leaves of absence, fellowships, and other academic options are encouraged to speak with the dean, as are those who wish to petition the Committee on Leaves and Privileges or who wish to raise more general questions about the curriculum of the college. The dean chairs the Committee on Student Records, the Committee on Readmission, the Committee on Fellowships, the Committee on Leaves and Privileges, and the Academic Panel. The dean of studies is the advisor to the senior class, to graduate students and visiting students who are accepted for study at Vassar, and to special (part-time, non-matriculated) students.

The dean is responsible for the execution of educational policies of the college as they relate to the students. The dean of first-year students supervises the pre-major advising system, is responsible for the academic program in New Student Orientation, and advises first-year students on all academic matters.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors should consult the advisor for their class. In addition, the advisor to sophomores serves as general advisor for sophomore transfer students and assists sophomores in their plans for a declaration of major. The advisor to juniors assists juniors as they integrate their plans for concentration in a discipline or work in a multidisciplinary program with their program of general education.

The assistant dean of studies in the dean of studies office helps students who petition the Committee on Leaves and Privileges and is responsible for advising students interested in undertaking a domestic academic leave at institutions in the United States and Canada, including the Twelve College Exchange and Historically Black College Exchange. The assistant dean serves as the liaison between the Office of Admission and transfer students, advises pre-health students along with the director of fellowships and pre-health advising, and works with the dean of studies to advise the senior class.

Accessibility and Educational Opportunity
MaryJo Cavanaugh, Director, Accessibility and Educational Opportunity
Office: Metcalf House, first floor (x7584)
The director of Accessibility and Educational Opportunity evaluates requests for accommodations and services from students, faculty, or staff members with disabilities, and to coordinate accommodations, auxiliary aids, and services with appropriate college personnel. To ensure the provision of reasonable and effective accommodations, individuals must provide documentation of their disability or disabilities by an appropriate professional. Individuals with disabilities must also provide the director of Accessibility and Educational Opportunity sufficient time to evaluate the request, to determine the appropriate course of action, and to implement appropriate accommodations and support services.

Career Development and Pre-Law Advising
Stacy Bingham, Associate Director
Susan Smith, Associate Director of Employer Relations
Aimee Cunningham, Assistant Director of Career Development and Internship Funding
Jannette Swanson, Associate Director of Alumnae/I Outreach and Partnerships
Office: Main Building, first floor, south wing (M-S170, x5285)
The Office for Career Development (CDO) offers services and programs to help students and alumnae/i explore fields of interest, examine career options, prepare resumes, arrange employment interviews, and apply for special programs and employment. The CDO boasts an up-to-date career library, many job and internship databases, and several online subscription-based resources.

Fellowships and Pre-Health Advising
Lisa Kooperman, Director of Fellowships and Pre-Health Advising and Assistant Dean of Studies
Office: Main Building, first floor, north wing (M-N162, x5263)
The Office of Fellowships and Pre-Health Advising provides guidance and services for students seeking entrance into medical school and other schools in the health professions (dentistry, veterinary, public health, etc.). The director also administers the work of the faculty committee on fellowships, the premedical advisory committee, and the W.K. Rose selection committee, acting as liaison between the committees and students and graduates of the college.

Safety and Security
Arlene Sabo, Director
Office: 2500 New Hackensack Road, Security Building (845) 437-5200
Campus Safety and Security is responsible for the security of all campus buildings and student and faculty housing, as well as the enforcement of campus parking and other regulations. All automobiles and bicycles must be registered and on-campus parking requires a valid parking sticker.

Dean of the College
Wendy A. Freedman, Ph.D., Director of the Psychological Services
Office: Metcalf House, first floor (845) 437-5700
Irena Balawajder, M.D., Director, Health Services
Office: Baldwin House, first floor (845) 437-5800
Andrea Pesavento, Director of Health Promotion and Education
Office: Metcalf House, solarium (845) 437-7769
Erin Boss, Sexual Assault and Violence Prevention Program, Coordinator
Office: Main S-185 (845) 437-7975
Rachel Gellert, Director of Support Advocacy and Violence Prevention
Office: Main S-185 (845) 437-7863
Luis Inoa, Associate Dean of College for Residential Life and Wellness
Office: Main Building, first floor, center (M-C120, x5860)

The Dean of the College oversees the operations of the Office of Residential Life, the Counseling Service, the Health Service, and Health Education/SAVP.

Counseling Services
Office: Metcalf House, first floor (845) 437-5700
The Counseling Services are staffed by psychologists and a consulting psychiatrist and provide confidential help for students who have personal concerns. Counseling for special problems is also provided by physicians at the Health Services and by the associate dean of the college for Religious and Spiritual Life and Contemplative Practices. The Counseling Services advise faculty on how best to help students but cannot discuss a particular case without written student consent. Student records are strictly confidential, including the fact of whether or not a student has been seen at the counseling services.

Health Services
Irena Balawajder, M.D., Director
Office: Baldwin House, first floor (845) 437-5800
The Health Services primarily serve students. Faculty and staff may be seen in the clinic for emergencies. There are many well-qualified physicians in the area and health services staff are glad to assist in referrals.
Health Education
Andrea Pesavento, Director of Health Promotion and Education
Office: Metcalf House, solarium (845) 437-7769
The director of Health Education works within the residential college, in collaboration with the Health Services, Counseling Services, Residential Life Office, and student peer counseling groups to promote programs and practices leading to health awareness among all campus constituencies.

Sexual Assault Violence Prevention (SAVP)
Office: Main S-185 (845) 437-7975
The Sexual Assault Violence and Prevention (SAVP) Program, housed in the Office of Health Education, is committed to ensuring the safety and well-being of the Vassar community. It aims to prevent sexual assault, dating/domestic violence, and stalking on campus through prevention education and bystander intervention.

Residential Life
Office: Main Building, first floor, center (M-C120, x5860)
The director of Residential Life oversees programs and policy implementation regarding all aspects of student residence in campus housing. The director also has responsibility for advising student organizations within the residence halls and is in charge of the student fellow/house advisors program.

In the case of a security or health emergency, call (845) 437-7333. Assistance is also available at the Campus Response Center (CRC), Main Building and (845) 437-5221.

Campus Activities
Dennis Macheska, Associate Dean of the College for Campus Activities
Michelle Ransom, Director of Campus Activities
William Rush, Associate Director of Campus Activities
Ed Cheetham, Producing Director of the Powerhouse theater and Assistant director of Communications
Jasmine Mitchell, Program Manager of Campus Activities
Office: College Center, north atrium (x5370)
The Office of Campus Activities coordinates student extracurricular activities and all nonacademic scheduling, including the college center and evening use of all auditoria. The office maintains the college calendar, and all lectures and other faculty-sponsored events should be registered through Campus Activities to avoid conflicts with other similar or competing events. Campus Activities manages the college convocations and commencement and makes arrangements for academic dress. The assistant dean oversees the campus activities office, College Center, Summer Programs and Campus Dining. The assistant dean also advises student organizations and programming groups.

The College Center in main building provides rooms for social, educational, and extracurricular activities and auxiliary services for the college community. It houses the campus activities office, the computer store, the post office, the Vassar College Bookstore, the WVKR radio station, offices for student government, organizations, as well as the Retreat, the Kiosk, and Matthew’s Mug. The director of College Center is responsible for the college information center and the James W. Palmer III ’90 Gallery in the College Center and its year-round rotating exhibits.

Located in the lobby of Main, the visitor center disseminates information concerning local area events and points of interest, including directories, maps, and schedules.

Campus Dining
Student Growth and Engagement

Wendy Maragh Taylor, Associate Dean of the College for Student Growth and Engagement
Andrew Meade, Director of International Services and Assistant Dean of Student Growth and Engagement
Office: Main Building, first floor, center (S-185, x5831)
Sefa February, Administrative Fellow: ALANA Center/Transitions Program
Office: Main Building, first floor, center (x7618)
Kevin Collins, Director of the ALANA Center
Office: ALANA Center (AL 210, x5432)
Office: College Center 213 (x3521)

The Student Growth and Engagement Office’s primary aim is to enhance the quality of campus life for all students through advancing Vassar’s mission to provide a socially responsible and inclusive education. We promote campus inclusion, equity, social justice, global learning, and cultural pluralism through a variety of resources, including the ALANA Cultural Center to support students of color, International Student Services, the LGBTQ Center, Religious and Spiritual Life communities and resources, the Women’s Center, campus dialogues on complex issues of identity and community, and First Year student resources. The annual All College Day as well as the Bias Incident Response Team are coordinated by Campus Life.

Religious and Spiritual Life and Contemplative Practices

The Reverend Sam Speers, Associate Dean of Religious and Spiritual Life and Contemplate Practices
Bryan Mann, Rachlin Director for Jewish Student Life and Assistant Director, Office of Religious and Spiritual Life and Contemplative Practices
Office: 2nd Floor, Chapel, (x451-3920)

The Office of Religious and Spiritual Life and Contemplative Practices is responsible for the coordination of religious services and organizations on the campus and for insuring that the diverse religious interests of students are recognized. The associate dean and assistant director also serve as counselors and are assisted by local clergy and religious associations.

International Services

Andrew F. Meade, Director of International Services and Assistant Dean for Student Growth and Engagement
Office: Main Building, second floor, CC 238, (x5831)

The Office of International Services and Special Projects offers a full range of resources for our international community of students and scholars, including advice and assistance in visa, immigration, tax, employment, cultural and general matters.

ALANA Center

Kevin Collins, Director of the Alana Center Student Growth and Engagement/ALANA Center
Office: ALANA Center (AL 210, x5432)

The ALANA Center supports the campus life and academic experiences of African-American/Black, Latino/a, Asian, and Native American students. The center offers leadership programs, intercultural and cross-cultural dialogues, and a big sister/big brother and alumnae/i mentoring resources. Other resources include cultural/ethnic journals, IMAGES newsletter, educational videos, career and graduate study information, a community room, computing resources, and a full kitchen.

LGBTQ Center and Women’s Centers

Office: College Center 213 (x3521)

The LGBTQ Center supports the campus life experiences of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and queer students and their allies by providing social, cultural and academic programming; fostering strong leaders; highlighting Vassar’s unique history; and engaging the entire campus in discussions of social justice and inclusion. The LGBTQ Center is located in College Center, Room 213.

Office:  College Center 235 (x3521)
The Women’s Center supports and celebrates women’s leadership; provides empowering spaces for female-identified people; takes action to address gender inequity on campus; provides programming and resources on local, national and global gender issues; honors Vassar College’s unique history; and promotes understanding among people of different genders, cultures, beliefs, racial and ethnic backgrounds, abilities and sexual orientations. The Women’s Center is located in College Center, Room 235.

IV. OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF STRATEGIC PLANNING AND ACADEMIC RESOURCES

Marianne H. Begemann, Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources
Dana Kleinhans, Assistant Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources

Office:  Main Building, second floor, south wing (M-S220, x 7970)
The dean of strategic planning and academic resources is charged with the general development of long term academic planning and the supervision of academic areas of the college outside the curriculum and the academic departments and programs.

The office of the dean of strategic planning and academic resources includes the office of admissions, the office of financial aid, the department of athletics and physical education, the Vassar College libraries, the Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center, the Wimpfheimer nursery school, and the infant toddler center. The office of the dean of strategic planning and academic resources is responsible for academic facilities and also administers the faculty housing program.

In all issues of computing and information services involving educational policy, the dean of strategic planning and academic resources and the dean of the faculty together are jointly responsible with the chief information officer for computing and information services. On such issues, the dean of strategic planning and academic resources and the dean of the faculty have final authority.

Admission and Financial Aid

Sonya Smith, Dean of Admission and Student Financial Services

Office:  James and Carol Kautz Admission House (x7300)
The dean of admission and financial aid supervises enrollment planning and coordinates the activities of the Offices of Admission and Financial Aid. The dean, along with an elected faculty member is the co-chair of the college committee on admission and financial aid, which helps formulate standards and policies governing the admission of students and the awarding of financial aid. The dean is also the chair of the Enrollment Management committee, consisting of representatives from the faculty, admissions, financial aid, and the offices of the dean of the faculty and the dean of the college.

Student Financial Services
Ann Gitto, Senior Associate Director of Student Financial Services

Office:  Main Building, first floor, south wing (M-S192, x5320)
The director of financial aid oversees the various forms of student financial assistance. Duties include counseling prospective and current students and their parents about financial aid and awarding and processing federal, state, and institutional aid.
Financial aid is awarded on the basis of need as determined by the director through a federally approved need analysis formula and is governed by federal and state regulations for government funds and by general policy set by the College.
Athletics and Physical Education
Michelle Walsh, Director of Athletics and Physical Education
Kaitlin Leach, Associate Director of Athletics for Compliance and /Student-Athlete Welfare
Office: AFC, second floor (x7453)

The goal of Vassar’s athletic program is to foster the ideal of the student-athlete, enabling each student to achieve maximum potential both as an athlete and as a scholar. Vassar’s 20-team varsity program competes in Division III of the NCAA, as well as the Eastern College Athletic Conference, the New York State Women’s Collegiate Athletics Association, and the Seven Sisters Championships. Club programs provide additional opportunities for non-varsity intercollegiate competition. There is an extensive intramural program with both competitive and recreational play that includes basketball, floor hockey, touch football, golf, racquetball, indoor soccer, softball, squash, tennis, mixed volleyball, and inner tube water polo. Faculty members are invited to participate. Questions about the use of athletic facilities should be directed to Bruce Gillman (x7454).

Copyright Management
Thomas Porcello, Director
Office: Blodgett (x 7244)
The director of copyright management is charged with assuring that the college’s copyright policy is made known to members of the college community, and that the college is informed of changes in interpretations of copyright law, or pending legislation and of legal decisions arising from litigation that might affect the College. The director shall arbitrate differences of opinion among members of the Vassar community concerning fair use under copyright law. (The director also serves as the college’s agent to receive notification of claimed copyright infringement in accordance with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act.) As needed, the director shall consult college counsel concerning questions of copyright law.

Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center
Timothy Thurber, The Anne Hendricks Bass Director of the Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center and Lecturer in Art
Office: Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center (L-202, x5235/5236)
The Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center houses one of the oldest college art collections in the country, containing over 17,000 paintings, sculptures, prints, drawings, and photographs spanning the history of art from ancient Egypt to contemporary America. Among its holdings are major works from the Hudson River School painters of the nineteenth century.

The Libraries
Office: Main Library (Lib-140, x5787)
The Vassar Libraries include the main library, the adjacent art library, the music library in skinner hall and the archives and special collections library, housed in the main library. The collections and services of the libraries have been developed to support teaching, learning, and research at the college. The libraries’ collections include almost one million print volumes and sizable microtext, video/dvd, and music collections; in addition, the library provides access to a multitude of electronic resources, including full text indexes, electronic journals and electronic books. Faculty members work closely with the librarians who act as liaisons to their programs and departments; together they build and shape the collections. Acquisition order forms are available on-line at: http://library.vassar.edu/services/forms/acquisitions/index.html.

The director and an elected faculty member are co-chairs of the Library Committee, which oversees the policies of the library as an educational unit of the college.
Wimpfheimer Nursery School and Infant Toddler Center
Julie Riess, Director
Office: Wimpfheimer Nursery School (x5630)
The Wimpfheimer Nursery School is a laboratory school for the study of early childhood development and education. Children of Vassar employees and community children are enrolled. The director works closely with the education and psychological science departments, and other interested faculty to support student projects and coursework. Under nursery school staff and faculty supervision, students observe children, assist with research, and hold internships and work study positions. The school offers half-day and full-day programs for children 3 to 6, including a full-day kindergarten. Vassar employees receive a discount on tuition and priority enrollment.

Office: South Commons (x7648)
The Infant Toddler Center is a year-round early childhood facility, serving Vassar and community children ages 6 weeks through 3 years old. The center also serves as a teacher training and research facility.

Faculty Housing
Allison O’Brien, Executive Assistant
Office: Main, second floor south 220(x7970)
The faculty housing office assists faculty with rental units owned by the college; and sales within the leasehold program. The faculty housing office email address is fachouseoffice@vassar.edu

More information and contacts are available. On the Faculty Housing web site located at: http://www.athomenet.com/vassar/outside_home.asp

Service requests should be directed to Service Response, (x5999), or submitted online at http://www.athomenet.com/vassar/outside_home.asp

V. OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS
Amanita Duga-Carroll, Vice President for Communications
Gladwyn Lopez, Associate Vice President for Communications
Megan Wolfe, Senior Director of Communications
Elizabeth L. Randolph, Associate Vice President for Editorial and Publications
Daria Robbins, Associate Vice President for Creative Direction
Office: Main, second floor, north wing (x7400)
The Office of Communications develops and implements Vassar’s overall communications strategy. The editorial and design staff oversees print and electronic publications, web development, media relations, and photography as well as public affairs activities with the greater Poughkeepsie community. The office also organizes special Vassar events such as family weekend, campus walking tours, and the Powerhouse Theater summer program.

Communications seeks information from faculty and academic departments on research, courses, projects, publications, honors, and student successes to publicize on and off campus, to the media, and to alumnae/i. To promote campus events, the office needs at least 4-6 weeks notice to accommodate printing and media deadlines (earlier notice is welcome whenever possible). Edited text and high-resolution photos should be supplied as electronic files. Text should be provided in a Word attachment or in the body of an email, and digital images must be high-resolution (jpg format, 300 dpi). High-end scanning of printed images can also be provided.

Twice a week the office emails the Vassar Events newsletter to employees and students who subscribe. Vassar Events contains a selection of activities listed in the online campus calendar, including lectures, athletic matches, exhibits, concerts, and other cultural programs.
Communications creates and maintains all of Vassar’s approximately 150 official websites. The office uses a college-wide content management system to facilitate website updates. Departments and offices trained in this system are responsible for updating most textual portions of their official websites. Additionally, individual faculty members are responsible for updating the narrative portion of their department bio page.

However, the Communications web group will continue to make some content updates requiring special technical expertise, as well as in emergency situations. In such cases, or if an office is not yet trained in the content management system, update requests should be emailed by the head of the department or a designated content provider to: webupdates@vassar.edu. Updates should be requested with as much lead-time as possible, at least two weeks in most cases. For requests longer than one page, or containing formatting such as bold or italics, please attach a Word document to the email. For web design requests, contact the director of web development.

The office does not create personal websites. However, the college provides Wordpress for individuals to create and maintain their own sites. Visit the CIS website for more information on using Wordpress: http://computing.vassar.edu/guides/wordpress

VI. COMPUTING AND INFORMATION SERVICES

Carlos Garcia, Vice President for Technology and Human Resources; Chief Information Officer (CIO)
Sarah Bakke, Assistant Vice President of Human Resources
Kimberly Collier, Director of Business Applications
Jerry Bailie, Director, Information Security Officer
Gary Manning, Director of Application Services
Jean Tagliamonte, Assistant Vice President, Planning and Engagement
Steve Taylor, Director of Academic Computing Services

The Office of Computing and Information Services (CIS) is responsible for all aspects of technology at the College including computing (academic, administrative, and research), Service Desk, telecommunications, networking (both data and voice), administrative systems support, audio-visual, retail computer (and computer related) sales, and the campus Card Office (including ID cards, door access, vending, and off-campus merchant sales). The Chief Information Officer (CIO) leads CIS and oversees the systems and services that support the use of information technologies by members of the campus community, and plans for information technologies at Vassar.

Service Desk

Locations: College Center and Computer Center (x7224)

For questions about Vassar accounts or other technology needs you may visit the CIS Service Desks, conveniently located in the Computer Center and College Center. You may also contact them at helpdesk@vassar.edu or 845-437-7224 (x7224 from a campus phone). The CIS Service Desks are open during normal business hours of Monday - Friday from 8:30 AM - 5 PM. For more information, see the CIS web site at computing.vassar.edu.

Media Resources (MR)

Office: Main S-182 (x7479/7480)

Media Resources (MR), a part of Computing and Information Services, provides media and audio-visual support services for classroom/academic and administrative events. More information about MR services are detailed on the CIS website (computing.vassar.edu/media-resources). Service requests may also be directed to the CIS Service Desk (x7224) or mediaresources@vassar.edu.
Card Office
Office: Computer Center CC-103S (x3333)
The Office of Computing and Information Services is also responsible for the Card Office, which manages the Vassar College ID card as well as access privileges and various V-Card accounts for dining, laundry, printing, copying, and off-campus merchant purchases. More information about Card Office services are detailed at card.vassar.edu. Service requests may also be directed to the CIS Service Desk (x7224) or card@vassar.edu.

Telecommunications
Office: Computer Center
Telecommunications, a part of Computing and Information Services, provides telephone and fax services to the campus community. More information about Telecommunications services are detailed at computing.vassar.edu/telecommunications. Service requests should be directed to the CIS Service Desk (x7224) or helpdesk@vassar.edu.

Computer Store
Office: College Center, North CN-112 (x7252)
The computer store sells Apple computers and other Apple related products. For more information about store services visit computing.vassar.edu/store.

VIII.  OFFICE OF FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION

Bryan Swarthout, Vice President for Finance and Administration
Joseph Bolander, Director of Budget and Planning
Office: Main Building, second floor, south wing (x5500)
The vice president for finance and administration oversees the business and financial affairs of the college including financial operations, budgeting, investment management, purchasing, contracting, audit, and financial reporting; physical plant administration, construction and renovation; risk management and insurance; human resource services; and other administrative services including mail services, copying services, computer sales, and the College Store. The vice president chairs the Committee on Campus Master Planning and the Benefits Committee, and supports the work of the Committee on Priorities and Planning. He and his direct reports also serve as administrative support for trustee committees on audit, budget and finance, Facilities Operations, and investments.

The associate vice president for financial services and treasurer, the controller, the director of budget and enterprise services, the executive director of Facilities Operations services, and the associate vice president of human resources report to the vice president for finance and administration.

Review of contracts, legal counsel liaison, risk management and insurance issues are also addressed through the Office of the Vice President. Inquiries regarding insurance should be directed to the executive staff assistant (x5467).

Accounting Services
Angelique Crump, Controller
Dee Kaba, Associate Controller
Tricia Watt, Payroll Manager
Office: Baldwin (B-228, x5819)
Accounting Services is responsible for accounting, recording, and reporting all fiscal activities of the college. The associate vice president for financial services and treasurer and the controller oversee the preparation of year-end financial reports, audited by an external certified public accountant, and the college’s Internal Revenue Service Form 990 (informational return for tax exempt organizations). Both reports are available from the web pages for finance and administration. The assistant controller oversees grant accounting.

Accounting Services is the repository of official records related to donor-restricted endowments and expendable gifts.

Helpful information on policies, procedures and forms related to the management of funds in approved budgets or gift and grant accounts administered by faculty members is available on the purchasing website. Additional training or advice on use of the Banner accounting system or other systems/forms necessary for sound fiscal management and internal control are available by contacting the manager of accounting operations.
Budget & Enterprise Services
Bryan Swarthout, Vice President for Finance and Administration (x5506)
Joseph Bolander, Assistant Budget Director (x5463)
Office: Main Building, second floor, south wing
The director of budget and enterprise services works closely with the senior officers and the Committee on Priorities and Planning to develop long term financial plans for the college, consistent with priorities established through the Governance process. The director monitors the use of current year budget allocations, jointly with the controller, preparing management reports on results. In addition, to Budget Administration the director oversees the Vassar College Bookstore Contract Administration, Dining Services Contract Administration, Purchasing & Receiving, College Properties, Inc., Risk Management & Insurance, and assists offices around the campus in reviewing business contracts and service agreements, prior to signing.

Investments
Office: Main
The vice president for finance and administration oversees and coordinates the external, professional management of the college’s long-term financial assets, including endowment, pension funds, and life income fund investments. In this effort, the vice president implements the policies adopted by the Investments Committee of the Board of Trustees. The vice president chairs an administrative committee overseeing the college’s pension plans.

Human Resources
Sarah Bakke, Assistant Vice President of Human Resources
Emily Conklin, Assistant Director of Human Resources and Recruiting
Leslie Power, Manager, Benefit Programs
Candice West, Assistant Director of Human Resources and Employee Wellness
Office: Baldwin, third floor (B-314, x5820)
While the Office of the Dean of the Faculty serves as the primary point of contact on employment for faculty (including recruitment, compensation contract terms, faculty employee relations, and leaves of absence), the department of human resources serves the entire college through its programs of administrative and staff employment, payroll and benefit administration, staff training, professional development, employee and labor relations. The associate vice president provides leadership in developing policies and procedures that recognize the significant investment Vassar makes in human resources, as well as the college’s compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

Faculty are encouraged to direct questions regarding benefit programs (health, retirement, disability, life insurance) to the manager of benefit programs. Faculty who serve as supervisors of other Vassar employees are encouraged to direct their questions concerning recruitment to the assistant director of employment (recruitment), staff development and performance evaluations to the assistant director. Other matters should be directed to the associate vice president or the associate director.

Facilities Operations Services
William Peabody, Executive Director of Facilities Operations
James Kelly, Director of Environmental Health and Safety
Anthony Ripley, Project Manager and Manager of Building Trades
Scott Mallet, Manager of Plumbing and Heating
Simon Alvarez, Custodial Supervisor
Henry Williams, Manager of Service Response
Dean Jaeger, Grounds Manager
Michael Logue, Manager of Mechanical Services and Central Heating
Office: Facilities Operations Service Center, South Lot (x7270) Facilities Operations Services is responsible for the preservation and enhancement of the Vassar campus – its facilities, grounds, and infrastructure. The executive director coordinates all aspects of service and planning, including capital projects for renewal of existing facilities or new construction. Day-to-day conditions in campus buildings are the responsibility of the director of facility operations and grounds, who oversees custodial services, grounds maintenance, technical services provided by all trade departments, and the Service Response Center (extension 5999). The director of special projects manages renovation and renewal of faculty housing, oversees other campus renewal projects, as well as the campus arboretum, also serves as liaison to users of the Vassar Farm, the golf course, and the college’s riverfront property.

Facilities Operations Services includes the director of environmental health and safety who also maintains a reporting relationship to the dean of the faculty and various faculty-staff committees, to maintain a safe teaching and learning environment and comply with all applicable laws and regulations.

All faculty and staff are encouraged to report conditions requiring attention to the service response center at extension 5999 or through the department’s work management software. Emergencies should always be called in to the service response center at extension 5999, or after hours to the campus response center (CRC) at extension 5221.

The department follows approved policies for charging departments and offices for discretionary work or improvements, which are available from the website for Facilities Operations.

Purchasing, Receiving, and Stores
Rosaleen Cardillo, Director of Procurement and Auxiliary Services
Office: Facilities Operations, North (x5841)
Reporting to the director of budget and enterprise services, the Office of Purchasing, Receiving, and Stores Department serves the college community in the procurement of materials, equipment, supplies and services essential to the operation of the college. Purchasing administers Vassar credit card programs for business travel and low-dollar purchases.

Vassar’s governance procedures require that no purchase be made or indebtedness incurred on behalf of the college except on the approval of the vice president for finance and administration or the vice-president’s authorized designee. Therefore, members of the faculty may not directly make any commitment of college funds, except in accordance with the policies and procedures established by the controller and the purchasing department in securing goods or services. Helpful information on policies, procedures and forms is available on the purchasing website.

College Store
Steven Glasgow, Director
Anya Giampaolo, Assistant Director
Location: Juliet Building, 60 Raymond Avenue (x5870)
The Vassar College Bookstore provides a central ordering service for course books, as well as used text books, school supplies, books of general interest, and Vassar souvenirs. The director of budget and enterprise services oversees bookstore management, and consults a faculty-student advisory committee periodically.

Copy Center
Renee Desantis, Manager of Mail Room and Copy Center
Office: College Center North (x5455)
The copy center provides duplication services for faculty and departments. Faculty are advised to adhere to the college’s policy on use of copyrighted material which is available in the copy center and through the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources. (See also “E. General Information” Section I.B. “Copyright”)

The post office is the central distribution point for Vassar College mail. There is another US Post Office located on Raymond Avenue, for additional service.
Faculty and staff are notified via email of the receipt of materials too large for individual mailboxes. Those expecting urgent or important materials, to be delivered either by public or private mail carriers, should consult the manager about any concerns. The director of purchasing oversees post office operations as well as private mail carrier arrangements.

B. TERMS OF EMPLOYMENT

I. THE FACULTY

Members of the Vassar faculty are called upon to be both scholars and teachers and to achieve excellence in each of these activities. They should also take an active part in departmental and program affairs and in the general governance of the college.

A wide range of support is made available to faculty for teaching and research, from special research grants, travel funds, and computing facilities to library carrels, paid sabbatical leaves, and a program of teaching support and development. Many of these resources are discussed in the following parts of this handbook section. The standards of faculty evaluation are discussed in Section C.

Faculty are expected to be in residence at least one week before the beginning of classes and may be called upon for service up to one week after commencement. Faculty requiring to arrive in residence after the first day of classes or to depart prior to commencement must notify their chair and obtain permission of the dean of the faculty. Chairs must be consulted regarding any absence from classes and the dean should be notified of anticipated absences of more than two days. It is understood that missed classes will be appropriately covered, usually by other faculty members, or rescheduled to a later date.

The Governance stipulates that, “except by special permission of the dean of the faculty and with the consent of the department, no full-time teacher shall accept paid employment or engage in independent business outside the college during the academic year or during periods of leave at full pay, or accept an engagement involving protracted absence from the college during the academic year.”

A. Teaching in a Residential College

Vassar expects its students to be intellectually independent and actively responsible for their education and particular courses of study. Accordingly, classes are kept relatively small to allow for close and extended contact between student and teacher. In such a context, teaching extends well beyond the classroom and faculty also serve as advisors and mentors, direct independent research and thesis projects, and even have students join with them as junior partners in their own research. It is expected that Vassar faculty will make themselves readily available for such advising and teaching and will encourage such interaction with students.

Teaching Support and Mentoring Program - Each new member of the faculty (in a tenure-line position) is associated with an experienced member of the faculty from another department who serves as a teaching mentor for the first year. The mentoring program is under the supervision of the faculty director of the learning and teaching center, and provides guidance about teaching and assistance as needed in adjusting to the Vassar classroom. Workshops and panels on instruction and curriculum development are held during the year. The resources of the program are also available to other faculty members who may be experiencing difficulty or who may wish to improve their skills. For further information, contact the director.

URSI and Ford Scholars Programs - The Undergraduate Research Summer Institute (URSI) program provides a summer stipend to students in the sciences chosen to work on a summer research project with participating Vassar faculty. Faculty in the sciences direct one or two students for a ten week period in the laboratory or in the field. Ford Scholars are students in the humanities and social sciences chosen to work on a summer research project with faculty in these fields. They also receive a stipend. In the fall, special presentations of student work are given in URSI and Ford Scholars symposia. For further information, contact the directors of these programs.

Mary Conover Mellon House Fellows - Vassar’s House Fellow Program was established in 1951 as a means of enhancing residential life. The Committee of House Fellows (as defined in the Governance) and the Dean of the College administer the program. Fellows are chosen by the dean of the faculty and the dean of the college, upon application in a selection process involving House Fellows, the Dean of the College, student house officers and student fellows. House Fellows are appointed, subject to an annual review of performance, on a year-to-year basis up to a maximum of three years, although, in special circumstances a fourth year may be approved. A primary requisite for candidacy is a serious commitment to the purposes and goals of the house fellow program and a willingness to invest generously of time and energies in that role. House Fellows and their families are provided with apartments in Vassar College dormitories and with meals during the academic year at the college dining center. For further information concerning the program, inquire at the Office of the Dean of the College. A notice is sent to all faculty in December inviting applications to the House Fellow Program for the following year.

B. Employment Eligibility, Immigration, and Visas

The Office of the Dean of the Faculty issues the forms necessary to obtain and extend J-1 or H-1B visas. Visa fees for the H-1B and J-1 visas will be paid by Vassar unless special arrangements are made. These arrangements will only be made on the advice of immigration counsel taking into account the relevant regulations. If you require either of these visas, please get in touch with the dean’s office as soon as possible since the processing time is several months. Any other immigration issues including fees will be reviewed on a case by case basis. In many instances, Vassar resolves these issues internally without paying fees. Where it is impossible to do so, the faculty member will be involved.

Federal immigration law requires that all employees verify their employment eligibility. Each new faculty member must complete an “Employment Eligibility Form” [Form I-9] and present the required supporting documents prior to commencing employment. The list of permitted documents can be found at the US government website: https://www.uscis.gov/i-9-central/form-i-9-acceptable-documents. The I9 form must be completed within three business days of the start of employment.

C. Faculty Self-Governance

Vassar has had a long and strong tradition of faculty self-governance. The Governance itself provides that the faculty as a body is responsible for approving academic policy, including the curriculum and all programs of instruction. Faculty meetings are monthly during the academic term and the definition and details of suffrage are in the Governance. All members of the faculty are encouraged to attend and speak.

Faculty governance is also exercised through a system of committees, as provided for in the Governance. Chief among these are the Faculty Policy and Conference Committee, which considers general policy matters, including revisions of the Governance, and conferences with the Trustees on such issues; the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee, which reviews faculty appointments, promotions, performance, and compensation decisions; and the Committee on Curricular Policy, which considers curricular issues. Elections to faculty committees take place in the spring. All members of the faculty are encouraged to run for election and participate in the committee process.
The Faculty Club is an informal organization of the faculty with no dues. All faculty are automatically members. The club occasionally has social meetings, informal discussions of academic problems, and hears reports on faculty research. Notices of meetings are sent to all members of the faculty. The club provides a forum to discuss urgent and controversial issues of faculty concern in a less structured setting than faculty meetings and has often provided a valuable “pre-discussion” before formal faculty consideration.

D. Academic Departments and Programs

Each member of the faculty has an appointment in an academic department and/or program and is a member of that department/program. Faculty are directly responsible to their department chair or program director and should consult with them about any matters of concern. The ordinary channel of communication for departmental matters is through the chair to the appropriate administrative officer or faculty committee. All faculty, however, are free to speak directly with the dean of the faculty or the president. Faculty also have the right to speak to the chair or another member of FASC regarding any issue of concern.

The Governance defines the right to vote in departmental meetings but indicates that all teaching members have the right to otherwise participate in discussion, except where specifically prohibited. Chairs are elected by department members, as provided for in the Governance. Election is for a three-year term and normally rotated among senior members.

Chairs have a particular responsibility for introducing new faculty in their departments to the College and its procedures. While all members of a department should welcome and help their new colleagues as needed, including sharing syllabuses and other information about the curriculum, chairs should meet with them regularly to discuss any problems or difficulties that may have arisen and to make clear the college’s expectations.

E. Appointment, Extension, Reappointment and Promotion, of this handbook, for specific responsibilities concerning contract and salary reviews.

Course assignments are made by the chair, in consultation with members of the department. The official college-wide course load is the equivalent of six units of instruction a year; however, this has been reduced to a standard load of five courses per year, with the sixth course off in compensation for the normal expectation of supervision of theses, independent work, community-engaged learning, participation in programs, and participation in departmental and college committees. (Team-taught courses and departmental courses with multiple conference sections must be weighed as part of the standard load with respect to the degree and mode of an individual’s involvement in the instruction. Lecture-lab courses in the natural sciences should be weighed in proportion to the total work required compared to a standard lecture/discussion course.)

A less-than-standard teaching load may be approved by the chair, with the permission of the dean of the faculty, in compensation for an unusual and especially burdensome workload due to a high number of student credit hours, of teaching hours, of special preparations required, or additional exceptional work during the period in question.

While the Governance provides that “the dean of the faculty shall have final authority in the assignment of all faculty offices and classrooms,” offices are ordinarily assigned by departments from those allotted to them. The Registrar assigns classrooms, after receiving receiving scheduling information from all departments. Requests for specific rooms will be accommodated at the Registrar’s discretion.
Each academic department and program is to undergo a periodic review of its program as conducted by the dean of the faculty. This review involves both internal (departmental and College) and external assessment of the curriculum and academic program.

Departmental personnel files shall be kept in the department under the custody of the department chair. Their contents are confidential, and any examination of them shall be strictly confined to what is specifically needed in the performance of official duties. It is the responsibility of the chair to insure that examination of any material in these files, by the chair or any other member of the department, is solely on a need-to-know basis, in accordance with the provisions of the Governance and the Faculty Handbook. Under no circumstances does a faculty member have rightful access to their own departmental personnel file.

F. Student Participation

Each department and program also has a Majors Committee. Majors committees meet with the chair and other members of the department to discuss the curriculum and related issues of mutual interest, as well as to plan faculty-student social events. Majors committees also interview candidates for faculty positions when they are brought to campus and report their assessment to the department chair.

(Amended by the Faculty April 19, 2006)

II. SALARY AND BENEFITS

A. Salary - General Policies

1. Salary Scales

The Vassar faculty salary scale, showing the range of salaries in the different ranks, is published and distributed to faculty members annually. Faculty members who have not received the current scale may obtain it in the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

2. Method of Salary Payment

The college’s first payment of salary to a member of the faculty just beginning a term of service to the college will be made on or about July 25 in the year in which the contract begins. The salary for a faculty member is paid in twelve installments. For those on a July-June pay cycle, the salary payments made in July and August are advances against the upcoming contract year. If for some reason actual employment does not occur, such advances must be returned to the college.

All faculty members are paid via direct deposit only. Deposits can be made to virtually any bank or credit union. Upon hire, faculty members are provided with direct deposit authorization forms that are required to be completed and returned to the controller’s office within 30 days of hire. Direct deposit forms are also available in the payroll office and the controller’s office if needed for changing banks, changing account numbers, etc. Questions regarding direct deposit should be directed to the payroll office (x5881).

B. Employee Benefits for Members of the Faculty

Full descriptions of Vassar’s comprehensive benefits package are available in the benefits office. We urge you to read the complete description of each benefit before making benefit choices. The descriptions of the benefits provided in this handbook are necessarily brief. In the event of discrepancy between information in this handbook and that in the plan document for a specific benefit, the plan document shall govern. Further questions on a specific benefit should be directed to the benefits office at ext. 5850.

Vassar College may revise or discontinue at any time, for both active and retired employees, any of the benefit plans.

Employees who terminate their employment or are discharged may have the right to continue certain benefits at their own cost (see the Continued Coverage under COBRA section of the individual plan descriptions or contact the Benefits Office). No rights to employment or benefits accrue to any employee, dependent, or beneficiary by any statement in or omission from this handbook.

C. Reimbursement of Moving Expenses for New Appointees

The College contributes to moving expenses as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Miles</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>up to 750</td>
<td>$2,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>751 to 2,000</td>
<td>$3,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>over 2,000</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>

Payments are made on a reimbursement basis only since the payment is subject to taxes. Receipted invoices covering the cost of moving household possessions, personal effects, books, and the candidate’s travel expenses must be submitted to the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. Reimbursement of receipts received by the 10th of the month will be included in the next paycheck. Receipts received after the 10th of the month will be reimbursed in the following month’s paycheck.

Arrangements with regard to any exceptional moving expenses should be settled at the time contracts are negotiated.

D. Health Insurance Benefits

Vassar College offers a choice of medical plans to all eligible faculty. Health plans and their costs are subject to change annually, effective January 1. Upon becoming eligible for health benefits, faculty are asked to select a medical plan. If an employee does not select a medical plan within 30 days of eligibility, they will not be able to enroll until Open Enrollment, with insurance effective January 1 of the following year.

The annual open enrollment process allows employees the opportunity to change health and other benefit plans and/or to add family members whom they have not previously enrolled. During open enrollment, also, the college informs employees of any changes in benefits policies, costs, or options.

Eligibility – Faculty members on full-time, full-year contracts, faculty members on full-year contracts of half-time or more, and faculty members on one-semester contracts with a teaching load equivalent to a full year at half time (presently 3.0 teaching units) are eligible for medical coverage. Health insurance for faculty members with contractual start dates on or before September 1 begins September 1, except that faculty members coming to Vassar from countries or employers with no COBRA continuation provision may, by arrangement with the Benefits Office (ext. 5850), begin coverage on the first day of the month coinciding with or following their contractual start date. Faculty members with contractual start dates after September 1 are eligible for coverage on the first day of the month coinciding with or following their contractual start date.

Medical coverage continues until the end of the month in which employment with the College ends.

Cost - The college currently contributes 85% of the cost of individual coverage, and 70% of the cost of individual-plus-dependents policies. The College’s contribution is based on the EPO plan, with the faculty member saving the premium differential for the High Deductible plan and paying the differential for the PPO plan. The cost of medical coverage is paid through payroll deduction. With the exception of domestic partner coverage, medical premiums are deducted from employees’ paychecks on a pre-tax basis.
This means that the employee pays no federal, state or FICA tax on the cost of the medical plan. By law, domestic partner coverage is fully taxable. Contribution levels may change. As with most benefits changes, any contribution or cost change for health insurance will be effective January 1.

Contact the benefits office, 3rd floor Baldwin hall, ext. 5850, for information on specific health plans currently available.

Dependents: For purposes of determining medical benefit eligibility, dependents are:

1. spouse
2. dependent children
   - unmarried dependent children under age 26 claimed on the employee’s federal income tax return

   Children are defined as: natural children, legally adopted children, stepchildren who are claimed as dependents on the employee’s federal income tax return and/or a child for whom the employee is the proposed adoptive parent and who is dependent on the employee during the waiting period prior to the adoption being final.

3. unmarried children of any age who are unable to work or support themselves because of mental illness, developmental disability or mental retardation as defined in the New York State Mental Hygiene Law, or because of physical handicap. A physician must certify the disability.

4. domestic partner (of the same or opposite sex). Please contact the benefits office for specific details of domestic partner eligibility/coverage and to receive the Affidavit of Domestic Partnership that must be completed along with the appropriate application for benefits.

Adding Dependents

Dependents can be added to medical insurance at these times only:

Within 30 days of the employee’s date of hire at Vassar.
Open Enrollment Period—Vassar holds an annual open enrollment period during which all employees have the opportunity to change from one medical plan to another or to add dependents. This period is generally held in November and the change in coverage takes effect on the following January 1.

Life Status Change—Dependents may be added within 30 days of a life status change. Life status changes include:

- birth or adoption of a child
- marriage
- death of a spouse/domestic partner
- spouse/domestic partner loses employment and benefits
- spouse/domestic partner loses benefits at work

Employees must contact the benefits office within 30 days of the date of the life status change to add dependents to their medical plan option.

Removing Dependents

Dependents may be removed from medical insurance at any time using workday benefits self-service.

E. Medical Insurance Cash-Out Agreement

Vassar’s medical plan cash-out program allows employees who have medical insurance through a source other than Vassar to receive a cash payment in lieu of medical coverage provided by Vassar.

In order to receive this cash incentive, the employee must actively elect it as a “medical plan” option at hire and every year during open enrollment.

The cash-out payment equals $500 for the calendar year paid is paid in monthly installments.

All cash awards will be paid via payroll and will be included as income in the employee’s pay. Appropriate taxes will be deducted from these payments.

F. Life Insurance

1. Group Life Insurance

All full-time faculty members working at least 1,000 hours per year become eligible for this coverage on the first day of their fourth full month of employment. However, if within three months prior to the commencement of employment at Vassar, an employee was insured under another employer’s group life insurance plan, that employee becomes eligible for this coverage on the first day of the first full month of employment.

In order to waive the waiting period, employees must provide the benefits office with evidence of insurability from their former employer.

The college assumes the full cost of this coverage.

Employees must complete an enrollment/beneficiary designation card prior to their eligibility date in order for this coverage to become effective.
The amount of life insurance is equivalent to the employee’s annual salary, or $50,000, whichever is higher. The maximum benefit is $200,000. Employees aged 70 or above have a benefit reduction of 50%. Federal taxes apply to any Vassar-paid life insurance in excess of $50,000.

If the resulting amount of insurance is not a multiple of $1,000, it will be raised to the next higher multiple of $1,000.

Accidental Death and Dismemberment benefits are also provided under this plan. In the event of accidental death, the principal amount of this benefit is equal to the term life insurance amount. A full schedule of accidental death and dismemberment benefits is available from the benefits office. Eligibility for AD&D insurance is the same as the eligibility for the term life insurance benefit, shown above.

Vassar also provides all employees with business travel accident coverage. This policy provides additional life insurance in the event of injury or death while traveling on Vassar College business. Questions on the business travel accident coverage should be directed to the Office of the Vice President for Finance and Administration.

2. Supplemental Life Insurance

Within 30 days of hire, or during periodic life insurance open enrollment offerings, faculty may purchase additional life insurance through payroll deduction with amounts under $200,000 issued without medical underwriting.

Supplemental life insurance requested at any other time is dependent on medical underwriting by our insurer.

G. Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

FMLA is a federal law which protects a faculty member’s job and benefits for up to twelve weeks per year of medical-related absence, provided the faculty member worked at least 1,250 hours before the absence. Vassar tracks annual FMLA use on an academic-year basis (July through June.)

Here are the details of Family Medical Leave, as published by the Department of Labor:

Eligible employees can take up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave in a 12-month period for the following reasons:

- The birth of a child or placement of a child for adoption or foster care;
- To bond with a child (leave must be taken within one year of the child’s birth or placement);
- To care for a spouse, child, or parent who has a qualifying serious health condition;
- For the employee’s own qualifying serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee’s job;
- For qualifying exigencies related to the foreign deployment of a military member who is the employee’s spouse, child, or parent.

An eligible employee who is a covered servicemember’s spouse, child, parent, or next of kin may also take up to 26 weeks of FMLA leave in a single 12-month period to care for the servicemember with a serious injury or illness. An employee does not need to use leave in one block. When it is medically necessary or otherwise permitted, employees may take leave intermittently or on a reduced schedule. Employees may choose, or an employer may require, use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave. If an employee substitutes accrued paid leave for FMLA leave, the employee must comply with the employer’s normal paid leave policies. While employees are on FMLA leave, employers must continue health insurance coverage as if the employees were not on leave. Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to the same job or one nearly identical to it with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms and conditions. An employer may not interfere with an individual’s FMLA rights or retaliate against someone for using or trying to use FMLA leave, opposing any practice made unlawful by the FMLA, or being involved in any proceeding under or related to the FMLA. An employee who works for a covered employer must meet three criteria in order to be eligible for FMLA leave. The employee must:

- Have worked for the employer for at least 12 months;
- Have at least 1,250 hours of service in the 12 months before taking leave; and
- Work at a location where the employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of the employee’s worksite.

Generally, employees must give 30 days’ advance notice of the need for FMLA leave. If it is not possible to give 30 days’ notice, an employee must notify the employer as soon as possible and, generally, follow the employer’s usual procedures. Employees do not have to share a medical diagnosis, but must provide enough information to the employer so it can determine if the leave qualifies for FMLA protection. Sufficient information could include informing an employer that the employee is or will be unable to perform his or her job functions, that a family member cannot perform daily activities, or that hospitalization or continuing medical treatment is necessary. Employees must inform the employer if the need for leave is for a reason for which FMLA leave was previously taken or certified.

FMLA job and benefit protection “overlays,” i.e. runs concurrent with, any disability benefits such as short or long-term disability (see below,) paid maternity leave, or workers compensation leave. It also covers unpaid medical-related leaves, such as unpaid time away to care for an ill family member.

FMLA provides job and benefit security only; it does not provide payment for leaves. Faculty members wishing to take time away from work to care for a family member should arrange the leave with their department chair. Usually family leaves are unpaid (see Unpaid Leaves of Absence below) and granted by the department in consultation with the benefits office according to FMLA provisions.

Any questions on FMLA leaves should be directed to benefits, ext. 5850.

H. Short-Term Disability Salary Continuation

Faculty members, who must be absent from work due to a short-term illness, including disability, may be eligible for salary continuation for a limited time. Salary continuation is normally granted for a two-month period. The president in consultation with the dean of the faculty may authorize a longer interval of salary continuation. In order to qualify for salary continuation, faculty members must supply sufficient evidence of disability from their physician to the benefits office. This doctor’s notice must state the reason for absence, the beginning date of disability, and the expected date of return to work.

Maximum extended salary continuation is usually six months (See Section I: Long-Term Disability Insurance.)
After six months of total disability, if the claim is accepted, the policy provides a monthly income benefit for the maximum periods defined below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Disability Commencement Date</th>
<th>Maximum Coverage Period</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>59 years or younger</td>
<td>To 65th birthday</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60 through 68 years</td>
<td>60 months or to 70th birthday, whichever occurs first</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69 years or older</td>
<td>12 months</td>
</tr>

The disability income benefit is payable directly to the disabled employee. The income payable on a monthly basis equals 60% of the employee’s basic monthly salary to a maximum payment of $10,000 per month. The term “basic monthly salary” is defined as 1/12th of the basic annual salary rate and does not include any other forms of additional compensation. Payments will be reduced if the disabled employee receives other disability income.

Additionally, the monthly annuity premium benefit provides for the continuation of contributions toward the employee’s retirement account during the period of disability. The monthly annuity premium amount will be based on the employee’s salary at the onset of the disability. If disabled employees become newly eligible for the retirement benefit during their disability, new retirement account contracts will be established with a benefit amount based on the employee’s salary at the onset of the disability.

Questions on the effect of a disability upon a faculty member’s employment status should be directed to the dean of the faculty.

I. Long-Term Disability Insurance

1. Group Long Term Disability Insurance

   Long-Term Disability benefits are provided to an employee as income security in the event he/she is totally disabled and no longer able to perform his/her job responsibilities. Vassar College assumes the full cost of this coverage.

   All active full-time faculty members working at least 1,000 hours per year become eligible for this coverage on the first day of the month following the completion of one year of employment and the attainment of age 25. However, if within three months prior to the commencement of employment at Vassar, an employee was insured under another employer’s group total disability plan which provided for a minimum of five years of income benefits, that employee will become eligible for this coverage on the first day of her/his first full month of employment. In order to waive the waiting period, the employee must provide the benefits office with evidence of insurability from her/his prior employer.

   In order to waive the waiting period, the employee must provide the benefits office with evidence of insurability from her/his prior employer.

2. Supplemental Long Term Disability Insurance

   During periodic open enrollment periods, faculty may purchase additional long-term disability coverage through payroll deduction. Medical underwriting may apply.
I. Retirement Account (Employer portion of the Vassar 403b Retirement Plan)

Eligibility

<table>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>All other benefits-eligible faculty:</td>

</tbody>

The college contributes an amount equal to a percentage of the faculty member’s base salary to a retirement account in which the faculty member is fully vested. The contributions may be invested among approximately 20 Fidelity Investments and TIAA funds. The contributions earn interest and dividends until faculty members receive them as income at the time of their retirement. Funds are not available for withdrawal under any circumstances until the faculty member terminates employment with the college. The percentage of base salary that is contributed to a faculty member’s retirement account is determined by the faculty member’s age on July 1 as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Attained Age on July 1</th>
<th>College Contribution</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>21 but less than 30</td>
<td>7%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30 but less than 40</td>
<td>11%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40</td>
<td>12%</td>
</tr>

This benefit is subject to change at the discretion of the college. Faculty members may direct the investment of the College’s contribution at any time. If faculty members do not choose investment allocations for their retirement accounts, their funds will be allocated by default 50% to an age-appropriate Fidelity Investments Freedom Fund and 50% to an age-appropriate TIAA-CREF Lifecycle Fund. These self-rebalancing “Target Date” funds provide a diversification of assets appropriate, in our vendors’ judgment, for the amount of time before the participant’s retirement.

J. Supplemental Retirement Account (SRA)

Faculty members may elect to participate in a Supplemental Retirement Account (SRA) upon their date of hire with a default contribution of 4%. This contribution amount can be changed at any time, using a dedicated website. Contributions may be directed to Fidelity Investments, TIAA, or both. Information on the investment funds available from both vendors is available via website, in person from vendor consultants, and from the Benefits Office. SRA funds not allocated as specific investments will be defaulted to target-date funds as described above.

Federal Law sets the maximum contribution by an individual to an SRA. The benefits office (x5850) can provide annual maximum information.
Under the group SRA, faculty members have the option of borrowing against their fund balance, within IRS guidelines. (Contributions towards the retirement account are not available for loan.) Bear in mind that SRA loans have significant tax consequences.

K. Health Savings Account (HSA) and Flexible Spending Accounts

All faculty members become eligible to participate in the flexible spending accounts on their date of hire. Only faculty members who are enrolled in the High Deductible Health Plan, with no secondary coverage (including Medicare) may open a Health Savings Account (HSA) instead of a flex account.

No employee can have both an HSA and a medical flex spending account, though a limited dental/vision flex plan is available for HSA participants.

HSA: Contributions to the HSA are tax-free if used for Qualified Medical Expenses (see IRS definition.) During the year, the HSA funds may be used to pay medical expenses under the deductible of the High Deductible Health Plan, or for any other medical or dental expense,

The faculty member may set and change the amount of paycheck HSA contribution any time, up to an annual maximum as set by the IRS. Unused funds in the HSA carry over to future years and may be accumulated, tax-free, into retirement. Retirement distributions are taxed only if used for non-medical expenses.

Flexible Spending Accounts

Faculty members who do not elect to participate within 30 days of their date of hire may only elect future participation during the annual open enrollment period.

Flexible spending accounts are designed to reduce employees’ taxes by using pre-tax income to pay for non-reimbursed medical, dental, vision and/or dependent care expenses.

By participating in a flexible spending account, faculty members authorize Vassar to reduce their salary by the amount of eligible expenses they estimate they will have during the calendar year. As faculty members incur these expenses, they use the money in the flexible spending account(s) to pay for them.

Vassar offers flexible spending accounts for medical/dental, dependent care and public transit expenses. Eligible employees may elect to participate in any or all accounts.

The flexible spending account plan year runs from January 1 through December 31, with a “grace period” running to March 15th. Therefore, expenses must be incurred by March 15 to avoid forfeiture of flex funds. The deadline to file a claim for the expenses is March 31 of the year following the end of the plan year.

Medical/Dental Spending Account: A medical/dental account can be used to pay for out-of-pocket health care costs that are not covered by the employee’s Vassar medical insurance plan or by other insurance. This account may be used to pay for their own expenses and/or for those of their spouse and other dependents (as claimed on the employee’s federal tax return).

The IRS sets the annual maximum for the medical/dental spending account on an annual basis.
Dependent Care Spending Account: A dependent care account must be used to pay for the expenses of caring for the employee’s dependent child or children under the age of 13 and/or for a spouse or dependent who is mentally or physically disabled and incapable of self-care. These dependents must reside in the employee’s household. The expenses associated with the dependent care must be for the purpose of allowing the employee and spouse to work.

The IRS sets the annual maximum for the dependent care spending account on an annual basis. This maximum is per family, even if both spouses each have separate dependent care flex accounts at different employers.

Transit/Parking Account: Unlike the medical and dependent care accounts, transit/parking accounts may be elected and changed on a rolling, month-to-month basis. Federal law limits the monthly amount to $125. These accounts cover the cost of public transportation to and from Vassar, e.g. Metro – North from Manhattan to Poughkeepsie.

I. Tuition Benefits

The college supports faculty members’ continued education and that of their children, spouses or partners. Vassar offers tuition remission for study here, as well as grants for children’s study at other colleges.

Details of Vassar’s tuition plans follow. All full-time faculty members, except non-tenure track faculty on appointments of less than three years, are eligible for tuition benefits. Contracts of less than three years do not apply toward the eligibility requirements for tuition benefits. In certain circumstances, the president may grant tuition benefits to part-time faculty who have given at least ten continuous years of service to the college, the majority of which were at half-time or more.

1. Grants for Tuition at Other Colleges (Dependent Children of Faculty Members)

Dependent children of faculty members who attend other accredited colleges or universities as undergraduate full-time students will receive grants of one-half of Vassar’s tuition per semester, or the amount of the tuition charged by their college, whichever is less, for a maximum of four years (8 semesters or 12 trimesters). If both parents of the child are members of the faculty, only one parent receives the tuition benefit.

Faculty must complete a tuition grant form and attach the corresponding tuition bill from the college. Forms are available at the benefits office.

Tuition grant checks are made payable only to the college or university (not to the faculty member) and are mailed directly to the institution.

To be eligible for tuition benefits, a dependent child must be under the age of 24 at the beginning of the semester in which benefits are being requested and the child must be claimed as a dependent on the faculty member’s tax return.

Faculty members who leave the employ of the college before the end of a semester for which they, or their dependents, are receiving benefits must reimburse the college, on a pro-rata basis, for the benefits received for that semester.

Under no circumstances will the dependent child receive tuition benefits for more than the equivalent of eight semesters (or twelve trimesters) of academic work. This limit applies to all tuition benefits (Vassar tuition remission, tuition remission for summer and semester programs abroad, “special student” coursework, and tuition grants at other schools) combined. Summer and special programs are counted as partial semesters based on their academic unit equivalents.

In determining whether a school is eligible to receive grants under this benefit, the benefits office will consult Vassar’s Registrar to verify that the institution is an accredited, degree-granting school.

Benefits are not provided for faculty or spouses/partners for study at institutions other than Vassar.

The faculty member must be employed at Vassar on the first day of classes in order for the dependent to be eligible for any tuition benefits during that semester.

For those dependents eligible for the tuition benefit, full tuition remission is granted for study at Vassar, whether matriculating or exchange.

2. Vassar Tuition Remission (Faculty, Spouses/Partners and Dependents)

Eligible faculty members who are accepted by Vassar College in the regular undergraduate program, and who continue to work full-time in fulfilling their duties, will receive full tuition remission for courses taken at Vassar for a maximum of four years (8 semesters).

Eligible spouses/domestic partners and dependents of faculty members who are accepted by Vassar College in the regular undergraduate program will receive full tuition remission for courses taken at Vassar for a maximum of four years (8 semesters).

Any individual eligible under this benefit, either as a matriculate or on exchange, will receive full tuition remission for up to 8 semesters to attend Vassar.

Eligible coursework pursued off-campus and applied towards the Vassar degree requirement (for example, exchange programs or study away programs) will be covered up to one-half of Vassar’s tuition.

High school students (dependents of eligible faculty) taking courses at Vassar for credit are billed for each unit but receive tuition remission. When the student accumulates five units of academic work, Vassar assumes that one semester of the tuition remission benefit has been used.

Five units of academic work taken as a “special student” (see below) will count as one semester of tuition remission.

Under no circumstances will the dependent child receive tuition benefits for more than the equivalent of eight semesters (or twelve trimesters) of academic work. This limit applies to all tuition benefits (Vassar tuition remission, tuition remission for summer and semester programs abroad, “special student” coursework, and tuition grants at other schools) combined. Summer and special programs are counted as partial semesters based on their academic unit equivalents.
Individuals must be employed on the first day of Vassar classes in order to be eligible for any tuition benefits during that semester.

Faculty who leave the employ of the college before the end of a semester for which they, or their dependents, are receiving benefits must reimburse the college, on a pro-rata basis, for the benefits received for that semester.

To be eligible for tuition benefits a dependent child must be age 24 or younger at the beginning of the semester in which benefits are being requested and the child must be claimed as a dependent on the faculty member’s tax return.

Benefits are not provided for faculty, their spouses or partners for study at institutions other than Vassar.

3. Vassar “Special Student” Program

Full-time faculty, their spouses/domestic partners, and their dependent children may take Vassar courses for credit (without matriculating as a full-time undergraduate), if they have been accepted by the dean of studies as a “special student.”

In all cases, the appropriate academic requirements must be met and space must be available in the class in order to qualify as a “special student.”

Faculty members, their spouses/domestic partners, and their dependent children must pay the registration fee per course, per semester, as a “special student.”

This tuition waiver does not apply to courses taken in music performance or to other courses where special course fees are charged.

A maximum of six courses, per student, may be taken as a “special student.”

Five units of academic work taken as a “special student” will count as one semester of tuition remission.

Faculty must be employed on the first day of Vassar classes in order to be eligible for any tuition benefits during that semester.

Faculty who leave the employ of the college before the end of a semester for which they, or their dependents, are receiving benefits must reimburse the college, on a pro-rata basis, for the benefits received for that semester.

To be eligible for tuition benefits a dependent child must be age 24 or younger at the beginning of the semester in which benefits are being requested and the child must be claimed as a dependent on the faculty member’s tax return.

Under no circumstances will the dependent child receive tuition benefits for more than the equivalent of eight semesters (or twelve trimesters) of academic work. This limit applies to all tuition benefits (Vassar tuition remission, tuition remission for summer and semester programs abroad, “special student” coursework, and tuition grants at other schools) combined. Summer and special programs are counted as partial semesters based on their academic unit equivalents.
M. Workers’ Compensation

Treatment of job-related illnesses or injuries is covered by Workers’ Compensation Insurance, provided the proper procedure for reporting is followed, and subject to adjudication by Vassar’s Workers’ Compensation insurer. It is important that all occupational illnesses or injuries, however minor, be reported immediately to your department chair, to the benefits office, or to the director of environmental health and safety.

N. Social Security

All faculty members participate in the Social Security program. The current FICA (Social Security) contribution rate is 7.65%.

For 2006 the contribution consists of 6.2% for FICA on the first $97,500.00 of earnings and 1.45% for FICA Medicare tax on the full salary.

O. Banking and Credit Union Membership

All Vassar College employees and their family members are also eligible to join the Taconic Educational and Governmental (TEG) Federal Credit Union. TEG has branches in Poughkeepsie on 1 Commerce Street, Poughkeepsie (off Rte 55 East), in Hyde Park on Route 9, and 196 Old Rte 9, Fishkill. Their website is http://www.tegfcu.org Bridgeway Federal Credit Union located at 21 Burnett Blvd., Suite 2, Poughkeepsie NY 12603 is open to all residents, workers, and students of Dutchess, Ulster, and Orange counties of New York. Visit their website at https://bridgewaycu.org/ for more information.

For further information, contact the Vassar payroll department or call the credit union directly, 845.452.7323.

P. Other Benefits

TeleMedicine

Through an app, website, and phone number, all benefit-eligible faculty have free phone and/or video-call access to:

- Board-certified physicians
- Expert second opinion for confusing/concerning diagnoses and treatment
- Mental-health counselors (family members over age 18)
- Back-health conditioning coaches
- Nutritional counseling
- Dermatology consults

Libraries

All faculty members and members of their families are able to use the college libraries and athletic facilities free of charge during the year.

Fitness Center and Golf Course

Faculty and emeriti/ae and their spouses or partners may use their identification card and computer account with CIS, and have access to the library, campus activities, and athletic facilities.
There is a reduced fee per round for use of the college nine-hole golf course.

For current fees and more information, please go to:

Identification cards are required for admittance to all campus activities, the libraries, and the athletic fitness center.

Emeritus faculty and their spouses or partners may retain their identification card and computer account with CIS, and have access to the library, campus activities, and athletic facilities.

Q. Unpaid Leaves of Absence

All benefits continue during paid leaves of absence up to one year. During a one-semester parental leave at half pay, the college’s contribution to the faculty member’s Retirement Account is computed according to the half salary base. (See Section K. “Retirement Account,” Faculty Handbook, B. “Terms of Employment,” Article II “Benefits”)

Vassar discontinues all benefits and benefit contributions during a faculty member’s unpaid leave of absence. Benefits will be stopped for the duration of the unpaid leave regardless of any pay arrangements that may be made with the payroll department, e.g., six months pay, paid over twelve months.

Faculty members taking unpaid leaves will be notified by the benefits office when their benefits have been stopped. They will be given the necessary paperwork and directions on continuing some of their benefits at their own expense during the period of unpaid leave. Benefits will be reinstated, and Vassar contributions towards these benefits will begin again upon return to active employment at Vassar.

In planning for an unpaid leave, a faculty member should consult with the department chair, the dean of the faculty, and the benefits office. Unpaid leaves require the approval of the dean of the faculty and the president.

R. Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

Vassar offers an Employee Assistance Program (EAP) to all employees and their families. The EAP, Wellness Corporation, provides access to free, confidential short-term counseling through local therapists. Employees and their families can get help with a range of personal and family issues. A free thirty-minute phone consultation with a lawyer is provided by the EAP for legal questions, followed by access to discounted legal fees. In addition, the EAP provides referral and case-management for other work/life needs such as childcare, elder care, and debt counseling. The EAP is available 24 hours a day/7 days a week for crisis intervention, and during regular business hours for counseling appointments. The service can be reached at 800.828.6025.

S. Preschool and Childcare Options

1. The Wimpfheimer Nursery School (WNS) is a laboratory school operated by the college located on the Vassar College campus. The school enrolls 60 children age two years and three months through age six (full day Kindergarten). Full-day nursery school is offered from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., with after school programs from 3:00 to 5:30 p.m. The WNS calendar is closely tied to the academic calendar; the school is closed for two weeks in December and January, and during one week of the college’s spring break. Summer Camp is offered during late May and June when the college is out of session but public schools are still in session and other area campus are not open. Contact the Wimpfheimer Nursery School x5630 for tour dates, school calendars, fees, and related information.

2. The Infant Toddler Center (ITC) on the Vassar College campus enrolls a total of 21 children ranging in age from six weeks to two years. A professional staff with a teacher/child ration of 1 to 3 directs the program, which is open 50 weeks a year from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Contact the Infant Toddler Center at x7648 for fees, availability and related matters.

All arrangements for preschool and childcare are the responsibility of the parents and must be made directly with WNS and ITC. Eligibility requirements, space availability, financial arrangements, etc., are between the parents and the preschool or childcare facility. Vassar employees are eligible for discounted preschool and childcare tuition. College employees via payroll deduction may pay preschool and childcare tuition. Some scholarship funds are available and such financial need should be discussed with the director of either the WNS or ITC.

During the year both the WNS and ITC occasionally close due to severe weather conditions or safety issues related to licensing requirements. Each facility is also closed for a professional development date in the spring. Families for whom such closures pose difficulty may want to consider other preschool and childcare options in the local area. A list of such options is available on the dean of the faculty website.

In some instances, Vassar does provide the option of paying for the childcare costs to these schools via payroll deduction. Please contact the nursery school office for further information at ext. 5630.

T. Retirement

Any faculty member contemplating retirement should consult with the dean of the faculty.

Retired faculty and faculty on phased retirement may continue to use the libraries (and may apply for a library carrel) and college athletic facilities. They may also retain a computer account with CIS.

A Vassar retiree is an employee who elects to retire from active service at the age of 60 or older after having completed a minimum of 10 years of full-time service earned after age 50.

U. Phased Retirement Program

Tenured faculty with at least fifteen years of full-time service at Vassar who are considering plans for retirement may be interested in phased retirement. During the phased retirement period, a faculty member engages in activities such as teaching on a reduced load, research, writing, service to the College, or some combination of such activities, with the equivalent of half-time responsibilities at half pay. Each year of the phased retirement period, faculty members receive a prorated salary increase based on half-time employment corresponding to the base raise for faculty at the rank held prior to entering phased retirement. Faculty may begin phased retirement in any of the ten academic years following the academic year in which they turn 61. Phased retirement may last for a term of one to four years and in any case must be completed by the end of the academic year during which the faculty member turns 71. By electing to participate in the phased retirement program, faculty members provide irrevocable notice that they will voluntarily give up tenure and retire at the end of the phased retirement period. Faculty members on phased retirement may elect to retire prior to the end of the phased retirement term by providing the Dean of the Faculty at least 30 days notice or a semester’s notice if the phased retirement duties include teaching.

Faculty who wish to participate in the phased retirement program must formally reach agreement with the Dean of the Faculty no later than October 31 of the academic year prior to the academic year in which they intend to begin phased retirement. The agreement specifies responsibilities during the phased retirement term equivalent to a half-time position and addresses office, computer, lab, and studio space needs on an individual basis depending on the duties involved. Academic suffrage rights during the phased retirement term conform to the rules of the Governance. Faculty who may be interested in phased retirement should contact the Dean of the Faculty as early as possible to discuss options and obtain more information.

(Approved by the Board of Trustees, May 22 2009.)

V. Post-Retirement Health Benefits

Faculty hired before July 1, 2008 and retiring at age 60 or greater after ten years’ service in a benefits-eligible position may participate in the College’s retiree medical benefit.

The post-retirement medical benefit is designed for faculty over age 65 and/or enrolled in Medicare. To retain eligibility for the benefit, a faculty member retiring before age 65 must pay the full monthly cost to remain on the College’s health insurance for active employees or, if married to a Vassar employee, be covered under the spouse’s Vassar insurance. In the case of a faculty member continuing on a spouse’s plan in lieu of Medicare, the post-retirement medical benefit begins when the spouse retires or otherwise loses Vassar coverage.

The College’s post-retirement medical benefit is a Retiree Medical Reimbursement Account, credited by the College to the retiree on an annual basis. The retiree may use the account to reimburse purchase of medical and prescription Medicare insurance supplements. The account also covers other out-of-pocket medical expenses such as copays, dental care, Medicare Part B premiums, or spouse’s medical costs, as the retiree chooses. Provided the account funds are used for these “qualified medical expenses,” the account contributions are not taxable income to the retiree.

The annual account contribution is subject to review by the College and may be adjusted from time to time based on current average Medicare supplement costs. Currently, faculty retiring January 1, 2010 or later receive $3,600 per year. Funds unused in any given year accumulate for later use.

Account funds are for medical reimbursement only, and do not survive the death of the retiree as inheritable assets.

III. GRANTS AND AWARDS

A. Grants Office

The grants office is an institutional collaboration between the dean of faculty office and the development office. The director of grants administration (dean of faculty office), the director/associate director for corporate, foundation and government relations (development), and the director of grants accounting work together to provide support for faculty in all aspects and stages of the grant process.

B. Internal Grants and Awards

1. Committee on Research Funds

   a) The committee on research, an elected faculty committee, awards funds for faculty research from specific college funds set aside for this purpose. There are two award cycles each year. Proposals are due after the mid-semester break in the fall and spring. The application form and instructions are posted online.

   b) Faculty may apply for awards for a variety of expenses connected with initiating and completing scholarly and artistic projects. These include costs of publication (e.g., page and offprint charges); subventions; clerical and research assistance; the production of illustrative materials; travel and lodging; supplies, fees associated with access to libraries and other special collections; library materials; services (e.g., translation), and similar items that are crucial for the project, language training required for research, and purchase of scientific and laboratory supplies, as well as supplementary conference travel. Award funds do not cover food, travel to and from sabbatical venues, or local travel.

   c) The grants office provides administrative support for the committee on research awards. Questions concerning awards should be directed to the grants office.

2. Carolyn Grant ’36 Endowment Fund

   a) The Carolyn Grant committee awards funds for curriculum development. The awarding committee is comprised of both faculty and administrators.

   b) The Carolyn Grant ’36 Endowment Fund offers faculty members the opportunity to integrate expressive arts and experiential processes into their teaching and to explore pedagogical methodologies that engage the imagination in a hands-on way. “Experiential processes” include storytelling, movement, drawing, verbal-enactment, meditative-arts, group process and dialogue, creative applications of myth, dream, folklore, and new audio-visual intensive models of instruction and expression provides information about this fund and its awards.

   c) The grants office provides the administrative support for the Carolyn Grant Endowment Committee awards. Questions concerning awards should be directed to the grants office.

3. Office of Faculty Research

   a) The office of faculty research awards funds to faculty for curriculum and research development.

   b) For further information concerning the office and the purpose of the funds contact the director of faculty research development.

   c) The grants office provides administrative support for the director of research development. Questions concerning awards should be directed to the grants office.

C. External Funding

Faculty members are encouraged to seek funds from foundations, government agencies, and corporations to support research and curriculum development. The grants office staff support faculty in all aspects and stages of external grant seeking.

To ensure institutional support for the project, faculty members are required to consult with a number of different offices within the college. Grants office staff provides guidance in this process.

The grants office website (http://grants.vassar.edu/) provides detailed information on services offered and procedures to be followed.

D. Financial Compliance Mandates

1. Grant Effort and Supplemental Compensation

   a. Summer Grant Salary

   In applying for external funding, faculty may seek summer salary. Such requests should assume a nine-month academic salary (the 12 monthly payments currently received by faculty are a personal and administrative convenience). Thus, each month of summer research represents $\frac{1}{9}$ of the salary base. Support may vary according to the scholar’s degree of commitment to the project (e.g. 25%, 50%, 100% effort) and the duration of the research activity (e.g. $\frac{1}{9}$, $\frac{2}{9}$, $\frac{3}{9}$). It is appropriate to reflect a salary increase for each year of effort on a multi-year project.

   In some cases, fund sources have established a maximum level of summer salary support (e.g. NSF allows $\frac{2}{9}$ at 100% effort). Other funding organizations have a predetermined flat research stipend, regardless of the scholar’s salary base. In some instances, agencies have eliminated salary support as an eligible project cost. Consult with the grants office for further information.

   It is expected that faculty will request fringe benefits and indirect costs on all grant applications when these are allowed. By federal requirements, FICA must be included in all salaries. For short-term, non-continuing grant personnel, it is expected that, at minimum, FICA and medical insurance will be requested for all grant-funded appointments of six months or more. Consult with the grants office for further information.

   b. Academic Year Grant Salary

   If allowed by the funding agency and approved by the applicant’s chair and the dean of the faculty, grant salary may be used during the academic year to buy released time from teaching and other duties on a prorated basis. Normally, each course of released time is calculated as being equal to $\frac{1}{5}$ of the faculty member’s annual salary.

   Academic year grant support may also be used for unpaid leaves or to extend sabbatical leaves. Faculty are strongly encouraged to seek outside support during sabbaticals in order to help defray the costs to the college. Academic year grant income, in combination with contractual salary, may not exceed 9/9 at 100% effort.

Faculty who wish to seek grant support for research projects during the academic year should discuss such plans well in advance with their department chair and with the dean of the faculty. They should also consult the grants office. Grant applications, which include such support, must have the approval of the dean of the faculty.

c. Research Income Disclosure

Faculty are expected to provide full disclosure of all sources of research support—actual and pending—as part of the grant application. Many fund sources require such information and, in the case of federal agencies, it is common practice to have interagency discussions of “level of effort” and “research relatedness” for any single scholar whose research is supported by several agencies.

Faculty may, with appropriate disclosure, apply to multiple funding sources for the same project, but they will have to choose in the case of multiple letters of award. For further information, consult the grants office.

d. Academic Administrators

Academic administrators and other college staff participating in grant-funded research may ordinarily seek extra remuneration only if their appointments are less than 12 months per year and less than full-time (100% effort). Each month of grant effort represents 1/12 of the annual salary base.

Under special circumstances, full-year, full-time employees may petition for the use of grant funds to buy released time from normal responsibilities to the college. Administrators or staff persons must have the approval of their supervisors at the time of application and in advance of participation in the remunerated project activity.

e. Short-term Grant Personnel

All appointments to research positions on external grants are subject to the hiring and employment standards of the college and must comply with federal employment regulations and any special provisions mandated by the fund source.

While Vassar encourages funding for non-continuing personnel who will bring creative efforts to a successful research enterprise, the college is under no obligation to maintain the services of short-term grant personnel beyond the funding levels and defined project period of any research award.

Depending on the scope and nature of the research agenda, a faculty member may hire research personnel in a variety of different capacities. These include senior research personnel, technical and clerical personnel, and student researchers. Grant funds must provide all salary and benefits, as well as meet the recruiting costs for each position.

Senior research personnel normally will hold an advanced degree in the field of research and will have suitable professional experience for carrying out independent research tasks. Prior to official appointment, the faculty project director must complete a research appointment form and supply curriculum vita for the appointee to the coordinator of academic administration in the dean of faculty office so that a letter of appointment and a contract can be generated.

Technical and clerical personnel ordinarily will demonstrate sufficient background and prior experience to perform duties assigned by the faculty project director. The faculty member must provide, to the director of human resources sufficient evidence on the research appointment form to demonstrate the appointee’s ability to meet the established criteria of the corresponding grade level at the college. For further information, consult the director of human resources.

Student researchers ordinarily will be chosen for the educational relevance of the research to their program of study and their demonstrated aptitude in performing research tasks. It is the responsibility of the faculty project director to verify the student’s employment eligibility and financial aid status with the coordinator of student employment. Academic-year wages should be equal to or higher than the research assistant hourly rate determined annually by the student employment office. Summer wages should be prorated, in terms of the weeks of employment, in accordance with the college’s summer research programs in the sciences (URSI) and in the humanities and social sciences (Ford Scholars). For further information about a student’s eligibility, consult with the coordinator of student employment.

Post baccalaureate students are hired as temporary employees of the college and their hire is processed through the office of human resources, and not student employment.

2. Grant Transfer

Departing faculty members who hold active grants from external sources are asked to initiate discussions as early as possible with the dean of the faculty and the grants office on the limitations and conditions of transferring the obligated balance of grant funds and grant-acquired equipment to another academic institution. The terms of transfer will need to conform to the college’s needs and the regulations of the sponsoring organization.

To initiate the formal request for transfer, the departing faculty member will need to document in writing to the dean of the faculty why the transfer of funds and equipment is necessary and to provide evidence of having fulfilled all obligations to existing grant personnel and to encumbered project costs at the college and similarly show proof of having completed all mandatory reporting requirements to the sponsoring organization. With approval by the dean, the departing faculty member must then secure a statement in writing from the other academic institution that it will receive the grant funds and/or grant-supported equipment and assume fiduciary responsibilities for the grant. Upon receipt of this statement, the college will make arrangements for transfer of unexpended and unencumbered funds still available from the sponsoring organization. The departing faculty member will be asked to sign a memorandum of agreement.
3. Title to Equipment

Title to all equipment acquired through external grants is held by Vassar College. Ordinarily, equipment secured by matching funds from the college may not leave with a departing faculty member, except that another academic institution to which that faculty member is going may, at the discretion of Vassar College, negotiate the purchase of any equipment needed by the departing faculty member in order to continue a research project. In the case of equipment acquired without matching funds from Vassar, transfer of title may be negotiated with the next home institution of the departing faculty member. (The purchase of equipment or transfer of title will be determined on the basis of the need of the departing member as measured against Vassar College’s need, provided that such purchase or transfer of title is acceptable to the sponsoring organization). If the departing faculty member is not going directly to another academic institution, then the equipment must remain at the College.

To initiate a request for equipment transfer, the departing faculty member must indicate in writing to the dean of strategic planning and academic resources well in advance of the expiration of the Vassar contract and the termination of the research grant, which items of grant-acquired equipment are to be transferred to, or purchased by, the next home institution.

F. Standards of Research Conduct

The conduct of sponsored research and consulting activities places special responsibilities upon the faculty member and the college to ensure the highest standards of professional behavior consistent with the academy’s commitment to free and open inquiry in the pursuit of new knowledge, the dissemination of knowledge, and new applications of knowledge. The federal and state governments, other sponsoring organizations, professional societies, and the college itself have instituted policies to deal with a range of crucial issues relating to the performance of research, the environment in which research is conducted, relationships between sponsors and the recipients of research support, and ownership and transfer of intellectual products that may be developed in the course of sponsored activities. Vassar College abides by the policies, principles, and regulations set forth in the Federal Policy on Research Misconduct, published in the December 6, 2000, edition of the Federal Register. For further information consult the document, a copy of which is held in the grants office and the dean of the faculty office.

(Amended by the Faculty, May 7, 2003)

1. Participation of Human Beings as Subjects in Research

Research involving the use of human subjects must (a) adhere to codes of professional ethics governing the rights and welfare of such subjects, as established by the federal government and/or professional organizations, and (b) be reviewed by the college’s Institutional Review Board (IRB), prior to submission of a grant or, at the latest, prior to commencement of the research project. It is assumed that members of any discipline considering research with human beings will be bound by the ethical principles governing their profession. In addition, the following guidelines govern research at Vassar (whether externally funded or not):

Research involving the use of human subjects must (a) adhere to codes of professional ethics governing the rights and welfare of such subjects, as established by the federal government and/or professional organizations, and (b) be reviewed by the college’s Institutional Review Board (IRB), prior to submission of a grant or, at the latest, prior to commencement of the research project. It is assumed that members of any discipline considering research with human beings will be bound by the ethical principles governing their profession. In addition, the following guidelines govern research at Vassar (whether externally funded or not):

In considering the participation of human beings as research subjects, the guiding principle is that no person should be exposed to other than reasonable risk to privacy, health or well-being, and that active participation should be voluntary and by informed consent.

All persons involved in initiating, approving, or conducting research involving human subjects shall share the responsibility for the welfare of the individuals who serve as subjects.

Ethical practice requires the investigator to inform participants of all features of the research that reasonably might be expected to influence willingness to participate and to explain all other aspects of the research about which participants inquire and to insure their understanding of the nature of the research. Added emphasis is given to the investigator’s responsibility to protect the welfare and dignity of the research participant.

Openness and honesty are essential characteristics of the relationship between investigator and research participant. When the methodological requirements of a study necessitate concealment or deception, the investigator is required to ensure the participant understands of the reasons for this action and to restore the quality of the relationship with the investigator.

Ethical research practice requires the investigator to respect the individual’s freedom to decline to participate in research or to discontinue participation at any time. The obligation to protect this freedom requires special vigilance when the investigator is in a position of power over the participant. The informed consent of subjects must be obtained without duress with as full knowledge as possible and prior to any participation in the research. The decision to limit this freedom increases the investigator’s responsibility to protect the participant’s dignity and welfare.

The personal privacy of individuals and the confidentiality of identifiable information received from them must be protected. Exceptions to this principle may be made only with the informed consent of the participant.

Questionnaires used as part of a research proposal or in class exercises are to be submitted to the IRB for approval. Such questionnaires must protect the rights of privacy and confidentiality.

All research involving human subjects, including classroom questionnaires, must be submitted for approval to the IRB prior to initiation of research. For further information, consult the chair of the review board.

2. Use of Laboratory Animals in Research

Vassar College abides by the policies, principles and regulations set forth by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in its publications titled Guide to the Care and Use of Laboratory Animals and Laboratory Animal Welfare. Accordingly, the College Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) reviews all matters related to the humane care and use of laboratory animals in the research and teaching programs of the College. Any faculty member or student using laboratory animals in their teaching or research must submit proposals for approval to IACUC before the use takes place. For further information, consult the chair of IACUC.

3. Other Compliance Matters

In the current research environment supported to a large degree by the federal government, the college acts as fiduciary agent to who is transferred responsibilities for a broad range of issues that seek to reduce the risks to researchers and the general public of potential dangers inherent in certain kinds of research undertakings. It is incumbent upon faculty who serve as project directors of research activities that include the use of hazardous materials, recombinant DNA, and radioactive materials to become familiar with the policies and procedures of the college committees that oversee these matters.

For further information about the respective committees, consult the grants office.

4. Conflicts of Interest in Research

Vassar College attaches great importance to the peer review process and to the objective consideration of research proposals based on the particular merits of the project director’s qualifications, experience, and specific research plan. In accordance with the Financial Disclosure Policy of the National Science Foundation and the Department of Health and Human Services, the college requires all research investigators to disclose privileged relationships to a sponsoring organization or other consulting entity that would significantly affect the design, conduct, fundability, and outcome of research projects.

Areas covered by the disclosure policy include a faculty member’s financial interests in the sponsoring organization (e.g. salary, consulting fees, equity interests, royalties from marketable products) and a project director’s potential exercise of influence over the funding decision of the sponsor or consulting entity (e.g. officer, director, consultant).

The basis for making an objective judgment about real or perceived conflicts in sponsored research and consulting relationships and for determining the potential for personal gain or improper advantage begins with a written statement of disclosure by the faculty member. In some instances, the college may require that faculty members take mitigating steps to reduce the real or perceived conflict of interest or to disassociate themselves entirely from all dealings with the sponsoring organization or consulting entity before the college will give approval to the submission of a research proposal or enter into a contractual agreement with the sponsoring agency.

For further information, consult with the grants office.

F. Intellectual Property Rights Arising from Research

Vassar College is deeply committed to a policy of free and open expression in the development and dissemination of ideas. The ownership of ideas and inventions, however, is a vexed matter. This is particularly the case in an age of proliferating information technologies and fast-paced scientific discoveries where traditional notions of intellectual property, embedded in the concept of copyright (ownership of expression), have become knotty matters tied up in evolving principles and practices pertaining to the commercialization (ownership of use) of tangible products resulting from intellectual labors.

In this rapidly changing environment, the college, as employer of faculty and as the fiduciary agent for sponsored research, must make complex determinations about what constitutes proof of ownership of ideas and inventions developed on its campus and supported by its research infrastructure; who accordingly owns, in both the individual and collective sense, these ideas and inventions; and who should benefit from the commercial rights to and development of these ideas and inventions.

It is the college’s position that there must be a balance struck between the costs of creation and the benefits of use of ideas and inventions, a balance that weighs heavily in favor of the values and financial interests of the college and that adequately serves the public interest. It follows that the college and the faculty member must be allies in the face of commercial expectations for exclusive rights to product development of potentially marketable ideas or inventions. It further follows that, between them, the college and the faculty member must negotiate, fairly and in good faith, their mutual financial interests in instances of patent filings, licensing agreements, and other forms of commercial development such that the college recovers a fair portion of the costs associated with providing a supportive research environment and faculty members are appropriately rewarded for their discoveries.

Faculty members of Vassar College are expected to adhere to several guiding principles in the complex and evolving domain of intellectual property issues arising from sponsored research and consulting relationships. It is further expected that faculty members will have appropriately consulted with and received the approval of the dean of strategic planning and academic resources before entering into any such agreements.

1. The faculty member will be bound by the principle of open disclosure of all sponsored research and consulting relationships. Vassar College will not enter into secretive agreements with sponsoring organizations, nor otherwise condone provisions for nondisclosure of such relationships.

2. The faculty member will not agree to any sponsor conditions that expressly limit or otherwise prohibit the free expression and dissemination of ideas developed in the course of a sponsored relationship, including, but not limited to, oral presentations at conferences and symposia and printed and electronic forms of publication.

3. The faculty member will not agree to terms with sponsors that waive the college’s exclusive rights and title to intellectual property that may arise from a sponsored agreement.

4. The faculty member will fully disclose to the dean of the strategic planning and academic resources any intention to file a patent, to enter into a commercial licensing agreement, or to entertain other commercial ventures based upon college sanctioned sponsored agreements. All such actions require the written approval of the college in advance.
IV. FACULTY TRAVEL

The college reimburses full-time (full year) faculty members for expenses in connection with active participation in professional meetings, subject to the provisions below and the availability of funds. Limited funds are also provided for attendance without participation. This budget is not meant to cover all expenses.

Faculty members who wish to apply for funding should do so as early as possible. In all cases, the travel funding request must be received before the proposed trip.

The application should be sent via email to the Director of Academic Administration, in the dean of the faculty office, with a copy to the department chair or program director. The department chair or program director should forward the approved request along with approval to Melissa Naitza (menaitza@vassar.edu)

Policies, under which travel funds will be granted, subject to the availability of funds, are as follows:

1. A full-time member of the faculty who has been invited to read a paper at a meeting or actively participate will be reimbursed by the college as funds permit for transportation and other expenses up to $1,100. In the case of travel outside the continental United States and Canada, the allowance will be reimbursed up to $1,600. Faculty members who actively participate in more than one meeting during the academic year will receive an additional allowance of up to $700. Thus the annual maximums (for the academic year) are $1,800 for those who participate in two domestic meetings and $2,300 for those who participate in a meeting outside the continental U.S. and Canada and one other meeting, wherever held. Funding within the annual maximum allowance may be apportioned by the faculty member.

2. Members of the faculty who are not actively participating in a program may apply for assistance of a maximum of $300 toward the expenses of attendance at a meeting. If funds permit, the Office of the Dean of the Faculty may support attendance at a second meeting in the year.

3. Only minimum air coach fare is allowed. Travel by private automobile is reimbursed at $.56 cents per mile.

4. Every effort will be made to distribute our limited funds as equitably as possible.

Members of the faculty whose applications for travel funds have been approved will be required upon return to the campus to submit to the Office of the Dean of the Faculty an itemized account of the expenses, along with original receipts, before reimbursement can be made. Original receipts are required for all expenses. Original receipts must be presented within 120 days after the conference for reimbursement. See the Appendix for a copy of the “Travel Expense Form.”

A receipted bill or voucher must show:

a) the amount of the expense
b) the date the expense was incurred
c) where the expense was incurred, and
d) the nature of the expense
5. A hotel bill must show the name, location, date and separate amounts for charges such as meals and telephone calls.

A hotel bill must show the name and location of the restaurant, the date, and the amount of the expenditure.

A request for an advance must be received at least 14 days before it is needed and no more than one month prior to travel. Receipts to account for issued advances should be presented within thirty days of the return from the trip.

This information may be found on the Dean of Faculty website:
(https://deanofthefaculty.vassar.edu/policies/travel.html)

Dependent Care Reimbursement

A faculty member with a dependent may apply for up to $500 to defray additional costs for dependent care directly associated with the professional travel. The funds are not intended to cover on-going dependent care expenses, but rather to address the additional burdens that result from professional development activity, particularly activity that takes place away from Vassar.

1. Definition of a dependent: The term "dependent" means a "qualifying child" or a "qualifying relative." A qualifying child must live with you as a member of your household and be younger than 13 years old at the time of the event, but there is no age limit if the child is disabled, or not capable of self-support. A qualifying relative must not be capable of self-support because of physical or mental incapacity and who is dependent upon the faculty member for at least one-half of support and resides with the faculty member.

2. The program covers dependent care expenses. Examples of qualified expenses include:

   o Travel expenses for a dependent to accompany the faculty member on professional travel to care for the faculty member’s dependent.

   o Supplemental dependent care in the faculty member’s absence, such as extended/additional time at a daycare facility or the hourly rate of a dependent care provider who is not part of the dependent’s household. This care cannot be regular daycare that might be accessed while the faculty member is in town doing professional activities.

   o Care provided at the destination of the faculty member’s travel, such as conference-provided childcare or a local care provider at the conference site.

3. After the activity has occurred, faculty should submit a Workday expense report for reimbursement, along with original receipts. A receipt that clearly indicates the dates of service and the amount of the payment must accompany all requests for reimbursement. In the case of non-professional child care (e.g., a high school student who is providing babysitting services), a handwritten receipt will suffice, but it must contain the name of the provider, the dates and hours of service, the hourly or other basis for payment, and the total amount received in payment.

Please note: Reimbursement for these expenses is taxable income for the faculty member, and will be added to a subsequent paycheck after approval of the expenses and submission of itemized receipts.
V. LEAVES OF ABSENCE

College policy is to grant full-time professors and associate professors a one-semester leave at full pay after six semesters of service, or a one-year leave at full pay after six years of service. For full-time Assistant Professors on full-time tenure-track appointments, the policy is to grant the option of a one-semester leave at full pay after four semesters of service with an additional one-semester leave at full pay during the second term of appointment, or a one-year leave at full pay during their second term of appointment. It is understood that the implementation of this policy is dependent on the availability of funds. Leaves are also subject to deferment, without penalty, for up to three semesters. During the deferment periods, service will count toward the next leave.

The leaves described above are research leaves. Faculty members returning from such leaves are requested to submit to the president through the Office of the Dean of the Faculty a written report on their research during the leave. A copy should also be sent to their department chair. Faculty members may not engage in outside employment during the term of such leaves.

Faculty members will be notified by April 1 each year when they are first eligible to apply for a leave and for what period. In the case of deferment, it is the faculty member’s responsibility to keep track of their leave eligibility. In the case of assistant professors who are being reviewed for reappointment, the leave application should be submitted subject to the college’s final decision.

While the final decision rests with the dean of the faculty and the president, consultation with departments (and programs where relevant) is expected and faculty members must discuss their applications with department chairs. Departments should schedule leaves several years in advance and for purposes of curricular planning may request that a leave be deferred (or in exceptional cases, taken early). Chairs are expected to report to the dean of the faculty by May 20 whether or not the department approves a leave request or recommends a deferment.

Special leaves, medical leaves, and leaves without pay may be granted by the president. These are not intended to restrict the number of regular leaves as described above. The type of leave, and its implication for benefits and terms of service, must be specified in the request for the leave, which should be made to the dean of the faculty.

While the college generally looks with favor upon requests for unpaid leaves if it is clearly demonstrated that they are significant for the professional development of the faculty member, the college must protect its teaching resources and will examine carefully the impact of such leaves on the academic program. In order to allow for adequate consideration, preliminary application for unpaid leave, addressed to both the chair of the faculty member’s department and the dean of the faculty, should be filed well in advance of the time when the leave would occur, preferably by November 15 of the preceding academic year or as soon thereafter as the faculty member has begun making any tentative plans, arrangements, or decisions concerning the possibility of an unpaid leave. Applications for unpaid leave will be subject to the approval of the dean of the faculty, following consultation with the chair of the faculty member’s department. The dean has the authority to ask the faculty member to defer an unpaid leave on grounds of curricular or departmental need.

New Parental Leave Policy

Covering faculty request for leave re: birth or adoption on or after September 1, 2019

All faculty and administrative employees are eligible for benefits as specified by the U.S. Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and New York Paid Family Leave (NYPFL).
These are taken concurrently with any of the following benefits for which an employee is eligible.

Parental Leave -- Faculty
All tenured or tenure-track faculty members who have completed at least one year of employment and visiting faculty members on multiyear contracts who have completed at least one year of employment are eligible for a paid leave when their child is born or adopted (if the child is under six years of age). A faculty member may elect one of the following benefit options, commencing no later than six months after the date of birth or adoption and granted by the president, upon recommendation by the dean of the faculty:

1. A two-course teaching reduction at full pay, to be taken in a single semester or split between two consecutive semesters, with the expectation of continued service, advising, and scholarship; or
2. A single semester off from all College responsibilities at two-thirds of that semester’s salary. This semester does not count toward research leave accrual.

The faculty member should consult with the department chair and the dean of faculty as early as possible prior to the birth or adoption to make suitable arrangements for coverage of coursework and other duties as appropriate.

In cases where both parents are Vassar faculty members, or one a faculty member and the other a Vassar administrator, one parent is eligible for Vassar’s paid parental leave under the appropriate policy for that employee.

A faculty member who requires a medical leave during their pregnancy is awarded time off and compensated under the appropriate disability provisions of the College.

Maternity Leaves
If a faculty member requests a semester leave for reason of pregnancy, the health leave provision of the Governance becomes applicable. This provides for two months’ pay.

If a faculty member requests a reduced load for reasons of pregnancy, the rate of pay would be reduced in the same ratio as the workload. Full fringe benefits are continued. Contributions to TIAA/CREF are made in proportion to salary.

Health Leaves
Leaves on account of illness, with or without salary, may be granted at the discretion of the president and the trustees. In cases of illness necessitating absence from classes, the full salary of a faculty member shall be continued up to two months. If the illness extends beyond two months, additional paid time may be granted at the discretion of the dean of the faculty and the president. After six months, the faculty member will be placed on the college's disability insurance plan; any further salary payment will be made in accordance with that plan.

VI. POLICIES GOVERNING COLLEGE HOUSING
Vassar College has long considered the residential nature of the campus to be an integral part of its educational program, and encourages members of the faculty and educational administration to reside on or near the campus so as to foster interactions with students beyond the formal classroom setting and to facilitate participation in campus activities. To support this tradition, and also to enhance the ability of the college to recruit and retain able faculty and administrative personnel, the college has made available a number of rental units as well as the opportunity for purchase or construction of houses on land leased from the college.

While final authority in all matters pertaining to college housing rests with the Board of Trustees, the Governance provides that the Faculty Policy and Conference Committee (see By-Laws of the Faculty, II, 4) shall be responsible for considering general questions of housing policy and that the Committee on Housing (see By-Laws of the Faculty, II, 18) shall be responsible for the application of established policy to particular cases. The Committee on Housing also serves as the body to which administrative rulings concerning housing may be appealed.

To promote equitable access to college housing resources, and to ensure that these resources best serve the purposes for which they are intended, the policies described in this document shall be rigorously observed by all parties. The enforcement of all provisions and regulations described in this document shall be the responsibility of the appropriate administrative offices, as named hereafter, in consultation with the Committee on Housing.

A. General Policies

1. Eligible persons may apply for rental and purchased units as they become available. The selection of rental and purchased housing units by eligible persons is to be based on seniority. Seniority is determined by the date of the contract with Vassar College (or, in the absence of a contract, by the date of the letter of appointment) that began an eligible person’s current term of continuous service at Vassar. In cases of identical contract (or appointment) dates, seniority shall be determined by lot. Eligible persons who have had prior service at the college with housing eligibility shall have those prior years of eligibility credited to their seniority. If circumstances arise in which an eligible person is displaced from their rental due to the unit becoming unavailable, that person shall be given highest seniority in the rental unit selection process. If more than one individual is displaced, housing seniority among those individuals will be governed by the preceding seniority rules. In these cases the affected individuals should be given as much advance notice as possible.

2. No person, family, domestic partnership, or joint-lessee arrangement may hold more than one housing unit (rental and/or purchased) at any time, even when more than one member of a family, domestic partnership or joint-lessee arrangement is eligible for college housing. An eligible person who holds a housing unit (rental or purchased) may express interest in another housing unit (rental or purchased); acceptance of a rental unit or a successful bid on a purchased unit carries with it the concurrent commitment to relinquish the currently held unit.

B. Eligibility for College Housing

Those eligible for rental or purchase of college housing or for the leasing of housing sites on college land are:

- Full-time members of the teaching faculty with continuing positions.
- Professional Librarians
• Administrative officers subject to trustee appointment and such other administrative officers as may be held eligible by the trustees on the recommendation of the president in consultation with the Committee on Housing.

* Special cases considered by the Committee on Housing and approved by the Trustee Executive Committee.

Those eligible for rental of college housing only are:

• Full-time temporary members of the teaching faculty.

• Post docs and Research Assistants may be awarded apartments after all other eligible applicants have been assigned.

• In the event that there are apartments left available, after the faculty have chosen apartments for the upcoming academic year, or apartments become available during the academic year that are not rented by eligible faculty, administrators will be given the opportunity to rent such apartments for a maximum of two lease periods. After two lease periods such an apartment will revert to the available housing pool. If it is not requested by an eligible faculty member, the administrator may renew the lease for another two lease periods. Preference will be given to administrators whose duties require them to work with students during the evening and on weekends. (Amended by the Faculty May 11, 2011)

C. Specific Policies Regarding Rental Units

1. Administration of Rental Units

a. The Committee on Housing oversees the rental policy and the administration of rental units. Appeals and disputes regarding the application of policies to specific cases may be brought to the Committee on Housing according to the By-Laws of the Faculty, Article II, Section 18 (2) of the Governance. Any conflicts over maintenance of rental units may also be brought to the attention of the Committee on Housing.

b. A representative from the Office of the Dean of the Faculty will be appointed by the dean of the faculty to serve as housing liaison for faculty housing matters. The housing liaison may communicate tenant or administrative concerns to the Committee on Housing.

c. The Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources will be responsible for the administration of rental contracts and maintenance of rental units. In the event that an eviction is required, such eviction will be administered through the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources in consultation with the Committee on Housing and the Housing Liaison. The Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources will be responsible for developing plans and priorities for renovation and maintenance of rental units, in consultation with the Committee on Housing and the Housing Liaison.
d. The Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, in consultation with the Committee on Housing and the Housing Liaison, may engage a professional management company to act as an agent of the college for various administrative aspects of the rental program. Contractual arrangements and budgetary issues with any such management company will be the responsibility of the office of the dean of strategic planning and academic Resources, in consultation with the Committee on Housing and the Housing liaison. The Committee on Housing will attempt to resolve conflicts between tenants and the contracted management company.

e. The Housing Liaison, the representative from the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, and the members of the Committee on Housing will meet regularly each semester to discuss rental housing issues, administrative practices, and budgetary matters. The chair of the Committee on Housing will be responsible for convening the regular meetings; additional meetings may be convened at the request of any of the parties.
(Amended by the Faculty, March 22, 2000)

2. The Availability of Rental Units

Except for units temporarily allocated by the president or the dean of the faculty to new members of the faculty coming to the college with professorial rank, to administrative officers, or to distinguished visitors, the assignment of rental units in each pool shall be determined by the faculty housing office in accordance with the following provisions:

a. By April 1st of each year, the Faculty Housing Office shall publish the lists of units that will be available for rental during the succeeding year, together with an indication of the rents to be charged, and the Housing Liaison will publish the lists of the eligible persons in the order of their seniority. Eligible parties interested in renting an available unit should so notify the Faculty Housing Office by April 15th. Options to rent particular available units will be assigned as soon as feasible thereafter by the faculty housing office in accordance with the provisions of eligibility and seniority described above.

b. Rental units that become available out of the regular cycle will be posted by the Faculty Housing Office and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of eligibility and seniority. Postings are on the Faculty bulletin board in the college center and on the Faculty Housing website.
(Amended by the Faculty, March 22, 2000)

3. Conditions of Occupancy and Retention of Rental Units

The occupancy and retention of rental units shall be governed by individual leases having contractual force and shall be contingent upon the observance by the lessee of all pertinent housing regulations. A lessee judged by the Committee on Housing to be in violation of a housing regulation shall receive a warning notice along with an indication of the time by which the violation must be remedied. Failure to meet the stipulated requirements of the warning notice shall make the lease subject to revocation. In addition to the General Policies specified in Section I, the following regulations apply to rental units:
a. In the case of a family or domestic partnership that includes only one eligible person, the eligible person shall be the sole lessee. For a family unit, domestic partnership, or a joint-rental arrangement that includes more than one eligible person, the eligible person shall be a joint lessee of the rental unit. Except as indicated below under “subletting of rental units,” the occupancy of a college rental unit is limited to the lessee (sole or joint) and to the members of the lessee’s immediate family or, in the case of domestic partners, to the other partner and members of their immediate family. Written approval must be secured from the Committee on Housing for any person other than those defined above to occupy the unit when the lessee is absent. In the event of the death of a lessee, the surviving authorized occupants of the rental unit may continue to occupy the unit until the end of the fiscal year in which the death occurs, or for a period of three months following the death, whichever comes later. In cases of severe hardship or other extenuating circumstances, the Committee on Housing may recommend an exception to these limitations, subject to the approval of the president.

b. The lessee must notify the Faculty Housing Office whenever someone other than an authorized occupant of the rental unit is designated to serve as house sitter for any period longer than one week.

c. Subletting of rental units. The lessee of a rental unit may sublet all or part of the unit, subject to the following additional provisions and limitations:

1) The term of subletting shall be confined to those times when college duties (such as serving as House Fellow, accepting certain kinds of temporary administrative appointment, or serving away from Poughkeepsie to administer a college program) require that the lessee reside elsewhere, or when the lessee is away on leave or away from Poughkeepsie for the summer. The subletting of all or part of a rental unit ordinarily shall not exceed the period of one year except if the relevant college duties continue beyond one year. In no case shall the sublet arrangement continue beyond three years.

2) The lessee may sublet the rental unit to any eligible person, irrespective of seniority, rental units may not be sublet to students. Subletting to non-eligible persons will only be allowed under special circumstances, as determined by the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources.

3) The rental rate for the sublet of an entire unit shall not exceed the rent concurrently paid to the college by the lessee, plus fair rent for the use of furnishings, when provided, the latter ordinarily not to exceed 15 percent of the lessee’s rental cost. The rental rate for the sublet of only a part of the unit shall be determined by the portion of the space and amenities provided.

4) All sublets and sublet rental rates must be registered with the Faculty Housing Office.
D. Purchase or Construction of Houses on Land Leased from the College

1. Eligibility - Options to purchase a house already existing on college land, or to construct a new house on land leased from the college, shall be available to eligible persons listed in Section B in order of their seniority and subject to the general policies defined in Section A.

2. Administration - All matters pertaining to the purchase of houses on college land and to the leasing of college land for the construction of houses shall be administered by the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, subject to the approval of the Committee on Facilities Operations of the Board of Trustees. By February 15th of each year, the Office of the Dean of the Faculty shall publish a list, in the order of their seniority, of those members of the college community who are eligible to purchase an already existing house on college land or to lease a site on college land for the construction of a new house. Eligible persons wishing to be informed of the availability of sites for the construction of new houses should so notify the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources.

3. Leases – The college enters into a long-term lease with a faculty member, who then owns the house on the property. The lease is a binding legal document. When changes in housing policy mean that the college revises the terms of the leases it offers, the college offers leaseholders the revised lease, and a leaseholder retains the right to accept or reject a revised lease.

4. Financing - The college will provide the necessary assurances in regard to the lease arrangement to lenders identified by the purchaser. When requested by the purchaser or builder, the college shall assist with the down payment according to the provisions for Down Payment Assistance in Section E below.

5. Policies Concerning the Purchase of Houses Situated on Land Leased from the College

   a. Twice each year, the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources shall publish a list of houses on college owned land that are available for purchase. The lists shall be published by February 15 ("the February List") and September 15 ("the September List") of each year and shall include the college's asking price for each house. Eligible persons who wish to purchase listed houses should so notify the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources by March 15 in response to the February List or by October 15 in response to the September list. By the end of the following business day, the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources shall award options to purchase houses in accordance with the provisions of seniority described in Section A.I. A person's commitment to purchase the particular house at the stated price, subject to the procurement of necessary financing and the conditions set forth in Section 4(b) below.

b. This person may accept such option by making the required deposit and certification within fifteen (15) days of the award and shall complete the purchase according to the terms and conditions set forth above within seventy-five (75) days from date of deposit.

c. Following acceptance of an option to purchase a house included in the February List, the holder of such option shall on or before March 31st tender to the college a deposit toward the price of purchase in the amount of 2% of the asking price ("the deposit") and certify to the college that diligent steps to obtain any required financing have been taken and, if applicable, are continuing. With respect to the houses included on the September List, the deposit must be made and the certification must be given by October 31st. An option to purchase shall have been made and given by the required deposit date. An option to purchase shall be subject to termination by the college if the closing on the sale and purchase of the house is not completed by July 1 for a house included on the February List or by February 1 for a house included on the September List. In the event of expiration or termination of an option to purchase a house, the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources shall, within one business day, award the option to purchase the house to the next eligible person, in accordance with applicable provisions of seniority. This person may accept such option by making the required deposit and certification within fifteen (15) days of the award and shall complete the purchase according to the terms and conditions set forth above within seventy-five (75) days from date of deposit.

6. Policies Concerning Construction of New Houses on Land Leased from the College

a. An eligible party who leases a site on college land for the purpose of constructing a new house shall tender to the college a security deposit in the amount of $1,000, which will be subject to forfeiture if a house is not under construction within one year of the date of the deposit. This deposit shall be returned upon completion of construction. The site itself shall be rented to the lessee at the rate of one dollar per year.

b. When multiple construction sites are made available on portions of college land that are as yet undeveloped, the college will bear the cost of having utilities and roads brought to the general area of the newly available sites. The expense of extending these services from the general area to the individual lots will then be pro-rated and charged to each lessee at cost. The Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources shall make the determination of pro-rated costs after consultation with the Committee on Housing and the College Committee on Facilities Operations.

c. All construction plans, including those pertaining to the cost and character of the house, are subject to approval by the Committee on Facilities Operations of the Board of Trustees. The major criteria for such approval shall be the congruence of the cost of the house with current economic conditions, the ability of the owner to discharge financial obligations incurred in the process of construction, and the likelihood that the house can be resold at a future date to some other eligible member of the college community.

7. Policies Regarding the Repurchase of Faculty Houses on College Land

   a. Leasehold agreements currently in effect stipulate repurchase guidelines. In general the college makes a repurchase offer and the owner may accept that offer or obtain another appraisal. If the college’s appraisal and the owner’s appraisal differ by 10% or less of the higher appraisal, the buy-back price shall be set halfway between the two appraisal values. If the difference is more than 10% and if the college and the owner are unable to agree on an appraisal value, the two appraisers shall meet to try to reach an agreed-on price. If these two appraisers cannot agree, they shall select a third appraiser, and the majority decision of the three appraisers as to the value of the house shall be binding on all parties (provided, however, that such value is not less than the original cost of the property to the lessee plus the actual cost of any improvements made with the approval of the college.

   (Amended by the faculty May 16, 2007)

   b. Requirement that all appraisers have New York State certification and that their base of operations be in Dutchess County: The responsible college officers in conjunction with the Housing Committee shall maintain a list of appraisers who meet this qualification.

   (Approved by the faculty February 15, 1995)

   c. Involvement of the faculty Housing Committee in the procedure of selling houses: No price shall be posted without the committee having been consulted in the process of determining repurchase prices. The committee shall have access to all appraisals and inspection reports. The committee shall be consulted in all processes described below.

   The committee may act as mediator in any situations where college officials and faculty are in conflict.

   (Approved by the faculty May 17, 1995; Amended by the faculty May 16, 2007)

   d. Inspections of all houses before appraisals:

      (1) A certified building inspector retained by the college shall inspect all houses before they are appraised and the inspection reports shall be made available to potential buyers. If expensive repairs are needed, either the faculty seller shall make them or the inspection reports shall be made available to the appraiser so that the cost of repairs can be reflected in their determination of repurchase price.

   (Amended by the Faculty May 16, 2007)
(2) Faculty buyers are advised before purchasing to have their own inspections done by certified building inspectors because buyers have to take responsibility for repairs when their need is discovered after purchase. In cases where the inspection of a faculty buyer reveals the need for important repairs (structural, health and safety, environmental) not identified by the college’s inspector, the college shall lower the price at the time of closing to cover those costs.
(Amended by the faculty May 16, 2007)

(3) The college shall be responsible for the repair of any damages suffered in the period between its purchase of a house and its sale of the house.
(Approved by the faculty May 17, 1995)

8. General Policies and Regulations Governing All Houses on College Land

a. Plans for major improvements must be submitted to and approved by the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources.

b. The college shall repurchase the house under either of the following conditions: (a) if the owner ceases to be eligible for such ownership; or (b) upon notification by the owner or the owner’s heir of a desire to sell. The college shall repurchase the house at cost (original purchase price or owner’s original construction cost), plus the cost of authorized major improvements, or at the appraised value of the house (excluding the value of any major improvements made without authorization), whichever is higher. A repurchase provision shall be included in all contracts executed between the college and the owner of a house on college land. Such contracts shall also describe procedures for resolving disputes between the owner and the college concerning the price of repurchase.
(Amended by the faculty May 16, 2007)

c. The owner of a house on college land shall continue to be eligible for ownership following retirement from active college service provided that this house remains that person’s primary place of residence.
(Amended by the faculty May 16, 2007)

d. In the event of the owner’s death, any resident member of the immediate family may continue to occupy the house for a period of one year following the end of the fiscal year during which the death occurs. The surviving spouse or domestic partner of a deceased owner may continue to occupy the house indeterminately if the spouse or domestic partner was at least sixty-five years of age at the time of the owner’s death, or for a period not to exceed five years if less than sixty-five years of age at the time of the owner’s death. In cases of severe hardship or other extenuating circumstances, the Committee on Housing may recommend an exception to these limitations, subject to the approval of the president.
9. Regulations Concerning the Renting of Houses on College Land

The owner of a house on college land may rent all or part of the house, subject to the following provisions:

a. The rental of all or part of a house shall not exceed the period of one year except with the written approval of the Committee on Housing.

b. For the rental of all or most of a house, the term of rental in the case of owners who are not retired from active service to the College shall be confined to those times when college duties (such as serving as House Fellow, accepting certain kinds of temporary administrative appointment, or serving away from Poughkeepsie to administer a college program) require that the owner reside elsewhere, or when the owner is away on leave or away from Poughkeepsie for the summer.

c. An owner wishing to rent all or most of a house shall inform the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources of the details of such rental, including the desired monthly rental rate, and the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources shall post this information on the Faculty Bulletin Board. Except for summer rentals, the owner shall not otherwise advertise the availability of the house for rental for a period of two weeks following notification of the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources.

Rental arrangements made in violation of these provisions shall be subject to revocation.

E. Down Payment Assistance

Program - The Down Payment Assistance Program is designed to provide participants up to 10% of the purchase price of a house, to a maximum of $30,000 at the same interest rate as the prevailing first-mortgage interest rate for a maximum repayment period of six (6) years. If two eligible Vassar employees purchase a property in joint ownership, the 10% maximum of purchase price limits the total amount that may be loaned to both employees. Payment is by payroll deduction. For details or to make application please contact the Office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources.

Eligibility Requirements - (1) Tenured faculty with the rank of full professor or associate professor, or (2) tenure track assistant professors who have been appointed to a second contract, or (3) administrators who have a minimum of seven (7) years of service with the college and hold director or manager titles.

The house to be purchased under this program must be located within 15 miles of the college campus and used as the applicant’s primary dwelling. Applicants cannot be current owners of a college house under the college’s leasehold agreement.

Restrictions - This program will normally be limited each calendar year to a maximum of eight new participants. A total of $500,000 in capital will be made available for loans, to be monitored by the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources. Loans must be for the purchase of a principal residence within the prescribed area.
VII. EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AND AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

Vassar College is committed to fostering a diverse community of outstanding faculty, staff, and students, as well as ensuring equal educational opportunity, employment, and access to services, programs, and activities, without regard to an individual's race, color, national origin, religion, creed, age, disability, sex, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, familial status, pregnancy, predisposing genetic characteristics, military status, domestic violence victim status, or criminal conviction.

Employees, students, applicants or other members of the College community (including but not limited to vendors, visitors, and guests) may not be subjected to harassment that is prohibited by law, or treated adversely or retaliated against based upon a protected characteristic. The College’s policy is in accordance with federal and state laws and regulations prohibiting discrimination and harassment. These laws include the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 as Amended by the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972, and the New York State Human Rights Law. These laws prohibit discrimination and harassment, including sexual harassment and sexual violence.

VIII. POLICY AGAINST DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT

A. Policy Statement

Vassar is committed to the principles of integrity in an academic community, as articulated in the Statement on Academic Responsibility and Respect for Persons. Vassar’s policy is not to discriminate in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarships and loan programs, athletics programs, or other College programs and activities, and not to tolerate discrimination or harassment of its faculty, administration, staff, students, or visitors.

The College prohibits discrimination on based on an individual's actual or perceived race, color, religion or religious belief, citizenship status, sex, marital status, disability, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, military status or affiliation, predisposing genetic information/characteristics, familial status, domestic violence victim status, age, other characteristic protected by law, or participation in activities protected by law.
The Vassar College Office Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action (EOAA) oversees, facilitates and supports the college’s efforts to ensure equal opportunity for all persons regardless of protected characteristics and participation in protected activities in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

B. Scope of Policy

This policy prohibits discrimination against or harassment of members of the College community and guests. Its scope includes, but is not limited to, any individuals regularly or temporarily employed, studying, living, visiting, or having any official capacity at Vassar College (such as volunteers and contractors).

The filing of a complaint under this policy is independent of any external investigation or court proceeding. The College will not necessarily wait for the conclusion of any external investigation or proceeding before commencing its own investigation or proceeding and taking immediate steps to ensure the safety and well-being of members of the College community. An allegation of discrimination or harassment is not proof of prohibited conduct, and a claim will not be taken into account during performance review, promotion, reappointment, or other evaluation unless a final determination has been made that this policy has been violated or an agreement has been reached as part of an informal resolution process. If necessary and appropriate, decisions regarding extension, reappointment, or promotion may be deferred, in accordance with this policy, until any allegation is resolved.

C. Relationship to Academic Freedom and Free Speech

As articulated in the Vassar College Statement on Academic Freedom, Vassar is dedicated to freedom of inquiry in the pursuit of truth and is vigilant in defending the right of individuals to free speech. This may include the introduction and discussion of controversial and challenging matters both within and beyond the classroom. However, discrimination and harassment are neither legally protected nor excused by reference to academic freedom or freedom of speech.

D. Definitions

1. Discrimination is any distinction, preference, advantage for, or detriment to an individual compared to others that is based on an individual's actual or perceived race, color, religion or religious belief, citizenship status, sex, marital status, disability, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, military service or affiliation, genetic information, age, or other characteristic protected by law that adversely affects a term or condition of an individual's employment, education, living environment, or participation in a College activity, or is used as the basis for, or a factor in, decisions affecting that individual's employment, education, living environment, or participation in a College activity.

2. Discriminatory Harassment is unwelcome conduct directed toward an individual based on an individual's actual or perceived race, color, religion or religious belief, citizenship status, sex, marital status, disability, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, military service or affiliation, predisposing genetic information/characteristics, familial status, domestic violence victim status, age, or other characteristic protected by law, that has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's employment or educational performance, or creating an intimidating, hostile, offensive, or abusive environment for that individual's employment, education, living environment, or participation in a College activity.

3. Retaliation is a form of unlawful discrimination, which includes intentional action taken by an individual or allied third party as reprisal for engaging in a "protected activity," that has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's employment or educational performance; or creating an intimidating, hostile, offensive, or abusive environment for that individual's employment, education, living environment; and/or participation in a College activity. Protected activities for which protections apply, include but are not limited to:

- Reporting, making a complaint, participating in an investigation or grievance proceeding or for assisting in any such proceeding.
- Communicating with a supervisor or manager about employment discrimination, including harassment
- Resisting sexual advances, or intervening to protect others
- Requesting accommodation of a disability or for a religious practice
- Asking managers or co-workers about salary information to uncover potentially discriminatory wages.

Retaliation includes, but is not limited to, intimidation, coercion, harassment, making threats, and any other adverse educational or employment action. Retaliation should be reported promptly to the EO/AA Office for investigation, which may result in disciplinary action independent of any sanction or interim measures imposed in response to any underlying allegations of discrimination and/or harassment.

4. Retaliatory Harassment is intentional action taken by an individual or allied third party, absent legitimate nondiscriminatory reasons, that harms an individual as reprisal for engaging in a "protected activity." Harassment needs only to rise above the threshold of petty slights or trivial inconveniences. Protected activities for which anti-retaliation protections apply, include but are not limited to:

- Reporting, making a complaint, participating in an investigation or grievance proceeding or for assisting in any such proceeding.
- Communicating with a supervisor or manager about employment discrimination, including harassment
- Refusing to follow orders that would result in discrimination
- Resisting sexual advances, or intervening to protect others
- Requesting accommodation of a disability or for a religious practice
- Asking managers or co-workers about salary information to uncover potentially discriminatory wages.

5. Sexual Harassment is unwelcome conduct, that does not fall under the Vassar College Title IX Policy, which is either of a sexual nature, or which is directed at an individual because of that individual’s sex that has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s employment or educational performance; or creating an intimidating, hostile, offensive, or abusive environment for that individual’s employment, education, living environment; and/or participation in a College activity. This includes harassment on the basis of sex, sexual orientation, self-identified or perceived sex, gender expression, gender identity and the status of being transgender. Harassment needs only to rise above the threshold of petty slights or trivial inconveniences.

The College's policy on sexual misconduct may also apply when sexual harassment involves physical contact. Examples of sexual harassment can include, but are not limited to:
Egregious, unwanted sexual attention or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature;
Implied or overt threats of punitive action resulting from rejection of sexual advances;
Conditioning a benefit on an individual's acceding to sexual advances;
Unwelcome, sexually explicit messages, statements, or materials;
Attempting to coerce an unwilling person into a romantic or sexual relationship;
Sexual violence;
Intimate partner violence;
Stalking, including cyberstalking; and Gender-based bullying.

Sexual harassment can occur between any individuals, regardless of their sex or gender. New York Law protects employees, paid or unpaid interns, and non-employees, including independent contractors, and those employed by companies contracting to provide services in the workplace. Harassers can be a superior, a subordinate, a coworker or anyone in the workplace including an independent contractor, contract worker, vendor, client, customer or visitor. The unwelcome behavior may be based on power differentials, the creation of a hostile environment, or retaliation.

Sanctions will be enforced against individuals engaging in sexual harassment and against supervisory and managerial personnel who knowingly allow such behavior to continue.

To make a report of sexual harassment, please feel free to contact the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action/Title IX or submit an online report at https://forms.gle/StXGQXnr7DHxzgji9. To file a complaint, please see complaint procedures below.

E. Grievance Policy for Addressing Formal Complaints of Sexual Harassment Under the Title IX Regulations

1. Introduction

What is the purpose of the Title IX Grievance Policy?

Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972 prohibits any person in the United States from being discriminated against on the basis of sex in seeking access to any educational program or activity receiving federal financial assistance. The U.S. Department of Education, which enforces Title IX, has long defined the meaning of Title IX’s prohibition on sex discrimination broadly to include various forms of sexual harassment and sexual violence that interfere with a student’s ability to equally access our educational programs and opportunities.

On May 19, 2020, the U.S. Department of Education issued a Final Rule under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 that:

- Defines the meaning of “sexual harassment” (including forms of sex-based violence)
- Addresses how this institution must respond to reports of misconduct falling within that definition of sexual harassment, and
- Mandates a grievance process that this institution must follow to comply with the law in these specific covered cases before issuing a disciplinary sanction against a person accused of sexual harassment.

Based on the Final Rule, Vassar College will implement the following Title IX Grievance Policy, effective August 14, 2020.
How does the Title IX Grievance Policy impact other campus disciplinary policies?

Vassar College remains committed to addressing any violations of its policies, even those not meeting the narrow standards defined under the Title IX Final Rule.

In recent years, “Title IX” cases have become a short-hand for any campus disciplinary process involving sex-based discrimination, including those arising from sexual harassment and sexual assault. But under the Final Rule, Vassar College must narrow both the geographic scope of its authority to act under Title IX and the types of “sexual harassment” that it must subject to its Title IX investigation and adjudication process. Only incidents falling within the Final Rule’s definition of sexual harassment will be investigated and, if appropriate, brought to a live hearing through the Title IX Grievance Policy defined below.

Specifically, our campus has College Regulations that define certain behavior as a violation of campus policy, including discrimination and harassment, sexual misconduct, intimate partner violence, and related sex-based offenses.

To the extent that alleged misconduct falls outside the Title IX Grievance Policy, or misconduct falling outside the Title IX Grievance Policy is discovered in the course of investigating covered Title IX misconduct, the institution retains authority to investigate and adjudicate the allegations under the policies and procedures defined within the College Regulations through a separate grievance proceeding.

https://deanofthecollege.vassar.edu/documents/college-regulations/

The elements established in the Title IX Grievance Policy under the Final Rule have no effect and are not transferable to any other policy of the College for any violation of the Code of Conduct, employment policies, or any civil rights violation except as narrowly defined in this Policy. This Policy does not set a precedent for other policies or processes of the College and may not be cited for or against any right or aspect of any other policy or process.

How does the Title IX Grievance Policy impact the handling of complaints?

Our existing Title IX office and reporting structure remains in place. What has changed is the way our Title IX office will handle different types of reports arising from sexual misconduct, as detailed in full throughout Section 2.

539825520. The Title IX Grievance Policy

Effective Date

The Title IX Grievance Policy will become effective on August 14, 2020, and will only apply to sexual harassment alleged to have occurred on or after August 14, 2020. Incidents of sexual harassment alleged to have occurred before August 14, 2020, will be investigated and adjudicated according to the process in place at the time the incident allegedly occurred.

Revocation by Operation of Law

Should any portion of the Title IX Final Rule, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026 (May 19, 2020), be stayed or held invalid by a court of law, or should the Title IX Final Rule be withdrawn or modified to not require the elements of this policy, this policy, or the invalidated elements of this policy, will be deemed revoked as of the publication date of the opinion or order and for all reports after that date, as well as any elements of the process that occur after that date if a case is not complete by that date of opinion or order publication. Should the Title IX Grievance Policy be revoked in this manner, any conduct covered under the Title IX Grievance Policy shall be investigated and adjudicated under the pre-existing Sexual Misconduct Policy.

Non-Discrimination in Application

The requirements and protections of this policy apply equally regardless of sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or other protected classes covered by federal or state law. All requirements and protections are equitably provided to individuals regardless of such status or status as a Complainant, Respondent, or Witness. Individuals who wish to file a complaint about the institution’s policy or process may contact the Department of Education’s Office for Civil Rights using contact information available at https://ocr.as.ed.gov/contact-ocr.

Definitions

Covered Sexual Harassment

For the purposes of this Title IX Grievance Policy, “covered sexual harassment” includes any conduct on the basis of sex that satisfies one or more of the following:

1. An employee conditioning educational benefits on participation in unwelcome sexual conduct (i.e., quid pro quo);
2. Unwelcome conduct that a reasonable person would determine is so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the educational institution’s education program or activity;
3. Sexual assault (as defined in the Clery Act as rape, fondling, incest, statutory rape), which includes any sexual act directed against another person, without the consent of the victim including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent;
   1. Rape is the penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus, with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.
   2. Fondling is the touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of their age or because of their temporary or permanent mental incapacity.
   3. Incest is sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.
   4. Statutory Rape is sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent. The age of consent in New York is 17, but this varies by state.
4. Dating violence (as defined in the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) amendments to the Clery Act), which includes any violence committed by a person: (A) who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim; and (B) where the existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on a consideration of the following factors: (i) The length of the relationship; (ii) The type of relationship; (iii) The frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship.
   1. a. Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse.
   b. Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence.
5. Domestic violence (as defined in the VAWA amendments to the Clery Act), which includes any felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under New York State domestic or family violence laws or by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of New York.
   1. A. Please note that in order for an alleged Domestic Violence incident to be investigated under the policy, the relationship between the Complainant and Respondent must be more than just two people living together as roommates. The people cohabitating must be current or former spouses or have a relationship or status as described above.

539824120 Stalking (as defined in the VAWA amendments to the Clery Act), meaning engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to--
(A) fear for their safety or the safety of others; or (B) suffer substantial emotional distress.

For the purposes of this definition:

i. Course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person’s property.

a. Reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the Complainant.

b. Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

c. Stalking as defined above may not always be “on the basis of sex” (for example when an individual stalks an athlete due to celebrity worship rather than sex), but when stalking is “on the basis of sex” (for example, when the stalker desires to date the victim) stalking constitutes “sexual harassment” for purposes of this policy. Stalking that does not constitute sexual harassment because it is not “on the basis of sex” may be addressed under other applicable College policies.

Note that conduct that does not meet one or more of these criteria may still be prohibited under the Vassar College Regulations.

For the purposes of this Title IX Grievance Policy, “Affirmative Consent” is:

a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity. Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create clear permission regarding willingness to engage in the sexual activity. Silence or lack of resistance, in and of itself, does not demonstrate consent. The definition of consent does not vary based upon a participant’s sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

1. Consent to any sexual act or prior consensual sexual activity between or with any party does not necessarily constitute consent to any other sexual act. Consent is required regardless of whether the person initiating the act is under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol. Consent may be initially given but withdrawn at any time.

2. Consent cannot be given when a person is incapacitated, which occurs when an individual lacks the ability to knowingly choose to participate in sexual activity.

3. Consent cannot be given when it is the result of any coercion, intimidation, force, or threat of harm. When consent is withdrawn or can no longer be given, sexual activity must stop.

4. In order to give effective consent, one must be of legal age; New York State defines 17 years as of legal age.

(See Vassar College Regulations:

https://deanofthecollege.vassar.edu/documents/college-regulations/VassarCollegeRegulations.pdf)
Education Program or Activity

For the purposes of this Title IX Grievance Policy, Vassar’s “education program or activity” includes:

- Any on-campus premises
- Any off-campus premises that Vassar has substantial control over. This includes buildings or property owned or controlled by a recognized student organization.
- Activity occurring within computer and internet networks, digital platforms, and computer hardware or software owned or operated by, or used in the operations of Vassar’s programs and activities over which the Vassar College has substantial control.

Formal Complaint

For the purposes of this Title IX Grievance Policy, “formal complaint” means a document – including an electronic submission - filed by a complainant with a signature or other indication that the complainant is the person filing the formal complaint, or signed by the Title IX Coordinator, alleging sexual harassment against a respondent about conduct within Vassar’s education program or activity and requesting initiation of the procedures consistent with the Title IX Grievance Policy to investigate the allegation of sexual harassment.

Complainant

For the purposes of this Title IX Grievance Policy, Complainant means any individual who has reported being or is alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute covered sexual harassment as defined under this policy.

Relevant evidence and questions

“Relevant” evidence and questions refer to any questions and evidence that tends to make an allegation of sexual harassment more or less likely to be true.

“Relevant” evidence and questions do not include the following types of evidence and questions, which are deemed “irrelevant” at all stages of the Title IX Grievance Process:

- Evidence and questions about the complainant’s sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior unless:
  - They are offered to prove that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant, or
  - They concern specific incidents of the complainant’s prior sexual behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent. 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(6)(i).

- Evidence and questions that constitute, or seek disclosure of, information protected under a legally-recognized privilege. For example, legally-recognized privileges include attorney-client privilege.

- Any party’s medical, psychological, and similar records unless the party has given voluntary, written consent. 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30294 (May 19, 2020).

Respondent

For the purposes of this Title IX Grievance policy, Respondent means any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of conduct that could constitute covered sexual harassment as defined under this policy.
Privacy vs. Confidentiality

Consistent with the Vassar College Regulations, references made to confidentiality refer to the ability of identified confidential resources to not report crimes and violations to law enforcement or college officials without permission, except for extreme circumstances, such as a health and/or safety emergency or child abuse. References made to privacy mean Vassar’s offices and employees who cannot guarantee confidentiality but will maintain privacy to the greatest extent possible, and information disclosed will be relayed only as necessary to investigate and/or seek a resolution and to notify the Title IX Coordinator or designee, who is responsible for tracking patterns and spotting systemic issues. Vassar will limit the disclosure as much as practicable, even if the Title IX Coordinator determines that the request for confidentiality cannot be honored.

Disability Accommodations

This Policy does not alter any institutional obligations under federal disability laws including the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. Parties may request reasonable accommodations for disclosed disabilities to the Title IX Coordinator at any point before or during the Title IX Grievance Process that do not fundamentally alter the Process. The Title IX Coordinator will not affirmatively provide disability accommodations that have not been specifically requested by the Parties, even where the Parties may be receiving accommodations in other institutional programs and activities.

Making a Report Regarding Covered Sexual Harassment to the Institution

Any person may report sex discrimination, including sexual harassment (whether or not the person reporting is the person alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute sex discrimination or sexual harassment), in person, by mail, by telephone, or by electronic mail, using the contact information listed for the Title IX Coordinator, or by any other means that results in the Title IX Coordinator receiving the person’s verbal or written report.

Contact Information for the Title IX Coordinator:

Name: Onya Brown
Title: Interim Assistant Vice President of Institutional Equity/Employment & Education Law Policy Advisor

  7. Academic Deans/Dept Chair/Program Directors
  8. Coaches/Athletic Trainers/Athletic Directors

Supportive Measures
Complainants (as defined above), who report allegations that could constitute covered sexual harassment under this policy, have the right to receive supportive measures from Vassar regardless of whether they desire to file a complaint, which may include no contact orders, counseling, modifications of work schedules, etc., as appropriate. Supportive measures are non-disciplinary and non-punitive.

Supportive Measures may include, but are not limited to include:
• counseling
• extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments
• modifications of work or class schedules
• campus transport services
• restrictions on contact between the parties (no contact orders)
• changes in work or housing locations
• leaves of absence
• increased security and monitoring of certain areas of the campus

Emergency Removal

Vassar retains the authority to remove a respondent from Vassar’s program or activity on an emergency basis, where Vassar (1) undertakes an individualized safety and risk analysis and (2) determines that an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual arising from the allegations of covered sexual harassment justifies a removal.

Administrative Leave

Vassar retains the authority to place a non-student employee respondent on administrative leave during the Title IX Grievance Process, consistent with Vassar Faculty Handbook, and applicable Employee Handbooks.

The Title IX Grievance Process

Filing a Formal Complaint

The timeframe for the Title IX Grievance Process begins with the filing of a Formal Complaint. The Grievance Process will be concluded within a reasonably prompt manner, and no longer than ninety (90) business days after the filing of the Formal Complaint, provided that the Process may be extended for a good reason, including but not limited to the absence of a party, a party's advisor, or a witness; concurrent law enforcement activity; reasonable requests of either party, or the need for language assistance or accommodation of disabilities. The procedure for applying for extensions is described below.

To file a Formal Complaint, a complainant must provide the Title IX Coordinator a written, signed complaint describing the facts alleged. Complainants are only able to file a Formal Complaint under this Policy if they are currently participating in, or attempting to participate in, the education programs or activities of Vassar, including as an employee. For complainants who do not meet this criteria, the College will utilize existing policy in Vassar College Regulations.

https://deanofthecollege.vassar.edu/documents/college-regulations/VassarCollegeRegulations.pdf

If a complainant does not wish to make a Formal Complaint, the Title IX Coordinator may determine a Formal Complaint is necessary. Vassar will inform the complainant of this decision in writing, and the complainant need not participate in the process further but will receive all notices issued under this Policy and Process.

Nothing in the Title IX Grievance Policy Vassar College Regulations prevents a complainant from seeking the assistance of state or local law enforcement alongside the appropriate on-campus process.

Multi-Party Situations

The institution may consolidate Formal Complaints alleging covered sexual harassment against more than one respondent, or by more than one complainant against one or more respondents, or by one party against the other party, where the allegations of covered sexual harassment arise out of the same facts or circumstances.

Determining Jurisdiction

The Title IX Coordinator will determine if the instant Title IX Grievance Process should apply to a Formal Complaint. The Process will apply when all of the following elements are met, in the reasonable determination of the Title IX Coordinator:

1. The conduct is alleged to have occurred on or after August 14, 2020;
2. The conduct is alleged to have occurred in the United States;
3. The conduct is alleged to have occurred in Vassar’s education program or activity; and
4. The alleged conduct, if true, would constitute covered sexual harassment as defined in this policy.

If all of the elements are met, Vassar will investigate the allegations according to the Grievance Process.
Allegations Potentially Falling Under Two Policies:

If the alleged conduct, if true, includes conduct that would constitute covered sexual harassment and conduct that would not constitute covered sexual harassment, the Title IX Grievance Process will be applied in the investigation and adjudication of all of the allegations.

Mandatory Dismissal

If any one of these elements are not met, the Title IX Coordinator will notify the parties that the Formal Complaint is being dismissed for the purposes of the Title IX Grievance Policy. Each party may appeal this dismissal using the procedure outlined in “Appeals,” below.

Discretionary Dismissal

The Title IX Coordinator may dismiss a Formal Complaint brought under the Title IX Grievance Policy, or any specific allegations raised within that Formal Complaint, at any time during the investigation or hearing, if:

• A complainant notifies the Title IX Coordinator in writing that they would like to withdraw the Formal Complaint or any allegations raised in the Formal Complaint;
• The respondent is no longer enrolled or employed by Vassar; or,
• If specific circumstances prevent Vassar from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination regarding the Formal Complaint or allegations within the Formal Complaint.

Any party may appeal a dismissal determination using the process set forth in “Appeals,” below.

Notice of Dismissal

Upon reaching a decision that the Formal Complaint will be dismissed, the institution will promptly send written notice of the dismissal of the Formal Complaint or any specific allegation within the Formal Complaint, and the reason for the dismissal, simultaneously to the parties through their institutional email accounts. It is the responsibility of parties to maintain and regularly check their email accounts.

Notice of Removal

Upon dismissal for the purposes of Title IX, Vassar retains discretion to utilize Vassar College Regulations, or other employment handbooks to determine if a violation of the Code of Conduct has occurred. If so, Vassar will promptly send written notice of the dismissal of the Formal Complaint under the Title IX Grievance Process and removal of the allegations to the conduct process.

Notice of Allegations

The Title IX Coordinator will draft and provide the Notice of Allegations to any party to the allegations of sexual harassment. Such notice will occur as soon as practicable, after the institution receives a Formal Complaint of the allegations, if there are no extenuating circumstances.

The parties will be notified by their institutional email accounts if they are a student or employee, and by other reasonable means if they are neither.

The institution will provide sufficient time for the parties to review the Notice of Allegations and prepare a response before any initial interview.

The Title IX Coordinator may determine that the Formal Complaint must be dismissed on the mandatory grounds identified above, and will issue a Notice of Dismissal. If such a determination is made, any party to the allegations of sexual harassment identified in the Formal Complaint will receive the Notice of Dismissal in conjunction with, or in separate correspondence after, the Notice of Allegations.
Contents of Notice

The Notice of Allegations will include the following:

- Notice of the Vassar’s Title IX Grievance Process and a hyperlink to a copy of the process.
- Notice of the allegations potentially constituting covered sexual harassment, and sufficient details known at the time the Notice is issued, such as the identities of the parties involved in the incident, if known, including the complainant; the conduct allegedly constituting covered sexual harassment; and the date and location of the alleged incident, if known.
- A statement that the respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that a determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of the grievance process.
- A statement that the parties may have an advisor of their choice, who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney, as required under 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(5)(iv);
- A statement that before the conclusion of the investigation, the parties may inspect and review evidence obtained as part of the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in the Formal Complaint, including the evidence upon which the institution does not intend to rely in reaching a determination regarding responsibility, and evidence that both tends to prove or disprove the allegations, whether obtained from a party or other source, as required under 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(5)(vi);

Ongoing Notice

If, in the course of an investigation, the institution decides to investigate allegations about the complainant or respondent that are not included in the Notice of Allegations and are otherwise covered "sexual harassment" falling within the Title IX Grievance Policy, the institution will notify the parties whose identities are known of the additional allegations by their institutional email accounts or other reasonable means.

The parties will be provided sufficient time to review the additional allegations to prepare a response before any initial interview regarding those additional charges.

Advisor of Choice and Participation of Advisor of Choice

Vassar will provide the parties equal access to advisors and support persons; any restrictions on advisor participation will be applied equally.

Vassar has a long-standing practice of requiring parties to participate in the process directly and not through an advocate or representative. The Complainant or Respondent in this process may be accompanied by an Advisor of Choice to any meeting or hearing to which they are required or are eligible to attend. The Advisor of Choice is not an advocate. Except where explicitly stated by this Policy, as consistent with the Final Rule, Advisors of Choice shall not participate directly in the process as per standard policy and practice of Vassar.

Vassar will not intentionally schedule meetings or hearings on dates where the Advisors of Choice for all parties are not available, provided that the Advisors act reasonably in providing available dates and work collegially to find dates and times that meet all schedules.

Vassar’s obligations to investigate and adjudicate in a prompt timeframe under Title IX and other college policies apply to matters governed under this Policy, and Vassar cannot agree to extensive delays solely to accommodate the schedule of an Advisor of Choice. The determination of what is reasonable shall be made by the Title IX Coordinator or designee. Vassar will not be obligated to delay a meeting or hearing under this process more than five (5) business days due to the unavailability of an Advisor of Choice, and may offer the party the opportunity to obtain a different Advisor of Choice or utilize one provided by Vassar.

Notice of Meetings and Interviews
Vassar will provide, to a party whose participation is invited or expected, written notice of the date, time, location, participants, and purpose of all hearings, investigative interviews, or other meetings with a party, with sufficient time for the party to prepare to participate.

Delays

Each party may request a one-time delay in the Grievance Process of up to five (5) business days for good cause (granted or denied in the sole judgment of the Title IX Coordinator, Director of Student Conduct, or designee) provided that the requestor provides reasonable notice and the delay does not overly inconvenience other parties.

For example, a request to take a five-day pause made an hour before a hearing for which multiple parties and their advisors have traveled to and prepared for shall generally not be granted, while a request for a five-day pause in the middle of investigation interviews to allow a party to obtain certain documentary evidence shall generally be granted.

The Title IX Coordinator shall have sole judgment to grant further pauses in the Process.

General Rules of Investigations

An investigator designated by the Title IX Coordinator will perform an investigation under a reasonably prompt timeframe of the conduct alleged to constitute covered sexual harassment after issuing the Notice of Allegations.

Vassar and not the parties, has the burden of proof and the burden of gathering evidence, i.e., the responsibility of showing a violation of this Policy has occurred. This burden does not rest with either party, and either party may decide not to share their account of what occurred or may decide not to participate in an investigation or hearing. This does not shift the burden of proof away from Vassar and does not indicate responsibility.

Vassar cannot access, consider, or disclose medical records without a waiver from the party (or parent, if applicable) to whom the records belong or of whom the records include information. Vassar will provide an equal opportunity for the parties to present witnesses, including fact and expert witnesses, and other inculpatory and exculpatory evidence, (i.e. evidence that tends to prove and disprove the allegations) as described below.

Inspection and Review of Evidence

Prior to the completion of the investigation, the parties will have an equal opportunity to inspect and review the evidence obtained through the investigation. The purpose of the inspection and review process is to allow each party the equal opportunity to meaningfully respond to the evidence prior to conclusion of the investigation.

Evidence that will be available for inspection and review by the parties will be any evidence that is directly related to the allegations raised in the Formal Complaint. It will include any:

1. Evidence that is relevant, even if that evidence does not end up being relied upon by the institution in making a determination regarding responsibility;
2. Inculpatory or exculpatory evidence (i.e. evidence that tends to prove or disprove the allegations) that is directly related to the allegations, whether obtained from a party or other source.

The institution will share the evidence made available for each party and each party’s advisor, if any, to inspect and review through hard copy. The Institution is not under an obligation to use any specific process or technology to provide the evidence and shall have the sole discretion in terms of determining format and any restrictions or limitations on access.
The parties will have ten (10) business days to inspect and review the evidence and submit a written response by email to the investigator. The investigator will consider the parties’ written responses before completing the Investigative Report. Parties may request a reasonable extension as their designated extension request.

The institution will provide the parties five (5) business days after the initial inspection and review of evidence, and before the investigator completes their Investigative Report, to provide additional evidence in response to their inspection and review of the evidence, and then provide the parties five (5) business days to inspect, review, and respond to the party’s additional evidence through a written response to the investigator. Those written responses may be disclosed to the parties. See, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30307 (May 19, 2020).

Any evidence subject to inspection and review will be available at any hearing, including for purposes of cross-examination.

The parties and their advisors must sign an agreement not to disseminate any of the evidence subject to inspection and review or use such evidence for any purpose unrelated to the Title IX grievance process. See, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30435 (May 19, 2020).

Inclusion of Evidence Not Directly Related to the Allegations:

Evidence obtained in the investigation that is determined in the reasoned judgment of the investigator not to be directly related to the allegations in the Formal Complaint will be included in the appendices to the investigative report.

Investigative Report

The Title IX Coordinator and an investigator designated by the Title IX Coordinator will create an Investigative Report that fairly summarizes relevant evidence, and provide that Report to the parties at least ten (10) business days prior the hearing in hard copy for each party’s review and written response.

The Investigative Report is not intended to catalog all evidence obtained by the investigator, but only to provide a fair summary of that evidence.

Only relevant evidence (including both inculpatory and exculpatory – i.e. tending to prove and disprove the allegations - relevant evidence) will be referenced in the Investigative Report.

The investigator may redact irrelevant information from the Investigative Report when that information is contained in documents or evidence that is/are otherwise relevant. See, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30304 (May 19, 2020).

Hearing

General Rules of Hearings

Vassar will not issue a disciplinary sanction arising from an allegation of covered sexual harassment without holding a live hearing, unless otherwise resolved through an informal resolution process.

The live hearing may be conducted with all parties physically present in the same geographic location, or, at Vassar’s discretion, any or all parties, witnesses, and other participants may appear at the live hearing virtually through Google Hangout and Zoom. This technology will enable participants simultaneously to see and hear each other. At its discretion, Vassar may delay or adjourn a hearing based on technological errors not within a party’s control.
All proceedings will be recorded through audio recording. That recording or transcript will be made available to the parties for inspection and review.

OPTIONAL: Prior to obtaining access to any evidence, the parties and their advisors must sign an agreement not to disseminate any of the testimony heard or evidence obtained in the hearing or use such testimony or evidence for any purpose unrelated to the Title IX Grievance Process. Once signed, this Agreement may not be withdrawn See, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30435 (May 19, 2020).

Continuances or Granting Extensions

Vassar may determine that multiple sessions or a continuance (i.e. a pause on the continuation of the hearing until a later date or time) is needed to complete a hearing. If so, Vassar will notify all participants and endeavor to accommodate all participants’ schedules and complete the hearing as promptly as practicable.

Newly-discovered Evidence

As a general rule, no new evidence or witnesses may be submitted during the live hearing.

If a party identifies new evidence or witnesses that were not reasonably available prior to the live hearing and could affect the outcome of the matter, the party may request that such evidence or witnesses be considered at the live hearing.

The Adjudicator will consider this request and make a determination regarding (1) whether such evidence or witness testimony was actually unavailable by reasonable effort prior to the hearing, and (2) whether such evidence or witness testimony could affect the outcome of the matter. The party offering the newly-discovered evidence or witness has the burden of establishing these questions by the preponderance of the evidence.

If the Adjudicator answers in the affirmative to both questions, then the parties will be granted a reasonable pause in the hearing to review the evidence or prepare for questioning of the witness.

Participants in the live hearing

Live hearings are not public, and the only individuals permitted to participate in the hearing are as follows:

Complainant and Respondent (The Parties)

- The parties cannot waive the right to a live hearing.
- The institution may still proceed with the live hearing in the absence of a party, and may reach a determination of responsibility in their absence, including through any evidence gathered that does not constitute a “statement” by that party. 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30361 (May 19, 2020).
  - For example, A verbal or written statement constituting part or all of the sexual harassment itself is not a “prior statement” that must be excluded if the maker of the statement does not submit to cross-examination about that statement. In other words, a prior statement would not include a document, audio recording, audiovisual reading, and digital media, including but not limited to text messages, emails, and social media postings, that constitute the conduct alleged to have been the act of sexual harassment under the formal complaint. See, OCR Blog (May 22, 2020), available at https://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/blog/20200522.html
- Vassar will not threaten, coerce, intimidate or discriminate against the party in an attempt to secure the party’s participation. See 34 C.F.R. § 106.71; see also 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30216 (May 19, 2020).
- If a party does not submit to cross-examination, the decision-maker cannot rely on any prior statements made by that party in reaching a determination regarding responsibility, but may reach a determination regarding responsibility based on evidence that does not constitute a “statement” by that party.
The decision-maker cannot draw an inference about the determination regarding responsibility based solely on a party’s absence from the live hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions. See 34 C.F.R. §106.45(b)(6)(i).

The parties shall be subject to the institution’s Rules of Decorum.

The Decision-maker

The hearing body will consist of a single adjudicator external to the Vassar College community.

- No member of the hearing body will also have served as the Title IX Coordinator, Title IX investigator, or advisor to any party in the case, nor may any member of the hearing body serve on the appeals body in the case.
- No member of the hearing body will have a conflict of interest or bias in favor of or against complainants or respondents generally, or in favor or against the parties to the particular case.
- The hearing body will be trained on topics including how to serve impartially, issues of relevance, including how to apply the rape shield protections provided for complainants, and any technology to be used at the hearing.
- The parties will have an opportunity to raise any objections regarding a decision-maker’s actual or perceived conflicts of interest or bias at the commencement of the live hearing.

Advisor of choice

- The parties have the right to select an advisor of their choice, who may be, but does not have to be, an attorney.
- The advisor of choice may accompany the parties to any meeting or hearing they are permitted to attend, but may not speak for the party, except for the purpose of cross-examination.
- In addition to selecting an advisor to conduct cross-examination, the parties may select an advisor who may accompany the parties to any meeting or hearing they are permitted to attend, but may not speak for the party.
- The parties are not permitted to conduct cross-examination; it must be conducted by the advisor. As a result, if a party does not select an advisor, the institution will select an advisor to serve in this role for the limited purpose of conducting the cross-examination at no fee or charge to the party.
- The advisor is not prohibited from having a conflict of interest or bias in favor of or against complainants or respondents generally, or in favor or against the parties to the particular case.
- The advisor is not prohibited from being a witness in the matter.
- If a party does not attend the live hearing, the party’s advisor may appear and conduct cross-examination on their behalf. 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30340 (May 19, 2020).
- If neither a party nor their advisor appear at the hearing, Vassar will provide an advisor to appear on behalf of the non-appearing party. See, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30339-40 (May 19, 2020).
- Advisors shall be subject to the institution’s Rules of Decorum, and may be removed upon violation of those Rules.

Witnesses

- Witnesses cannot be compelled to participate in the live hearing, and have the right not to participate in the hearing free from retaliation. See, 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30360 (May 19, 2020).
- If a witness does not submit to cross-examination, as described below, the decision-maker cannot rely on any statements made by that witness in reaching a determination regarding responsibility, including any statement relayed by the absent witness to a witness or party who testifies at the live hearing. 85 Fed. Reg. 30026, 30347 (May 19, 2020).
- Witnesses shall be subject to the institution’s Rules of Decorum.

Hearing Procedures

For all live hearings conducted under this Title IX Grievance Process, the procedure will be as follows:

- The adjudicator will open and establish rules and expectations for the hearing;
- The Parties will each be given the opportunity to provide opening statements;
- The adjudicator will ask questions of the Parties and Witnesses;
• Parties will be given the opportunity for live cross-examination after the adjudicator conducts its initial round of questioning; During the Parties’ cross-examination, adjudicator will have the authority to pause cross-examination at any time for the purposes of asking the adjudicator’s own follow up questions; and any time necessary in order to enforce the established rules of decorum.
• Should a Party or the Party’s Advisor choose not to cross-examine a Party or Witness, the Party shall affirmatively waive cross-examination through a written or oral statement to the adjudicator. A Party’s waiver of cross-examination does not eliminate the ability of the adjudicator to use statements made by the Party.

Live Cross-Examination Procedure

Each party’s advisor will conduct live cross-examination of the other party or parties and witnesses. During this live-cross examination the advisor will ask the other party or parties and witnesses relevant questions and follow-up questions, including those challenging credibility directly, orally, and in real time.

Before any cross-examination question is answered, the adjudicator will determine if the question is relevant. Cross-examination questions that are duplicative of those already asked, including by the adjudicator may be deemed irrelevant if they have been asked and answered.

Review of Recording

The recording of the hearing will be available for review by the parties within (ten) 10 business days, unless there are any extenuating circumstances. The recording of the hearing will not be provided to parties or advisors of choice.

Determination Regarding Responsibility

Standard of Proof

Vassar uses the preponderance of the evidence standard for investigations and determinations regarding responsibility of formal complaints covered under this Policy. This means that the investigation and hearing determines whether it is more likely than not that a violation of the Policy occurred.

General Considerations for Evaluating Testimony and Evidence

While the opportunity for cross-examination is required in all Title IX hearings, determinations regarding responsibility may be based in part, or entirely, on documentary, audiovisual, and digital evidence, as warranted in the reasoned judgment of the Decision-maker.

Decision-makers shall not draw inferences regarding a party or witness’ credibility based on the party’s or witness’ status as a complainant, respondent, or witness, nor shall it base its judgments in stereotypes about how a party or witness would or should act under the circumstances.

Generally, credibility judgments should rest on the demeanor of the party or witness, the plausibility of their testimony, the consistency of their testimony, and its reliability in light of corroborating or conflicting testimony or evidence.

Still, credibility judgments should not rest on whether a party or witness’ testimony is non-linear or incomplete, or if the party or witness is displaying stress or anxiety.

Decision makers will afford the highest weight relative to other testimony to first-hand testimony by parties and witnesses regarding their own memory of specific facts that occurred. Both inculpatory and exculpatory (i.e. tending to prove and disprove the allegations) evidence will be weighed in equal fashion.
Except where specifically barred by the Title IX Final Rule, a witness’ testimony regarding third-party knowledge of the facts at issue will be allowed, but will generally be accorded lower weight than testimony regarding direct knowledge of specific facts that occurred.

The Final Rule requires that Vassar allow parties to call “expert witnesses” for direct and cross examination. While the expert witness will be allowed to testify and be cross examined as required by the Final Rule, the decision-maker will be instructed to afford lower weight to non-factual testimony of the expert relative to fact witnesses, and any expert testimony that is not directed to the specific facts that occurred in the case will be afforded lower weight relative to fact witnesses, regardless of whether the expert witness testimony is the subject of cross examination and regardless of whether all parties present experts as witnesses.

The Final Rule requires that Vassar allow parties to call character witnesses to testify. While the character witnesses will be allowed to testify and be cross examined as required by the Final Rule, the decision-maker will be instructed to afford very low weight to any non-factual character testimony of any witness.

The Final Rule requires that Vassar admit and allow testimony regarding polygraph tests (“lie detector tests”) and other procedures that are outside of standard use in academic and non-academic conduct processes. While the processes and testimony about them will be allowed to testify and be crossed as required by the Final Rule, the decision-maker will be instructed to afford lower weight to such processes relative to the testimony of fact witnesses.

Where a party or witness’ conduct or statements demonstrate that the party or witness is engaging in retaliatory conduct, including but not limited to witness tampering and intimidation, the adjudicator may draw an adverse inference as to that party or witness’ credibility.

Components of the Determination Regarding Responsibility

The written Determination Regarding Responsibility will be issued simultaneously to all parties through their institution email account, or other reasonable means as necessary. The Determination will include:

1. Identification of the allegations potentially constituting covered sexual harassment;
2. A description of the procedural steps taken from the receipt of the formal complaint through the determination, including any notifications to the parties, interviews with parties and witnesses, site visits, methods used to gather other evidence, and hearings held;
3. Findings of fact supporting the determination;
4. Conclusions regarding which section of the College Regulations, or relevant employee handbook, if any, the respondent has or has not violated.
5. For each allegation:
   1. A statement of, and rationale for, a determination regarding responsibility;
   2. A statement of, and rationale for, any disciplinary sanctions the recipient imposes on the respondent; and
   3. A statement of, and rationale for, whether remedies designed to restore or preserve equal access to the recipient’s education program or activity will be provided by the recipient to the complainant; and
6. The recipient’s procedures and the permitted reasons for the complainant and respondent to appeal (described below in “Appeal”).

Timeline of Determination Regarding Responsibility

If there are no extenuating circumstances, the determination regarding responsibility will be issued by Vassar within ten (10) business days of the completion of the hearing.

Finality

The determination regarding responsibility becomes final either on the date that the institution provides the parties with the written determination of the result of the appeal, if an appeal is filed consistent with the procedures and timeline outlined in “Appeals” below, or if an appeal is not filed, the date on which the opportunity to appeal expires.

Appeals

Each party may appeal (1) the dismissal of a formal complaint or any included allegations and/or (2) a determination regarding responsibility. To appeal, a party must submit their written appeal within five (5) business days of being notified of the decision, indicating the grounds for the appeal.

The limited grounds for appeal available are as follows:

- Procedural irregularity that affected the outcome of the matter (i.e., a failure to follow the institution’s own procedures);
- New evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made, that could affect the outcome of the matter;
- The Title IX Coordinator, investigator(s), or decision-maker had a conflict of interest or bias for or against an individual party, or for or against complainants or respondents in general, that affected the outcome of the matter.
- The sanctions imposed are disproportionate to the severity of the violation or outside the parameters set by the College. The appeal body will return the complaint to the Dean of the Faculty and the Adjudicator who may then increase, decrease, or otherwise modify the sanctions.

The submission of appeal stays any sanctions for the pendency of an appeal. Supportive measures and remote learning opportunities remain available during the pendency of the appeal.

If a party appeals, the institution will as soon as practicable notify the other party in writing of the appeal, however the time for appeal shall be offered equitably to all parties and shall not be extended for any party solely because the other party filed an appeal.

Appeals may be no longer than 20 pages (including attachments). Appeals should be submitted in electronic form using ARIAL or TIMES NEW ROMAN, 12 point font, and single-spaced. Appeals should use footnotes, not endnotes. Appeals that do not meet these standards may be returned to the party for correction, but the time for appeal will not be extended unless there is evidence that technical malfunction caused the appeal document not to meet these standards.

Appeals will be decided by the appropriate Appeal body, who will be free of conflict of interest and bias, and will not serve as investigator, Title IX Coordinator, or hearing decision maker in the same matter. If the respondent in the original complaint is a faculty member, the elected faculty Appeal Committee hears all appeals, except for appeals of a remedy or sanctions determined by the Appeal Committee itself, which are heard by the Academic Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees. If the respondent in the original complaint is a student, the College Regulations Appeal Panel, chaired by the Dean of the College, hears all appeals. If the respondent in the original complaint is a non-faculty employee, the Vice President of Human Resources hears all appeals. The Appeals Committee will either affirm the original decision or request the Adjudicator to remediate the issue or request a new adjudicator if the former adjudicator cannot remediate the concern.

Outcome of appeal will be provided in writing simultaneously to both parties, and include rationale for the decision.

Retaliation

Vassar will keep the identity of any individual who has made a report or complaint of sex discrimination confidential, including the identity of any individual who has made a report or filed a Formal Complaint of sexual harassment under this Title IX Grievance Policy, any Complainant, any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of sex discrimination, any Respondent, and any witness, except as permitted by the FERPA statute, 20 U.S.C. 1232g, or FERPA regulations, 34 CFR part 99, or as required by law, or to carry out the purposes of 34 CFR part 106, including the conduct of any investigation, hearing, or judicial proceeding under this Title IX Grievance Policy.

No person may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 or its implementing regulations.

No person may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual because the individual has made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding or hearing under this Title IX Grievance Policy.

Any intimidation, threats, coercion, or discrimination, for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by Title IX or its implementing regulations constitutes retaliation. This includes any charges filed against an individual for code of conduct violations that do not involve sex discrimination or sexual harassment, but that arise from the same facts or circumstances as a report or complaint of sex discrimination or a report or Formal Complaint of sexual harassment.

Complaints alleging retaliation may be filed according to Vassar’s retaliation policy.

IX. SEXUAL MISCONDUCT POLICY

A. Policy Statement

Members of the Vassar College community, guests, and visitors have the right to be free from sexual violence. Vassar College believes in a zero tolerance policy for gender-based sexual misconduct, and the College is committed to fostering a community that promotes the prompt reporting of sexual misconduct and timely and fair resolution of sexual misconduct complaints. The expectations of our community regarding sexual misconduct can be summarized as follows: In order for individuals to engage in sexual activity of any type with each other, there must be clear, knowing, and voluntary consent prior to and during sexual activity. This policy has been developed to reaffirm these principles and to provide recourse for those individuals whose rights have been violated. This policy is intended to define community expectations and to establish a mechanism for determining when those expectations have been violated.

Any allegations or incidents of sexual misconduct that do not fall under the Vassar Title IX policy will be addressed under these policies.

Sexual misconduct offenses include, but are not limited to, sexual harassment (see Policy Against Discrimination and Harassment above), non-consensual sexual contact or attempts to commit same, non-consensual sexual intercourse or attempts to commit same, and sexual exploitation. Use of alcohol or other drugs will never function as a defense to a violation of this policy. The College will consider the concerns and rights of both the reporting individual and the accused.

B. Definitions

1. Non-Consensual Sexual Contact is any intentional sexual touching, however slight, with any object, by a person upon a person, that is without consent and/or by force. Sexual contact includes intentional contact with the breasts, buttocks, groin, or genitals, or touching another with any of these body parts; making another touch you or themselves with or on any of these body parts; or any intentional bodily contact in a sexual manner, though not involving contact with/of/by breasts, buttocks, groin, genitals, mouth, or other orifice.

2. Non-Consensual Sexual Intercourse is any sexual intercourse, however slight, with any object, by a person upon a person, that is without consent and/or by force. Intercourse includes vaginal penetration by a penis, object, tongue, or finger; anal penetration by a penis, object, tongue, or finger; and oral copulation (mouth to genital contact or genital to mouth contact), no matter how slight the penetration or contact.
3. Sexual Exploitation occurs when a person takes or attempts to take non-consensual or abusive sexual advantage of another for the first person’s own advantage or benefit, or to benefit or advantage anyone other than the one being exploited, and when that behavior does not otherwise constitute one of the other sexual misconduct offenses. Examples of sexual exploitation include, but are not limited to:

   a. Invasion of sexual privacy;
   b. Prostituting another person;
   c. Non-consensual taking of pictures, video recording, and/or audio recording of a sexual activity;
   d. Non-consensual distribution of pictures, video recording, audio recording, or live-streaming of a sexual activity;
   e. Allowing third parties to observe sexual activities without consent;
   f. Engaging in voyeurism;
   g. Knowingly transmitting an STI or HIV to another person;
   h. Exposing one’s genitals in non-consensual circumstances;
   i. Inducing another to expose their genitals; or
   j. Sexually-based stalking and/or bullying.

X. INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE POLICY

A. Policy Statement

Vassar’s policy is to prohibit Intimate Partner Violence. Intimate Partner Violence is any instance of violence or abuse that occurs between those who are in or have been in an intimate relationship with each other. Abuse can be physical, sexual, emotional/verbal, psychological and/or economical. This includes (but not limited to) any behaviors that frighten, intimidate, terrorize, manipulate, hurt, humiliate, blame, injure or wound someone.

B. Definitions

1. Intimate Partner: To be considered intimate, a relationship must include (or have included) some romantic, sexual, and/or domestic element. Common intimate partner relationships are:

   a. Married Partners – individuals who are legally married;
   b. Domestic Partners – individuals who live together AND who are romantically interested in one another (not simply roommates, regardless of state law); can be married or unmarried; can include a sexual component, but does not have to;
   c. Dating Partners – individuals who are romantically interested in one another; can be a couple (dating each other exclusively) or dating casually (concurrently dating other people); can include a sexual component, but does not have to;
   d. Sexual Partners – individuals who have engaged in at least one sexual act with one another.

2. Emotional/Verbal Abuse is persistent abuse that undermines an individual’s sense of self-worth and/or self-esteem. This may include, but is not limited to constant criticism, diminishing one’s abilities, name-calling, and/or damaging one’s relationship with their friends and/or family.
3. Psychological Abuse is abuse that would cause fear in a reasonable person. This includes but not limited to intimidation; threatening physical harm to self, partner, children, or partner’s family or friends; threatening to disclose partners’ orientation, destruction of pets and property; and isolating from family, friends, or school and/or work.

4. Economic Abuse is intending to make or attempting to make an individual financially dependent on their partner. This includes but is not limited to maintaining control over financial resources, withholding one’s access to money, or forbidding attendance at school, employment or other activities.

5. Physical Abuse is physical harm by a partner. This includes but is not limited to hitting, slapping, shoving, kicking, grabbing, pinching, biting, hair-pulling, spitting, physical restraint and/or restricting breathing. Physical abuse may also include denying a partner medical care or coercing use of alcohol and/or other drugs, touching in ways that make a person uncomfortable, and persistent treatment of the victim and other people as objects via actions and remarks.

6. Sexual Abuse involves violating an individual’s autonomy over their body. Sexual abuse may include, but is not limited to, coercing or attempting to coerce any sexual contact or behavior, forcing the partner to dress in a sexually explicit way, forcing to watch or simulate pornography, nonconsensual intercourse or contact, or accusing the victim of sexual activity with others.

XI. STALKING POLICY

A. Policy Statement

Vassar’s policy is to prohibit stalking. Stalking occurs when a person engages in repetitive behavior directed toward another person and knows or should reasonably know that such conduct is likely to alarm, harass, or cause reasonable fear of harm or injury in that person, or in a third party. The feared harm of injury may be to the person’s physical, emotional, or mental health, personal safety, property, education, or employment. Stalking may include, but is not limited to, unwanted visual or physical proximity to a person, repeatedly conveying oral or written threats, extorting money or valuables, implicitly threatening physical conduct, or any combination of these behaviors directed at or toward a person. All incidents of stalking will be taken seriously. When the stalker is anonymous, the college will investigate as thoroughly as possible using all available resources. The following are some examples of stalking type behavior:

1. Unwelcome communication, including, but not limited to: face-to-face, telephone, voice message, electronic mail, written letter, and/or contact; unwelcome gifts or flowers, etc.
2. Threatening or obscene gestures
3. Surveillance
4. Trespassing
5. Vandalism
6. “Peeping-tommery”
7. Voyeurism
8. Unwelcome touching or physical contact
9. Gaining unauthorized access to personal, medical, financial, and/or other identifying information, including, but not limited to: access by computer network, mail, telephone, or written communication

A. Definitions

Cyber-stalking is an extension of the physical form of stalking where electronic media such as the internet, instant messengers, cell phones, or other similar devices are used to pursue, alarm, harass, or cause reasonable fear of harm or injury in that person, or in a third party. Some examples of cyber-stalking include but are not limited to: unwanted/unsolicited emails or instant messages, disturbing messages on online bulletin boards, unsolicited communications about a person, their family, friends, or co-workers, or sending/posting disturbing messages with another username.

XII. ADDITIONAL APPLICABLE DEFINITIONS

1. Affirmative consent is a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity. Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create clear permission regarding willingness to engage in the sexual activity. Silence or lack of resistance, in and of itself, does not demonstrate consent. The definition of consent does not vary based upon a participant’s sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.
   a. Consent to any sexual act or prior consensual sexual activity between or with any party does not necessarily constitute consent to any other sexual act. Consent is required regardless of whether the person initiating the act is under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol. Consent may be initially given but withdrawn at any time.
   b. Consent cannot be given when a person is incapacitated, which occurs when an individual lacks the ability to knowingly choose to participate in sexual activity.
   c. Consent cannot be given when it is the result of any coercion, intimidation, force, or threat of harm. When consent is withdrawn or can no longer be given, sexual activity must stop.
   d. In order to give effective consent, one must be of legal age. New York State defines 17 years as of legal age.

2. Incapacitation may be caused by the lack of consciousness or being asleep, being involuntarily restrained, or other factors limiting the capacity of an individual to give consent. Depending on the degree of intoxication, someone who is under the influence of alcohol, drugs, or other intoxicants may be incapacitated and therefore unable to consent.

3. Force is the use of physical violence and/or imposing on someone physically to gain sexual access. Force also includes threats, intimidation (implied threats), and coercion that overcome resistance or produce consent. The presence of force is not demonstrated by the absence of resistance. Sexual activity that is forced is by definition non-consensual, but non-consensual sexual activity is not by definition forced.
   a. There is no requirement that a person resist a sexual advance or request, but resistance is a clear demonstration of non-consent.
   b. The use of force is not “worse” than the subjective experience of violation of someone who has experienced sexual contact or intercourse without consent.
   c. The use of physical force constitutes a stand-alone, non-sexual misconduct offense as well, and it is the College’s expectation that those who use physical force (assault, restricting movement or activity, battery, etc.) would face not just the sexual misconduct charge, but also charges under the College Regulations for the additional assaultive behavior.

4. Coercion is unreasonable pressure for sexual activity.
   a. Coercing someone into sexual activity is comparable to physically forcing someone into a sexual activity.
b. Coercive behavior differs from seductive behavior based on the type of pressure someone uses to obtain consent from another.

c. When someone makes clear that they do not want to engage in sex or a sexual activity, that they want to stop, or that they do not want to go past a certain point of sexual interaction, continued pressure beyond that point can be coercive.

XIII. GRIEVANCE POLICY FOR ADDRESSING COMPLAINTS UNDER CAMPUS REGULATIONS

A. Complaint Procedure

The College has two approaches for resolving complaints of alleged violations of the Policy Against Discrimination and Harassment, the Sexual Misconduct Policy, the Intimate Partner Violence Policy, and the Stalking Policy: informal resolution (where legally permissible) and the formal grievance processes. Informal resolution efforts and the formal grievance processes are not mutually exclusive, and neither is a prerequisite for the other. Moreover, the informal resolution process may be needed at any time in order to initiate a formal complaint.

Individuals who believe that they have been victims of sexual or some other form of harassment can contact an EO/AA officer who will meet with them to hear their concerns and review available options for informal and formal resolution. Discussing a concern does not commit one to making a formal charge. However, an individual reporting harassment should be aware that the College may decide that it is necessary to take action to address the harassment beyond an informal discussion.

The College encourages the prompt reporting of any potential violations of this policy so that it can take appropriate steps to maintain an environment free of harassment and can ensure that its procedures are effective. While no fixed reporting period has been established, early reporting and intervention has proven to be the most effective method of resolving actual or perceived incidents of sexual and other forms of harassment.

Whenever the application of any time deadline or procedure set forth in the grievance procedure creates a problem owing to the nature of the complaint or the urgency of the matter, the faculty director of affirmative action or the EO/AA officer, as appropriate, will determine whether an appropriately expedited grievance procedure can be fashioned. Time periods may be extended if the grievant has good reason as determined by the faculty director of affirmative action or the equal opportunity/affirmative action officer. Complaints alleging discrimination or harassment related to a faculty member's review for extension, reappointment, tenure, promotion, or post-tenure review may be submitted before, during, or after the review. If a review is ongoing or upcoming when the complaint is made, the review is stopped or delayed until the complaint is resolved in accordance with this policy. Complaints alleging that discrimination or harassment contributed to a negative outcome of a faculty review should be made within sixty (60) days of receiving notification from the President of the outcome of the review.

1. Informal Resolution Process

Whenever possible and perceived to be safe by all parties, informal resolution is encouraged but is not required. Informal resolution efforts may include, but are not limited to, presentation by complainant of the concerns and desired outcome to the respondent in writing or in a meeting convened by the EO/AA office or a mediated discussion between the complainant and respondent.

In cases of requests for mediation, the EO/AA officer(s) will assess the situation to determine whether mediation is appropriate and whether it will be conducted by a trained mediator, and/or in the presence of EO/AA officer(s), supervisor, dean, senior officer, human resources administrator, or other appropriate member of the College community. The complainant and the respondent may refuse mediation or may end mediation at any time. No adverse inference is to be drawn from either decision. Mediation is never appropriate in cases of alleged sexual assault. The EO/AA Office will document all informal resolution efforts.

Informal resolution outcomes may include, but are not limited to,

- Explicit agreements about future conduct;
- Changes in the working, learning, or living environment;
- Targeted educational and training programs; and
- Other forms of corrective action, as appropriate.

2. Formal Grievance Process

A formal grievance process may be initiated by meeting in person with the EO/AA Officer or the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action for matters involving the faculty or by writing to the EO/AA Office. The College strongly encourages submission of grievances in writing after a grievance is initiated through an in-person meeting. The preferred mode of delivery for the formal grievance is via email to eoaa@vassar.edu. The grievance may also be hand delivered or sent by certified mail to the attention of either the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action or the EO/AA officer, as appropriate, at: Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action, Vassar College, Campus Box 645, 124 Raymond Ave, Poughkeepsie NY 12604-0645. A formal grievance must identify and include the following information:

- Complainant's signature and the date signed;
- Name of the respondent, the respondent’s position or status, and contact information, if known;
- Clear and concise description of the alleged incident(s) and when and where it (they) occurred;
- Description of all informal efforts, if any, to resolve the issue(s) with the person involved. This includes names, dates, and times of attempted or actual contact along with a description of the discussion and the manner of communication made in the course of each effort;
- Supporting documentation and evidence; and
- Names of witnesses or individuals who may have direct and relevant information about the specific allegation (with accompanying addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers).

a. Privacy

The privacy of all parties to a complaint will be respected, except insofar as it interferes with the College's investigative, grievance, and appeal processes as described in this document. Dissemination of information and/or written materials to persons not involved in the complaint procedure is not permitted except to those listed in Section IX of this policy. Violations of privacy of the complainant, the respondent, support persons, or parties to the investigation by any member of the EOAA office or any member of an investigative, grievance, or appeal panel may lead to disciplinary action by the College.

b. Initial Investigation

The EO/AA Office will investigate any reported grievances regarding violations of the Policy Against Discrimination and Harassment, Sexual Misconduct, Intimate Partner Violence and Stalking promptly and impartially. The investigation may include, but is not limited to, individual interviews with the parties involved and, where necessary, with individuals who may have observed the alleged conduct or may have other knowledge relevant to the investigation. Based on the investigation, the EO/AA Office will determine if there is sufficient evidence to support reasonable cause\(^1\). The Office will inform the complainant and respondent of the outcome of the investigation and provide a summary of the investigative process, the determination, and possible sanctions if appropriate. At this point, both parties may accept or reject the outcome and determination(s) of the investigation. If both parties accept a determination that there is insufficient evidence to support reasonable cause, then the case is closed. If both parties accept a determination that there is sufficient evidence to support reasonable cause, then the respondent’s senior officer will assign sanctions and take corrective action designed to end the discrimination or harassment, prevent its recurrence, and remedy its effects on the complainant and the College community. A finding of the EO/AA Office that is accepted by both parties is final. Either the complainant or the respondent may reject the determination of the initial investigation, in part or entirely, and request a grievance hearing by sending a written request to the EO/AA Office within five (5) business days of receiving the written decision. The preferred mode of delivery for the grievance panel request is via email to eoaa@vassar.edu. It may also be hand delivered or sent by certified mail to the attention of either the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action or the EO/AA officer, as appropriate, at: Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action, Vassar College, Campus Box 645, 124 Raymond Ave, Poughkeepsie NY 12604-0645.

c. Grievance Hearing

Upon receipt of a written request, the College will move expeditiously to the adjudication phase if after an investigation, there is sufficient evidence to support reasonable cause and the matter is not resolved administratively, ordinarily within ten (10) business days. The adjudication phase consists of a hearing before a trained and neutral adjudicator and college liaison. The Adjudicator will hear allegations of violations of college regulations involving sexual misconduct, intimate partner violence, stalking, and other similar incidents of gender-based harassment or violence defined in the Faculty Handbook. The Adjudicator will be external to the Vassar College community and will have received specialized training with respect to the issues. The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for this hearing process. The Adjudicator will review testimony from the complainant, the respondent, and any other relevant witnesses and will consider the determination of the investigation and any documentary evidence that the EO/AA officer(s) and the Adjudicator may deem appropriate. The determination of the initial investigation by the EO/AA office will be forwarded to, but is not binding on, the members of the panel.

The panel convened to hear a formal grievance against a student is the College Regulations Panel. All applicable College Regulations rules and procedures for the hearing will be applied.

In the case of a formal grievance against an EO/AA officer in the performance of the officer’s duties, the grievance will be forwarded to the President who will investigate (or assign an investigator) and render a decision as to whether there has been a violation of the Policy. A decision may be appealed to the Chair of the Board of Trustees in accordance with the grounds for appeal outlined below. In the case of a formal grievance against a senior officer, the EO/AA Office will forward the grievance to the President who will investigate (or assign an investigator) and render a decision as to whether there has been a violation of this policy. A decision may be appealed to the Chair of the Board of Trustees in accordance with the grounds for appeal outlined below. In the case of a formal grievance against the President, the EO/AA Office will forward the grievance to the Chair of the Board of Trustees who will investigate (or assign an investigator) and render a decision as to whether there has been a violation of the Policy. The decision rendered by the Chair of the Board of Trustees is binding and final.

Hearing Procedures

1. The reporting individual and respondent may review the College’s investigation file in hardcopy at the College at least two days prior to the hearing. Separate copies of the file will not be emailed or sent to either party. The Adjudicator and both parties will have access to the investigative file for review during the hearing.
2. The reporting individual and respondent may make a statement, present evidence and witnesses, and/or submit relevant information at the hearing. The College may also present witnesses and/or information. All witnesses must be identified to the Title IX Coordinator at least two business days before the date of the hearing. Both parties will be notified of the names of all witnesses that will be present at the hearing.

The term “business days” refers to College business days when the College is in operation, not including holidays or academic/institutional recesses.

3. Neither party is required to make a statement in the physical presence of the other party. Each party will have the option of presenting evidence and attending all or part of the hearing by live video or audio conference call so that a party does not have to be in the same physical space as the other party during the hearing.

4. The reporting individual and respondent may ask questions of each other, witnesses or other individuals during the hearing by submitting questions to the Adjudicator. All reasonable questions will be asked by the Adjudicator on behalf of the reporting individual and respondent. The Adjudicator may also ask questions of the parties.

5. The reporting individual and respondent may be accompanied by an advisor/support person of their choice during the hearing. The advisor/support person may assist the reporting individual or respondent, but may not participate in the hearing. Advisors/support persons must be identified to the Title IX Coordinator at least two business days before the date of the hearing.

6. When necessary or appropriate, witnesses, parties, and/or advisors/support persons may participate by video or conference call if they are not able to be present on campus.

7. The Adjudicator will provide a written finding on the charges to the Dean of the Faculty or his designee and may recommend sanctions. The parties may submit an impact statement to the Adjudicator after it has made a determination as to responsibility so that the Adjudicator may consider such written statements before it recommends a sanction, if any, to the Dean. It may be necessary to provide the Adjudicator an extension of time to submit its report depending on the circumstances of a case, such as if the parties submit an impact statement. In all cases the Adjudicator will submit its report to the Dean of the Faculty or his designee as soon as possible. The Dean of the Faculty or his designee will make a final judgment on the findings and assign an appropriate sanction, if any, after reviewing the findings and consulting with the adjudicator.

8. The reporting individual and respondent will receive a notice of the hearing outcome and the imposed sanction(s) generally within 3 business days after the date of the hearing.

9. The reporting individual and respondent may appeal the findings of the Adjudicator and/or final determination and sanction(s) within 5 business days in accordance with the standards and procedures for appeal in the Faculty Handbook.

10. Retaliation, intimidation, or reprisal of any kind following a hearing, or during or after any phase of the investigative process, will not be tolerated. Both parties are encouraged to report such incidents promptly to the EO/AA Office.

d. If a remedy or sanction may require changes to the procedures or conduct of a faculty review for extension, reappointment, tenure, promotion, or post-tenure review, then, following the determination that a violation occurred, the case is referred to the faculty Appeal Committee by the EO/AA office and the Dean of the Faculty. Based on the investigation and determination of the Adjudicator, the Appeal Committee decides what changes, if any, to established review procedures are necessary to address the determination. While responding fully to the determination, the Appeal Committee strives to maintain the normal review process to the extent possible. The Appeal Committee may consult with the Faculty Appointments and Salary
Corrective Action

The College will impose prompt remedial and/or disciplinary action against any respondent found to have violated this policy. Responsive action may include, for example, targeted educational and training programs; the development and enforcement of explicit contractual agreements about future conduct; changes in the working, learning, or living environment; formal censure; reassignment or removal from an appointed position; suspension or expulsion; termination of employment; or other measures as the College believes will be effective in ending the misconduct and correcting the effects of the harassment.

Time Frame and Grounds for Filing a Request for Appeal

Either party (complainant or respondent) may appeal the determination and/or sanctions of the Adjudicator and Dean of the Faculty within five (5) business days of receiving the written decision by delivering a signed and dated appeal by hand or by certified mail to the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action, Vassar College, Box 645, 124 Raymond Ave, Poughkeepsie NY 12604-0645, or by email to eoaa@vassar.edu.

Dissatisfaction with the outcome of the hearing is not grounds for appeal. The only grounds for appeal are as follows:

1. Procedural irregularity that affected the outcome of the matter (i.e., a failure to follow the institution’s own procedures);
2. New evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made, that could affect the outcome of the matter;
3. The Title IX Coordinator, investigator(s), or the Adjudicator, had a conflict of interest or bias for or against an individual party, or for or against complainants or respondents in general, that affected the outcome of the matter.
4. The sanctions imposed are disproportionate to the severity of the violation or substantially outside the parameters set by the College. The appeal body will return the complaint to the Dean of the Faculty and Adjudicator, who may then increase, decrease, or otherwise modify the sanctions.

In any request for an appeal, the burden of proof lies with the party requesting the appeal, as the Committee for clarification in weighing the effects of changes it is considering or in determining what established review procedures are.

The Appeal Committee provides a written statement of its decision to the President. Upon the approval of the President, the decision of the Appeal Committee is forwarded to the Dean of the Faculty who incorporates it without change into any other sanctions or remedy. If the President objects to portions of the decision of the Appeal Committee, then the President asks the committee to reconsider those portions, explaining the concerns in writing and in a formal meeting with the committee. If the President still objects to the reconsidered decision, the matter is transmitted to the Academic Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees, whose decision is final. In cases where the Appeal Committee decides that all or part of a past negative review must be repeated, it may also recommend to the President that the complainant receive a contract for a supplemental year.

The President issues any specific instructions necessary to implement the decision of the Appeal Committee.

Normally, the reporting individual and respondent will receive a notice of the hearing outcome and the imposed sanction(s) generally within 3 business days after the date of the hearing. However, in cases that require consultation of the Appeal Committee, within thirty (30) business days after deliberations have been completed.
original determination and sanction are presumed to have been decided reasonably and appropriately.

Sanctions will take effect immediately, notwithstanding an appeal. A request may be made to the Dean of the Faculty to defer the effective date of sanctions in exigent circumstances. In cases where the appeal results in reinstatement to the institution or of privileges, all reasonable attempts will be made to restore the individual to the individual’s prior status, recognizing that some opportunities may be irrevocable in the short term.

The EO/AA Office will provide a copy of the appeal to the other party, who may file a response within ten (10) business days. All appeals and responses are then forwarded to the appropriate appeal body for initial review. If the appeal body determines that the appeal meets the limited grounds and is timely, the documentation is taken under consideration.

If the respondent in the original complaint is a faculty member, the elected faculty Appeal Committee hears all appeals, except for appeals of a remedy or sanctions determined by the Appeal Committee itself, which are heard by the Academic Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees. If the respondent in the original complaint is a student, the College Regulations Appeal Panel, chaired by the Dean of the College, hears all appeals. If the respondent in the original complaint is a non-faculty employee, the Vice-President for Finance and Administration hears all appeals.

g. Determination by Appeal Bodies

The appeal body ordinarily will render a written decision within seven (7) business days from the hearing of the appeal. The appeal body may take the following actions:

- Determine that new evidence raised on appeal should be considered and return the complaint to the original adjudicator to reconsider in light of the new evidence only.
- Determine that a material procedural or substantive error occurred, and return the complaint to the original adjudicator with instructions to reconvene to address the error. In rare cases, where the procedural or substantive error cannot be addressed by the original adjudicator (as in cases of bias), the appeal body may order a new adjudicator.
- Determine that the sanctions imposed are disproportionate to the severity of the violation and substantially outside the parameters set by the College. The appeal body will return the complaint to the Dean of the Faculty who may then increase, decrease, or otherwise modify the sanctions.
- Deny the request for appeal.

C. False and Malicious Complaints

False and malicious accusations of harassment or discrimination, as opposed to complaints that, even if erroneous, are made in good faith, may be the subject of appropriate disciplinary action.

D. Record Retention for Discrimination and Harassment Complaints

The Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action is responsible for maintaining records relating to discrimination and harassment reports, investigations, and resolutions. Records will also be maintained in accordance with College records policies, generally for at least seven (7) years after the date the complaint is resolved. Records may be maintained longer at the discretion of the EO/AA officer in cases where the parties have a continuing affiliation with the College. All records pertaining to pending litigation or a request for records will be maintained in accordance with instructions from legal counsel.

E. Support Resources
1. Confidential Support and Counseling: Individuals are encouraged to contact on-campus and off-campus counselors, or members of the clergy and chaplains for confidential counseling regarding any harassment matter. Employees and faculty members are encouraged to contact Vassar's Employee Assistance Program (EAP), (800) 828-6025, to access off-campus counseling resources, or to contact members of the clergy and chaplains for confidential counseling regarding any harassment matter. Seeking counseling is not meant to take the place of instituting the informal resolution or formal grievance processes described above.

2. Support Person: The complainant and the respondent each may have a support person present with them during the informal resolution and formal grievance processes to provide moral support. The support person cannot be a party to the grievance or serve as a potential witness (character or factual). This support person must be a member of the college community. Except as directed by the investigator(s) or the adjudicator, support persons will limit their role in a hearing to that of a support person to the complainant or the respondent. That is, a support person will have no speaking role at a hearing. A request may be made to the EO/AA officer(s) for special consideration to bring a support person who is not a member of the college community in extraordinary circumstances. Witnesses and others involved in an investigation are not entitled to have a support person. Support persons must be identified to the EO/AA officer at least two (2) business days before the date of the meeting with the EO/AA officer or the hearing.

3. Legal Counsel: It is the complainant’s and the respondent's decision whether to seek the advice and assistance of an attorney at their own expense if they need legal advice. Although anyone has the right to seek legal advice, neither the complainant nor the respondent may be represented by legal counsel at investigatory interviews, informal resolution processes, or a college administrative hearing.

XIV. TITLE IX REPORTING DUTIES

Different people on campus have different reporting responsibilities and different abilities to maintain confidentiality, depending on their roles at the College and upon College policy, when they receive a report of gender-based discrimination involving a student. At Vassar, some individuals and campus resources can offer confidentiality while others have specific obligations to respond when they receive a report of a crime or a campus policy violation. Even offices and employees who cannot guarantee confidentiality will maintain your privacy to the greatest extent possible. The information you provide to a non-confidential resource will be relayed only as necessary for the Title IX Coordinator to investigate and/or seek resolution.

If a student is unsure of someone’s duties and ability to maintain the student’s privacy, the student should ask that person before disclosing any details of the incident.

A. Responsible Employees

Reporting an incident of sexual misconduct to the Title IX coordinator or a “responsible employee” is official notice to the institution. Students have the right and can expect to have incidents of gender-based discrimination taken seriously by the institution when formally reported, and to have those incidents investigated and properly resolved through administrative procedures.

All “responsible employees” must report the incident to the director of equal opportunity/Title IX coordinator, who will determine the most appropriate course of action to ensure a prompt and equitable response. Formal reporting means that only people who need to know will be told, and information will be shared only as necessary with investigators, witnesses, and the accused individual.

All non-student employees except those listed as Private Resources or Confidential Resources below are designated as “responsible employees” when they receive reports or complaints of alleged gender-based discrimination including sexual harassment, sexual assault, and other forms of sexual misconduct involving students. In addition, all non-student members of the campus community in unpaid official capacities (e.g., partners of faculty house fellows) or non-student volunteers (e.g., volunteer athletics coaches) have the same reporting responsibilities as for responsible employees.
B. Private Resources

A student may seek assistance from campus “private resources” without starting a formal process. These resources focus primarily on advocacy and support for students impacted by gender-based discrimination including sexual harassment, sexual assault, and other forms of sexual misconduct.

The following individuals are designated as “private resources.”

- Student fellows,
- Sexual Assault and Violence Prevention (SAVP) Director and Violence Prevention Educator,
- Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) Advocates.

Neither the College nor the law requires private resources to divulge personally identifiable information except in certain circumstances as described below. Some of these resources may need to share incident reports with their supervisors, but they will not share any personally identifiable information about the student’s report unless the student gives permission, except in the rare event that the incident reveals an imminent need to protect the student or other members of the community. If any personally identifiable information must be shared, the student will be informed, and such information will only be shared as necessary with as few people as possible and making every effort to protect the student’s privacy.

C. Confidential Resources

Students who desire that details of an incident be kept confidential should speak with mental health counselors, medical providers, or members of the clergy. These persons are not required to disclose information unless there is an imminent health and safety concern for the student or others. Students may also seek confidential support from off-campus resources, such as a rape crisis center counselor.

On-Campus Resources for Students
- Counseling Service, (845) 437-5700
- Health Services, (845) 437-5800

Off-Campus Resources
- Poughkeepsie Center for Victim Safety & Support 24/7, (845) 452-7272
- New York State Domestic Violence and Sexual Violence Hotline, 24/7, 1-800-942-6906

C. Special Duties Involving Child Abuse or Mistreatment of a Minor

Individuals should report suspected child abuse and neglect, including sexual assault, to law enforcement and/or to the New York Statewide Central Register of Child Abuse and Maltreatment (sometimes referred to as the State Central Register or SCR) by calling one of the numbers listed below. It is not the responsibility of any employee, student, or volunteer to investigate child abuse. This is the role of child protective services and law enforcement authorities. Vassar College must act quickly regarding all accusations of sexual or physical abuse. The source of abuse does not need be known in order to file a report. If you suspect child abuse or neglect, do the following:

- If a child is in immediate danger, call the police (911) immediately.
- College employees and students should notify local law enforcement immediately when these situations are suspected.
  - Town of Poughkeepsie Police: (845) 485-3670.
• Members of the College community may also contact the Vassar College Safety and Security Department at (845) 437-7333, but not before they contact local law enforcement.
• If there is concern about abuse of a child by a parent or custodian call the Child Abuse Hotline:
  o Responsible employees should call (800) 635-1522.
  o All others should call (800) 342-3720

XV. POLICY ON CONSENSUAL RELATIONS BETWEEN FACULTY AND STUDENTS

1. Background

The College recognizes that adults, including young adults, may make choices regarding personal relationships. However, a romantic or sexual relationship between a faculty member and a student jeopardizes both the student's academic program and the learning environment for other students and raises serious concerns regarding unequal status and power, validity of consent, conflicts of interest, and preferential treatment. For these reasons, a faculty member’s professional responsibilities are incompatible with a sexual or romantic relationship with a student. Faculty members engaging in such relationships put themselves, students, the College, and its educational mission at risk. In addition to disciplinary action by the College, a faculty member who engages in a romantic or sexual relationship with a student risks loss of professional standing with colleagues and students, allegations and charges of sexual harassment, and legal liability.

2. Policy

Members of the faculty are prohibited from pursuing or engaging in a romantic relationship or sexual relations with any current Vassar student. The prohibition is year-round and includes students participating in off campus or summer programs and students on leave.

3. Exemptions

The Dean of the Faculty grants exemptions from this policy under reasonable circumstances. An automatic exemption to this policy applies when the spouse or domestic partner of a faculty member enrolls as a student. When an exemption is made, the Dean of the Faculty notifies the EOAA office and makes arrangements, if necessary, to minimize any potential conflicts of interest.

4. Investigation

Potential violations of this policy are referred to the EOAA office, which investigates (using the process described for initial investigations in the policy against discrimination and harassment) and renders a determination to the Dean of the Faculty. The standard of proof is clear and convincing evidence of a violation. If necessary, the EOAA office recommends to the Dean of the Faculty alternative arrangements for supervision, evaluation, teaching, grading or advising.

5. Disciplinary action

A faculty member found to have violated this policy is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including leave without pay or termination of employment. The Dean of the Faculty determines and assigns the appropriate disciplinary actions.

If the Dean of the Faculty recommends that the President consider the termination of a faculty member’s employment before the expiration of the faculty member’s contract or when the faculty member has indeterminate tenure, the Governance provisions and process for Dismissal for Cause (5.B.II.2.b & d) continue to apply and are followed.
6. Appeal

Faculty members may appeal a determination that they violated this policy to the faculty Appeal Committee. The only grounds for appeal are:

a) Procedural error(s) affected the outcome of the investigation (e.g., bias or prejudice or failure to consider all the evidence).

b) New evidence unavailable at the time of the original investigation could have altered the outcome of the investigation (a summary of this new evidence and its potential impact must be presented to the Appeal Committee).

c) The disciplinary actions taken are disproportionate to the severity of the violation.

d) A reasonable exemption to the policy should have been granted.

After consideration, the Appeal Committee may:

a) Determine that a procedural error that could have affected the outcome of the investigation occurred. In this case, the Appeal Committee normally returns the investigation to the original investigator; however, if it determines the original investigator cannot address the procedural error, the Appeal Committee requires a new investigation by a new investigator;

b) Determine that the new evidence should be considered and return the investigation to the original investigator for reconsideration;

c) Determine that the disciplinary actions imposed are disproportionate to the severity of the violation and ask the Dean of the Faculty to reconsider them;

d) Determine that a reasonable exemption should have been granted to the faculty member and ask the Dean of the Faculty to grant the exemption.

e) Deny the appeal.

In the case of (c) and (d), if the Appeal Committee believes the subsequent reconsideration by Dean of the Faculty has not adequately addressed its concerns, then the Appeal Committee may bring the matter to the President, whose decision is final.

7. Harassment

This policy addresses consensual relationships only. Non-consensual relationships are covered under the Policy against Discrimination and Harassment. Nothing in this policy precludes the enforcement of the college’s Policy Against Discrimination or Harassment.

(Approved by the faculty March 11, 2015)

XVI. AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

A. Vassar College Affirmative Action Policy

The Board of Trustees has affirmed the commitment of the college to nondiscrimination and to active efforts to provide equal employment opportunities:

“Vassar College states that it has been, and continues to be, its policy to provide equal employment opportunity for all applicants in all job classifications without regard for race, color, religious belief, sex, marital status, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, veteran status, or age. Additionally, should state or federal law be enacted during the period this policy is extant which prohibits discrimination or harassment based upon a group’s protected status not listed in the above categories, this policy will be deemed amended to afford protection to such groups. It is and continues to be the policy of Vassar College that all applicants for employment are recruited, hired and assigned on the basis of personal merit without discrimination because of race, color, religious belief, sex, marital status, disability, sexual orientation, Gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, veteran status, or age. Furthermore, it is the practice of Vassar College to ensure that all its employees are treated equally and that no distinctions are made in compensation, promotion, and transfer because of the employee’s race, color, religious belief, sex, marital status, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, veteran status, or age.

Vassar College states that its policy of equal employment opportunity will continue to be maintained. It fully recognizes, however, that the passive avoidance of overt discrimination is not sufficient to further employment opportunity for qualified members of groups formerly underrepresented. Therefore, it is and will be the practice of Vassar College to seek out qualified candidates for appointment and promotion among minority group members and women for positions where they have been inadequately represented in the past.

Fundamental to these statements of institutional policy is the affirmation that the presence on the faculty of women and members of ethnic and racial minorities is needed if the college is to fulfill its educational mission. The intent of the policy is that affirmative action at Vassar be not simply formal compliance with the law but a vigorous program of recruitment and appointment.”

B. Affirmative Action Requirements

The following procedures have been established to implement the Vassar College Affirmative Action Policy as stated above:

a. Before the search for candidates is begun, a job description should be prepared, clearly stating the credentials and skills required for the position to be filled. All applicants for the position must be uniformly evaluated in terms of this description. Only if it is found that no satisfactory applicants meet the job requirements as specified may the description be changed. In such cases a new search is initiated.

b. All positions must be advertised, except in special cases approved by the faculty director of affirmative action. The text of an advertisement must be sent to the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. After being checked for accuracy in the particulars of the position, the description and advertisement will be sent to the faculty director of affirmative action for approval. Departments and programs are asked to suggest where an advertisement ought to be placed, but it is the responsibility of the faculty director of affirmative action to see that a position is advertised as fully as required. The extent of advertising will depend upon the nature of the position. A part-time position will be less extensively advertised than a full-time one; a substitute position less fully than a replacement or a new position.

c. Response to an advertisement will go directly to the department or program. It is the responsibility of the department or program to keep an accurate tally of responses and to send this along with a statement of the action taken (interviews, applicants brought to campus, recommendations and appointments made) to the faculty director of affirmative action before a position is filled.

d. In seeking candidates to fill appointments, departments should not limit themselves to advertising. They must make an effort to publicize their requirements through professional associations, university departments, and other sources of information on available women and minority group members. Advertising and all other communications seeking candidates must include the explicit statement that the college is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. The Office of Affirmative Action will provide a list of organizations and individuals that chairs and directors can contact in their search for minority and women candidates.

e. Before making recommendations for appointment, departments and programs must be able to state that established criteria have been applied comparatively to all candidates. Such criteria should include: qualifications for the specific position; quality of the records of candidates as student and teacher; nature of letters of recommendation, including evaluation of the judgment of the writers; estimates of ability and of suitability for the position at Vassar by departments, students, the faculty appointments and salary committee, etc. Before any recommendation for appointment is made, departments and programs must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the dean of the faculty that they have followed in letter and spirit these search and evaluation procedures. If the recommended applicant is neither a woman nor a member of a minority group, the department must demonstrate that there is no equally qualified member of these groups available to it.

f. Each department or program must maintain records to indicate the number of candidates screened and the number of candidates interviewed, including the number of women and members of minority groups at each stage, for each appointment. Data on all candidates, those not hired as well as those who are hired, must be kept on file in the department and should include the application, the letters of recommendation, the evaluations made by departments, students, FASC, etc. Records should be sure to show the individual’s name, the rank discussed, the date of interviewing, the sex and race, and the source of referral for each person seriously considered.
C. APPOINTMENT, EXTENSION, REAPPOINTMENT, AND PROMOTION

II. NEW APPOINTMENTS

A. Full-time academic tenure-track faculty appointments:

An academic full-time tenure-track appointment may be in a single department or program, or jointly in a department and a program.

1. Joint Appointments

Joint appointments are appointments of a faculty member to two departments, two programs, or a department and program. Joint appointments are normally approved before a search is conducted, are made at the time of hire, and persist for the duration of a faculty member’s contract. Joint appointment divide faculty members’ responsibilities between two departments, a department and a program, or two programs. Faculty members with joint appointments teach, advise, and participate in the administrative duties of both. The conditions of the division are spelled out in writing at the time the joint appointment is made. Faculty members must contribute at least 30% of their total teaching load (normally 3 courses over two years) to each. The research of a faculty member with joint appointments may lie primarily in either but should be relevant to both. Informal or formal agreements, contractual or otherwise, to guarantee a portion of a faculty member’s teaching load or administrative service to a department or program to which the faculty member is not appointed are not joint appointments. Such agreements may be made at any time and may be limited in term.

2. Shared Appointments

A shared appointment is a contractual agreement in which two individuals split evenly a single full-time FTE equivalent on a tenure track line. This appointment may be within a single department or program, or across two departments, two programs, or a department and a program. Regardless of how the appointment is structured, each individual in the shared position will only be appointed to a single department or program.

A shared appointment is appropriate when a department, program, or combinations thereof agree to two half-time equivalent tenure track positions and when two people desire long-term half-time employment.

Candidates for a shared appointment must both compete for their positions in national searches and must both be selected by the respective program(s) and/or department(s) to be the appropriate candidates for hiring in half-time tenure track positions. Once hired by the college, the holders of a shared position are reviewed independently following the standard review calendar and requirements for standards of promotion as articulated in the Governance and the Faculty Handbook; with the exception that the number of courses taught, scholarly output and service expectations are half in quantity but equivalent in quality to those for full-time tenure track faculty members. The outcomes of reviews of each holder of the shared position are independent of the outcomes from the other’s reviews.

Holders of shared positions are eligible for health benefits and housing eligibility as if they were full-time members of the faculty. Each holder of a shared position is eligible for all other benefits offered to full-time tenure-track faculty, but at a rate prorated to the half-time salary.

If a faculty member is hired on the equivalent of a half-time tenure-track contract, the contract may only be increased to full-time if the department or program argues for that increased time, the candidate is interested in a fuller contract, and the dean approves the change. It should be clear at the time of hire that a candidate accepting a shared position at half-time should have no expectation that the contract will be expanded.

3. Ranks and Qualifications for Academic Full-time Appointments on Tenure Track

Academic tenure track appointments are made with the following titles, listed in ascending order of rank, instructor, assistant professor, associate professor, and professor.

The qualifications for appointment to each rank are:

- Instructor: promise of achievement in teaching and scholarship or artistic activity. This rank is used only for new tenure track appointments when the faculty member is completing a terminal degree.
- Assistant professor: promise of achievement in teaching and scholarship or artistic activity.
- Associate professor: distinction in teaching together with scholarly or artistic achievement of high quality, or distinction in scholarly or artistic achievement, together with teaching of high quality.
- Professor: continued distinction in teaching together with scholarly or artistic achievement of high quality, or distinction in scholarly or artistic achievement, together with teaching of high quality.

Except for appointments at the rank of instructor, a faculty member with an academic tenure-track appointment is expected to have a Ph.D. or the appropriate terminal degree in their field.

4. Terms of Service and Advancement for Academic Tenure-track Appointments

The following limits on contracts will be observed:

- Instructor: The term of appointment is ordinarily two years, with eligibility for a single one-year reappointment at that rank under extraordinary circumstances, when approved by the department chair and/or program director, FASC, and the Dean of the Faculty.

  Contracts at the Instructor rank provide for contingent promotion to assistant professor. If the Ph.D. degree or other appropriate degree requirements are satisfied by October 1 of the first year, the person is promoted to the rank of assistant professor, retroactive to July 1, and is issued a new contract for a total of three years. A salary adjustment may be made.

  If the degree requirements are satisfied after October 1 of the first year and before October 1 of the second year, the person will be promoted to the rank of assistant professor effective July 1 of the second year. A salary adjustment may be made. A new contract will be issued, bringing the first contract to a total of three years. The person will be reviewed for extension of contract in the second year.

  Failure to meet the October 1 date of the second year does not preclude a departmental or dean’s recommendation in exceptional cases for a final one-year contract at the Instructor rank with a new October 1 deadline for completion of the degree requirements. If these requirements are satisfied by October 1 of the third year, the individual will be promoted to assistant professor, retroactive to July 1 of the third year. A salary adjustment may be made. Persons recommended for this third year must be reviewed for extension of contract (contingent upon completion of the degree) in their second year.
The completion of degree requirements must be certified by letter to the chair of the department by an appropriate official of the granting institution. The chair should forward a copy of the letter to the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

b. Assistant professor: The initial term of appointment is ordinarily three years followed by a two-year extension. The second term of appointment is three years, except that members of the faculty successfully reviewed for promotion to associate professor assume that rank at the end of the year in which the review occurs.

For a faculty member promoted from instructor to assistant professor, the combined lengths of service at the rank of instructor and as first term assistant professor prior to extension of contract does not exceed five years.

The total length of service at the rank of assistant professor or at the rank of instructor and assistant professor combined ordinarily should not exceed eight years. In accordance with the leave policies described below, the president or dean of faculty can grant an extension on any contract for a period of up to two years.

c. Associate professor and professor: Members of the faculty receive indeterminate tenure upon promotion from assistant professor to associate professor.

Associate professors ordinarily are invited to be reviewed for promotion to professor in their sixth year after promotion to indeterminate tenure. Thereafter, review for promotion is at the request of the candidate.

Associate professors and professors without previous service at the college are appointed with indeterminate tenure.

Upon appointment, the president, dean of the faculty, dean of strategic planning and academic resources, and dean of the college receive indeterminate tenure, if they do not already hold it at Vassar College.

5. Procedures for Appointment of Full-time Academic Appointments on Tenure-track

a. Suffrage

In department or program action on matters pertaining to appointments on the tenure-track, the right to vote is restricted to members who have academic suffrage in the general faculty and who are of rank superior to that of the person under consideration, except that: professors are entitled to vote in cases involving others of the same rank; associate professors are entitled to vote on all new appointments; and assistant professors are entitled to vote on new appointments up to and including the rank of assistant professor.

Faculty members not on tenure track appointments may not vote on departmental matters pertaining to appointments.

b. Selection of Candidates

The chair and/or program director, in consultation with the department and/or program and in accordance with the Governance, is primarily responsible for the process of selection of candidates for new appointments. The dean of the faculty or the president, in consultation with the department or program, may take part in the search.
Application materials of all candidates are made available to all members of the department and/or program eligible to vote on a particular appointment.

c. Campus Interviews

Interviews of candidates are normal practice and usually take place during a visit to the campus. Efforts are made to include students in interviews of candidates for faculty positions.

The dean and two tenured faculty members, including one elected member of the faculty appointment and salary committee (FASC), interview all candidates for first regular appointments to the professorial ranks.

For each candidate, FASC writes a recommendation to the dean and the chair and/or program director based on the application materials and the interview. The recommendation is accompanied by a fuller appraisal only in cases in which FASC wishes to express concern regarding the candidate.

d. Offers of Appointment for Instructors and Assistant Professors

The chair and/or director informs the dean of the faculty of the departmental and/or program recommendation for hire as soon as possible after receiving FASC’s feedback and consulting with the students involved in the candidate’s interview.

No offer of employment, formal or informal, is made without authorization by the dean of the faculty after review by the faculty director of affirmative action.

After making and successfully negotiating the terms of the offer, the chair and/or director submits a “Request for Appointment” to the dean.

e. Additional Considerations for Offers of Appointment at the Rank of Associate Professor or Professor

Appointment of a faculty member at the rank of associate professor or professor ordinarily includes tenure at the time of appointment. The circumstances of hiring must be agreed to by the department or program, the faculty appointment and salary committee (FASC), the dean of the faculty, and the president.

The president (when possible), the dean of the faculty, and FASC interview candidates for senior appointments after reviewing the candidate’s application materials, including letters of recommendation, publications, and a statement of teaching philosophy.

Assistant professors and lecturers in the department and/or program interview candidates for a position at the rank of associate professor or professor and submit individual or joint confidential reports to FASC on their interviews.

After receiving FASC’s written report and consulting with the students involved in the interview of candidates, the chair or director informs the dean of the faculty of the department’s or program’s decision in writing, addressing issues of past and projected teaching, scholarship, and academic leadership. The chair and two members of the department or program then meet with FASC. The chair and two members of the department or program together with FASC then meet with the dean. FASC and the dean confer throughout the process. The president may meet with members of the department or program, with FASC, or with the dean of the faculty. No offer of employment may be made without authorization by the dean of the faculty and the president.
f. Additional Considerations for Joint Appointments on the Tenure-track

When a joint appointment is under consideration, the department and the program consult concerning the qualifications for the position to be filled.

Both the department and the program participate in reviewing candidates’ dossiers and conducting campus interviews. Students from both majors should be involved.

In the program’s review of candidates, the program director acts in the capacity of a department chair and participating members of the program act in the capacity of department members.

Faculty members who are eligible to vote on a candidate for appointment vote in the home department, not in the program, unless they are the director of that program. In that case, they may choose to vote either in the department or in the program.

When the department and the program have agreed on a candidate, the department chair and program director submit a “Request for Appointment” to the dean of the faculty signed by the program director and the department chair.

g. Departmental Appointments for External Candidates for Dean of the Faculty, Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, and Dean of the College

At least one week prior to inviting external candidates to campus to meet with the faculty and other members of the campus community, search committees involved in the hire of a new dean of the faculty, dean of strategic planning and academic resources, or dean of the college submit the dossiers of candidates to the departments the candidates would be joining as tenured members if they were to be selected. If tenured members of the department have concerns about offering a candidate a tenured appointment, they communicate those concerns to the search committee in writing within one week of receiving the dossier.

h. Additional Considerations for Opportunity Hires

When a faculty line becomes available, it is expected that a national search will be conducted consistent with established faculty hiring policies and procedures, including Vassar’s affirmative action policy. Under exceptional and limited circumstances, a national search may be forgone when a special opportunity presents itself to bring to the college scholars and teachers of exceptional achievement or promise who will help to fulfill the college’s academic mission, as reflected in the Mission Statement of Vassar College.

There are two categories of such appointments, which in some cases may overlap. In the first, the opportunity hire will strengthen the college’s academic mission by increasing the overall diversity of the faculty, where diversity is understood broadly and considers such characteristics as experience, background, research agendas and pedagogical approaches, in addition to race, gender, or ethnic or national origin. In the second, the opportunity hire will strengthen the college’s academic mission by bringing to the college an individual of exceptional achievement in the areas of teaching and scholarship, or one who offers the extraordinary possibility of strengthening the college’s educational mission in significant ways. In either case, such appointments can only be made where candidates for an opportunity hire have demonstrated clear achievement or promise such that it is probable that they would have emerged as candidates of choice in conventional searches, if such had been undertaken, and the college sees the hiring as being in its strategic interests.
To request an opportunity hire, the department chair or program director must secure authorization from the dean of the faculty by submitting a proposal describing how the potential opportunity hire will support the college’s priorities for new or replacement faculty positions and fulfill the college’s academic mission either by diversifying the faculty or by bringing to the college a person of exceptional achievement in the person’s field.

The department or program undertakes all such procedures normally a part of the hiring process except for the national search (i.e., interviews, presentations, reviewing of credentials, including CV, publications, letters of recommendation, teaching experience, FASC reports). The dean and two senior faculty members, including one member of FASC, interview a candidate for first regular appointment to the professorial rank. The president, as well as the dean and members of FASC, interview a candidate for senior faculty appointment.

The dean of the faculty consults with the faculty director of affirmative action prior to making an appointment. The faculty director of affirmative action must certify that an appointment meets the college’s goals and conforms to the college’s equal employment opportunity and affirmative action policies.

The president has the final authority to decide whether to make a special opportunity hire. This policy is subject to annual review by the dean of the faculty, in consultation with the faculty director of affirmative action and the faculty appointment and salary committee. This policy will be enacted as long as its effectiveness in fulfilling the academic mission of the college is clear.

B. Academic Full-time Appointments not on Tenure Track.

1. Ranks for full time appointments not on the tenure track

Academic full time appointments not on the tenure track are made with the following titles:

a. The title of lecturer and senior lecturer may be used for faculty who hold special, full-time appointments in department or programs.

b. “Visiting” shall be included in titles of faculty at any rank appointed on a temporary, full-time basis. Such appointments shall normally be for 1 semester, 1 year, 2 years, or 3 years with eligibility for reappointment. Ordinarily, no one shall be continued in a visiting position beyond a total of six years.

C. Full-time Appointments in Athletics and Physical Education

1. Ranks for full-time appointments in Athletics and Physical Education.

Appointments are made with the following titles:

a. The titles of professor, associate professor, assistant professor, and instructor are used for faculty in Athletics and Physical Education on a tenure track.

b. The titles of lecturer and senior lecturer are used for full-time appointments in Athletics and Physical Education not on a tenure track.
2. Terms of Service and Advancement

Lecturers in Athletics and Physical Education regularly receive a 3-year contract, followed by a two-year extension, two 3-year contracts, and renewable 4-year contracts with the possibility of promotion to senior lecturer with the first 4-year contract. Faculty undergo a regular review process at the time of each contract extension or renewal, using the criteria established by the program and approved by the dean of strategic planning and academic resources.

(Approved by the faculty April 13, 2011)

D. Other Full-time Appointments

Other full-time appointments may be made with the following titles:

a. Professional Librarians: This title carries academic suffrage with it.

b. Curators. Full-time administrators who support an academic department.

c. The director of the Writing Center, and the director of the Quantitative Reasoning Center. These titles carry academic suffrage with them.

E. Part-time and Special Appointments

Persons holding special appointments are subject to the terms of service indicated in this section, rather than those terms governing regular appointments. Persons holding special appointments do not have academic suffrage.

Special appointments may be made with the following titles:

a. Adjunct: any member of the faculty at any rank who teaches part-time.

b. Research professor: faculty members who have retired from the regular professorial ranks but continue to perform sponsored research at Vassar. This title shall be granted only for the duration of the sponsorship and at the discretion of the dean of the faculty, who shall specify the conditions of appointment.

c. Research scientist or research scholar: principal investigators working at Vassar with support from an outside granting agency.

d. Research associate: persons holding postdoctoral appointments at Vassar.

e. Part-time coaches: coaches on part-time, renewable 2-year contracts; part-time coaches do not have academic status.

f. Visiting scholar or visiting artist: a courtesy title granted by the dean of the faculty, who shall specify what privileges are allowed.

(Amended by the faculty, March 3, 1993; February 16, 2005; and March 27, 2013)
III. GUIDELINES FOR REVIEW OF FACULTY MEMBERS FOR EXTENSION, REAPPOINTMENT, TENURE, AND PROMOTION

Vassar College seeks to recruit a faculty of the highest quality. It looks for certain measures of competence, including achievement and potential in the following areas: teaching, scholarly work or artistic activities, and service to the college. It seeks excellence in its faculty in both teaching and scholarship or creative activity.

With respect to teaching, departmental recommendations will consider the individual’s command of and continuing engagement in the subject, contribution to the intellectual vitality of the department, expository ability, understanding and empathy for students, ability to excite intellectual curiosity, and willingness to participate in the guidance and advising of students. In arriving at their final recommendations, departments take into account student course evaluations.

With respect to scholarship and artistic achievement, primary emphasis is placed on the quality of the work, which should demonstrate incisiveness of mind, felicity of expression, and control of materials. A candidate’s record should also show continuing engagement in scholarly or artistic projects resulting in timely publication or presentation.

In order to ensure a heterogeneous faculty, it is important to recognize that these criteria cannot be achieved in precisely the same fashion by all candidates. Individual cases will be assessed on the basis of the particular contributions of a candidate to the department and the college.

The chair of the department will meet with all tenure-track faculty members at the time of their first salary recommendation to make sure that they have familiarized themselves with the procedures of review and the criteria employed in each of the reviews, as stated in the Governance and the Faculty Handbook and interpreted by the department. In addition, FASC will meet near the end of the spring semester with these faculty and their chairs to describe and clarify procedures and criteria. (Approved by the faculty May 18, 1994)

The general criteria relevant to the various levels of academic appointment and the progression from one level to the next are as follows:

A. Extension of Instructor and first-term Assistant Professor Contracts

Effective teaching, as indicated by departmental evaluation, course evaluations, and teaching portfolios, is the primary consideration. Scholarly promise, as indicated by the candidate’s activities reports and curriculum vitae, and participation in the department are additional important considerations.

B. Reappointment to a second term as Assistant Professor

Substantial evidence of a high quality of teaching is of primary importance. Evidence of a degree of artistic or scholarly development sufficient to warrant the expectation of significant accomplishment by the time of tenure review is also necessary. Evidence may include published and unpublished materials, work in progress, papers read at professional meetings, participation in seminars and symposia, and contributions to the creative and performing arts from the 3 1/2 years prior to the submission of materials for reappointment. Contribution to departmental activities in particular and to college life in general will also be important factors. (Amended by the faculty September 18, 2013)

C. Promotion to indeterminate tenure at the Associate Professor Rank

Required are distinction in teaching together with scholarly or artistic achievement of high quality as judged by peers both inside and outside the college, or distinction in scholarly or artistic achievement together with teaching of high quality. In the consideration of scholarly or artistic activity, the primary works to be examined are those published, produced or performed while at Vassar or elsewhere in the 6 1/2 years prior to submission of materials for review. Other evidence, limited to the same time period, may include unpublished materials, works in progress, papers read at professional meetings, participation in seminars and symposia, and contributions to the creative and performing arts. Additional factors in the final recommendation of the department and FASC include intellectual growth and academic leadership, which may be evidenced by participation in professional activities outside the college, service on committees within the college, or contributions to educational innovation or policy making at both the departmental and college levels.

(Amended by the faculty March 27, 2013)

D. Promotion to full professor

The review will consider all professional activity, placing particular emphasis on work begun or completed since the granting of tenure. Scholarship or artistic activity published or substantially produced before the tenure review and evaluated as part of the tenure portfolio is not resubmitted in the portfolio for promotion to full professor. Continued demonstration of significant scholarship or artistic activity and teaching of high quality are required. It is necessary that marked distinction be achieved in scholarship or teaching, preferably in both. An additional important consideration is academic leadership, as defined in paragraph C above.

(Amended by the Faculty, April 10, 1996)

E. Post-tenure review

Tenured faculty members are expected to engage in teaching, scholarship and service in the Vassar community. In making merit determinations the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee shall consider all three areas of performance, which, taken together, give evidence of different levels of performance by tenured members of the faculty. It is understood, however, that patterns of focus in these areas may vary responsibly at different points in a faculty member’s career. Under these circumstances, the committee will consider in its evaluation the weighting of the three areas and of contributions within each area as presented in the candidate's self-analysis in the Personal Statement.

(Amended by the faculty April 20, 2005)
IV. PROCEDURES FOR REVIEW OF FACULTY MEMBERS FOR EXTENSION, REAPPOINTMENT, TENURE, AND PROMOTION

In department action on matters pertaining to extensions, reappointments, tenure, and promotions, the right to vote shall be restricted to members who have academic suffrage in the general faculty and who are of rank superior to that of the person under consideration, except that tenured professors shall be entitled to vote in cases involving others of the same rank and that tenured associate professors shall be entitled to vote on all new appointments and on tenure decisions regarding other associate professors. No faculty member on visiting or adjunct appointment shall vote on departmental matters pertaining to extensions, reappointments, tenure, and promotions.

All department, program, or committee members eligible to participate in a decision about a candidate for extension, reappointment, tenure, or promotion shall review the criteria relevant to such decisions as they appear in the Governance (Part 5B, Article I, Section 1) and in the Faculty Handbook. Consideration must be made on the basis of the established criteria and must be taken without regard for sex or minority status. Recommendations should address themselves to the criteria which have been used.

Chairs of departments and directors of programs must meet with all tenure-track faculty members at the time of their first salary recommendation to make sure that they have familiarized themselves with the following procedures of review and the criteria employed in each of the reviews, as stated in The Governance and the Faculty Handbook and interpreted by the department.

If the candidate has questions prior to the review, the candidate may speak to the department chair and/or program director or to a member of FASC. In order to preserve the integrity of the review, when preparing review materials, candidates may not consult with members of the department and/or program that are eligible to participate in that review, including those on leave at the time of review.

Confidentiality shall be maintained at every stage of the process and concerning all matters of substance involved in the review by all members of the faculty who have the responsibility of reviewing a candidate. The candidate is bound by this principle of confidentiality not to seek any information about the candidate’s review which would result in the breaking of confidentiality by any faculty members who have the responsibility of participating in the review. If a participant in a review believes that there is some irregularity, that participant must voice their belief to their colleagues, to the chair of the review committee, to the dean of the faculty, to a member of FASC, or the president. When participants in a review consider it possible that the review, as it is being conducted, is discriminatory, they should consult with the faculty director of affirmative action. Under no circumstances is it appropriate for a faculty member responsible for a review to speak of such concerns to the candidate during the process of review. Conversations reported out of context may harm or mislead the candidate and violate the right of those involved in a review to expect that they are speaking within the context of a confidential exchange. Such a confidential exchange ensures that faculty involved in the review fully express their consideration of the candidate's materials and supply the candidate with useful, appropriate and complete comments in the departmental or program letter (see Faculty Handbook C.IV.B4, A-E).

In the meeting of the candidate and the chair of the department and/or program to discuss the departmental or program letter the chair may clarify the letter for the candidate but may not reveal or discuss any aspects of the deliberations that are not documented in the letter. Further exchange between the candidate and the members of the department or program about the meaning or interpretation of the letter should be in the form of the candidate's written response and the possibility of a subsequent discussion between the department, FASC, the dean and the president. However, any member of the department or program is encouraged to discuss with the candidate the implications for the candidate’s professional development of specific issues raised in the letter. To avoid violations of confidentiality, such discussion should focus on plans for the future and must not reference, directly or indirectly, any aspects of the review process.
Confidentiality must be maintained even after a review has been completed, except when the review is being appealed under the provisions of the Governance and the Faculty Handbook. In that case members of the department and/or program and the members of FASC must respond to the questions of the appeals committee addressing the process of review or abridgement of academic freedom. For discrimination-related appeals they must respond to the questions of the EOAA office investigator.

Although substantive advice to candidates up for review will inevitably reflect the accumulated knowledge of past reviews in which the advisor has participated, no particular circumstances or details of a past case may be divulged as a form of advice. The maintaining of confidentiality is a professional obligation to the members of the community and breaking it endangers the integrity of the whole community.

Chairs of departments and directors of programs must meet with all tenure-track faculty members at the time of their first salary recommendation to make sure that they have familiarized themselves with the following procedures of review and the criteria employed in each of the reviews, as stated in The Governance and the Faculty Handbook and interpreted by the department.

Conflict of Interest—Family relationships and other close personal relationships between faculty members potentially involve a conflict of interest in cases where one member of the relationship is eligible to participate in institutional decisions that might directly benefit the other member of the relationship. In cases of potential conflict of interest, ethical practice and the need to protect the integrity of the review process require that one abstain from participating in such decisions. Direct benefits include initial employment, retention, salary, work assignments, research and travel funds, leaves of absence, promotion, tenure, and the availability of tenure positions.

In the case of the Appeal Committee or Review Committees, conflict of interest is deemed to exist in any case where a person on the committee has previously voted on a matter of appointment, extension, reappointment, or promotion concerning the appellant.

Questions concerning the applicability of this policy in specific cases may be raised by any faculty member. They should be directed either to the dean of the faculty or to the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee. Final authority in resolving disputes over the applicability of this policy in specific cases rests with the dean of the faculty in consultation with the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee.

A. Faculty Under Review for Extension, Reappointment, Tenure, or Promotion

1. A faculty member desiring early review should consult, first, with the departmental chair, then with the dean of the faculty. In cases of review for promotion to full professor, if the chair is an associate professor, the candidate should consult with the senior full professor in the department. (All references to departments pertain to programs as well.)

2. If an ad hoc committee is required, the candidate shall submit to the dean of the faculty the names of three members of the faculty, senior in rank, whose expertise might be appropriate for service on an ad hoc committee.

3. Candidates for extension of contract shall prepare and submit to the dean of the faculty and the department or ad hoc committee chair (a) an up-to-date vita, (b) a teaching portfolio, and (c) the personal statement for evaluators within the college that describes the candidate’s career and professional development as reflected in teaching, scholarly or artistic activity, and service to the college, department, and community. (See Appendices A, B, and C below in this section for additional information.)

4. Candidates for reappointment shall prepare and submit to the dean of the faculty and the department or ad hoc committee chair (a) an up-to-date vita, (b) a teaching portfolio, (c) the personal statement for evaluators within the college that describes the candidate’s career and professional development as reflected in teaching, scholarly or artistic activity, and service to the college, department, and community, and (d) scholarship or artistic work produced since appointment (a separate list of the items submitted should be included); if candidates are unsure about how to submit digital materials, they should consult the office of the Dean of the Faculty for current guidelines for the submission of such materials for faculty reviews. (See Appendices A, B, and C below in this section for additional information.)

(Amended by the faculty September 18, 2013)

5. Candidates for promotion to indeterminate tenure at the associate professor rank prepare and submit to the dean of the faculty and the department or ad hoc committee chair (a) an up-to-date vita, (b) a teaching portfolio, (c) the personal statement for evaluators within the college that describes the candidate’s career and professional development as reflected in teaching, scholarly or artistic activity, and service to the college, department, and community, (d) all scholarship or artistic work from the 6 1/2 years prior to submission of materials for review (a separate list of the items submitted should be included); if candidates are unsure about how to submit digital materials, they should consult the office of the Dean of the Faculty for current guidelines for the submission of such materials for faculty reviews, and (e) the statement for outside evaluators that places their scholarship or artistic activity in context for the scholars or practitioners in their field. The outside evaluators shall also receive the vita and the scholarly or artistic materials. (See Appendices A, B, C, and D below for additional information.)

(Amended by the faculty April 19, 2006 and May 15, 2013)

6. Candidates for promotion to full professor shall prepare and submit to the dean of the faculty and the department or ad hoc committee chair (a) an up-to-date vita, (b) a teaching portfolio, (c) the personal statement for evaluators within the college that describes the candidate’s career and professional development as reflected in teaching, scholarly or artistic activity, and service to the college, department, and community, (d) scholarship or artistic work produced since the promotion to indeterminate tenure review (a separate list of the items submitted should be included); if candidates are unsure about how to submit digital materials, they should consult the office of the Dean of the Faculty for current guidelines for the submission of such materials for faculty reviews, and (e) the Statement for Outside Evaluators that places their scholarship or artistic activity in context for the scholars or practitioners in their field. The outside evaluators shall also receive the vita and the scholarly or artistic materials. (See Appendices A, B, C, and D below in this section for additional information.)

(Amended by the faculty May 18, 2005)

7. In tenure decisions and promotions to full professor, candidates shall provide the names of at least six scholars who might serve as outside evaluators of the scholarship or artistic activity to be considered in the review. The names shall be ranked in order of preference; such ranking will be among the factors considered by FASC and the Dean of the Faculty in the selection of evaluators. Candidates shall include the titles and full addresses of the outside evaluators and their qualifications for serving as evaluators. Candidates shall not suggest as outside evaluators friends, working colleagues, or former teachers. Candidates for full professor shall not suggest evaluators listed for their tenure review.

(Amended by the faculty, April 1, 2008)

8. To assist in the preparation of the personal statement of faculty under consideration for extension, reappointment or tenure, the dean of the faculty shall send Fall semester CEQ reports directly to the faculty member's campus mailbox by the first day of classes in the Spring semester, with the second copy sent to the department chair. If the CEQ reports have not been delivered to the faculty member by this date the candidate shall be afforded the opportunity to amend, without prejudice, the candidate’s teaching portfolio and Personal Statement to address any issues raised by these CEQ reports.

(Approved by the faculty February 5, 2003)
9. In addition to the materials listed in 3, 4, 5, or 6 above, a candidate’s review dossier shall include the following materials produced during the period under review and kept in files of the Office of the Dean of the Faculty and the department: (f) student course evaluations (CEQ), (g) annual activities reports submitted by the candidate, (h) departmental performance evaluations, salary recommendations, and, where appropriate, recommendations for extension and reappointment, together with any replies from the candidate, dean of the faculty, or president, (i) any recommendations requested by candidates from other departments or multidisciplinary programs in which they have participated in the review period, and (j) where required, letters from outside evaluators. In the case of reviews for promotion to full professor, the “period under review” noted above is the period between the granting of tenure and the review for promotion.

10. Any materials that are not specifically called for in the provisions of the Governance or the Faculty Handbook, such as unsolicited letters, shall be deemed extraneous and shall not be considered in the review process.

11. In the case of unpublished works or grant proposals that have been accepted, candidates should include copies of contracts, acceptances, or other communications about the status of the scholarly work as part of the dossier with any confidential or evaluative information redacted.

(Approved by the faculty December 14, 1994; Amended by the faculty May 18, 2005)

12. If the publication status of a work submitted as part of a candidate’s scholarly portfolio changes after materials have been submitted (and prior to December 1 for full professor review and May 1 for reappointment and tenure reviews as described in the calendar in section C, XI of the Faculty Handbook), the candidate is permitted to provide an update to the Dean in the forms specified above in #11. Candidates should not, as part of the update, provide details about or the continuing development of a manuscript or other work beyond notification of a change in status. Candidates should not provide copies of editor's comments, readers' reports, or other material that offers evaluative comments.

(Approved by the faculty May 10, 2017)

13. In cases of a successful appeal of a review decision, any documents related to procedures found to be flawed shall be removed from the review dossiers of candidates (but not from their files). Whether appeals are successful or unsuccessful, any documents concerning the appeals themselves shall be removed from review dossiers.

(Approved by the faculty December 14, 1994; Amended by the faculty May 18, 2005)

B. Departments and Programs

1. The department chair or program director should ask department or program members under review to submit material pertinent to the department’s or program’s consideration. Materials assembled by the chair or director should include an up-to-date vita, all annual activities reports, and all relevant evidence of scholarship or artistic activity.

2. All of the materials pertinent to the review should be made available by the department chair or program director to all of the members of the department eligible to take part in the review. The reports of outside evaluators, however, will be made available to the eligible members only after a full discussion has taken place based on the criteria listed in Sec. III, above, but before the final vote is taken. The chair or director then will request, in writing, the evaluations from the dean of the faculty, confirming in this request that the appropriate discussion has taken place. These evaluations, with the identification of writer removed, will also be given to the candidate at the same time. The purpose of this procedure is to maintain the independence of the departmental or program evaluation, while also providing an opportunity for the department or program to respond, as it sees fit, to the judgment of the outside evaluators.

3. The department’s or program’s deliberations are conducted in accord with the Governance provisions regarding suffrage (Part B, Article III, Section 6) in formal meetings, with votes taken and recorded (by secret ballot if called for) and in strictest confidentiality.

4. The department chair or program director shall report the result of the vote to the other voting members, giving the figures in case of any division of opinion. The chair or director shall write a full statement of the department’s or program’s recommendation, reporting the vote and summarizing the points of view presented, including differences of opinion. All department or program members involved in the decision and not absent from campus on leave, shall be afforded an opportunity to suggest changes in the chair’s or director’s statement, and shall indicate by their signatures that the statement is a fair, accurate, and full report of the departmental or program discussion. If any such member is unwilling to sign the departmental or program statement, a separate letter must be submitted as an attachment to the departmental or program recommendation. This letter must be shown to and initialed by the other voting members of the department or program present on campus before the departmental or program recommendation is submitted to the dean of the faculty.

In submitting the department’s or program’s recommendation, the chair or director is asked to write specifically and analytically on:

a. The candidate’s teaching record, including an assessment of all student evaluations, role in the department or program, and contribution to its curriculum.

b. Publications, unpublished papers and research progress or evidence of artistic activities.

c. Where appropriate, significant contributions to the college outside the department or program and, if of special importance, to relations between the college and the larger social community.

d. Any significant difference between the judgments reflected in previous performance evaluations, salary recommendations, and the departmental or program recommendation.

e. Any significant difference between the judgments reflected in the outside evaluator’s reports and the departmental or program recommendation.

5. At the time that the recommendation is submitted to the dean of the faculty, the candidate will be provided with a copy of the full recommendation modified so as to indicate the numerical vote but not the votes of the individual voting members. If a separate letter is submitted, it will also be provided to the candidate with the names of those signing or initialing it deleted. When a separate letter is submitted, the names of those signing the departmental or program statement shall also be deleted. The chair or director shall meet with the candidate to discuss the full recommendation and the remainder of the review procedure.

6. In the case of extension of instructor and first-term assistant professor contracts if the department or program recommends extension and the dean of the faculty concurs, the recommendation does not come before the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee.
If the department, program, or dean does not recommend extension, the recommendation will be reviewed by FASC.

7. In the case of review for promotion to indeterminate tenure and to full professor, the chair or director, after reaching agreement with eligible members of the department or program, submits to the dean of the faculty at least six names of outside evaluators of the research of each member of the department or program who is to be reviewed. The names shall be ranked in order of preference; such ranking will be among the factors considered by FASC and the dean of the faculty in the selection of evaluators. Neither the chair or director nor other eligible members of the department or program may consult with the candidate in selecting the departmental or program list of outside evaluators. (The candidate also provides independently a list of possible outside evaluators—see IV.A.3 above) Before the department or program makes its selection, however, the candidate may provide the department or program and the dean of the faculty with a memorandum indicating, with brief explanation, if there is any potential evaluator who the candidate believes would be unable to give an objective review of the candidate’s work. (Amended by the faculty April 1, 2008)

8. In the case of promotion to full professor, every effort will be made to meet the dates assigned in the Calendar for notifying chairs or directors of questions or objections regarding departmental or program recommendations and for notifying faculty members under review of the president’s recommendation to the Board of Trustees. If delays occur, both the chairs or directors and faculty members will be notified by the dean. (Revisions to Section B approved by the faculty May 18, 1994)

C. Joint Appointment
If a faculty member holds a joint appointment or requests to be treated as such due to participation in a multidisciplinary program (see section D below, the following procedures are added to the review process:

1. Following an initial independent evaluation by the department(s) and/or program(s) in which the faculty member holds a joint appointment, two members from each (e.g. the chair or director and one other) participating in the review shall meet to share their evaluations of the candidate’s qualifications relevant to the review. They shall make a written report of their deliberations, stating areas of agreement and disagreement. The report of this group (the “bridge report”) shall be transmitted to the candidate, to the departments and programs in which the candidate is appointed, FASC, the dean of the faculty and the president.

2. The department(s) and programs(s) in which the faculty member holds a joint appointment shall make their own separate recommendation to FASC, the dean, and the president, taking this report into consideration.

3. A faculty member who is eligible to vote in both groups by which a faculty member is being reviewed shall choose to participate and vote in only one (i.e. such a faculty member may choose to participate in a department or program review of a candidate, but may not participate in both.)

4. In the case of review for promotion to indeterminate tenure and promotion to full professor, the two groups in which the faculty member holds a joint appointment, after a consultation, shall submit separate lists of nominations. Ordinarily, at least one evaluator shall be selected from each list.

5. In arriving at their final recommendation, FASC and the dean shall consider the bridge report and all the departmental and program recommendations in conjunction with the teaching evaluations and, in the case of appointment to indeterminate tenure and promotion to full professor, the letters by outside evaluators.

6. These procedures are designed to accommodate recommendations from both department(s) and program(s). They do not imply that a negative recommendation by one carries with it the power of veto, nor does a positive recommendation assure a positive outcome. It is the responsibility of FASC, the dean, and the president, who alone have access to all of the evidence, to weigh it fairly in arriving at the final decision.

7. Departments or individuals may have formal or informal agreements to teach or contribute sections to specific programs or to the curriculum of the multidisciplinary programs in general. These agreements or contractual obligations are not joint appointments, but they permit, and, in some instances, require a faculty member to undergo review by a program (as described in sections D.2 and D.3 below.)

(Amended and approved by the faculty March 3, 2016)

D. Reviews of faculty participating in multidisciplinary programs who are not appointed to the program(s)

1. In extensions, reappointments, tenure, and promotions candidates with full-time appointments in a program are reviewed in accordance with the procedures for “departments and programs” in B above.

2. Candidates with a joint appointment in a program are reviewed in accordance with the procedures for “departments and programs” and “joint appointments” in sections B and C above.

3. Candidates who have taught at least half-time in a program (an average of 2.5 courses per year) during the period of service under review but are not appointed to the program MUST ELECT EITHER to be reviewed by the program in accordance with the procedures for “departments and programs” and “joint appointments” in sections B and C about OR to receive a partial review by the program, consisting of an evaluation of teaching in and service to the program, as specified below and by the program’s by-laws.

4. Candidates who participate in a program by who do not have a joint appointment and do not teach at least half-time in the program MAY ELECT to request EITHER to be reviewed by the program in accordance with the procedures for “departments and programs” and “joint appointments” in sections B and C above OR to receive a partial review by the program, consisting of an evaluation of teaching in and service to the program, as specified below and by the program’s by-laws. Such candidates should consult with the program director before electing either type of review. Requests for a review must be submitted in writing to the program director by September 15 (or April 1 for promotion to full professor) with a copy to the dean of the faculty and the chair of the candidate’s home department or program.

5. In determining whether or not a faculty member has taught half-time in a program, only courses that originate in a program shall count as teaching in the program. In reviews, however, CEQ results for all courses taught in the program, including cross-listed courses originating elsewhere, shall be considered.
When a review has been requested or is mandated, CEQs for cross-listed courses shall be provided to the program director by the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. (Amended and approved by the faculty March 3, 2004 and May 13, 2009)

6. The procedures for a partial review are as follows:
   a. A partial review of a candidate by a program shall be conducted according to the program’s by-laws, which have been reviewed by FPCC and the dean of the faculty to ensure conformity with the Governance. (Amended by the Faculty March 3, 2004)
   b. A report resulting from a partial review shall be transmitted to FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president.
   c. In arriving at their final recommendation, FASC and the dean will consider the departmental and program recommendations in conjunction with the teaching evaluations and the majors committee reports of the department and program and, in the case of appointment to indeterminate tenure and promotion to full professor, the outside evaluators.
   d. These procedures are designed to accommodate recommendations from both department(s) and program(s). They do not imply that a negative recommendation by one carries with it the power of veto, nor does a positive recommendation assure a positive outcome. It is the responsibility of FASC, the dean, and the president, who alone have access to all of the evidence, to weigh it fairly in arriving at the final decision with due consideration to the relative importance of service to the program.

E. Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee

The Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee (FASC) shall act as a whole on appointments, recommendations not to extend contracts, reappointments, promotions (to the ranks of assistant or associate professor), the granting of tenure, and dismissal.

1. Evidence
   a. In all cases FASC shall review as evidence:
      • An up-to-date vita, teaching portfolio, and personal statement.
      • A personnel record beginning with the member’s first appointment to Vassar, including all promotions and leaves.
      • Copies of pertinent scholarly material or evidence of artistic activities.
      • The annual activity report.
      • Student course evaluations.
      • All earlier departmental recommendations for reappointment and promotion, all departmental performance evaluations, and salary recommendations.
• All letters concerning reappointment and promotion from the dean and president.

• The departmental recommendation and program recommendation (when appropriate)

b. In the case of promotion to indeterminate tenure and to full professor, FASC shall also review outside evaluations of the member under consideration. Ordinarily, four outside evaluators shall be selected by the dean, in consultation with FASC. Effort shall be made to select at least one evaluator from the department’s list and one from the candidate’s list, but there can be no guarantee that someone from each list will be among those who agree to submit evaluations. Should at least four evaluators not be obtained from these lists, the candidate and the department will be asked to submit additional names.

c. Outside evaluation of candidates for tenure or promotion to full professor will be made available, to both candidates and their department as specified in IV.B.2. above. Names and other identifying information will be deleted from the copy sent to the candidate and the department.

2. Procedure

a. Confidentiality is maintained by the committee in all deliberations and matters involving the evaluation of individual faculty members for appointments, extensions, reappointments, terminations, and promotions.

b. The committee shall keep a procedural log for each candidate of the dates on which it met to consider that case, by itself, with the dean of the faculty, and with the president. It shall also record in the log its final vote.

c. After each group of departmental recommendations has been received by the dean of the faculty, the committee makes a preliminary review of each case, after study of the evidence; it meets at this stage by itself.

d. The committee meets with the dean for further review of each case.

e. The committee next meets with the president and the dean of the faculty at which time both the dean and members of the committee report their respective views of each case.

f. Any consultation with departmental chairs as called for by the Governance takes place subsequent to this meeting with the president.

g. The committee’s final recommendation on each case is made to the dean of the faculty. The dean then gives a final recommendation to the president. The president then submits the final recommendation to the Board of Trustees.

(Amended by the faculty May 18, 1994)
F. Ad Hoc Committees

1. When a department or multidisciplinary program has fewer than two members of rank higher than that of the member under consideration for extension, reappointment, promotion or tenure, an ad hoc committee of three members shall be appointed by the dean to make a recommendation in lieu of a departmental recommendation. In composing the committee, the dean shall consult with FASC after soliciting separately from the candidate and the senior member of the department, should there be one, the names of three members of the faculty deemed appropriate to review the candidate’s work. Effort shall be made to select at least one committee member from each list, but there can be no guarantee that the committee will include members from these lists. The candidate shall be informed by the dean of the composition of the committee. The department member eligible for participation in the decision shall serve on the ad hoc committee as chair. In other instances, the chair shall be appointed by the dean.

2. When a candidate is being reviewed for tenure or promotion to full professor, the minimum number of submitted outside evaluations shall be three if the department is represented on the ad hoc committee and four if it is not.

3. After studying the candidate’s file but before beginning its deliberations, the ad hoc committee, at the request of the candidate, shall meet with the candidate for purposes of clarification and amplification of the available materials. In addition, the candidate may use this meeting to inform members of the committee of any circumstances relevant to the review of which they may not be aware.

4. When an ad hoc committee returns the dossier on a candidate with its recommendation to the dean, it also returns all related documents and destroys all copies of preliminary drafts or materials otherwise related to its considerations.

5. In all other respects, ad hoc committees follow the same procedures as departments.

Appendix A: The Teaching Portfolio

Definition and Instructions for Teaching Portfolios

Faculty on tenure-track appointments must compile a teaching portfolio, which will be reviewed and evaluated by the appropriate department members at the time of review for extension, reappointment, and tenure. It will also be part of the material reviewed by FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president. Tenured faculty shall submit teaching portfolios at the time of review for promotion to full professor covering the period since tenure. Portfolios are not required for post-tenure reviews.

The teaching portfolio gives the candidate an opportunity to present material for evaluation, which demonstrates qualities of teaching outside of classroom performance. It is suggested that faculty gather materials semester by semester and make choices from this collection to form the portfolio at the time of review. In compiling the portfolio, candidates should use their judgment about what to include in order to make a representative but not exhaustive presentation of materials. Materials in the following categories should be included:
a) Class Organization. This includes material such as syllabuses and course descriptions. Courses at different levels and of different kinds (e.g., seminar, discussion, lecture, lab, workshop, studio) should be represented. Short paragraphs describing the instructor’s goals in each course should be added if this is not part of the course description.

b) Pedagogical materials and methodology. A brief discussion commenting on the procedures a teacher uses to accomplish the goals in the course is particularly helpful. Examples of discussion questions, outlines of material, study sheets, or exercises which have been designed to help students digest and/or review the material of the course may also be included.

c) Evaluation of students. This includes examples of assignments and examinations from different levels and sorts of courses, with brief descriptions, if necessary, of the goal of the assignment or exam in relation to the content of the course.

Additional materials may be included, such as an example of a corrected paper and/or exam (with all identifying marks removed and with the student’s permission), or a video tape of a studio or performance class in which the teacher is giving students an evaluation of their work (with students’ permission).

Appendix B: Model Format for CVs

The CV should begin with name and current date, followed by both college and home addresses, phone, FAX numbers, and e-mail address. A social security number may be included. All CVs should be dated so readers know the information is current. It is recommended that the following model CV be used. All information should be listed chronologically, with the most recent item listed first.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Name</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Office Information</th>
<th>Home Information</th>

</table>

Education: Degrees, followed by school, field, and date. Honors and fellowships awarded during this period should be noted. Languages may also be listed at the end of this section.

Employment

- Academic Appointments [Professorial rank and field, institution, dates.]
- Visiting Academic Appointments [Visiting, adjunct, or other special teaching appointments.]
- Administrative Appointments [Appointments in administration, both at Vassar and elsewhere, such as a dean or director of an office.]

Other Employment [If relevant. Include consultancies.]

Grants, Fellowships, Honors, Awards [Grants received, postdoctoral and other fellowships, appointments to study centers or other research positions, etc. (grants and other applications that are pending should be listed under work-in-progress). Indicate whether honorary or funded. Special awards, honors, or recognition’s should also be listed (book awards or nominations, election to academies, prizes, etc.).]

Other Professional Activity [Editorial positions; election as officer or appointment to national and regional committees of professional organizations; membership on review panels, appointment to government and other agencies, special commissions, etc.]

Publications [Work listed here should be published or forthcoming, i.e., completed and in press or accepted for publication (work-in-progress is listed in another section). Listings are chronological, with most recent work first. All publications should be listed by title, with standard full citation according to discipline, including co-authors, date, and page reference. Length in pages of forthcoming work should be given.]

Books

Articles/Book Chapters

Other Publications [Research reports, selected book notices, other publications.]
Conference Papers, Lectures, Panels  [Lectures, conference papers and participation, panels, other professional appearances. In addition to title, the sponsoring organization, place, and date should be cited. A selected list or only most recent activity may be given.]

•Work-in-progress* [List only major book projects in final stages and articles submitted for review, under revision, or within imminent completion. Include grant applications under consideration.]

College Activity

Teaching  [Participation in multidisciplinary and interdepartmental curricular programs, the College Course, etc., including courses taught. Can also list usual departmental teaching responsibilities and areas and additional special courses.]

Departmental Service  [Service as department/program chair and as chair of major department committees.]

College Service  [Service on elected and appointed college committees.]

*These sections should be renamed and appropriately adapted for the performing and fine arts, and for coaching and athletics.

Other projects in preparation can be mentioned and detailed commentary provided in the Personal Statement or in the yearly “Activities Report.”

Appendix C:  The Personal Statement

Faculty under review for extension, reappointment, tenure, or promotion to full professor shall include in their dossiers a personal statement for evaluators within the college that describes the candidate’s career and professional development as reflected in teaching, scholarly or artistic activity, and service to the college, department, and community. Under teaching, faculty should reflect upon their basic approach to the classroom and their development as teachers; they should also address their teaching record as provided by the CEQs. Any irregularities in the CEQS, such as absences, may be addressed in the narrative teaching statement submitted as part of the faculty member’s review materials. Under scholarship or creative activity, they should describe their professional work and approach to the subject matter, as well as their current projects and plans for development. Under service, they should explain how they have addressed the expectation that all faculty will contribute to the life of their departments and programs and to the general matters of administration and self-governance. Candidates should address the balance they have achieved between these areas. Departments, FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president find thoughtful, carefully written, analytical Personal Statements to be of value in the process of review.

Appendix D:  The Statement for Outside Evaluators

Candidates whose review requires outside evaluators must submit a Statement for Outside Evaluators for inclusion with the scholarly or artistic materials being sent for outside review. This statement should place their scholarship or artistic activity in a fuller context for scholars or practitioners in their field and may be comprised of the section of the Personal Statement discussing such activity (see Appendix C), or may be a new statement written for this purpose. In preparing the Statement for Outside Evaluators, candidates should keep in mind that the outside evaluators, usually experts in the candidate’s area of specialization, are charged with the specific task of reviewing scholarly or artistic activity, and do not receive the Personal Statement that details teaching and service to the college. Candidates may incorporate commentary on these areas of endeavor only if they directly bear upon their scholarly or artistic activity.

A copy of the Statement for Outside Evaluators shall be given to the department, program, or ad hoc committee chair, as well as to FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president.
(Approved by the Faculty May 10, 2005)
V. REVIEW SCHEDULE

A. Normal Schedule for Assistant Professors

The normal contractual sequence and review schedule for assistant professors is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contract</th>
<th>Duration</th>
<th>Review</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Initial contract</td>
<td>3 years</td>
<td>2nd year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Extension of initial contract</td>
<td>2 years</td>
<td>4th year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reappointment contract</td>
<td>3 years</td>
<td>7th year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Associate professor with tenure indeterminate</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</table>

In each case, the review takes place in the penultimate year of a contract. If a review decision is negative, termination of service occurs at the end of the following year. If the review for promotion to associate professor is positive, promotion takes place at the end of the year of review.

B. Changes in Schedule for Assistant Professors

The normal schedule of review is designed to provide sufficient time for the accumulation of the substantial evidence of achievement in teaching, scholarship, and college service required at each review. The standards for review at each stage are independent of the number of years of service. Possible changes in the normal contractual sequence are listed below. Regardless of any change, review shall take place in the penultimate year of a contract. If the review is negative, termination of service occurs at the end of the following year.

1. Tenure-track assistant professors with primary or coequal responsibility for the care of a newborn or a newly placed child under age six are entitled to an extension of their tenure clock for one year per birth or placement (capped at a total of two years; the review for extension of contract may be delayed for only one year.). An individual choosing to activate this entitlement shall notify the dean of the faculty before the commencement of any review. Other situations involving substantial responsibility for care may warrant an extension of the tenure clock; the faculty member may apply to the dean of the faculty. Extension of the tenure clock extends, by the same amount, the time period from which scholarly materials may be submitted for review for reappointment and tenure. (Amended by the faculty December 2006, September 2013)

2. As specified in the Governance, the president may extend contracts in exceptional circumstances involving health, exigent personal responsibilities, or special college duties. The total length of such extensions is not to exceed two years. Such extensions extend, by the same amount, the time period from which scholarly materials may be submitted for review for reappointment and tenure. (Amended by the faculty September 2013)

3. At the time of the initial appointment the normal sequence may be modified in consideration of a candidate's prior service and accomplishments. The possible modifications are

   a. a shortened sequence, or

   b. an option to shorten the sequence by waiving the extension of the initial contract. The decision on exercising the option is to be reached through the agreement of the candidate, the dean of the faculty, and the chair of the department prior to the deadline for submission of materials for the extension review. The review for reappointment takes place in the penultimate year of the initial contract, with or without the extension.

Agreements for such modifications must be secured at the time of the initial appointment with written approval of the dean of the faculty and the chair of the department. The agreement must articulate the justification for the modification. A copy of the agreement shall be deposited in the file of the incoming faculty member. In addition, the opinion of the chair of FASC shall be solicited as a safeguard to insure equitable treatment for other members of the faculty at similar stages of their careers.

4. Any other shortening of the review sequence requires a revision of the current contract so as to preserve the principle that any review shall take place in the penultimate year of a contract. A written request for a contract revision must be submitted by the faculty member to the department chair and the dean of the faculty by September 1 of the year in which a review would take place under the terms of the proposed revised contract.

C. Schedule for Associate Professors

Associate professors shall ordinarily be considered for advancement in rank in their sixth year after promotion with indeterminate tenure. Thereafter, consideration for advancement shall be at the request of the candidate.

Applications for review for advancement earlier than the sixth year at the rank of associate professor must be made in writing by the candidate to the department chair and to the dean of the faculty by April 1 of the year prior to the review. If successful, such an early review results in promotion at the end of that same academic year. If unsuccessful, opportunity for the next review will take place three years later, or at the end of six years of service as associate professor, whichever comes first.

The standards for review are independent of the number of years of service.
(Amended by the faculty March 24, 1999)

VI. WHAT HAPPENS IN FACULTY REVIEWS: A BRIEF ACCOUNT

There are two major stages in the process of review. In the first, discussion among members of the department results in a written departmental recommendation. In the second, the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee (FASC) and the dean of the faculty act in an advisory capacity to the president. Discussion among members of FASC, the dean, and the president results in a written recommendation from the President to the Board of Trustees. FASC meets independently as well as with the dean and the president.

The review of a faculty member for extension, reappointment or promotion begins in the individual’s department. The review by the department is undertaken by members senior in rank to the person under review, and must address all aspects of the work of the faculty member, including teaching, scholarly work or artistic activity, and service to the college. Outside evaluations will be provided to the department before the final vote is taken in cases of tenure and promotion to full professor. Responsibility for writing the final recommendation rests with the chair. It must be a full statement of the department’s recommendation, reporting the vote and summarizing the points of view presented, including differences of opinion, if any. A separate letter may be submitted by a voting member or members who feel that the departmental recommendation is not a fair, accurate, and full report of the discussion about the candidate. At the time the recommendation is submitted to the dean of the faculty, the candidate will be provided with a copy of the full recommendation modified so as to indicate the numerical vote but not the votes of the individual voting members. If a separate minority report is submitted, this minority report will also be provided to the candidate with the names of those signing it deleted. The chair shall also meet with the candidate to discuss this report and the remainder of the review procedure.

Departmental recommendations are subsequently reviewed, together with the information in the individual’s dossier, by the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee (FASC), the dean of the faculty, and the President, working separately at first, then jointly. The candidate’s dossier will normally include the following materials:

1. An up-to-date vita.
2. A teaching portfolio. Portfolios will not be sent to outside reviewers.
3. A personal statement describing the candidate’s reflections on teaching, research or artistic activity, service to the college, and career development. This statement is for internal consideration only and is not sent to the outside reviewers.
4. In reviews for promotion to indeterminate tenure or promotion to full professor, the section of the Personal Statement discussing scholarly or artistic activity, or a new statement written for this purpose, must be used to form the Statement for Outside Evaluators.
5. Copies of pertinent scholarly material or evidence of artistic activities (not required for extension).
6. A personnel record beginning with the candidate’s first appointment to Vassar, and including all promotions and leaves.
7. Annual activities reports.
8. All earlier departmental contract reviews, performance evaluations, and salary recommendations.
9. Student course evaluations.
10. In cases of promotion to indeterminate tenure or promotion to full professor, four outside evaluations. The evaluators are selected from suggestions provided in separate lists by the candidate and the department. It is understood that in disciplines which are small and closely knit outside evaluators may have some previous knowledge of the candidate’s work. The outside evaluators will receive only items (1), (4), and (5) listed above.

Candidates for promotion to full professor should not list the evaluators suggested for their tenure review. The candidate and department should include a clear statement of the rational for proposing each outside evaluator. Outside evaluations, with all identifying information deleted, will be made available to the eligible members of the department before the final vote is taken. These evaluations will also be made available to the candidate at the same time.

It is the responsibility of the candidate to provide copies of items 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 prior to review. Extraneous material of all sorts, including unsolicited letters, whether positive or negative, may not be included in the candidate’s dossier.

The chair shall send with the departmental recommendation an invitation to the candidate to discuss the recommendation. Whether the recommendation is positive or negative, the candidate may (but need not) request a meeting with FASC to discuss issues raised in the recommendation. The candidate may also (but need not) submit to FASC, the dean, and the president a written response to the recommendation.
The request for a meeting and the intention to submit a written response must be communicated to FASC within one week, and the written response submitted within two weeks, of receiving the departmental recommendation. If later in the review process the department meets with the president, the dean of the faculty, and FASC to provide additional information or to defend its recommendation, the candidate’s written response shall be shared with the department.

After studying all the available material, FASC, meeting alone, attempts to view each case from as wide a range of perspectives as possible. Close attention is given to the adequacy and fairness of the departmental, student, and outside evaluations. FASC, after notifying the dean and the president, may ask the department to amplify in writing any points that are inadequately addressed in its recommendation. Within FASC, individual viewpoints are formulated and compared, and differences of opinion are discussed. Then FASC forwards to the dean in written form a tentative recommendation for the purpose of informing discussion among the members of FASC, the dean, and the president.

FASC then considers each case with the dean of the faculty, who has independently examined the same materials. After this meeting, FASC forwards to the president its tentative recommendation stating reasons if its recommendation differs from that of the dean. FASC and the dean then meet with the president, who has also reviewed the materials independently. FASC and the dean report their views and discuss the basis of their evaluations. Special attention is given to those cases in which the recommendations of FASC and the dean differ, or in which FASC and the dean differ with the department.

If at this point, FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president believe that additional information might be necessary or helpful in reaching a decision, a consultation with the departmental chair and other eligible members may be arranged. If preliminary discussions have indicated the likelihood of a decision contrary to the department’s recommendation, a consultation with the departmental chair and other eligible members must be arranged. Meetings are called by the president, together with the dean and FASC, and the dean informs the department of the nature of the meeting and the issues the department should be prepared to address. After such meetings, FASC shall within one week summarize in writing the issues raised and the departmental response. Copies are distributed to the candidate as well as the dean, president, members of FASC, and eligible members of the department. The candidate has the opportunity within one week to respond in writing to all participants in the meeting.

After considering any departmental and candidate responses, FASC and the dean of the faculty meet with the president to convey their final recommendations, and FASC records its recommendation in the form of a vote. The president subsequently submits a final written recommendation to the trustee Committee on Academic Affairs. In cases where the final recommendations of FASC and the president differ, FASC may request a conference with the trustee Committee on Academic Affairs. Strict confidentiality is maintained throughout the process by all who are involved in the review.

The dates for the various steps in reviews for extension, reappointment, promotion, and tenure decision are listed each year in Section C.IX of the Faculty Handbook. Except for the required dates of notification listed in the Governance, the dates mentioned are administrative guidelines and are not legally binding. Every effort is nevertheless made to conform to them.

In cases where a negative recommendation has been received, the candidate may discuss the reasons for the decision with the president or the dean of the faculty.

In cases where the faculty member believes there are grounds for appealing a negative decision, the grounds for appeal described in the Governance should be reviewed first, and if necessary, clarification with regard to the individual case should be sought from the dean of the faculty or from the Appeal Committee.

(Amended by the faculty May 18; September 14, 1994; and May 17, 1995)
VII. PROCEDURES FOR PERFORMANCE EVALUATIONS AND MERIT RECOMMENDATIONS OF ASSISTANT PROFESSORS

A. Performance Evaluations

In years when assistant professors receive no contract reviews, departments shall provide assistant professors with an evaluation of their performance. These performance evaluations shall occur in the spring and shall cover the period since the last performance or contract review. The primary purpose of performance evaluations is to provide frank and constructive assessment and feedback. These reviews will become part of the individual’s review dossier.

(Approved by the faculty March 5, 1997; amended by the faculty April 20, 2005)

Schedule for performance evaluation and contract reviews of assistant professors:

• Spring of 1st year: department letter with performance evaluation; salary increase standard for all first-year assistant professors
• Spring of 2nd year: department recommendation on extension and merit in same letter; merit recommendation used by Salary Committee to set merit rating for years 3 and 4.
• Spring of 3rd year: departmental letter with performance evaluation.
• Spring of 4th year: department recommendation on reappointment and merit in same letter; merit recommendation used by Salary Committee to set merit rating for years 5, 6 and 7.
• Spring of 5th year: department letter with performance evaluation.
• Spring of 6th year: department letter with performance evaluation.
• Spring of 7th year: department recommendation on tenure and merit in same letter; merit recommendation used by Salary Committee to set merit rating for first three years of post-tenure review cycle.

Procedure for Performance Evaluation:

1. An evaluation shall be made by the department in which the faculty member holds appointment. In the case of joint appointments, the program shall make a separate recommendation.

2. When faculty so request, they shall receive evaluations from other departments and from multidisciplinary programs in which they have participated during the period of service under review (but not from the Independent, Interdepartmental, or the College Course Programs). The request shall be made in writing to the department chair or program director, with a copy to the dean of the faculty.

3. All members of the department or program who participated in making the evaluation shall be afforded the opportunity to sign the letter.

4. The evaluation is written by the chair, after consultation with members of the department or program at the rank of associate or full professor.

5. Copies of the evaluation shall be given to faculty members and placed in their department and the dean of the faculty office files.
B. Merit Recommendations

1. In connection with extensions, reappointments, tenure, and promotion to full professor reviews, merit recommendations included in the department letter shall use the categories of distinction, high merit, merit and no merit.

2. At the conclusion of the salary review process, a record of the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee's ratings for untenured assistant professors in the department and for tenured associate professors in the department, without names attached, will be provided to the department chair or the chair of the review committee, for the information of those who have conducted the review.
VIII. POST-TENURE REVIEW

The faculty member under review shall submit copies of their c.v. and Personal Statement. This material, along with the annual activities reports, the student evaluations and, for associate professors, the departmental recommendation, provide the Faculty Salary Committee with evidence of the candidate's continuing engagement in teaching, scholarship or artistic activity, and service in the Vassar community. In making merit determinations, the committee shall consider all three areas of performance, which, taken together, give evidence of different levels of performance by tenured members of the faculty. It is understood, however, that patterns of focus may vary responsibly at different points in a faculty member’s career. Under these circumstances, the Faculty Salary Committee will consider in its evaluation the weighting of the three areas and of contributions within each area as presented in the candidate's self-analysis in the Personal Statement. The categories of merit are distinction, high merit, merit, and no merit.

A. Procedures for Associate Professors

1. A merit review shall be made by the department in which the faculty member holds appointment. In the case of joint appointments, the program shall do a separate merit.

2. When faculty so request, they shall receive a merit review also from other departments and from multidisciplinary programs in which they have participated during the period of service under review (but not from the Independent, Interdepartmental, or the College Course Programs). The request shall be made in writing to the department chair or program director, with a copy to the dean of the faculty.

3. The consideration of scholarship, artistic activity, or other relevant accomplishments shall ordinarily be limited to works and activities whose dates of publication, or performance lie within the review period.

4. All department and program reviews shall result in a letter that shall not call for a specific amount of increase but shall recommend a category of distinction, high merit, merit and not merit.

5. The recommendation summarizing points of view presented shall be written by the chair, after consultation with members of the department or program at the rank of full professor. All participants in the review shall be afforded the opportunity to sign the letter.

6. If the chair is an associate professor, faculty of the same rank undergoing post tenures review shall be evaluated by the full professors, one of them — ordinarily the most senior — acting as chair. If there are no full professors, associate professors may request either evaluation by the chair or no departmental evaluation.

7. Faculty participating in the review shall maintain confidentiality concerning all aspects of the review.

8. Copies of recommendation letters shall be given to faculty members and placed in their files in the respective department or program as well as the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

9. Above the departmental level, reviews shall be conducted, in the first round, by the dean of the faculty and the full professors on FASC (FSC). In a second round, the president shall join the dean and FSC.
In reviews of faculty from their home departments, members of FSC shall abstain from the reviews conducted by FSC and shall instead participate in the reviews conducted by their departments.

The merit category and salary figure shall be communicated to faculty in writing. At the conclusion of the salary review process, a record of the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee's ratings for untenured assistant professors and tenured associate professors in the department, without names attached, will be provided to the department chair or the chair of the review committee, for the information of those who have conducted the review.

In addition to a salary letter, the dean of the faculty shall communicate in writing the results of the review: an assessment of the faculty member's performance in the realms of teaching, scholarship, professional and artistic activity, and service. The letter may also include offers of institutional support for the development of skills in teaching, scholarship, and creative endeavor. Support may be offered in such formats as grants, adjustments in teaching responsibilities, and assistance in applying for funding within or outside the college. The letter may also suggest a personal meeting between the dean and the faculty member. Faculty, in turn, may request a personal meeting with the dean. The letter shall not be sent to the department but it shall become a part of the faculty member's dossier for future reviews by FASC, the dean of the faculty and the president.

(Approved by the faculty, May 17, 2006)

B. Procedure for Full Professors

1. Full professors undergoing post-tenure review may, but need not, request an evaluation by other full professors in the department. If the department chair is not a full professor, ordinarily the most senior eligible full professor shall act as chair.

2. When faculty so request, they shall receive a review also from full professors in other departments and/or multidisciplinary programs in which they have participated during the period of service under review (but not from the Independent, Interdepartmental, or the College Course Programs). The request shall be made in writing to the department chair or program director, with a copy to the dean of the faculty.

3. The consideration of scholarship, artistic activity, or other relevant accomplishments shall ordinarily be limited to works and activities whose dates of publication, presentation, or performance lie within the review period.

4. Copies of recommendation letters shall be given to faculty members and placed in their files in the respective department or program as well as the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

5. In the first round the review shall be conducted by the full professors on FASC and the dean of the faculty. In the second round, the president shall join the dean and members of FASC. The full professors on FASC shall be reviewed by the president and the dean only, not by the other full professors on FASC.

6. The dean of the faculty shall communicate the category of merit and an assessment of the faculty member's performance in the realms of teaching, scholarship, professional and artistic activity, and service. The letter may also include offers of institutional support for the development of skills in teaching, scholarship, and creative endeavor. Support may be offered in such formats as grants, adjustments in teaching responsibilities, and assistance in applying for funding within or outside the college. The letter may also suggest a personal meeting between the dean and the faculty member. Faculty, in turn, may request a personal meeting with the dean.

7. The letter shall not be sent to the department, but it shall become part of the faculty member’s dossier in the dean of the faculty office for future reviews. (Approved by the Faculty April 20, 2005, and September 5, 2018)
IX. LECTURER AND SENIOR LECTURER MERIT REVIEWS

The merit review shall be an evaluation of performance and service. The lecturer or senior lecturer under review shall submit copies of their c.v. and Personal Statement to the dean of the faculty and the home department by February 1. These materials, along with student evaluations, annual activities reports, and the department recommendation, provide the Faculty Salary Committee (FSC) with evidence of the individual’s continuing engagement in teaching, community service, and other particulars of the individual’s job as described in both the candidate’s Personal Statement and the department recommendation. In making merit determinations, FSC shall consider performance across the different areas of the individual’s job, while also recognizing that patterns of focus may vary at different points in the career of a Lecturer or Senior Lecturer. The categories of merit are distinction, high merit, merit, and no merit.

1. A merit review shall be made by tenured faculty members in the department in which the Lecturer or Senior Lecturer holds an appointment.

2. When Lecturers or Senior Lecturers so request, they shall receive a merit recommendation also from other departments and from multidisciplinary programs in which they have participated during the period of service under review (but not from the Independent, Interdepartmental, or College Course Programs).

3. The consideration of scholarship, artistic activity, or other relevant accomplishments shall ordinarily be limited to works whose dates of publication or presentation lie within the review period.

4. All department and program reviews shall result in a letter that shall not call for a specific amount of increase but shall recommend a category of distinction, high merit, merit, or no merit.

5. The recommendation summarizing points of view presented shall be written by the chair, after consultation with tenured members of the department or program. All participants in the review shall be afforded the opportunity to sign the letter.

6. Faculty participating in the review shall maintain confidentiality concerning all aspects of the review.

7. Copies of any recommendation letters shall be given to the Lecturer or Senior Lecturer under review and placed in their files in the respective department or program as well as in the office of the dean of the faculty.

8. Above the departmental level, reviews shall be conducted, in the first round, by the dean of the faculty and FSC. In a second round, the president shall join the dean and FSC.

9. Members of FSC participate in the reviews conducted by their departments, not by FSC.

10. The merit recommendation and salary figure shall be communicated to the Lecturer or Senior Lecturer in writing. A record of the final merit recommendation, but not the salary figure, will be sent to the departmental chair.

11. In addition to a salary letter, the dean of the faculty shall communicate in writing the results of the review including an assessment of the Lecturer’s or Senior Lecturer’s teaching, service, and other responsibilities. The letter may also suggest a personal meeting with the dean. The Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, in turn, may request a meeting with the dean. The letter shall not be sent to the department but it shall become a part of the faculty member’s dossier for future reviews by FSC, the dean of the faculty, and the president.

(Approved by the faculty November 16, 2005)
X. VISITING PROFESSOR AND ADJUNCT MERIT REVIEWS

Visiting and adjunct faculty who have been at Vassar for three consecutive years and have taught more than one course in at least one of those years shall undergo a merit review in their third consecutive year of employment if, at the time department chairs or program directors establish department or program staffing plans for the following year, they determine, in consultation with the tenured members of the department or program, that there is the possibility of further employment for the visitor or adjunct.

Adjuncts or visiting faculty members who are not required to be reviewed may request a review from departments or programs in which they have taught, provided that they have taught at least six courses over the course of three or more years of service at the college.

The merit review shall be an evaluation of performance. The Visiting Professor or Adjunct under review shall submit copies of their c.v and Personal Statement to the dean of the faculty and the home department or program by February 1. These materials, along with student evaluations, annual activities reports, and the department or program recommendation, provide the Faculty Salary Committee (FSC) with evidence of the individual’s continuing engagement in teaching and other particulars of the individual’s job as described in both the candidate’s Personal Statement and the department recommendation. In making merit determinations, FSC shall consider performance across the different areas of the individual’s job, while also recognizing that patterns of focus may vary at different points in the career of a Visiting Professor or Adjunct. The categories of merit are distinction, high merit, merit and no merit.

Procedures for Visiting Professor and Adjunct Merit Review

1. Merit reviews for faculty on non-tenure track take place after approval by the dean of the faculty for continuation of the line as part of the regular review of annual staffing plans. Merit reviews are completed by no later than April 1, giving departments and programs sufficient time to determine whether or not the faculty member being reviewed will be offered a further contract or a new hire should be sought. Merit reviews for all non-tenure track faculty members except visiting or adjunct full professors are conducted by all tenured members of the department or program. Merit reviews for visiting or adjunct full professors are conducted by the full professors in the department or program.
   (Amended by Faculty September 14, 2011)

2. A visiting or adjunct faculty member holding the rank of professor may, but need not, request an evaluation by the full professors in the department or program. If the department chair or program director is not a full professor, ordinarily the most senior eligible full professor shall serve as chair.

3. When a Visiting Professor or Adjunct so requests, they shall receive a merit recommendation also from other departments and from multidisciplinary programs in which they have participated during the period of service under review (but not from the Independent, Interdepartmental, or College Course Programs).

4. The consideration of scholarship, artistic activity, or other relevant accomplishments shall ordinarily be limited to works whose dates of publication or presentation lie within the review period.

5. All department and program reviews shall result in a letter that shall not call for a specific amount of increase but shall recommend a category of distinction, high merit, merit, or no merit.
6. The recommendation summarizing points of view presented shall be written by the chair, after consultation with tenured members of the department or program. All participants in the review shall be afforded the opportunity to sign the letter.

7. Faculty participating in the review shall maintain confidentiality concerning all aspects of the review.

8. Copies of any recommendation letters shall be given to the Visiting Professor or Adjunct under review and placed in their files in the respective department or program as well as in the Office of the dean of the faculty.

9. Above the departmental or program level, reviews shall be conducted, in the first round, by the dean of the faculty and FSC. In a second round, the president shall join the dean and FSC.

10. Members of FSC participate in the reviews conducted by their departments or programs, not by FSC.

11. The merit recommendation and salary figure shall be communicated to the Visiting Professor or Adjunct in writing. A record of the final merit recommendation, but not the salary figure, will be sent to the departmental chair or program director.

XII. PROCEDURES OF THE FACULTY APPEAL COMMITTEE FOR APPEALS RELATED TO PROCEDURAL ERRORS

The Appeal Committee considers grievances brought to it by an individual faculty member who believes that a violation of the procedures and principles for the conduct of reviews contributed to a negative outcome in his/her/their review for extension, reappointment, tenure, or promotion.

In such cases, the role of the Appeal Committee is to evaluate whether violation(s) of established procedures contributed to the negative outcome of the review and, if so, to require correction of the review. In such cases "procedural violation" refers not only to procedure in a narrow sense, such as missed deadlines, but also to whether all legitimate evidence was adequately considered, to whether all improper or irrelevant evidence was excluded, and to whether there was adequate consideration about the import of evidence in light of the relevant standards. The Appeal Committee does not substitute its own judgment for that of the reviewers concerning the merits of the decision. Disagreement with the reviewers over the import or meaning of evidence does not constitute a procedural violation, so long as that evidence received adequate consideration in light of the relevant standards.

In the first week of the fall semester, the Dean of the Faculty meets with the Appeal Committee to discuss procedures to be followed in the event that an appeal is filed. The dean also assures the committee of its autonomy and its right to question all parties involved in any case of appeal.

The procedures for the conduct of appeals based on procedural errors are as follows:

Filing an appeal and determining if an appeal is to be heard

1. A faculty member who is considering filing an appeal may initiate informal and confidential discussion with any member of the Appeal Committee or with the committee as a whole.

2. If the faculty member then wishes to submit a formal appeal, the faculty member gives the committee a written statement explaining in detail the nature of the grievance, specifying the procedural violation(s) alleged to have occurred and their alleged effect on the outcome of the review. Written appeals must be filed by September 15 of the academic year following the negative review decision, except in the case of appeals of reviews for promotion to full professor, which must be filed by February 1 of the semester following the negative review decision. Only in unusual circumstances, as determined by majority vote of the Appeal Committee, may an appeal filed after the deadline be considered.

3. Candidates may appeal a negative review decision even in the case of a review that resulted from a prior successful appeal.

4. On the basis of the written appeal and any preliminary discussion with the appellant, the Appeal Committee decides whether the case falls within its jurisdiction, using the following guideline: A case falls within the jurisdiction of the Appeal Committee if the appellant has alleged in a reasonable way that a violation of the procedures and principles spelled out in the Governance and Faculty Handbook contributed to the negative outcome of the review. If the Appeal Committee decides by a majority vote that a case does fall within its jurisdiction or if the committee's vote is tied, then the committee hears the appeal. If the committee decides by majority vote that a case does not fall within its jurisdiction, then the appeal is automatically denied. In either case, the committee notifies the appellant in writing.

Hearing an appeal

5. When the Appeal Committee decides to hear an appeal, the appellant's review dossier is made available to the committee. The dossier includes all materials originally submitted by the appellant for the review being appealed and also all other materials that were available to the Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee (FASC) in its consideration of the review. The Appeal Committee also receives any written communications from the department to FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president subsequent to the department's recommendation; FASC's written summaries of any meetings between the department and FASC, the dean of the faculty, and the president; and the procedural log kept by FASC for each candidate which records its final vote and the dates on which it met to consider the case, by itself, with the dean, and with the president. The president's letter to the candidate (which includes the reasons for the final recommendation) and any written communications from the candidate to FASC, the dean, and the president can be made available to the Appeal Committee at the discretion of the appellant.

6. In hearing the appeal, the Appeal Committee affords the appellant an opportunity to present their appeal in person before the committee. When appearing before the committee, the appellant may bring one member of the Vassar Community as an adviser. Except in unusual circumstances, as determined by majority vote of the committee, no new material from the appellant pertaining to the decision under appeal can be considered after the appellant has appeared before the committee.

7. After the appellant has had the opportunity to present their appeal, the Appeal Committee may also interview other parties it judges to have information directly relevant to the appeal, including, but not limited to, the members of FASC who conducted the review and the members of the department or any program(s) who conducted the review.

8. In determining whether an established procedure or principle was violated, the Appeal Committee may consult with the Faculty Policy and Conference Committee (FPCC) for clarification about established procedures.

Granting or denying an appeal

9. All appeal decisions are rendered by the end of the semester in which they are heard, except in unusual circumstances, described in a written communication from the Appeal Committee to the president, the dean of the faculty and FASC.

10. The Appeal Committee grants an appeal if it determines, by majority or tied vote, that procedural violation(s) did occur; that the violation(s) contributed to the negative outcome of the review; and that correction of the violation(s) could lead to a different outcome. A majority vote by the committee against granting an appeal denies the appeal.

11. The Appeal Committee focuses its investigation on the procedural violations alleged by the appellant in the written complaint or when the appellant appeared before the committee, but the Appeal Committee may grant an appeal based on other violations uncovered during the course of its investigation.

12. If the appeal is granted, the Appeal Committee notifies the president in writing of its decision, with copies to the appellant, the dean of the faculty, the chair of FASC, the chair of the appellant's department and the director of any program that participated in the review. The letter specifies the violations of established policy that resulted in the granting of the appeal. The Appeal Committee may not suggest changes to the review process beyond requiring that it conform to established procedures.

13. If an appeal is denied, the Appeal Committee notifies the appellant in writing, with a copy to the president only. Denying an appeal ends the appeals process and excludes further consideration of the case by the committee.

Changes required by a granted appeal

14. By granting an appeal, the Appeal Committee requires reconsideration of the review decision. Reconsideration of the review decision necessitates conducting a new review, beginning from the point in the process where the earliest procedural violation found by the Appeal Committee occurred. Normally, the new review conforms to the regular schedule for reviews. The procedural violation(s) identified by the Appeal Committee are corrected to conform with established procedures. The president, after consultation with FPCC and the dean of the faculty if needed, issues any instructions necessary to ensure all parties are aware of established procedures, which must be adhered to in the new review.
15. Normally, if an appeal is granted, the appellant receives a contract for a supplemental year.

16. The candidate's dossier for the new review is the same as the dossier for the previous review, except that (1) all procedurally improper documents are removed from it and, where appropriate, replaced with new documents that are in compliance with established procedures, and (2) any documents required by established procedures that were absent from the dossier in the previous review are added to it.

17. The new review is conducted by those eligible to participate in the review at the time of the new review.

Other procedures

18. All deliberations and any decisions of the Appeal Committee are confidential, except as detailed in the procedures above.

19. To provide guidance and precedents for cases being heard, the chair of the Appeal Committee maintains a file of letters to the president specifying the outcome of appeals and the reasons for the committee's decision. Names of appellants, departments, and all other identifying features are removed. This file is available to the chair of the Appeal Committee, who may consult it to help guide the committee.

20. Other functions of the Appeal Committee and the procedures for other kinds of appeals are listed in the Elected Faculty Committees section of the Faculty Handbook.

(Amended by the faculty February 1995, May 2013, and November 2014)
XIII. PROCEDURES FOR REVIEW AND PROMOTION OF LIBRARIANS

A. Rank and Qualification

Librarian appointments are made with the following titles, listed in ascending order of rank. Each rank assumes all qualifications of each lesser rank.

1. Librarian I: Librarians with regular appointments at this rank shall indicate expectation of successful overall performance and the potential for a promising career in librarianship. They will hold a master’s degree in Library Science from an A.L.A. accredited institution or foreign equivalent.

2. Librarian II: Librarians with regular appointments at this rank will ordinarily have a minimum of three years of professional library service. Promotion to this rank shall require evidence of significant professional contributions to the library and/or to the college, and a high potential for successful professional activity.

3. Librarian III: Librarians with regular appointments at this rank will ordinarily have a minimum of eight years of professional library service. Promotion to this rank shall require evidence of substantial professional contributions to the library, as well as to the college and/or the profession at large.

4. Librarian IV: Appointments at this rank are reserved for individuals who have demonstrated outstanding achievement and attained marked professional distinction through service to the college or the profession at large, preferably both.

B. Procedures for Review and Promotion

1. Review Process and Calendar

   a. The Director of the Library shall notify in writing by September 1 any librarian eligible for promotion of the deadline for submitting application materials. All candidates holding the position Librarian I will be reviewed for promotion to Librarian II at the beginning of their third year of service. This is a mandatory review for continuous appointment. Promotion to Librarian III requires that candidates apply for review by September 15 after notification of eligibility. Nominations for Librarian IV must also be submitted by September 15. All application materials should be submitted to the Director of the Library by October 15.

   b. The director of the library will appoint review committees by November 1 to review each candidate for promotion. Adhering to criteria set forth in the Library Professional Development Committee’s Guidelines for Librarian Promotion Review Committees, the review committee will deliberate, vote a decision, and deliver a written recommendation to the director of the library to promote or not promote the candidate by December 1. The written recommendation may or may not include a minority opinion. Should the director of the library not accept the review committee’s decision, the director will meet with the committee in an attempt to reach a consensus. The director of the library will forward the review committee’s written recommendation along with the director’s own written recommendation to the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources by December 15. The candidate shall be notified of the outcome by February 15.

2. Description and Composition of Review Committees

   a. General Description. The review committee is an ad hoc committee appointed by the Director of the Library whose members are known only to the Director and one another. Only librarians of Ranks II-IV are eligible to serve on review committees from within the library, and will compose the majority of any review committee membership. Review committee proceedings shall be confidential.

   b. Promotion to Librarian II. Committees reviewing promotion to Librarian II will be composed of three individuals, ordinarily librarians from Ranks II-IV, and when appropriate another member of the Vassar faculty able to evaluate the candidate’s contributions to the college.

   c. Promotion to Librarian III. Committees reviewing promotion to Librarian III will be composed of three to five individuals including at least three librarians from Ranks II-IV. When appropriate, members of the Vassar faculty able to evaluate the candidate’s contribution to the college may serve on the committee.

   d. Promotion to Librarian IV: Committees reviewing promotion to Librarian IV will be composed of five individuals, three Librarians of Rank III-IV and two individuals from outside the Library able to evaluate the candidate’s contributions to the college and the profession at large: generally a senior member of the Vassar faculty and a senior librarian from a peer institution.

3. Application Materials

   Applicants for promotion shall submit a file to the Director of the Library, which should include the following materials:

   a. A letter of application for promotion including a Personal Statement of accomplishments and goals.

   b. A current vita.

   c. Applicable annual self and/or supervisory evaluations

   Additionally, current letters of reference should be sent directly to the Director of the Library to be placed in the candidate’s file.

   The applicant may also submit other supporting materials as evidence of achievement, including but not limited to: publications; evidence of committee activities; evidence of presentations, workshops, or teaching; professional commendations or awards.

   The review committee may solicit or accept additional materials to be included in evidence, including signed letters from staff and colleagues, annual reports, and any other data the committee may find helpful in its deliberation. All materials considered by the review committee shall be available to the candidate, except that letters not solicited by the candidate shall be anonymous.
4. Appeals

The Library Professional Development Committee will serve as an appeals committee to any candidate who alleges that a recommendation against promotion has resulted from failure to adhere to the preceding review procedures. Committee members may not sit on their own appeals.

(Approved by FASC and the dean of the faculty, in consultation with the professional librarians, March 1, 1993; Amended November 10, 1993)
XIV. ATHLETICS AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A. The Director of Athletics and Physical Education

1. Duties

The Director of Athletics and Physical Education, subsequently referred to as the Director, will oversee all aspects of the athletics and physical education program. The Director will be responsible for ensuring that the athletics and physical education programs are in keeping with the educational goals of the college.

2. Appointment

The director is appointed by the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources in consultation with the senior members of the department of athletics and physical education and the faculty athletics advisory committee. The director is a tenured member of the faculty; the director is appointed for a renewable six-year term.

B. The Associate Director of Athletics

1. Duties

The associate director of athletics will assist the director in the organization and maintenance of the athletics program in keeping with the goals of the program and the educational mission of the college.

The associate director of athletics may teach or coach with the agreement of the director.

2. Appointment

The associate director of athletics will be appointed by the director in consultation with the associate director of physical education and the senior members of the department. The appointment may be made from among the members of the department or from among candidates outside of the college. The associate director of athletics will ordinarily hold faculty rank at the level of senior lecturer.

The associate director of athletics will initially be appointed on a two-year contract; each contract thereafter will ordinarily be of five years’ duration.

Should a lecturer or senior lecturer from within the department of athletics and physical education accept appointment as associate director of athletics, that lecturer will receive a new contract as associate director and the contract as lecturer will be terminated. The conditions, if any, under which the appointee may return to previous duties on a new lecturer or senior lecturer contract at the conclusion of the term as associate director will be determined by the director in consultation with the appointee, the faculty athletics representative, and the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, and will be specified in writing at the time of the appointment. If no such conditions are specified, or if specified conditions are not met, an associate director of athletics, appointed from among the lecturers, who is not reappointed to the position at the end of the associate director’s term will have no guarantee of continued employment at the college.

Should an instructor or assistant professor from within the department of athletics and physical education accept appointment as associate director of athletics, that appointee will receive a new contract as associate director and the contract as instructor or assistant professor will be terminated. The conditions, if any, under which the appointee may return to previous duties on a new tenure-track contract at the conclusion of the term as associate director will be determined by the director in consultation with the appointee, the faculty athletics representative, and the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, and will be specified in writing at the time of the appointment. If no such conditions are specified, or if specified conditions are not met, an associate director of athletics, appointed from among the instructors or assistant professors, who is not reappointed to the position at the end of associate director’s term will have no guarantee of continued employment at the college.

Should an associate professor or professor from within the department of athletics and physical education accept appointment as associate director of athletics, that professor will retain the current professorial rank and tenure status. The conditions, if any, under which the appointee may return to previous duties at the conclusion of the term as associate director will be determined by the director in consultation with the appointee, the faculty athletics representative, and the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, and will be specified in writing at the time of the appointment. If no such conditions are specified, or if specified conditions are not met, an associate director of athletics, appointed from among the tenured members of the department, who is not reappointed to the position at the end of the associate director’s term will be assigned duties within the department by the director in consultation with the faculty athletics representative and the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources.

C. The Associate Director of Physical Education

1. Duties

The associate director of physical education will assist the director in organizing and maintaining the physical education program in keeping with the goals of the program and the educational mission of the college.

2. Election

The associate director of physical education will be elected by a vote of the director and all of the members of the department who are teaching physical education in the year in which the election is being held. Faculty who wish to stand for the position may nominate themselves or be nominated by any member of the department who is eligible to vote.

The term of the associate director of physical education will be for three years. The holder of the position may be reelected to a second term. However, it is expected that this position will rotate among the members of the department who are involved in teaching physical education and that the position will involve a reduction in teaching and/or coaching load.

D. Teachers, Head Coaches, and Administrators

1. Duties

Positions in the department are composed of various combinations of teaching physical education classes, coaching athletics teams, and performing administrative work.

2. Appointment

A new faculty appointment is made at the level of lecturer or instructor. The Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, in consultation with the director and, if necessary, the Faculty Athletics Advisory Committee, will determine at which level the appointment will be made. The director is expected to discuss this decision with the members of the department before bringing a recommendation to the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources. This determination may also be made in negotiation with a candidate for the position.

If the position of director of life fitness is appointed from among the members of the department with faculty status, then the same stipulations as described above for the associate director of athletics (see B.2 above) will apply.

3. Suffrage

The director and associate directors of athletics and physical education will have academic suffrage. Full-time members of the department with faculty status whose teaching and/or coaching responsibility is at least half of their contractual responsibility have academic suffrage. If a faculty member who has academic suffrage accepts a full-time administrative position, the faculty member will have academic suffrage for a period of not more than five consecutive years in that position. All senior members of the department, regardless of whether they have faculty status, are entitled to vote in departmental meetings. All members of the department may consult with the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, the faculty athletics representative, or members of the Faculty Athletics Advisory Committee on matters affecting the conduct of the department.

E. Faculty Athletics Representative

1. Election

The faculty athletics representative (FAR) will be a full professor from a department other than athletics and physical education, elected by the faculty for a term of three years. There is no limit on the number of terms, successive or total, that a faculty member may serve.

2. Duties

The FAR provides advice and oversight for the intercollegiate athletics program. Duties and responsibilities associated with the position, which is mandated at every member institution by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, are elaborated in the NCAA’s Faculty Athletics Representative Handbook.

The FAR is chair of the Faculty Athletics Advisory Committee (FAAC) and participates in reviews of personnel in the department of athletics and physical education as specified elsewhere. FARs serve as a member of the Committee on Admissions and Financial Aid. They may also serve as a member of committees within the department of athletics and physical education.

The FAR will regularly attend meetings of the department of athletics and physical education. The FAR will meet regularly with the director and, as necessary, with the president, the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, and/or other relevant senior officers of the college to discuss the intercollegiate athletics program and related matters.
XV. WHAT HAPPENS IN ATHLETICS AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION FACULTY REVIEWS — A BRIEF ACCOUNT

There are two major stages in the process of review. In the first, discussion among members of the Athletics and Physical Education Department Review Committee results in a written departmental recommendation. In the second, the College Level Review Committee (CLRC) acts in an advisory capacity to the president. Discussion among members of CLRC and the president results in a written recommendation from the president to the Board of Trustees. CLRC meets independently as well as with the president.

The review of a faculty member in the Department of Athletics and Physical Education for extension, reappointment or promotion begins in the individual’s department. The review by the department is undertaken by a Department Review Committee comprised of the Athletic Director, the two Associate Directors (of Athletics and Physical Education, respectively), and a senior member of the department on the same track (lecturer or tenure-track) as is the candidate. The review must consider all submitted materials and all aspects of the candidate’s professional contributions during the period under review. The candidate’s dossier will normally include the following materials: (a) an up-to-date vita, (b) a coaching accomplishments and teaching portfolio, (c) a Personal Statement that describes the candidate’s career and professional development as reflected in coaching and teaching, and service to the college, department and community, (d) any pertinent accomplishments and/or work produced during the period under review. Extraneous material of all sorts, including unsolicited letters, whether positive or negative, may not be included in the candidate’s dossier.

Responsibility for writing the final recommendation rests with the Athletic Director. It must be a full statement of the Department Review Committee’s recommendation, reporting the vote and summarizing the points of view presented, including differences of opinion, if any. A separate letter may be submitted by a member or members of the Department Review Committee who feel(s) that the Department Review Committee’s recommendation is not a fair, accurate, and full report of the discussion about the candidate.

At the time the Department Review Committee’s recommendation is submitted to the dean of the strategic planning and academic resources, the candidate will be provided with a copy of the full recommendation modified so as to indicate the numerical vote but not the votes of the individual voting members. If a separate minority report is submitted, this minority report will also be provided to the candidate with the names of those signing it deleted. The Athletic Director shall also meet with the candidate to discuss this report and the remainder of the review procedure.

The Department Review Committee’s recommendation is subsequently reviewed, together with the information in the individual’s dossier, by the College Level Review Committee (CLRC) consisting of a representative of FASC, the Faculty Athletics Representative and the dean of the faculty, working independently and then in consultation with the president, working separately at first, then jointly.

The Athletic Director shall send with the Department Review Committee’s recommendation an invitation to the candidate to discuss the recommendation. Whether the recommendation is positive or negative, the candidate may (but need not) request a meeting with the FASC representative participating in the CLRC review and the Faculty Athletic Representative to discuss issues raised in the Department Review Committee’s recommendation. The candidate may also (but need not) submit to the College Level Review Committee and the president a written response to the recommendation. The request for a meeting and the intention to submit a written response must be communicated to the FASC representative within one week, and the written response submitted within two weeks, of receiving the departmental recommendation. If later in the review process the department meets with the president and the College Level Review Committee to provide additional information or to defend its recommendation, the candidate’s written response shall be shared with the Department Review Committee’s members.

After studying all the available material, the CLRC, meeting alone, attempts to view each case from as wide a range of perspectives as possible. Close attention is given to the adequacy and fairness of the departmental, student and athlete evaluations. The CLRC, after notifying the president, may ask the department to amplify in writing any points that are inadequately addressed in its recommendation. Within the CLRC, individual viewpoints are formulated and compared, and differences of opinion are discussed. Then the CLRC forwards to the president, in written form, a tentative recommendation for the purpose of informing discussion among the members of the CLRC and the president. Special attention is given to those cases in which the recommendations of the CLRC differ with the Department Review Committee.

If at this point the CLRC and the president believe that additional information might be necessary or helpful in reaching a decision, a consultation with the Athletic Director and other members of the Department Review Committee may be arranged. If preliminary discussions have indicated the likelihood of a decision contrary to the Department Review Committee’s recommendation, a consultation with the Athletic Director and other involved members must be arranged. Meetings are called by the president together with CLRC, and the dean informs the Department Review Committee of the nature of the meeting and the issues the department should be prepared to address. After such meetings, the CLRC shall within one week summarize in writing the issues raised and the departmental response. Copies are distributed to the candidate as well as the all participants in the candidates review, both at the departmental and college levels. The candidate has the opportunity within one week to respond in writing to all participants in the meeting. After considering any departmental and candidate responses, members of the CLRC will meet with the president to convey their final recommendations, and the CLRC records its recommendation in the form of a vote. The president subsequently submits a final written recommendation to the trustee Committee on Academic Affairs. In cases where the final recommendations of CLRC and the president differ, the CLRC may request a conference with the trustee Committee on Academic Affairs.

Strict confidentiality is maintained throughout the process by all who are involved in the review. The dates for the various steps in reviews for extension, reappointment, promotion, and tenure decision will be listed each year in the Athletics and Physical Education Department Handbook. Except for the required dates of notification listed in the Governance, the dates mentioned are administrative guidelines and are not legally binding. Every effort will nevertheless be made to conform to them. In cases where a negative recommendation has been received, the candidate may discuss the reasons for the decision with the president or the dean of the faculty. In cases where the faculty member believes there are grounds for appealing a negative decision, the grounds for appeal described in the Governance should be reviewed first, and if necessary, clarification with regard to the individual case should be sought from the dean of the faculty or from the Appeal Committee.
XVI. APPEALS

The appeal process for any member of the Department is the same as the process laid out in the Governance and Faculty Handbook for all members of the faculty.

D. EDUCATIONAL POLICY, OFFICE FOR ACCESSIBILITY AND EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY, AND THE CONDUCT OF CLASSES

Legislation regarding educational policy is established, under the Governance, by faculty vote. Each member of the Vassar faculty is expected to know and to observe the general academic regulations both in the section on “Degrees and Course of Study” in the Catalogue and in the digest of basic legislation and procedures which follows. Both the Advisor’s Handbook and the College Regulations also explain academic and library regulations and academic standards. Questions regarding interpretation of academic legislation should be addressed to the dean of studies, as should those of a procedural nature. Modifications of academic legislation are in general accomplished through proposals of the Committee on Curricular Policy to the faculty.

Nondiscrimination Policy - Vassar College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religious belief or expression, sex, marital status, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, veteran status, or age in the admission of students to the college or to any of the rights, privileges, programs, access, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the college; or in the administration of its educational policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other programs administered by the college. This policy of nondiscrimination extends to the employment practices of the college with respect to students, as well as all other employees.

Inquiries concerning policies regarding students with disabilities should be addressed to the director of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity, as well as the dean of studies. (See also Section II.A below). Questions concerning alleged discrimination or harassment involving faculty should be addressed to the faculty director of affirmative action.

I. OFFICE FOR ACCESSIBILITY AND EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY

A. Role of Advisers

Every Vassar faculty member has a responsibility to the college to participate in both general and departmental advising. At Vassar, the traditional role of the faculty adviser is that of educator rather than overseer—as an informed consultant, not a director of students’ academic programs. In this relationship, both students and faculty have clear responsibilities. Students are expected to take the initiative in seeking advice from members of the faculty. They are responsible for keeping advisers informed about their academic progress and for seeking the approval of the adviser when planning or changing programs of study. In signing the various special forms—the field of concentration card; the pre-registration, registration and change of registration form; the non recorded option form; the Correlate Sequence declaration form; and any petitions to the Committee on Leaves and Privileges—advisers act for the college in stipulating both that the student’s program is in accord with faculty legislation and that the student is making orderly progress towards the degree. Thus, in addition to knowledge of the general and specific curricular elements set forth in the Catalogue, the Advisor’s Handbook, and the Schedule of Classes, faculty advisers should be familiar with a student’s academic record and plan of study. All advisers have electronic access to their advisees’ records as well as copies of any correspondence from the relevant faculty committees concerning their advisees’ academic progress.

The advising system is under the general supervision of the dean of studies and the dean of first-year students.
B. Pre-Major Advisers

The pre-major adviser is an experienced member of the faculty or occasionally the administration who has been asked to serve as a general adviser to no more than 12 students from the time of their arrival at Vassar until they declare a field of concentration or are admitted into the independent program. The main duties of the pre-major adviser are to help the student plan a program for the freshman year, to be available for consultation throughout the course of the year and, if the student has not declared a field of concentration, to help in the planning for the sophomore year in the spring. The pre-major adviser is continued in the sophomore year until a concentration is declared. When questions or problems outside an adviser’s field of general competence arise, an important part of the pre-major adviser’s job is to refer students to other resources, including faculty members of other departments and programs, the learning and teaching center, the counseling service, the Office of Community-Engaged Learning, pre-professional advisers and the deans’ offices.

At a required meeting before the freshman arrive; all pre-major advisers receive the names of their advisees along with their high school records and entrance scores. Most students will have pre-registered by mail before arriving on campus. Advisers will have individual appointments with each of their advisees before final registration, at which time they will plan the first semester’s work and discuss future academic goals. Advisers should at this point be certain that each student’s plan includes at least the one required semester of work in a Freshmen Writing Seminar. They should also remind students of the college’s requirement of a one-semester course in quantitative analysis to be taken during the first two years of study and the foreign language basic proficiency requirement. Advisers should be prepared to discuss the student’s interests and needs, strengths and weaknesses as reflected in the high school records, tests and entrance scores, and possible plans for a field of concentration and a vocation. In general, freshmen should be advised not to limit their course selections too narrowly and to plan ahead by electing prerequisites for upper-level courses in which they are interested. A general plan of learning should be discussed which may reflect several interests. Whenever possible, alternative plans should be considered, so that focus upon a single crucial course or sequence is lessened. Freshmen will register immediately after these conferences. It may be necessary to see advisees a number of times in the first two weeks of classes before their programs are settled for the term; thereafter, the frequency of meetings is determined by the needs of the student and the inclination of the adviser. All changes in freshmen programs must have the approval of the adviser.

C. Election and Change of Concentration

A student may elect a major field of concentration or curricular program at any time until the end of the second year of study or the mid-point of their work in the college by filing the appropriate form with the Registrar.

A student may change major field or curricular program in the junior year with the permission of the new department or program and the dean of studies. This change must be filed with the registrar.

D. The Departmental Adviser

A student who has declared a field of concentration is assigned a departmental or program adviser by the chair of the department or program concerned or by the chair of advisers in that department or program. This adviser is responsible for giving general advice to advisees about the structure of the major program, the various alternatives available for meeting major requirements, recommended courses in allied fields, and so on. The adviser assists the student in drawing up the four-year program on the field of concentration card. Three copies are signed by the adviser; one is kept for the department, one is filed with the dean of studies office, and the other is kept by the student. Each copy should be revised by the student in consultation with the departmental adviser as subsequent course changes modify the original plan. Although students are primarily responsible for their own programs, the adviser must also make sure that the student is meeting the curricular requirements of the department or program and of the college. Particular attention should be paid to the 50% maximum in the field of concentration, the 25% minimum outside the division of concentration, the 4 unit NRO maximum, the 5 unit ungraded maximum.

Any changes after a student has registered must be approved by the adviser before the change can be made. “Drop/Add” forms from the Office of the Registrar require the signature of the adviser.

The pre-major adviser helps to relate the overall curricular opportunities of the college to the individual student; the departmental or program adviser serves to interpret the more specialized curricula of departments or programs to the student in order to develop a broad but individualized program. Both advisers should also aid the student in pursuing a comprehensive program in liberal education.

E. The Independent Program Adviser

Any member of the faculty may serve as an adviser in the Independent Program. Each student wishing to enter this program meets with the director of the independent program and then designs a course of study in consultation with a member of the faculty who will agree to serve as the student’s adviser. In most cases it is preferable, in the judgment of the student and the committee, that the student have more than one adviser. The advisers must approve the student’s written program proposal and the student’s field of concentration card by signing both of them before they are submitted to the Faculty Committee on the Independent Program for its approval. The committee will approve the advisers, or recommend alternatives if appropriate. Upon acceptance by the committee, advisers assume the responsibility of advising students until they graduate. All changes in the program must also be approved by the committee. As is the case with other students, permission for academic leaves or general academic privileges for students in the Independent Program is granted by the Committee on Leaves and Privileges. Advisers are responsible for overseeing a student’s fulfillment of not only the requirements of the Independent Program, but also those other requirements necessary to obtain the Vassar degree. These include: 34 units, no more than 17 units in the courses of any one department, 8 1/2 units in courses outside the curricular division in which most of the student’s work is concentrated, and the college’s requirements on residence, NRO, ungraded work and transfer credit. It is, of course, also the responsibility of the student to formulate and follow a program of study that meets these requirements.

In the senior year the student designs a senior project in consultation with the advisers. The written proposal for the senior project, approved and signed by the advisers, must then be submitted to the Independent Program Committee for approval. The advisers supervise the work on this project and grade it upon its completion.

The acceptance of a student into the independent program and the student’s success within this program should result from the cooperation of the student, the advisers, and the committee. It is, quite naturally, the student who is most responsible for the definition of a program and its fulfillment. But the student must have guidance and advice and advisers have a major role in establishing and maintaining the quality of the student’s program.
For further information the adviser should consult the “Requirements, Guidelines, and Procedures” issued by the Committee on the Independent Program, which is available in the Independent Program Office.

F. Correlate Sequence Advising

Each department and program offering a correlate sequence specifies in the Catalogue the requirements and the procedure for declaration. Ordinarily, students should begin by consulting the department or program chair. Students will then often be assigned to a particular faculty member for further guidance.

G. Advising of Students in Special Categories

1. Transfer Students

Each transfer student meets with one of the class deans on arrival at the college. Students wishing to enter the Independent Program will be referred to an adviser in the dean of studies office and to faculty members who might be willing to serve as advisers; they should also consult with the director of the independent program. Sophomores and juniors will be referred to departmental or program advisers whenever possible.

Departmental advisers who encounter special problems regarding transfer students are urged to send the students to the Office of the Dean of Studies for advice. A frequent question is that of transfer or credit from other institutions. Determinations of which courses and how much credit can be transferred to Vassar are made by the assistant to the dean of studies. No more than 17 units from other schools is allowed. Questions about the suitability of courses at other institutions as prerequisites for upper-level courses at Vassar must be answered by the department involved.

2. Exchange and Visiting Students

The dean of studies office advises both Vassar students who wish to go on an exchange program and students from other colleges who are at Vassar as exchange or visiting students. The program of a Vassar student wishing to go on exchange or academic leave must have the approval of the student’s academic adviser and the Committee on Leaves and Privileges.

3. Special Students

Students who are not matriculated at Vassar are advised by the adviser to special students in the Office of the Dean of Studies. Special students are referred to appropriate departmental advisers as necessary.

H. Advising for Special Programs

1. Teacher Preparation

Students with a special interest in certification for pre-school and elementary teaching grades should consult the director of elementary education in the education department. For secondary school teaching in English, languages, social sciences, mathematics and natural sciences, students should consult the director of secondary education. The two programs of study vary and each area has distinct requirements that must be met to obtain New York State
2. Junior Year Abroad

Students wishing to study abroad on Vassar College programs, approved programs of other colleges, or universities, or independently should consult the assistant dean of studies/director of international programs to discuss their plans. They should first, however, become familiar with the written material for study abroad available in the reading room of the Office of the Dean of Studies. In general, they should discuss the possibilities with their departmental advisers and then make application by the announced deadline at the end of the first semester. Students should begin planning for study abroad during the freshmen year and should be aware of language requirements and the dates of mandatory informational meetings during the fall semester.

The Hispanic Studies, French, and Italian departments, and the Africana Studies Program support Vassar study abroad programs in Madrid, Paris, Bologna, and St. Petersburg, respectively. A faculty member of each department or program serves as Vassar liaison with these programs. This faculty member should be consulted by students wishing to apply for this program. The student should also consult the assistant dean of studies/director of international programs and follow the same procedure as other students wishing to spend the year abroad.

Sophomores must declare a field of concentration and work out a major program before submitting an application for Junior Year Abroad. Students considering an Independent Major are advised to begin this process early.

3. Self-Instructional Language Program

Any student wishing to study the self-instructed languages offered at Vassar on tape should consult the faculty member in charge of the program. The languages offered are subject to change.

4. Community-Engaged Learning (Field Work)

Community-Engaged Learning makes it possible for students to examine the way the theories and the practical experiences of a particular discipline interact. It provides opportunities for observation and participation which are not available in the classroom. Depending on their academic interests, students are placed in a variety of organizations and agencies in the local community and elsewhere. The general supervision of Community-Engaged Learning rests with the Community-Engaged Learning Committee, a subcommittee of the Committee on Curricular Policy. Although the Community-Engaged Learning staff provides students with information about opportunities for Community Engaged Learning and supervises placements, it is the individual student’s faculty Community-Engaged Learning adviser who evaluates the merit of the proposed Community-Engaged Learning and decides upon the academic requirements for the awarding of credit.

Faculty should only sponsor Community-Engaged Learning that seems to them to have significant academic value. Unless the Community-Engaged Learning experience is part of a well-defined semester-away program or will be qualitatively different from work previously done in the placement, students receive no more than one unit of credit for the same placement. To receive 1/2 unit of credit, the student is expected to complete at least 40 hours of experiential work and complete at least 30 hours of academic work; to receive one unit of credit, the student is expected to complete at least 80 hours of experiential work and 60 hours of academic work.

Faculty members supervising Community-Engaged Learning projects assume responsibility for the following:

• To assess how the Community-Engaged Learning placement will contribute to the student’s academic program and whether the student’s academic background will enable them to learn from the experience. Generally, Community-Engaged Learning students have prerequisites or co-requisites in the faculty member’s department.

• To assist the student in developing an academic framework for the field experience, which normally will include an appropriate bibliography and a written statement from the student outlining the intellectual purpose of the Community-Engaged Learning placement.

• To require certain academic work to be completed by the student in order to receive Community-Engaged Learning credit. This work includes, at a minimum:

  a) Regular maintenance of a journal recording field experiences.

  b) Periodic conferences in which the faculty supervisor and student meet to discuss the field experience and its relationship to other components of the Community-Engaged Learning project.

  c) A final “integrative exercise” that requires students to reflect on the field experience and its contribution to their education, such as a written or oral report or paper integrating the field observations with theory, readings, or additional research.

  d) (Individual departments, programs, and faculty members are free to impose additional requirements as appropriate.)

To evaluate the student’s performance, taking into consideration not only the student’s academic work but also the organization’s evaluation of the student. Since a major component of Community-Engaged Learning is the experience in the field, students do not receive credit based solely on their academic work (this distinguishes Community-Engaged Learning from Independent Study). Community-Engaged Learning is graded Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory.

The same basic criteria apply to summer Community-Engaged Learning. Although periodic conferences to discuss the field experience need not be held during the summer, faculty members should see that provisions are made for what they consider to be adequate consultation between supervisor and student. Credit is not given for placements of less than six weeks and normally does not exceed one unit. Because of the importance of student-supervisor consultation and of establishing an academic framework for the field experience, students must consult with their supervisors and register for summer Community-Engaged Learning by June 1. Only in exceptional cases will students be permitted to register after this date. Students wishing to do Community-Engaged Learning for credit or volunteer work in the community should be referred to the Director of Community-Engaged Learning.

5. Pre-Medical Preparation

Students who are considering going to medical school should be referred to the Pre-Medical Advisory Committee at the earliest opportunity. An assistant in the Dean of Studies office serves as liaison to the committee.

6. Pre-Law

Students wishing more information on the requirements of law schools or who have questions about the best preparation for law school should be referred to the pre-law advisor in the dean of studies office.

I. Resources for Advisers

The dean of studies, the dean of first-year students, class advisers, the director of disability services, the adviser to special students and the director of the ALANA Center stand ready to advise advisers whenever necessary. In addition, the staff of the learning and teaching center can be of great help with students who are experiencing difficulties due to slow reading, poor mathematical preparation, inadequate comprehension, or poor study and writing skills.
II. DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS AND SUPPORT SERVICES POLICY

Vassar College is committed to providing individuals with disabilities equal access to the academic courses, programs and activities of the college. In accordance with the provisions of Section 504 of Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 2008, the college strives in its policies and practices to assure not only nondiscrimination but to provide for the full participation of individuals with disabilities in all aspects of college life. In support of this mission, the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity provides services to self-identified students with disabilities. The Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity also provides assistance in identifying appropriate support and accommodations in the work environment for faculty and staff. The Americans with Disabilities Act defines a disability as a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities. These may include, but are not limited to, sensory loss, mobility and orthopedic challenges, chronic medical conditions, learning disorders, and psychological or emotional disorders.

A. The Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity

The role of the Director of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity is to evaluate requests for accommodations and services based on the needs of self-identified students, faculty or staff members with disabilities, and to coordinate accommodations, auxiliary aids and services with appropriate college personnel. To ensure the provision of reasonable and effective accommodations, individuals must provide documentation of their disability or disabilities by an appropriate professional. Individuals with disabilities must also provide the Director of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity sufficient time to evaluate the request, to determine the appropriate course of action, and to implement appropriate accommodations and support services.

While the accommodation preference of the individual with the disability will be taken into consideration, Vassar College is not required to provide the preferred accommodation as long as the alternative accommodation is reasonable, effective and provides equal access. Vassar College is not responsible for providing services of a personal nature, or for providing prescribed devices or services. Because college and departmental requirements are implemented for sound pedagogic and academic reasons, it is not the policy of the college to waive requirements. Students in need of modifications to their academic program may petition the Committee on Leaves and Privileges, in consultation with the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity, for academic modifications.

Requests for accommodations and auxiliary aids and services involve evaluation of the following criteria by the Director of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity and other Vassar faculty, administration, or staff, as appropriate:

1. whether the person meets the criteria for being otherwise qualified as an individual with a disability under the ADA and Section 504;

2. whether the disability is appropriately documented in writing by a qualified professional. The amount and type of required documentation will be based upon the nature of the disability and the nature and duration of the requested accommodation;

3. whether the requested accommodation or support service is appropriate to the needs of the person with the disability and appropriate for the academic course, program, activity or work environment;

4. whether the student, faculty or staff member will have equal access or opportunity without the accommodation or support service;
5. whether the accommodation will fundamentally alter the academic course, program, or essential requirements of the job;

1. whether an alternate accommodation or academic modification could be implemented to provide equal access and opportunity.

ADA ACCOMMODATIONS FOR EMPLOYEES

The Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments (ADAA 2008) mandates employers to make workplace accommodations as requested by the qualified employee and supported by medical documentation, when requested. The ADA requires that the employer make reasonable accommodations in order for the employee to perform the essential job functions unless the modification causes undue hardship to the employer.

TERMS*

Qualified Employee – an individual who satisfies the skill, experience, education and other job related requirements of the position held and can perform the “essential job functions” of the position, with or without accommodation.

Reasonable Accommodation – a modification or adjustment to a job, the work or the environment or the way things are usually done that enables a qualified individual employee with a disability to attain the same level of performance, enjoy the benefits and privileges of employment available to a similarly situated employee without a disability. Reasonableness is determined by the resources of the total institution. Reasonableness does not include removing essential job duties, creating new jobs or providing personal needs items (i.e. eye glasses or mobility aids).

Essential Job Functions – those tasks that are required by the job established in the job description/advertisement or by contract.

Undue Hardship – the modifications requested are so significantly difficult, are overly extensive or disruptive or could adversely impact the actual running of the institution.

*Source: U.S. Dept. of Labor

PROCESS FOR EMPLOYEES WHO NEED ACCOMMODATIONS

1. Contact the Office of Human Resources, Manager of Leaves/Wellness to request an accommodation.
2. Manager will schedule a meeting to discuss the desired accommodation with the employee. Manager may ask for medical documentation of disability and suggested accommodation. The ADA allows employers to request medical documentation to establish that the employee has an ADA disability, to show the employee needs the requested accommodations and to help determine effective accommodation options.
3. Manager reviews requested accommodation w/AVP of HR.
4. Manager and/or AVP of Human Resources consults with Director of Accessibility and/or Dept. Head or Dean of Faculty (for faculty requests) as appropriate regarding the accommodation request.
5. Manager consults with Facilities Operations as appropriate.
6. Manager responds to the employee as promptly as possible verbally and follows up with written documentation.
7. Manager contacts employee to follow up if accommodations are satisfactory or additional steps are necessary.
B. Confidentiality

Individuals with disabilities are entitled to privacy and discretion in the handling of all disability-related information. Disability-related information provided to the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity will be used solely for the purpose of enabling Vassar to provide services related to the individual’s disability. Information on disabilities is collected and maintained separately from other academic or employment information and is kept in secure files with limited access. Disability documentation is not considered a part of a student’s permanent academic record or of an employee’s personnel file. It is the policy of the college to maintain confidentiality in all informal and formal proceedings, except as otherwise specified in these statements of procedure.

C. Appeals

Vassar College has adopted an internal appeals process for the prompt and equitable resolution of complaints or disagreements about accessibility, accommodations, auxiliary aids and services, and modifications to academic courses, programs, and activities. In addition, recourse can be sought through the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), the Office of Civil Rights (OCR), the State Division of Human Rights, or the Courts. State and Federal statutes of limitations are typically 180 days.

The faculty director of affirmative action has been designated to coordinate the college’s compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 2008 and with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. The Office handles inquiries about compliance, and investigates complaints of disagreements or denials of disability-related accommodations and auxiliary aids and services.

If an individual feels that an accommodation, modification, or auxiliary aid or service is not appropriate, reasonable or effective, the individual may file a petition for appeal with the faculty director of affirmative action. If the faculty director of affirmative action for any reason of conflict of interest, illness, or prolonged absence is unable to carry out the faculty director’s responsibilities, a designee shall be appointed by the president of the College.

The ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee shall consist of the faculty director of affirmative action, who shall serve as Chair, an appointed member of the faculty, and an appointed member of the Committee on Disabilities Issues (CODI). If at any time, the student, faculty or staff member requires an accommodation to participate in the appeals process, the individual must communicate that need to the faculty director of affirmative action.

D. Filing an Appeal

1. Where to file a petition for appeal

The petition for appeal should be filed with faculty director of affirmative action.

2. When to file

The petition for appeal should be filed within 30 days of the date of the decision by the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity. Time periods may be extended if the individual has good reason, as determined by the faculty director of affirmative action. Whenever time deadlines or procedures set forth in the appeals process create problems owing to the nature of the complaint, the urgency of the matter, or the proximity of the upcoming event or program, the Director of Affirmative Action, in consultation with the petitioner, will determine whether an expedited appeals procedure can be fashioned.

Upon receipt of a petition, the faculty director of affirmative action will review the petition for appropriateness and timeliness. The faculty director of affirmative action will provide the petitioner with written notice of receipt of the petition within 5 working days, and advise the petitioner of the college’s appeals policy and procedures for disability accommodations and services.

3. What to file
The petition must be signed, dated and include the following:

a. the person’s name, address, phone number, and employment or academic status;

b. a description of the accommodations, if any, that were proposed by the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity with an explanation of why such a proposal or provision is insufficient;

c. if appropriate, a description of the preferred accommodation, modification, or auxiliary aid or service, and how the accommodation would provide equal access to the academic course, program, or activity.

E. Reviews and Decisions of Appeals

The ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee will conduct a review of the petition for appeal. In undertaking this review, the ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee will examine the written evidence provided by the petitioner. The Committee will then interview, consult with, or request written evidence from, any individual the ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee believes to have information relevant to the issues raised in the petition.

The ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee will render a decision on whether the proposed accommodation is adequate or inadequate within fifteen working days of the receipt of the petition. The decision by the ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee will be communicated in writing by the Chair with a copy provided to the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity and other appropriate college staff.

If the proposed accommodation is deemed by the ADA/Section 504 Appeals Committee to be inadequate, the case is remanded to the appropriate college committee, administrator, faculty or staff, who, in consultation with the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity, will then seek a new accommodation or support service that is reasonable, appropriate and effective.

If there is an agreement during the review process between Vassar College and the petitioner to retain the original accommodation or auxiliary aid or service or change to another accommodation, the Chair will prepare a written memorandum of agreement to be signed by the individual and appropriate college administrators, faculty, or staff.

Once the appeal has been settled, the Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity, administrator, faculty, or staff, as appropriate, will then impose or initiate proceedings for implementing the accommodation or support service.

(Approved by the faculty April 21, 1999)
III. CONDUCT OF CLASSES

Instructors are expected to provide a written syllabus at the first meeting of each class. Dates for examinations, papers, and other required work, grading policies, and office hours should be specified. Planned faculty absences from a scheduled class must be approved by the department chair and arrangements made to cover the class whenever possible. Missed classes must ordinarily be rescheduled, but in such a case attendance cannot be required. Longer absences (more than two days) must be approved by the dean of the faculty. It is particularly important that instructors be present at the first and last meetings of a class and during study week and final examinations.

A. Drop/Add and Late Change of Elections

Students pre-register for classes at the end of the preceding semester or during the summer. The first two weeks of classes is an add period during which students may add new courses. Add forms require an adviser’s signature and election of a new course requires the signature of the instructor. Students are responsible for work they may have missed if they join the class late.

After the first two weeks of the term, no additional elections may be made except with the permission of the instructor and the dean of studies or the appropriate class adviser in the dean’s office.

A student may drop a course during the first six weeks of classes, but only if still enrolled for a minimum of 3.5 units. Abandoning a course after the sixth week will result in a failing grade, unless permission is given by the dean of studies or the appropriate class adviser in the dean’s office to withdraw without penalty for reasons of health or other serious emergency.

B. Scheduling of Classes

The schedule of classes is administered by the Registrar. No change may be made in the regular schedule of a course except as arranged through the Registrar. Attendance at extra or unscheduled class meetings and at review or drill sessions must be entirely optional. Changes in class location must also be arranged through the Registrar. Classes cannot be scheduled on Saturdays or Sundays.

C. Class Attendance

Vassar does not have a system of specified “cuts” or automatic penalties for poor class attendance, though individual instructors or departments may adopt such a policy. The student bears the full responsibility for class attendance, for completing work on schedule, and, if allowed, for making up work missed because of absence.

Members of the faculty must explain to their classes at the first meeting of each course their expectations as to attendance and the place of attendance and class participation in the method of instruction and in final evaluation. This information should appear on the course syllabus.

Instructors are not expected to take class attendance. However, a faculty member who is aware of a student’s absence from class for a period of a week or more should notify the Office of the Dean of Studies or the Dean of First-Year Students. These offices will furnish information to faculty members about students who are absent from college or who have prolonged illness when this information is available. Departments will receive notices regarding students who are prevented from attending classes for extended periods because of illness or other emergency. Faculty are expected to make appropriate allowances for excused absences, including observance of religious holy days.

At the beginning of a semester, students who have failed to attend the first two scheduled meetings of a class without a reasonable excuse may be dropped from the class by the instructor upon notification to the Registrar. Subsequently, instructors may, with the approval of the dean of studies, refuse a student who has cut frequently without a reasonable excuse the opportunity to make up work or to take the final examination, or may exclude the student from the course. In such cases, students are not to be graded according to the work they have completed, but have, in effect, failed the course.

D. Written Work and Indication of Academic Status

Students in introductory and intermediate level courses should have submitted and have had returned to them some written work and should receive some indication of academic progress by the mid-point of the semester. This is particularly important in view of the deadline for the drop period and NRO election and should occur before that date (usually at the end of the sixth week of classes).

All written work except “Final Exercises” should be due no later than the end of the study period. This includes “term papers” and other longer comprehensive course projects. Exceptions to this rule are by approval of the dean of studies.

E. Office Hours

It is college policy that office hours of faculty members must be posted, and must be given to the department or program secretary. Scheduled hours when faculty members are regularly available to students are important at all times during the year, but especially necessary during the advising season and during the study and examination periods at the end of term. Faculty have an obligation to be available to meet the reasonable needs of students to discuss course material and performance.

F. Conferences

Instructors are requested to confer with freshmen before Thanksgiving and spring vacation, as well as with all other students whose work is unsatisfactory. The purpose of faculty conferences is to point up ways of improving study habits and approach to the subject rather than to tutor the students.

G. Course Evaluations

Course Evaluations must be administered by the end of the course. For best practices, instructors should refer to the evaluation instructions. Students be given sufficient time to complete the forms, and the instructor should not be present in the classroom. Instructors should avoid the appearance of improperly influencing student responses.

If the instructor of a course has missed fewer than 25% of course meetings, evaluations will be administered. If an instructor has missed 25% of course meetings or more because of parental, FMLA, health or other official leaves, as approved by the required channels (usually the Dean of the Faculty), evaluations will not be administered unless the faculty member requests otherwise. Substituting instructors will not receive evaluations unless they have taught at least half of the course and have requested evaluations to be administered. A request for evaluation by a substituting instructor must be given to the Chair or Director (at least two weeks prior to the final class meeting. Any irregularities may be addressed in the narrative teaching statement submitted as part of the faculty member’s review materials.
H. Tutoring

Faculty members may not tutor a member of the student body for pay during the academic year and academic interns may not tutor in work in which they examine. Faculty members may not tutor for pay during the summer vacation if the instruction is in work which they will later examine.

I. Field Trips and Observation Trips

Observation trips to factories, museums and elsewhere are sometimes planned in connection with courses. So far as possible, trips are arranged to avoid conflicting with scheduled classes. If it is necessary to plan such trips at times which involve conflicts with scheduled classes, students with conflicts are not required to take the trip; if they do so, they are expected to secure permission from the instructor of any regularly scheduled class which will be missed. Instructors are under no obligation to grant such permission.

Instructors who would like financial assistance with such trips may apply for funds with the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

J. Participation in Athletics Events

To the degree possible, competitive athletics events—games, meets, tournaments etc.—are scheduled for times which do not conflict with classes. Given the complexities of scheduling and the distances involved, however, it is not always possible to avoid conflicts. The Athletics Director has established the policy that students’ academic appointments and commitments are their first priority. In some instances, however, students may seek permission to rearrange an academic commitment to allow participation in a scheduled athletics event. Faculty members are asked to accommodate such requests if possible.

K. Submission of Papers

From time to time, misunderstandings arise because of missing work or the loss of reports, papers or other written work. It is the instructor’s responsibility to be specific about time and means of delivery. It is the student’s responsibility to comply with the specified delivery instructions.

L. Integrity of Academic Work: Plagiarism

In the College Regulations students are told that, in signing the matriculation pledge, they assume the responsibility for the integrity of their academic work. Entering students are given the pamphlet Going to the Source which contains detailed discussions of the requirements of academic honesty. It is recommended that instructors of freshmen and other first-year courses review the standards of attribution with their students in class.

At Vassar a joint faculty-student committee, the Academic Panel, chaired by the dean of studies, hears cases of suspected academic dishonesty. Any instructor who, on the basis of evidence, believes a student is guilty of an act of academic dishonesty must consult the dean of studies, who will summon the panel when, in the dean’s estimation, the evidence is such that a case should be tried. It is of the utmost importance that faculty members call suspected offenders to the attention of the dean of studies and not deal with them themselves. They do not have the authority to do so. The faculty has established the Academic Panel (consisting of both student and faculty members) to deal evenly with academic offenses, and published due process is interfered with when faculty members do not take the responsibility of promptly reporting cases to the dean of studies.

The procedures of the Academic Panel are as follows: The faculty member making the complaint shall prepare a written statement of the charge and shall give the dean of studies all relevant material. The dean shall confer with the student and inform them of the charge, of the time and place of the panel meeting, and of the procedures followed by the panel. The student may request to be accompanied by a member of the college community. The members of the panel shall be notified in advance of the identity of the student involved, and any panel member who feels incapable of giving the case unprejudiced consideration may ask to be excused. At the beginning of the hearing, the chair shall read the written charge to the defendant and the panel. The defendant shall plead guilty or not guilty and shall have the opportunity to make a statement and to explain any mitigating circumstances. The panel shall have an opportunity to question both the defendant and the faculty member who made the allegation, after which the panel shall determine by majority vote whether it considers the defendant guilty, and if so, what penalty to impose. The chair shall vote to break a tie only on matters of penalties for students found guilty by the Academic Panel. Restrictions governing penalties are provided in the College Regulations under “The Regulations of Vassar College”, Part A, Section I.D.

IV. FINAL EXAMINATIONS

Instructors must be sure that they understand the examination system themselves; they are responsible for explaining it to students, especially to freshmen.

In general, all courses at Vassar must be “examined” by some sort of written work. This “examination” may consist of written work during the term or of a final exercise. There are four types of final exercise:

A. Types of Examinations

1. Regularly Scheduled Examinations

   Departments request that certain courses be included in the examination schedule prepared by the Registrar. The examinations are assigned to one of fourteen time periods during the examination period at the end of the term. Once a course has been assigned to a time period, it may not be changed by the department or the instructor without the permission of the Registrar or the dean of studies. Grades are due in the Registrar’s office no later than seventy-two hours after the exam.

2. Self-Scheduled Examinations

   Self-scheduled examinations may be taken by the student during specified daily hours from the beginning of the study period until the end of the first three days of scheduled exams. Specific classrooms are designated by the Registrar for this purpose. Examinations are picked up and returned to departmental or program offices during regular hours. Grades are due no later than 72 hours after the fourth day of the examination period.

3. Take-home Examinations

   Take-home examinations may be assigned any time after the last day of classes. A take-home final should be recognized as a final examination and not a term paper. It is due no later than the end of the third day of the exam period and should not be a research paper. All parties should keep in mind that it replaces a two-hour scheduled examination. Grades are due no later than 72 hours after the fourth day of the exam period.

4. Paper in Lieu of Examination

This exercise should not be confused with the final of a series of papers in a course or with the course term paper or final project. It is, rather, a short paper which replaces a final exam. Thus, the assignment should require no more time, in preparation and execution, than such an examination. It is assigned during the last week of classes and due no later than the end of the third day of the exam period.

B. Announcement and Changes of Final Examination

By faculty legislation, all instructors must announce to each class within the first week of the term whether they will be offering final examinations on a regular, self-scheduled, or take-home basis, a paper in lieu of an examination, or no final examination. The Registrar and the Dean of Studies will issue supplementary instructions about the conduct of self-scheduled examinations.

Instructors should be sure they have notified their students fully of their plans for final examinations and should include them in the course syllabus. Plans may not be changed once announced, except in an emergency and only with the permission of the dean of studies.

A student having three or more regularly scheduled final examinations occurring in three consecutive examination periods or having two exams scheduled at the same time, may request that the dean of studies office arrange to reschedule one of them. The dean or class adviser will determine, in consultation with the instructors involved, which examination will be rescheduled and what the new date of the examination will be.

Instructors are not permitted to give special final examinations to individual students except by permission of the dean’s office. The dean of studies and the dean of first-year students are available for consultation about examination problems.

C. Conduct of Final Examinations

Members of the faculty are urged to contribute as fully as possible to making conditions in the examination room conducive to quiet, good order and honorable methods of work. The students are expected to maintain the integrity of their own work. Instructors should, for regularly scheduled examinations, be available in case of need, such as undue noise, illness, late arrival of students or other emergency. Students are expected to be seated in alternate seats during examinations. They are permitted to take into the examination room only such materials as the instructor has prescribed. Examination books in regular exams may not be taken by the students from the room; in self-scheduled exams, they are to be returned directly to the proper person by the student, according to instructions. For scratch work or trial answers, students are expected to use the back pages of the examination books. No pages should be torn out or inserted.

In regular examinations, instructors should be on hand before the end of the examination to receive the books and to check with their class lists before leaving the room to be sure that none are missing and that pages are not torn out or inserted. The instructor is responsible for securing examination books. Instructors should not leave unused examination books in locations available to students.

D. Absence, Lateness and Failure

Whenever possible, instructors are notified in advance when a student is expected to be absent from an examination. Unexpected absences should be immediately reported by instructors to the Office of the Dean of Studies. It is important for instructors to observe this regulation so that, if warranted, arrangements may be made for make-up of work not completed.

Absence from examinations at the scheduled time is excused only by the appropriate dean and only for illness or serious emergency. After the dean confers with the student and determines that an “Incomplete” is necessary, an Incomplete form is issued with copies to the instructor, the Registrar and the student. A student who misses any examination because of illness at home must secure appropriate medical documentation.

Before submitting a grade for a student whose absence remains unexplained, the instructor should consult the Office of the Dean of Studies about the student’s status. Only the dean’s office may issue an Incomplete.

A student whose absence is not to be excused receives an F in the final examination. The grade for the course as a whole is determined by the instructor.

No examinations are given in the Infirmary except when authorized by the college Physician through the Office of the Dean of Studies. Such permission is given only in exceptional cases when students are no longer seriously ill but are still infectious or have an injury that confines them to the Infirmary.

A student who comes late to a final examination while it is still in session may be allowed, at the discretion of the instructor, to take the examination.

A student taking either a self-scheduled or a scheduled examination after the regular period will be given a new examination.

Seniors who fail a course examination at the end of the second semester may be permitted by the department, after consultation with the dean of studies, to take a re-examination before Commencement, if they fail in only one course. If they fail two examinations, they must, except in unusual circumstances, wait until September to take the re-examinations, with the approval of the departments concerned and the dean of studies.

Examination books should be kept for one year in case of dispute over grades. After that period, they may be returned to students, at the instructor’s discretion.

The rules of conduct for examinations which are not final examinations, as well as exceptions from these rules, may follow the above principles. They are, however, established and administered by the individual instructor or, in some cases, by departmental legislation.

In planning courses, instructors are asked to take note of these days so that examinations will not be held or major assignments will not fall due on them. Students should be told at the beginning of each term that although classes may be conducted on these days, absence for reasons of religious observance is not to be penalized. However, students who intend to be absent in order to observe these holy days – or other holy days not listed here – are expected to notify their instructors in advance of their absence and to arrange to make up any work missed.

Instructors who elect not to teach on any holy days should inform their chair and notify their students at the beginning of the term. They should arrange for another faculty member to cover their classes if possible or plan make-up classes with their students and announce them in advance.

VI. THE GRADING SYSTEM

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
B. Ungraded Work

The terms applied to performance in ungraded work are “Pass with Distinction” (DS), “Satisfactory” (SA), and “Unsatisfactory” (UN). “Pass with Distinction” applies only to 298, 399, 499, 400, to 300 and 301 at the decision of the individual departments, and to certain advanced courses in Education. “Satisfactory” is defined as work that is C or above. “Unsatisfactory” means work of below C in quality. No credit toward the degree is offered for work with this evaluation.

C. The Non-recorded Option (NRO)

The purpose of this option is to allow students to explore areas of the curriculum in which they may feel less well-prepared or which may be entirely new to them without the pressure of precise, graded evaluation. Instructors, or sometimes departments, determine whether a course will or will not be offered with the non-recorded option. Once established, a course’s designation may not be changed during the term in which it is being offered.

Departmental stipulations for the exercise of this option appear in the Schedule of Classes. Courses in a student’s concentration may not be taken NRO after declaration of the major. In courses designated in the Schedule of Classes as being offered under the non-recorded option, students may file a form with the Registrar, by the mid-point of the semester, indicating the lowest grade they wish recorded on their permanent record for the course. If the grade submitted by the instructor at the end of term is at or above the designated level, it is recorded and if it is below that level but still passing (not F), a grade of PA is placed on the student’s record. If the student fails the course, a grade of F is recorded.

A student may elect a maximum of 4 units of work under the non-recorded option. A course elected under the non-recorded option for which a grade is in fact received nonetheless counts as part of this “4 unit” limit. For students this limit is reduced by 1 unit for each year of Advanced Standing awarded to the student.

D. Miscellaneous Grades

| WP     | Withdrawn Passing is a grade assigned by the Registrar to those students who successfully completed the first semester and subsequently withdrew from a full year course. This grade yields no credit and bears no penalty. |
| WD     | Withdrawn Without Penalty is a grade assigned by the Registrar to those students who have withdrawn from course with the permission of the dean’s office after the drop period. This grade yields no credit and bears no penalty. |
| NG     | No Grade is a notation for all non-credit courses, such as music performance. |

E. Incomplete Grades

| NA     | Not Available is a notation for special cases where, with the permission of the dean’s office, and in consultation with the instructor, an “Extension” is granted and an individual grade is delayed. Extensions may be granted only by the dean’s office and | allow students a short period of additional time beyond the schedule due date in which to complete their work.

An NA may also be given by a department at the end of the first semester in certain Senior Work (300, 301) when the work has not yet been completed. A grade of NA may not be recorded without the permission of the dean of studies office.

IN (Incomplete) indicates a deferred (excused) examination or work not completed for reasons of health or serious emergency. Grades of Incomplete are granted only by the dean of studies, the dean of first-year students, or the Advisors to Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores. The instructor, department chair, or college Physician may be consulted as appropriate. Work must be completed by May 1 of the following year in the case of a first semester Incomplete, or October 1 of the same year in the case of a second semester Incomplete. If the work is not completed, the final grade for the course may become an F. No extensions may be granted other than by the appropriate person in the dean’s office. All grades for Incompletes must be submitted no later than two weeks after the due date for such work.

F. Provisional Grades

A department may offer provisional grades for a-b and a/b courses, provided that the Registrar and the students are notified of this intention at the beginning of the academic year. For the student electing both terms of such a course, the final grade received at the end of the year automatically becomes the grade that will be recorded on the student’s transcript for both the first and second semesters. For the student who elects only the a-term of a provisionally graded a/b course, the first semester grade is final.

G. Course Grades

The grade in a course must not be based on an examination alone, but must take into account the quality of the student’s work throughout the semester.

H. Grade Average

Standing in college and the requirements for graduation are determined by dual standards, one of quality and the other of quantity.

The quality of the work is measured by the quality points and the grade average; the quantity, by the units completed. The semester and yearly grade average is the ratio of the total number of quality points received to the total number of graded units elected.

The cumulative grade point average is computed to the first decimal and appears on each copy of a student’s transcript. The final cumulative grade point average is noted on each student’s record at graduation.

Each unit with a mark of A counts 4 quality points; A-, 3.7; B+, 3.3; B, 3.0; B-, 2.7; C+, 2.3; C, 2.0; C-1.7; D+, 1.3; D, 1.0; F, 0.

I. Reporting Grades

Course grades are due the third day after the final examination is held. More time will be allowed where needed, but the Registrar’s office must be notified if the due date cannot be met.
Grades for courses with no examinations are due on the first day of the examination period. When an Extension has been granted by the dean of studies office, after consultation with the instructor, the grade may be reported at a later date. In the meantime, an NA is entered for that course.

In the case of senior grades at the end of the second semester, it is imperative that instructors meet deadlines without fail.

Grades for summer work, Extensions, and Incompletes are due two weeks after the final work is due.

Academic report cards for all students receiving grades of C- and below must be submitted at the time of the submission of grades for the appropriate dean to use in review with the Committee on Students’ Records.

At grade-reporting time all materials should be brought in person directly to the Registrar’s office. When the office is closed, they may be left at Message Center in Main, but should not be sent via unstamped mail. Grades should never be given to a student to deliver to the Registrar.

Instructors may not disclose course grades to students in advance of the official report from the Registrar. Students receive their grades as soon as possible after the end of first semester and after Commencement. This does not, of course, prevent instructors from returning and discussing examinations at the beginning of the second semester.

J. Change of Grades

No grade may be changed after it has been reported to the Registrar’s office unless authorized by the Dean of Studies. The dean will authorize changes only in cases of procedural, clerical or computational error and only upon receipt of written explanation of such an error. The faculty has reaffirmed the policy that instructors should be responsible for accurate marks at the time of submission. It is demoralizing to students and the faculty as a whole for individual faculty members to seek grade changes under student pressure for reconsideration. Therefore, the dean of studies will authorize a change only under extraordinary circumstances.

In cases where a grade submitted indicates an incomplete or an extension without the authorization of the dean’s office, the Registrar will record an NA and will notify the instructor of the date at which the course grade will automatically become a failing grade.

K. Academic Reports

At mid-term, instructors are expected to confer with students whose work is below C and to file an academic report card with the dean of studies office. These reports help identify and counsel students who are having academic difficulty. Academic report cards for students receiving final grades of C- or below are also required.

L. Warnings to Deficient Freshmen

Each instructor is responsible in early November for warning freshmen whose work promises to be below a grade of C and for reporting to the dean of first-year students any student who is failing or negligent in their course work. This warning should be given by a specific grade, not by comments alone. Faculty are urged to take this responsibility seriously in order to help first year students avoid academic difficulty.
M. Review by the Committee on Students’ Records

The status of all students whose academic records are unsatisfactory is reviewed periodically during the year by the Committee on Student Records on the basis of reports from each instructor, the Department of Health, the House Fellow or Resident in each house, and others who may give pertinent information. Students may be placed on probation, advised or required to take a leave of absence or withdraw, or required to change majors. Academic advisers are notified of all actions by the Committee on Student Records.

N. Academic Probation

Students who fail to maintain the required academic standards are placed on academic probation by the Committee on Student Records in order to give them another chance to prove that they are capable of remaining in college. Students are placed on probation at the end of any semester if their overall grade point average, their average in their major, or their average for that semester falls below 2.0. They remain on probation until a 2.0 average is achieved. Students who receive a grade of F or two D grades are also placed on probation.

O. Advised Withdrawal

Students who are advised at the end of a term to withdraw, but who choose to return, are warned that they will be under review at the end of the next term and therefore may be required to withdraw at the end of that semester.

P. Required Leave or Withdrawal

Before deciding to require the leave of absence or withdrawal of any student, the Committee on Student Records considers carefully full reports in each individual case. Therefore the decision of the committee is final except in cases where important new evidence is offered after the decision has been reached. In such cases, a student may appeal the decision.

Any student whose withdrawal is required has, under the Governance, recourse to the faculty members of the Academic Panel for review, upon application to the dean of studies.

Q. Continuance in College

It is the general policy of the faculty to allow a student to continue through the year, but special circumstances may make withdrawal after a semester or during the term necessary.

In June, all students on probation are reviewed by the Committee on Student Records with regard to their continuance in college. Freshmen who at the end of the year have a grade point average of 1.5 or below usually may not return the following year. Exceptions to this rule of minimum eligibility may be made by the Committee on Student Records if failure has been due to causes beyond the control of the student or if the student shows decided promise. Continuance in college for other freshmen and for sophomores and juniors whose work is below grade is determined by the Committee on Student Records. The committee may require students, if they wish to continue, to change their fields of concentration.
Students who at the end of their junior year are below graduation standard will not be allowed to return to college for their senior year unless there are circumstances involved that warrant favorable action by the committee.

VII. LEAVES OF ABSENCE AND SPECIAL ACADEMIC PRIVILEGES

A. Leaves of Absence

Students who wish a leave of absence from their work during a semester are usually granted such a leave upon demonstration of necessity to the appropriate dean or advisor in the office of the dean of studies. Registration for a student leaving during the drop period of the semester will be canceled. The records of students going on emergency leave of absence after that time indicate withdrawal without penalty (WD) from all their courses for the semester. In general, a leave of absence for a given term will not be granted to a student after the last day of classes for that term.

A student who must be absent for more than three weeks during the semester will usually be obliged to withdraw from work that term. Arrangements in such cases must be made with the dean of studies. Students who seek academic or personal leaves of absence (see Catalogue) for subsequent semesters must conform to certain deadlines which will be posted at the beginning of the academic year.

B. Committee on Leaves and Privileges

All requests for academic leaves of absence, special privilege with respect to curricular requirements, acceleration etc. should be directed to the faculty Committee on Leaves and Privileges through the office of the dean of studies. All requests for privilege must be reviewed by the adviser. Requests for academic leaves and for acceleration must be accompanied by proposed academic programs reviewed and evaluated by the adviser.

VIII. GRADUATION

Graduation depends on the student’s successful completion of all stated requirements for the degree. The determination of failure to meet the college requirements is the responsibility of the Registrar and the determination of failure to meet departmental or program requirements is the responsibility of the department or program chair. In the case of interdepartmental or multidisciplinary majors or majors in the Independent Program, all distribution and departmental requirements are the responsibility of the program. In the case of failure, an opportunity for make-up will be considered by the dean, in consultation with the Committee on Student Records and the departments and programs concerned.

A. General and Departmental Honors

By faculty legislation, general honors are granted to those graduates whose grade point averages rank them in the first 20% of the class. The Registrar determines this ranking just before commencement.

Departmental and program honors are granted according to criteria developed by the several academic departments and programs. These criteria are reviewed annually and, each spring, the academic records of nominees for departmental and program honors are reviewed by the faculty Committee on Student Records, which has responsibility for assuring their conformity with the established criteria.
B. Phi Beta Kappa

Vassar was the first women’s college to be recognized by Phi Beta Kappa and received its charter in 1898. Members are elected by the Vassar chapter each spring. The basis for selection is evidence of high distinction in an academic program that exhibits breadth and substance and in which each of the general areas of the liberal arts—arts, languages, social sciences, and natural sciences—is well represented.

C. Sigma Xi

Sigma Xi is an international honor society of scientists and engineers dedicated to recognizing scientific achievement. Founded in 1886 at Cornell University, the society was designed to award excellence in scientific research and to encourage a sense of companionship and cooperation among scientists in all fields. Sigma Xi is a non-profit membership society of approximately 75,000 scientists and engineers. Nearly 200 Sigma Xi members have won the Nobel Price.

A Sigma Xi Club was established at Vassar College in 1959 and recognized as an active chapter in 1998. In 2001, the trustees of Vassar College approved the recognition of graduating seniors as associate members of Sigma Xi based upon their research accomplishments and academic record. Vassar College is one of the few liberal arts colleges in the country where graduating seniors are bestowed the honor of associate membership in Sigma Xi.
E. GENERAL INFORMATION

I. EMERGENCY RESOURCES AND INFORMATION

IN ANY EMERGENCY, CALL EXT. 7333 FROM ANY CAMPUS TELEPHONE. EMERGENCY BLUE PHONES ARE ALSO LOCATED THROUGHOUT THE CAMPUS.

A. Emergency Response Preparedness Statement

Emergency response preparedness is a continuous concern for the campus and constitutes part of the normal campus life and business planning. An emergency is deemed to exist whenever there is a campus-wide or serious incident or condition that urgently requires prompt action, that inhibits the continuity of normal operations, or that endangers lives or otherwise poses a serious threat to the campus proper. The Vassar College Emergency Response Group (ERG) consists of administrators and faculty from all major areas of the college, along with members of the campus Emergency Medical Services, Security, and the Campus Patrol. The ERG convenes regularly to assess and plan for the college’s ability to respond to emergencies or disaster situations that compromise the safety of the campus or that have a negative impact on business continuity. It also convenes instantly in the event of an actual emergency. An updated Emergency Response Manual is distributed each fall to all offices and residential facilities, with instructions and protocols for campus response to emergencies.

B. Instructions in the Event of an Emergency

At the first indication of an emergency, the ERG convenes and issues alerts and/or instructions to the campus via a network of messaging methods and processes, based on the type of emergency. If the emergency condition is localized to a building, community members may be instructed to evacuate to the muster location identified on the fire evacuation maps found on every floor. If the emergency condition is widespread, community members may be instructed to evacuate to specific buildings based on specific geographic areas of the campus:

| Residents/Office Users located in these areas would evacuate to the areas below |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| North end of campus            | Students’ Building (ACDC)       |
| South end of campus            | Olmstead Hall                   |
| Central area of campus         | Library                         |
| Eastern area of campus         | Athletic Center/Walker           |

In the event of an emergency, unless otherwise instructed, all community members should get inside a building as quickly as possible. Get into a room, secure the door and close all blinds and windows. Facilities Operations staff and Security will ensure safety of egress and convey instructions from the ERG. If a single-building evacuation is ordered, community members will hear the local building fire alarm and should respond appropriately. If a large-scale evacuation is ordered, community members will hear an air horn signal in addition to electronic means (cell phone, email, web, pager, etc.) and should follow the instructions of the building captain. If shelter-in-place is ordered, community members will hear another air horn signal in addition to electronic means (cell phone, email, web, pager, etc.) and should follow the instructions of the building captain.
Fire Safety and Evacuation Instructions

Evacuation Procedure: When the fire alarm rings in a building, the following procedures should be followed:

1. Shut the windows and doors, if you are in your room. Do not, however, attempt to return to your room from another part of the building.

2. GET OUT of the building at once, using stairs. Elevators are NOT to be used during a fire or fire drill. Do not use fire escapes unless stairways are blocked or otherwise cut off.

3. Walk rapidly to the nearest exit, DO NOT RUN. Avoid panic; get out in a calm, orderly fashion.

4. Once out of the building, stay outside until the fire chief gives permission to return to the building or until instructions are given by a fire officer.

5. During a fire, the telephones in a building may not be used for incoming or outgoing calls except by authorized fire personnel. If you need to make a call, use a cell phone.

6. During a fire, automobiles may not be driven on campus roads, except by fire personnel.

Evacuation of Persons with Disabilities: The safe evacuation of all members of the Vassar College community in the event of a fire or emergency is of the utmost importance. We strongly recommend that all students and employees who have disabilities or impairments that might interfere with their safe emergency evacuation from campus buildings contact Office of Office for Accessibility and Educational Opportunity, ext. 7584. A list of persons needing evacuation assistance will be distributed to Campus Security as well as the Arlington Fire Department, in the event of an emergency.

Multidisciplinary Programs and degree programs.

The following list of degree programs includes the independent, interdepartmental, and the multidisciplinary programs. It is consistent with the inventory of registered degree and certificate programs maintained by the Education Department of the State of New York. Enrollment in other than the following registered programs may jeopardize a student’s eligibility for certain student aid awards.

Africana Studies
American Studies
Anthropology-Sociology
Asian Studies
Biochemistry
Earth Science and Society
Environmental Studies
Geography-Anthropology
Independent Program
International Studies
Jewish Studies
Latin American and Latino/a Studies
Media Studies
Medieval and Renaissance Studies
Neuroscience and Behavior
Science, Technology, and Society (STS)
Urban Studies
Victorian Studies

III. COURSE PREPARATION: BOOK ORDERS, LIBRARY MATERIALS

A. Resources

Book Orders: Texts and other materials needed for class instruction to be purchased by students are ordered through the College Bookstore, located at 60 Raymond Avenue #1, Poughkeepsie, NY 12604.

collegestore.vassar.edu/home

Library Reserve: The Reserve department processes books, articles and media materials faculty designate as required and supplemental readings for their courses. Many faculty opt to have materials digitized by the reserves department made available online; hard copies are housed in the Reserve Room. Please submit reserve request forms well before the beginning of classes to ensure that materials will be available when needed. The request form as well as additional information is available at the online address following, or you may email the reserve office (reserve@vassar.edu) or call x5796.

http://library.vassar.edu/services/reserves/reserve_instructions.html

Library Orders: Materials in all formats including books, videos, DVDs, microtext, and electronic resources may be ordered for the libraries collections through the Technical Services department. Requests should be submitted well before the items are needed. Online order forms as well as additional information are available on the Libraries web page.

http://library.vassar.edu/services/forms/acquisitions/index.html

Video Collection: The Vassar Library has a substantial video collection of material on VHF, DVD, and laser disk, located in the Reserve Room. Viewing equipment for individual users is available in the space adjacent to the Reserve Room. The library film collection is included in the online catalog (http://vaslib.vassar.edu).

Media Resources: Many classrooms are equipped with VCRs and several larger classrooms have video projection systems installed. Equipment and rooms needed for the use of video, slide, and film sources may be arranged through Media Resources. For further information visit the Computing web site at http://computing.vassar.edu/

Computer Classrooms: There are several computer classrooms available for both scheduled classes and one-time use. Many classrooms are equipped for computer projection. Arrangements are made through the Registrar, Media Sources, and Computing and Information Services.

Copy Center: Material for classroom distribution may be copied at the Copy Center, subject to copyright restrictions. A special copier for faculty research use is provided in the Library without charge; it is not intended for classroom material. The copy center has a color copier available.

B. Policy on Fair Use of Copyrighted Works for Education and Research

1. Policy Statement

As an institution devoted to the creation, discovery, and dissemination of knowledge, Vassar College is committed to complying with all applicable laws regarding intellectual property.
That commitment includes the full exercise of the rights accorded to those who desire to use copyrighted works for educational purposes under the “fair use” provisions of federal

It is therefore Vassar’s intent to facilitate the knowledgeable and good faith exercise of full fair-use rights by faculty, students, librarians, and staff, in furtherance of the educational purposes of the college including teaching, research, education and related activities. To that end, through the Vassar Libraries, the Director of Copyright Management under the Office of the Dean of the Faculty, and other appropriate offices, Vassar shall:

a) inform and educate its faculty, students, librarians, and staff about copyrights and the application of the fair use provisions;

b) develop and make available information concerning fair use and intellectual property laws generally and the application of the fair use provisions in specific situations; and

c) avoid adoption or support of policies or agreements tending to unduly restrict or hinder the fair use of copyrighted works for educational purposes.

In addition, Vassar shall defend and indemnify faculty, librarians, staff and student employees in the performance of their duties as necessary and appropriate in accordance with intellectual property laws and this policy. Vassar recognizes the intellectual property rights of its faculty arising from teaching in accordance to the Governance (Part 4, Article 1, Section 1. Academic Freedom).

One of the underlying principles of this policy is that a good faith exercise of fair use depends on the balancing of the four factors set forth on a case-by-case basis. The factors enacted by Congress and applied by the courts to evaluate whether a use qualifies as fair use are:

a) the purpose or character of the use;

b) the nature of the copyrighted work being used;
c) the amount and substantiality of the work being used; and

d) the effect of the use on the market for or value of the original.

To aid the reader in interpreting the four factors, a useful explanation of the meaning of these factors is available at the Fair Use and the Four Factors Test page in the Vassar College Copyright Guide at http://copyright.vassar.edu

For a full statement of the Vassar College Policy on Fair Use of Copyrighted Works for Education and Research please consult the copyright web. (Approved by the faculty April 4, 2001; approved by the Board of Trustees, August 2001)

2. Assistance in applying the policy

Vassar College recognizes that innovative research and progressive instruction methods may give rise to the need for additional support in undertaking an analysis of fair use. For assistance with understanding or applying this policy, faculty should consult the associate director of reader services in the library, or refer to the Vassar College Guide to Copyright website.

IV. COMPUTING AND EDUCATIONAL TECHNOLOGY

The Office of Computing and Information Services (CIS) is responsible for all academic and administrative computing in the college. Led by the Chief Information Officer (CIO), CIS oversees the systems and services that support the use of information technologies by members of the campus community, and helps to guide the strategic plan for information technology at Vassar College. Faculty are provided with desktop or laptop computers that are connected to the campus network which provides access to the Internet and to an extensive set of campus resources, including email, the library catalog and reserve systems, other specialized software and file servers, and a course management system (Moodle). The College also has a campus-wide wireless network that is accessible from virtually every academic, administrative and residential building on campus as well as from a variety of outdoor locations. Multi-function Canon Printer / Fax / Scanners for faculty use are available in department offices or buildings, and the Vassar network is accessible from off campus (some resources may require the use of secure Virtual Private Network (VPN) connections; information on VPN can be obtained from CIS). Special software and equipment for multimedia development and materials production is available in the Digital Media Zone, located in the Main Library and large format color printing and scanning services are available via Media Resources, located in Main Building. All faculty are provided with a Vassar User ID which, along with their password, will be used for authentication on most campus computing resources.

For questions about Vassar accounts or other technology needs you may visit the CIS Service Desks, conveniently located in the Computer Center and College Center. You may also contact them at 845-437-7224 (x7224 from a campus phone) or via email at helpdesk@vassar.edu. The CIS Service Desks are open during normal business hours of Monday - Friday from 8:30 AM - 5 PM. For more information, see the CIS web site at computing.vassar.edu.

Academic Computing Services (ACS), a division of CIS, assists Vassar faculty to identify instructional technologies to enhance teaching and learning processes. Each academic department or program has a computing professional who is familiar not only with technology, but also with the discipline-specific problems and opportunities of the areas that they support. A complete list of ACS staff members and services can be found on the web at computing.vassar.edu/faculty

The Committee on Academic Technologies (CAT) is charged by the Governance to develop and recommend policy related to academic and educational technologies; to gather information from faculty and students about instructional technology needs and initiatives and serve as advocates for those needs; and to solicit ideas from and inform faculty and students of new initiatives related to instructional technology. It shall consult regularly with the Classroom Committee, the Library Committee, CIS (especially ACS) and other relevant groups as needed to carry out these duties. In addition, CAT, the Dean of the Faculty, the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, the CIO shall consult regularly on technological needs and initiatives related to the educational mission of the college.

Media Resources, another division of CIS, provides media and audio-visual support services for classroom/academic and administrative events as well as media productions services, equipment loans, large format printing, scanning and more. More information about Media Resources can be found at computing.vassar.edu/media-resources. Requests for media support at events should be made through your campus calendar reservations in the Event Management System (EMS). Requests for consultation can be made by calling the office at 845-437-7480 (x7480 from a campus phone) or via email at mediaresources@vassar.edu.

A. Computing Policies

The purpose of the information technology resources at Vassar is to support and enhance the college's program of teaching, learning, and scholarship. Such resources include, but are not limited to, computers, telecommunications equipment, data and voice networks (whether accessed locally or remotely), audio-visual equipment, technology and support staff. These information technology resources and facilities also provide important support for communication and administration. CIS strives to support the mission of the college by providing resources and facilities that are as extensive, effective, reliable, and as secure as possible. This goal can be met only if members of the campus community use these shared resources in a manner that is legal, ethical, and respectful of others.

Use of Vassar's information technology resources is subject to the same regulations as any other campus resources, facilities or activities. Users should be aware that laws that apply to the larger society, such as those governing intellectual property and harassment, also apply in the electronic community. Information technology resources may not be used for purposes that are inconsistent with the educational mission of the college. Users must not knowingly engage in activities that interfere with the normal operation of the information technology resources. For further guidelines in appropriate use, individuals should refer to the college regulations.

Vassar College values the privacy of individual users and will respect that privacy whenever possible. By its very nature, electronically stored and transmitted information is vulnerable to interception, so users should always take precautions to protect sensitive files. While the college reserves the right to access files and transmissions on college-owned equipment, it will not normally invoke this right without the consent of the user. If access without the consent of the user is necessary, it will take place only with the approval of the appropriate senior officer, with notification to the president, except when the college is legally required or constrained to act otherwise. (Amended by the faculty February 15, 2005)

B. Assignment of Computers

All Vassar full-time faculty are eligible to receive a desktop or laptop computer, as are guest and visiting faculty members and part-time faculty members on a 50% appointment. Computers for all faculty and support staff are upgraded on a 4-year allocation cycle, department by department. Full-time faculty and support staff receive a new desktop or laptop computer, where guest, visiting and part-time faculty members receive a repurposed and refreshed desktop or laptop computer. Classroom and laboratory computers are updated via this process as well. More information on the computer allocations process can be found on the CIS website at computing.vassar.edu/allocations.
Major classroom technology upgrades should be addressed to the Classroom Committee through the office of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources. Special or emergency needs should be brought to the attention of the CIO.

Computers held by faculty and purchased from general allocation funds are considered resources of the college and may be reassigned as needed within the institution when staffing changes occur.

Department and program chairs should discuss with the Dean of the Faculty all computer needs of visiting, part-time, and new tenure-line faculty at the time of contract negotiations so that appropriate resources can be allocated.

The college is able is to provide only one computer per person/position, except in cases where additional computing is dedicated to laboratory or research projects, or exceptional computing resources are needed. Computers purchased as a part of either internal or external research funding are not included in the regular computer allocation cycle and are typically upgraded and replaced through the use of external funding. Plans for the replacement of such computers should be discussed with the CIO prior to the initial purchase.

CIS has several laptops and iPads available for short-term loan for special use. Requests for longer periods (such as summer travel) should be approved by your department chair and made at least one month in advance. CIS can not guarantee the availability of equipment for long-term loan.

C. Location and Return of Computers

All computing equipment purchased with Vassar funds (start-up, departmental, endowment, grant, etc.) belongs to the college and must be returned to the college whenever employment is ended.

CIS has responsibility for inventory and reassignment of computers. Departments/Programs have the responsibility of knowing what computers are assigned to them and where they are. Plans to change the assignment or location of computers within a department should be brought to the attention of CIS. This enables CIS to have accurate information concerning the machines in use and their location and helps the college in planning for replacement and new technology.

Desktop computers assigned to faculty members should remain in the office. Laptop computers can leave campus. Faculty cannot be provided with two computers, one for their office and one for home. Faculty should purchase a second computer in such cases; a loan for such a purchase is available through the student accounts office.

Faculty members may also continue using their computer when on leave. If a computer is taken home, or to another off-campus location, its security (from theft and damage) becomes the responsibility of the faculty member in question. (Personal homeowners and travelers insurance may be purchased for coverage). If a faculty member will not be using the college-provided computer while on leave, it cannot be put in storage or otherwise taken out of use. CIS will aid in the transfer and storage of personal data, pending return, so that the computer can be reassigned.
D. Software

New computers are issued with operating system and basic productivity software, including word processing, spreadsheet, email and other similar programs. CIS will update basic applications to the current level supported by the college. Additional applications, up to $500, are the responsibility of departments or users, to be purchased from their own operating budgets. More expensive software should be requested through the annual allocation process. CIS will help in reviewing new applications and finding trial copies. If, during the Allocation process, the software is made obsolete, CIS will fund the upgrade.

Repairs or modifications/upgrades should be arranged through CIS. CIS employs a full-time repair person who is able to repair some Apple equipment. Requests for repairs or upgrades to classroom technologies should be addressed to CIS. Departments and individuals should not order modifications/upgrades to college-owned equipment independently and should consult with CIS should repairs be needed.

E. Additional Computers

Sometimes, departments/programs or administrative offices wish to purchase a computer with their own budget monies. Purchasers must consult with CIS and follow CIS protocols for computer (or printer) selection. CIS is not committed to the support of equipment that has not been approved for purchase or which does not meet current specifications. Computers purchased as a part of either internal or external research funding are not included in the regular computer allocation cycle and are typically upgraded and replaced through the use of external funding. Plans for the replacement of such computers should be discussed with the CIO prior to the initial purchase.

V. WEBSITES

Communications creates and maintains all Vassar’s approximately 150 official websites. Website update requests should be emailed by the head of the department, or a designated content provider, to: webupdates@vassar.edu. For web design requests, contact the director of web development.

Web Updating
All updates to official websites should be emailed by the head of a department, or a designated content provider, to: webupdates@vassar.edu. Updates should be provided with as much lead time as possible. For requests longer than one page, or containing formatting such as bold or italics, please attach a Word document to the email.

Web Design
Contact Daria Robbins (drobins@vassar.edu), Associate Vice President for Creative Direction, with web design requests.

Personal Websites
Communications does not create or maintain personal websites. However, the Computer Center provides a web account for all faculty, administrators, and staff to publish personal web pages. Visit the Computing and Information Services (CIS) website for more information: http://computing.vassar.edu/guides/websites/

Personal websites belonging to members of the campus community are not monitored, but are expected to reflect the community's regard for ethical behavior, including adherence to the principle of civil discourse as stated in the College Regulations, and to the "Computer Regulations" section within it. The College Regulations are available for download on this page: http://deanofthecollege.vassar.edu/

VI. OPEN ACCESS POLICY

The Faculty of Vassar College is committed to disseminating its research and scholarship as widely as possible. The Vassar College Libraries endeavor to make eligible faculty work publicly available in an open-access online repository.

Each member grants to Vassar College permission in the form of a nonexclusive, worldwide license to reproduce and publicly distribute, via Vassar’s institutional repository, each of their peer-reviewed scholarly journal articles, provided that the articles will not be sold for profit. Each faculty member is expected to provide an electronic copy of the accepted manuscript of each article to the repository in an appropriate format as specified by the Vassar College Libraries.

The policy applies to all scholarly articles authored or co-authored while the person is a member of the Faculty of Vassar College; work complete prior to appointment at Vassar can be submitted at the faculty member’s discretion.

For articles with copyright restrictions, and/or upon the express direction of the faculty author, the Office of the Dean of the Faculty will not apply the policy for a particular article or delay access for the necessary period of time. In collaboration with the Library Committee, the Office of the Dean of the Faculty will be responsible for interpreting and applying this policy.

VII. POLICY ON REPORTING IMPROPER OR UNLAWFUL ACTIVITIES AND PROHIBITION OF RETALIATION

This policy governs the reporting and investigation of claims of certain types of improper or unlawful activities as defined below and the prohibition of retaliation against individuals reporting such activities. It describes the procedures to be followed for investigation of reports of improper or unlawful activities and for addressing complaints of retaliation for raising such issues. Nothing in this policy statement replaces the existing policies and procedures governing harassment and discrimination, equal opportunity, the handling of employment grievances and other personnel policies detailed in official handbooks and contracts governing employment conditions.

A. Policy

Vassar College seeks to achieve its mission as an educational institution by conducting its affairs ethically, and in full compliance with all federal, state and local laws. The College acknowledges its responsibility for the stewardship of public and private resources provided in pursuit of that mission. Vassar faculty, administrators, and staff are expected to adhere to high standards of professional and ethical conduct in carrying out their duties. The College’s Governance, policies, management, internal controls and operating procedures are designed to prevent, deter, and, if necessary, detect improper or unlawful activities. To these ends, the College has established the following procedures to investigate, address, and report, as appropriate, claims of improper activities. These procedures include measures to prevent, and if necessary to respond to, any retaliatory action taken against an employee who, in good faith, reports improper activities.

"Improper activities" are defined, for purposes of this policy, as actions or failures to act by the College itself, or by its officers or employees in the course of their duties, which may result in either violations of Federal, State, or local law, or create a danger to public health or safety. The term also includes fraudulent or dishonest conduct by College officers or employees in the course of their duties, such as providing false or misleading information with regard to the College's financial status.
The College prohibits any retaliation against employees who in good faith report improper activities, who participate in an investigation pertaining to alleged improper activity, or who refuse to engage in what they believe in good faith to be illegal activities. A College employee may not use official authority, directly or indirectly, in order to discourage an employee to come forward with a suspected improper activity.

Employees are encouraged to use the procedures outlined below to report improper activities. Alternatively, an employee may choose to report allegations of improper activities to the appropriate government agency or contact the New York State Attorney General’s Office http://www.oag.state.ny.us/contact.html.

B. Procedures

1. How to Make a Report. A report of improper activities may be made by any faculty or staff member of the College to the Controller (Vassar College Box 12) or the Director of Equal Opportunity (Vassar College Box 645) or the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action (Vassar College Box 645). Written reports regarding improper activities may also be sent to the President (Vassar College Box 1) or directly to the Board of Trustees, by writing to the Chair of the Audit Committee, in care of the Secretary of the Board (Vassar College Box 720).

2. Report in Writing. Reports of improper activities should be made in writing for the sake of clarity. Reports should be factual and contain the specific information that is known by the person making the report. If a report of improper activities is made orally to the Controller, the Director of Equal Opportunity, or the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action, the individual receiving the report is then responsible for promptly documenting the details of the oral report in writing and providing a confidential copy to the complainant.

3. Report Promptly. Reports should be made promptly; the passage of time increases the difficulty of verifying allegations.

4. Handling of Reports. The party receiving the report of improper activities (normally the Controller, the Director of Equal Opportunity or the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action) will ensure that an investigation appropriate to the allegation, including, if appropriate, the retention of legal counsel, accounting, or other specialists, takes place promptly and thoroughly. The College will treat the information provided with discretion and, to the extent permitted under law, confidentially. There may exist circumstances where the College is required to disclose information it is provided.

5. Response to Violations. The College will respond with remedial or disciplinary action as appropriate to a finding of improper activities.

6. Policy of Non-Retaliation. The College has a strict policy prohibiting any retaliatory action against any College employee who reports in good faith improper activities or who refuses to perform actions that an employee in good faith believes would result in a violation of law. Incidents of retaliation should be reported to the Director of Equal Opportunity for issues involving administrators or staff, or to the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action for issues involving faculty, who will investigate and report the findings to the appropriate senior officer. Reports of improper retaliation will be investigated promptly, and disciplinary action will be taken where the report is verified and/or substantiated.

7. Report to Audit Committee. All investigations and claims of retaliation under this policy will be compiled annually by the Controller, the Director of Equal Opportunity, and the Faculty Director of Affirmative Action and a summary written report will be provided to the Audit Committee of the Board of Trustees. Approved by the Board of Trustees, May 2007.

VIII. THE OFFICE OF THE LEARNING, TEACHING, AND RESEARCH CENTER

The Learning, Teaching and Research Center, located in room 112 of the Library (ext. 5215), connects students and faculty with one another across disciplines, recognizing that both students and teachers are involved in learning, leading, and scholarship. The center’s mission includes helping students realize their academic potential and achieve their educational goals as well as supporting faculty in their professional development. To that end, we run a thriving peer Writing Center and Center for Science and Quantitative Reasoning, sponsor student-led Supplemental Instruction sessions in math and science, design and lead faculty development seminars informed by our work with students, and encourage faculty to see how their research informs their teaching and vice versa.

The LTRC houses the Writing Center, which is staffed by peer consultants who are trained to work with students on a wide range of written work from research papers to critical essays, lab reports, or creative pieces, and at every stage of the writing process from rough draft to final revision. The Center for Science and Quantitative Reasoning offers an alternative learning site for students enrolled in courses that fulfill the Quantitative Analysis requirement. Supplemental Instruction (SI) program provides weekly peer-facilitated study sessions for specific courses in mathematics, chemistry, and physics. The directors of both centers also work with faculty and students to meet their curricular needs across disciplines and fields. The Academic Support and Learning Resources Specialist offers guidance for students in developing study skills such as reading, note taking, and time management, and is available to speak with faculty on time management issues that pertain to the balance of work and life.

The LTRC also works closely with the Office of Access and Educational Opportunity, the librarians, and Academic Computing Services on programming for both faculty and students.

The LTRC provides a variety of services for faculty, including formal and informal workshops and discussions throughout the year on topics like uses of technology in the classroom, effective grading, and fostering respect for diversity in the classroom. The LTRC also sponsors campus-wide programs and lectures.

FACULTY TEACHING DEVELOPMENT

The LTRC offers a wide range of support for faculty members. The LTRC holds discussions for faculty throughout the year on such topics as teaching a first-year writing seminar, using technology in the classroom, grading effectively, creating a teaching portfolio, and valuing diversity in the classroom. For more information, contact the Director of Faculty Teaching Development, (Prof. Maria Hantzopoulos, ext. 7360).

Faculty teaching writing-intensive courses can request a designated peer consultant to work specifically with their students throughout a semester. Also, the Writing Center Director can meet with faculty about the design of writing assignments. For more information, contact the Writing Center Director (ext. 7683).

The LTRC staff members are available for individual consultation regarding faculty teaching development, syllabus writing, planning a research agenda, and finding a satisfying and workable balance between teaching and research.
FACULTY RESEARCH DEVELOPMENT

The Faculty Director of Research Development offers support for all stages of a research project, including formulating the project, identifying funding sources, applying for grants, and publishing. Much of the time, these services take the form of consultations between the director and individual scholars. Occasionally, in addition, the director brings together groups of faculty with related research interests or at similar career stages to discuss issues of mutual concern. The Faculty Directors of Research and Teaching Development offer collaborative workshops to assist faculty to identify creative ways to integrate teaching and research. Together with the Committee on Research, the Grants Office, and the Director of the LTRC, the Faculty Director of Research Development facilitates the research activities of faculty at all stages in their careers. Assistance and advice provided during consultations are confidential and are not connected to College evaluation processes. Contact the Faculty Director of Research Development (Prof. Katie Hite, ext. 7661).

IX. LECTURES AND SPECIAL EVENTS

Vassar has a very rich tradition of lectures and special events, sometimes conflicting with one another. The overarching purpose of Dean sponsored lectures is to promote a lively campus culture of intellectual and creative exchange featuring events of outstanding interest that are appealing and accessible to a wide spectrum of the Vassar community. Highest priority for funding will go to events most in accord with this purpose. For specific guidelines and instructions see the following or visit the following website http://deanofthefaculty.vassar.edu/forms/index.html

Lectures and other special events are scheduled through the Office of Campus Activities. The office also maintains the “College Calendar” found on the college website. When planning or scheduling a lecture or special event it is inherent that one first consult the college calendar, well in advance as possible, to be sure there are no conflicting events.  http://campuscalendar.vassar.edu/mastercalendar/

Complete details about campus events scheduling procedures are in the “Programming Resource Guide” online at campusactivities.vassar.edu/resources/index.html.

A. Publicity

A brief description – name of speaker, sponsoring organization, title, time, and place. For the online calendar, email campusactivities@vassar.edu.

Publicity (on-campus/off-campus)

The Office of Communications (located on the second floor of Main Building, Box 9, x7404 or x7690) writes or approves all press releases and is available to help with the publicity of campus activities and events. Please contact the Office of Communications 5-6 weeks in advance for local publicity of your event, and 8-12 weeks in advance for national publicity.

Event planners must also include this statement on registration forms for conferences, workshops, or other events that require advance registration.

“Individuals with disabilities requiring accommodations or information on accessibility must contact the Campus Activities Office, (845) 437-5370 (or event planner’s name and contact number).”

To reserve a display space on the College Center second floor “bridge,” please visit the SARC. Posters cannot be larger than 36”x44”. Poster cannot cover the clocks and must be hung in the spot your poster has been assigned.

Special equipment arrangements, such as microphones, projection equipment, film, slide or digital, are made through Media Resources through the EMS site.
Faculty Handbook

Narrative and biographical text (no CVs) should be provided in a Word attachment as well as the event details (time, place, title, sponsor(s)), contact information, or in the body of an email, and digital images must be provided as high-resolution files (jpg format, 300 dpi). Check with Emily Darrow at x7690 for assistance. For inclusion in the following, please note the guidelines for dates: 4 weeks for Poughkeepsie Journal, 5-6 weeks for broadcasters such as WAMC Public Radio; 6-8 weeks for magazines such as Chronogram; 10-12 weeks minimum for magazines such as Hudson Valley.

If your department, office, or program is planning a major conference or event that you feel would be of interest beyond the region, please contact media relations as soon as possible. To properly promote events such as these to major media outlets, we should begin work with you six months in advance of the event if possible.

Here is a checklist of what we need to prepare and disseminate a press release (send information pasted into the body of an email or as an attached MSWord document):

- Event details (time, place, title, sponsor(s))
- Speaker / performer biographies
- Appropriate contact information within your department for additional information and/or provide a brief quote for the press release
- Speaker / performer availability in advance for media interviews
- High quality photos of speakers/performers (NB: Images extracted from a website are not scaled at a resolution high enough for media usage.)
- File Size: 1.5 - 2mb (minimum)
- Dots Per Inch: 300 DPI (image resolution)
- Actual Size: 8 inches (on the longest side)
- File Format: TIFF / JPEG
- Color Space: RGB

Posters are also designed and produced by the Publications Office a 3-4 week lead-time is necessary. Again, the necessary information to design and produce posters, the office needs the event details, digital images in high resolution files (jpg format, 300 dpi), contact information, and a budget number.

B. Accommodations

Alumnae House is an Inn administered by the Alumnae/i Association of Vassar College. For reservations or more information, call x7100. There are rooms for overnight guests as well as rooms that are available for special events, lectures, or dinner parties. Separate charges are applied to the function rooms. For information or room reservations call x7100. For special events and use of the first floor, call the Innkeeper at 845-437-7150. Charges are not taxable when paid for by a college budget number. Charges paid with a credit card, with cash or a check are taxable.

C. Catering

The Living Room, Terrace, Dining Room, Library, and Pub are available for special events. There is a room charge and catering services are arranged with the Alumnae House caterer.

The Gordon Commons provides catering for special events. For menus, prices, and scheduling, contact the Catering Office at x5833. Informal catering is also available through "The Retreat" by calling x7170. Catering can be ordered on line http://www.campusdish.com/en-US/CSNE/Vassar/Catering/Online+Catering+with+Catertrax.html Catering is also available through outside vendors. Some are:
Main Course – 845-255-2600
Twisted Soul - (845) 705-5381 - (845) 454-2770

E. Lecture Proposal Deadlines and Guidelines

Vassar College academic lectures supported by the Office of Dean of the Faculty – 2021-2022
Priority deadline for spring 2021 lectures is November 15
and for fall 2023 lectures is May 30

The over-arching purpose of Dean-sponsored lectures is to promote a lively campus culture of intellectual and creative exchange featuring events of outstanding interest that are appealing and accessible to a wide spectrum of the Vassar community. Highest priority for funding will go to events most in accord with this purpose.

Guidelines:

• The Dean’s office supports two types of lecture events. Major Lectures are not necessarily sponsored by a department or program, but are of very broad appeal to a general campus audience, involve a prominent speaker and have the co-sponsorship of multiple departments, programs and other college groups. Regular Lectures are sponsored by a department or program and have the co-sponsorship of at least one other department or program.
• The Dean’s office will not ordinarily support more than one event in a single day, nor two events in a single week, nor twelve events per semester. We can sponsor up to three Major Lectures and nine Regular Lectures each semester.
• Considerations weighing in favor of a proposal:
  o Eminence and excellence of proposed speaker
  o Broad appeal and multiple confirmed co-sponsors (co-sponsor financial contribution is not necessary but is helpful)
  o Opportunities for speaker to interact informally with students and faculty outside the immediate context of the lecture o Timely submission of Fall proposals due June 15, 2021 and Spring proposals November 12, 2021.

  Proposals received on time will receive priority consideration. If slots remain available after these deadlines, they will be considered for the Fall until September 25, 2021 and for the Spring until February 25, 2022.

  Balance and equity
  Lectures funded, as a whole, should cover a wide range of disciplines and topics.
  Departments or programs with endowed lecture funds should draw on those funds before seeking additional funding from the DoF office.
• Funding and scheduling:
  • Honoraria ordinarily range from $100 to $1,500. Requests for honoraria of $1,500 or more should include substantial evidence of the prominence, broad appeal, and effectiveness of the proposed speaker. Typically, the honoraria for Major Lecture events are considerably larger than $1,500 and can be up to $15,000 for a very high profile speaker.
    Suggested honoraria:
    ▪ Top person in field $1,500
    ▪ Well-established scholar $800
    ▪ Early in career and nearby $100
    ▪ Graduate student ineligible for funding.
  • Transportation expenses should include round-trip airfare, tolls, and ground transportation at current rates (56 cents per mile for car).
  • Lodging should be at Alumnae/I House at current rates ($140/night).
• Hospitality may include modest meal expenses for the guest and selected members of the Vassar campus community. Gatherings should be small enough to allow everyone to interact informally with the guest. Suggested budget guidelines: $10 per person for lunches, $20 per person for dinners.

• Lectures should ordinarily take place at 5:30 or 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at times with few or no conflicting or contiguous public events on the campus calendar. Lectures scheduled for regular class meeting times are ineligible for lecture funding, although faculty may contact the Dean’s office for modest honoraria, travel, and hospitality amounts for classroom visitors.

• Proposals should address the considerations above and accompany the “Request for Lecture Funds” Google Form. Please note that this Google Form now replaces the prior email request process. Email approval of funding from a member of the Dean of the Faculty staff is required before making commitments to speakers or arrangements for publicity.

XII. ELECTED FACULTY COMMITTEES AND APPOINTED STANDING FACULTY COMMITTEES

Recognizing the need for efficiency in a democratic system of governance, the faculty elects committees to perform certain functions. Participation in monthly general faculty meetings and service on committees are opportunities for, and necessary parts of, contributing to the shared governance of the college, especially in determining and directing the educational policy of the institution. In general, the faculty makes educational policy and reviews associated administrative practice. Faculty committees formulate and recommend policy to the faculty. The administration facilitates the work of the faculty and students by implementing these policies. Committees are accountable to the faculty and other relevant constituencies.

A. Eligibility

Committee membership is limited, except as otherwise specified, to members of the faculty and educational administration who have general suffrage, part-time faculty who have academic suffrage, and to students on designated committees. No faculty member is eligible for immediate reelection or reappointment to a particular governance committee unless specifically permitted in the statement describing a committee. However, one-year replacements are eligible for reelection or reappointment to a full term.

No member of the faculty may serve simultaneously on more than one of the following committees unless specifically required to do so in the descriptions of committee membership: faculty appointment and salary committee, faculty policy and conference committee, and committee on curricular policies.
Some committees have rank or tenure membership requirements. If a change in the status of a faculty member contravenes these requirements, then that member becomes ineligible to serve. The Committee on Committees fills the vacated position by appointment or election, as appropriate. Some committees have divisional membership requirements. For the purposes of representation on committees the departments of instruction are organized into three divisions: (1) arts and literature; (2) social sciences; (3) natural sciences and mathematics. Occasionally committees will also specify multidisciplinary representation.

B. Students

Where specified in the committee membership, participation by students in committee work constitutes an opportunity and expectation for student engagement in shared governance of the college. The processes for selection of student representatives are determined by the Vassar student association, unless otherwise specified. Unless required by the purpose of the particular committee, student members of committees do not have access to confidential information on their peers (e.g., admission records, academic records, family financial records) or employees of the college. Any committee actions in which sharing such information is necessary must work out mechanisms to maintain confidentiality.

C. Elections

The elections officer of the committee on committees conducts the balloting for standing elective committees, in the following order:

After a separate nominating ballot and before other committee elections, the following are elected: After a separate nominating ballot and before other committee elections, the following are elected: members of the faculty appointment and salary committee and the faculty policy and conference committee, the chair of the committee on research, the faculty co-chair of the library committee, the chair of the faculty committee on admission and financial aid, and the chair of the committee on assessment.

(Amended by the faculty Dec. 2013)

After a second nominating ballot, members of all other standing elective committees are elected.

Members of the faculty planning to be on leave for one semester or more of the succeeding year are not eligible for election or appointment to standing committees.

Members of the faculty under review for advancement in rank are not eligible for election or appointment to any position on a committee for which the Governance mandates election of or representation by members of specific rank(s).

D. Vacancies Prior to the End of Term

Vacancies in positions elected on the first balloting cycle are filled by a special election at the earliest possible date. Other vacancies in elective committees are filled by election when this can take place at the time of the regular elections. Otherwise vacancies are filled by appointment by the committee on committees. Appointments are made for a year or until the next general election. Vacancies for committee delegates selected by another committee are selected by that committee.

E. Principles of committee action:

- On each college committee, a simple majority of its voting members constitutes a quorum, provided that at least one-half of the faculty members are present.
- Decisions are reached by majority vote of the members present, assuming a quorum is present.
- Each committee submits an annual report, to be posted on the official Committee on Committees website. Where appropriate, links from that website to a committee site that contains additional information is encouraged.
- Each committee passes on its annual reports and summaries of on-going and continuing business, to its successor chair for information and guidance.
Faculty Handbook

- 197 -

- Each committee reports to the faculty as promptly as possible any important action or deliberation. It reports to the faculty on general policy within its jurisdiction and on issues that the committee determines the faculty should consider.
- Members of the faculty have a right to appear at a committee’s meetings and present their views on agenda items. During deliberations, only committee members may be present unless the committee has invited others to attend.
- The chair calls a meeting of the committee when requested to do so by one-third of its members.

COMMITTEES

1. Committee on Curricular Policies

Purpose: The committee on curricular policies (CCP) considers all policies and practices of the college related to the curriculum. CCP recommends changes in general curricular policy to the faculty. CCP considers proposed changes in department and program course offerings before presenting them to the faculty for approval.

Membership: The committee on curricular policies consists of: the dean of the faculty (chair); four members of the faculty, one from and representing each division and one multidisciplinary program director (currently serving, or having served within the past six years), elected for two years with staggered terms so that two retire each year; two students from the student curriculum committee with majors in a department and a multidisciplinary program, one of whom is ordinarily the Academic Executive of the Vassar Student Association (VSA); and, as non-voting members, the dean of studies and the registrar. No two divisional or multidisciplinary elected faculty members come from the same department or program. If a faculty member resigns from membership on the committee during their term, the Committee on Committees appoints a replacement representing the same division or, if the resigning member was the multidisciplinary program director member, another multidisciplinary program director representative. Faculty and student representatives to the committee consult on curricular initiatives with the constituencies they represent.

The Committee on Curricular Policies oversees general educational policy, reviews educational and curricular policies, and recommends to the faculty significant changes in educational and curricular policies.

Faculty and student representatives to the committee consult on curricular initiatives with the constituencies they represent.

Changes to educational or curricular policy, including the organization of departments and programs, and significant curricular changes are placed on the faculty meeting agenda for discussion and approval. Other curricular changes approved by CCP are listed in the faculty meeting agenda packets. If a faculty member objects to a change included in the agenda packet by noon the day before a faculty meeting, the change is automatically referred back to CCP for further consideration in consultation with the appropriate parties. CCP may then include the change, with any amendments, in a future agenda packet or present it to the faculty for discussion and approval. Changes reported in the agenda packet to which no objections are raised are announced at the faculty meeting as having been approved. CCP approves editorial changes at its discretion.

The committee forms subcommittees that may include non-CCP members to work on particular issues. Subcommittees must include at least one voting member of CCP. Standing subcommittees of CCP include:
- a. The quantitative analysis (QA) subcommittee oversees policy regarding the QA requirement and its implementation. It includes, at a minimum, the Dean of Studies, one student, and one elected faculty member from CCP who chairs the subcommittee. The subcommittee designates which new courses meet the established QA criteria and reviews existing QA courses for re-designation at least once every five years. The subcommittee also studies the effectiveness of the QA requirement and reviews and recommends changes to the criteria and policies pertaining to QA courses and the QA requirement.
b. The writing subcommittee oversees policy regarding the freshman writing seminar (FWS) requirement and its implementation as well as instruction in analytical or argument-driven writing more generally at the college. It includes the Director of the Writing Center, Dean of First-Year Students, a librarian, an elected faculty member from CCP, and at least two other faculty members who have taught the FWS within the past five years, appointed by the Dean of Faculty to ensure broad representation and normally serving for two-year terms. The Director of the Writing Center serves as co-chair, and a faculty co-chair is elected annually by the subcommittee. The writing subcommittee designates which new courses meet the established FWS criteria, studies the effectiveness of the FWS and writing instruction at the college more generally, and reviews and recommends changes to the criteria and policies pertaining to writing in the college curriculum.

c. The curricular review subcommittee reviews in detail the curricular or educational policy changes submitted to CCP prior to full committee consideration of those changes. It includes, at a minimum, the Registrar, one elected faculty member from CCP, one student, and a representative of the Dean of the Faculty.

d. A subcommittee of CCP advises the dean of the faculty regarding the authorization of tenure-track searches. The subcommittee consists of the four elected faculty members of CCP together with a recent past chair of FASC and the current chair of FPCC. If there is no untenured faculty member of CCP, then the Committee on Committees appoints an untenured member of the faculty to be added to the subcommittee.

Minutes are kept in the Office of the Registrar. Significant curricular proposals recommended for approval appear in faculty meeting agenda packets.

2. Faculty Policy and Conference Committee

Purpose: The faculty policy and conference committee represents the faculty in relations with the trustees concerning substantial changes in educational policy and in terms and provisions of employment of the faculty in matters of faculty housing policy.

FPCC confers with the trustees and administration on behalf of the faculty in establishing priorities for the allocation of the college’s resources. It evaluates the incorporation of these priorities in the operating and capital budgets as prepared by the administration and approved by the trustees.

The faculty policy and conference committee is responsible for considering revisions to the following sections of the Governance: the relations of trustees and faculty, the educational organization of the college, the by-laws of the faculty, and faculty committees and for considering changes to the Faculty Handbook. Proposed changes to the Governance and the Faculty Handbook that are substantive in character shall be brought before the faculty for action. Minor changes that are intended solely to bring the documents into conformity with policy already approved by the faculty shall be reported to the faculty. Those changes that are objected to in advance by three faculty members shall be set down for faculty discussion; otherwise the faculty delegates to the committee the authority to make such adjustments. Changes that are purely editorial in nature – correction of grammar, typographical errors, and so forth – may be made by the committee at its discretion. The provisions of this section supersede other provisions concerning amendment of the Governance with which they may be in conflict.

(Amended by the faculty May 13, 2009)

FPCC serves as the faculty’s committee on conference with the trustees with the exception of conferences reserved to the faculty appointment and salary committee and the faculty compensation committee.

The faculty policy and conference committee discusses matters of concern referred to the committee by faculty or administration; it may also initiate studies of its own. It may seek advice from, or refer specific matters to, other faculty committees.

Working with the faculty appointment and salary committee, FPCC annually assesses the performance of the president and the president’s senior administration in a written report to the personnel committee of the board of trustees and discusses the report in a meeting with that committee.
FPCC serves as the faculty’s committee on conference with the students.

Membership: The faculty policy and conference committee consists of three elected faculty members, one from each professorial rank (the professor is the chair); one elected budget member from the tenured ranks; the second-year full professor on the faculty appointment and salary committee; and a member from the committee on curricular policies, selected annually by the faculty members of that committee. The full and associate professors as well as the budget member serve 3-year terms and the assistant professor serves a two-year term. Upon promotion of the assistant or associate professor member during their term, the promoted member serves on the committee until a replacement is elected during a regular election to serve out the term being vacated. If a faculty member cannot fulfill the duration of their term, a special election will be held, and the new member will serve out the term being vacated. For the purposes of continuity, the terms of the chair and budget member will be staggered so that they do not end in the same year. In the event that the end of the terms do coincide, the chair will serve one additional year. If this is not possible, the budget member will serve one additional year. These decisions will be made in consultation with the President, the Dean of Faculty, and the Committee on Committees.

3. Faculty Appointment and Salary Committee

Purpose: The faculty appointment and salary committee (FASC) advises the president and the dean of the faculty in accordance with the provisions of the Governance, (See The Educational Organization of the College: with listing of appropriate sections). FASC participates in appointments, reappointments, promotions, granting tenure, and reviewing dismissals. Only the three full professors act in cases of promotion from associate to full professor, and in granting tenure to persons hired at the rank of full professor. FASC reviews cases of extension of initial professor contracts and reappointments of two-year instructors when there is a negative recommendation from either the department or the dean.

FASC conducts its reviews independently, and then submits a recommendation to the dean of the faculty. Both FASC and the dean make a joint recommendation to the president. After all relevant substantive evidence, including external evaluations, has been considered, the president, the dean of the faculty, and FASC may meet with departments or programs if they require additional information or if their preliminary discussions indicate the likelihood of a decision contrary to the department’s or program’s recommendation. The Faculty Handbook describes the procedures for all appointments and reviews.

Faculty members are free to consult informally with any member of FASC. FASC, however, is precluded from responding to faculty members under review once their materials have been submitted for review, except under circumstances specified by the Faculty Handbook.

Working with FPCC, FASC, annually assesses the performance of the president and the president’s senior administration in a report to the personnel committee of the board of trustees.

Membership: The faculty appointment and salary committee consists of three tenured professors, elected for three years, and two tenured associate professors elected for two years, one member at each rank retiring each year. The chair is the professor with the longest service on the committee. No department may be represented by more than one committee member. Continuity of service on this committee is essential, so individuals accepting nomination to the committee should plan to serve a full term.

4. Appeal Committee

Purpose: The appeal committee considers grievances by individual faculty members in matters of promotion, tenure and reappointment and hears certain other appeals as described in the Policy Against Discrimination and Harassment and the Policy on Consensual Relationships Between Faculty and Students. Only the following categories of grievances may be considered:

1. A faculty member on term appointment alleges that abridgment of academic freedom, as defined in Principles Underlying Relations of Trustees, Faculty, and Students significantly contributed to a decision to terminate the faculty member’s appointment at its expiration. In such cases the procedures of the appeal committee are:

a. To make a preliminary determination concerning whether the allegation of abridgment of academic freedom properly falls within the scope of academic freedom as defined by the Governance; and

b. If the preliminary determination is affirmative, to recommend that the case be heard by a faculty review committee. In recommending that a case be heard by a faculty review committee, the appeal committee renders no judgment concerning whether an abridgment of academic freedom has actually occurred.

2. A faculty member alleges that a violation of the procedures and principles for the conduct of reviews contributed to a negative outcome in the faculty member’s review for extension, reappointment, tenure, or promotion. The procedures for hearing procedural appeals are described in the Faculty Handbook chapter on Appointment, Extension, Reappointment, and Promotion.

3. When the remedy or sanction following a determination of a violation of the Policy Against Discrimination and Harassment could involve an adjustment to the normal procedures for a faculty review, the Appeal Committee determines what changes, if any, are necessary. The procedure for determining changes is described in the Faculty Handbook in the Policy against Discrimination and Harassment. A faculty member who believes a future, ongoing, or past review of the faculty member will be, is, or was affected by discrimination or harassment, as defined in the Policy against Discrimination and Harassment, should consult the EOAA office and the Policy against Discrimination and Harassment for the appropriate procedures as soon as possible.

(Amended by the faculty, May 2015)

4. When faculty member has been a respondent in a harassment or discrimination grievance hearing, the appeal committee hears appeals of the sanctions and/or determination of the grievance panel. The procedures for hearing such appeals are described in Faculty Handbook in the Policy against Discrimination and Harassment.

5. When a faculty member appeals a determination or disciplinary action under the Policy on Consensual Relationships Between Faculty and Students. The procedures for hearing such appeals are described in the Faculty Handbook in the Policy on Consensual Relationships Between Faculty and Students.

Membership: The appeal committee consists of three tenured members of the faculty and two assistant professors. The term of service is two years. Two tenured members and one assistant professor retire in one year; one of each category of members retires in alternate years. No department chair or program director serves on the committee and no department is represented by more than one member. No member of FASC may be elected to serve on the appeal committee in the year immediately following the member’s retirement from FASC. Each year the committee elects one of its tenured members as chair. If a member faces a conflict of interest in a particular issue before the appeal committee, the chair requests the committee on committees to appoint a temporary substitute.

(Amended by the faculty, November 2014)

5. Review Committee

Purpose: In the case of a recommendation to dismiss a faculty member for cause, the faculty member may request that a review committee be constituted. The review committee reviews the case and makes an independent recommendation to the president, the dean of the faculty, and the faculty appointment and salary committee as provided in The Educational Organization of the College.

The appeal committee may also request a review committee be constituted if a non-tenured faculty member alleges that an abridgment of academic freedom significantly contributed to a decision to terminate the faculty member’s appointment at its expiration, as provided in The Educational Organization of the College. In such cases, the burden of proof rests with the faculty member for establishing the grounds upon which the allegations are based.

Membership: A separate review committee is constituted for each case. The committee on committees appoints the membership of the review committee, which consists of three tenured professors. The committee elects a chair from its membership.

6. Faculty Compensation Committee

Purpose: The faculty compensation committee advises the president on the aggregate amount that is annually allotted to faculty compensation and, in cooperation with the faculty policy and conference committee and the committee on benefits, on the nature and magnitude of faculty insurance, pension and other benefits. The committee has the right to report to and confer with the appropriate trustee committee in the event that the faculty compensation committee’s recommendation differs from that of the president.

The faculty compensation committee recommends general guidelines to the president, dean of the faculty, and faculty appointment and salary committee for the distribution of salary among ranks. The committee reports to the faculty after the conclusion of the allocation of faculty compensation.

Membership: The faculty compensation committee consists of the three professors of the faculty appointment and salary committee and the chair and budget member of the faculty policy and conference committee. The chair of FASC serves as the chair of the faculty compensation committee.

7. Committee on Committees

Purpose: After the results of elections to committees have been announced, the committee on committees chooses faculty members for vacancies on other committees including the following standing committees: climate action and sustainability committee, campus responsibility committee, college regulations committee, academic panel, committee on college life, and committee on housing. When elections fail to fill positions on elective college committees, the committee on committees fills those positions until the next election can lead to an elected representative on the committee. It selects faculty representatives on ad hoc committees when so authorized by the faculty. It also appoints the college marshal for a five-year term.

Membership: The committee on committees consists of four members of the faculty, two of them tenured, elected for two years with two retiring each year. The committee elects a tenured member to be chair and a second member to be the elections officer who conducts the balloting for standing elective committees.

The committee on committees is responsible for periodic review of the faculty committee structure and brings to the faculty recommendations for changes as the need arises.

Where appropriate, in making appointments, the committee on committees considers such criteria as departmental divisions, gender balance, minority representation, the balance between tenured and untenured members, and the representation of new faculty and acts in accordance with the requirements on committee structure laid out in the Governance descriptions of such committees. Ordinarily, the committee shall not invite to further service faculty who are serving as chairs of departments or programs or on other elected college committees.

The committee acts to ensure continuity in committees where simultaneous retirements take place; ordinarily this is done by extending the term of one member.

All records of the Committee on Committees are collected annually in a permanent file in the Dean of the Faculty office.
8. Committee on Housing

Purpose: The committee on housing supports the residential nature of the campus through the administration of housing policy related to Vassar’s rental and leasehold properties. The committee on housing is responsible for considering general questions of housing policy and for the application of established policy to particular cases. The committee also serves as the body to which administrative rulings concerning housing may be appealed.

The enforcement of all provisions and regulations described in the Faculty Handbook is the responsibility of the dean of strategic planning and academic resources in consultation with the committee on housing.

Membership: The committee on housing consists of three members of the faculty, elected by the faculty for a term of three years, one member rotating off each year, two of whom are tenured and one untenured.

9. Library Committee

Purpose: The library committee collaborates with the Director of the Library on library policies, initiatives and new directions that affect the library’s central role in the educational mission of the College. Its agenda reflects the curricular interests of the faculty and the interests of the community as a whole as they relate to the resources and services of the library.

As educational technology issues arise, the library committee consults with the committee on academic technologies. The library committee reports annually to the faculty on its activities and brings all issues that may significantly affect the library’s role as an educational unit of the College to the faculty for discussion.

Membership: The library committee consists of the Director of the Library (co-chair); a faculty co-chair, who is tenured and elected at large for a three-year term; the dean or associate dean of the faculty; the dean or associate dean of strategic planning and academic resources; one librarian; four faculty members, no more than two from any division, elected for two years, two retiring each year, and two students. No department is represented by more than one faculty member.

The Library Committee is the primary venue for faculty engagement with, and review of the role of the Library in the educational mission of the College. The agenda varies depending both on the needs of the Library and on the current interest and concerns of the committee members and the Faculty. The committee reviews existing policy and proposes changes or new policy as necessary. The committee co-chairs set the agenda, responding to the issues they see as important to their constituencies.

There are no standing subcommittees, but the committee occasionally forms ad-hoc sub-committees for efficiency or when a topic requires sustained but narrower discussions. Normally such subcommittees are of short duration; however, if the topic warrants extended research or discussion, a sub-committee may continue for a longer period. Subcommittees report back regularly to the full committee.

10. Committee on Academic Technologies

Purpose: The committee on academic technologies develops and recommends policy related to academic and educational technologies, gathers information from faculty and students about instructional technology needs and initiatives and serves as advocates for those needs, and solicits ideas from and informs faculty and students of new initiatives related to instructional technology.

Membership: The committee on academic technologies consists of four elected members of the faculty, one from each division including the multi-disciplinary programs; a member of academic computing services; a professional librarian appointed by the director of the libraries; and a member of the student body. Faculty members serve three-year terms and may not be elected to more than 2 consecutive terms. The committee selects a chair annually from the faculty members on the committee.
11. Committee on Research

Purpose: The committee on research considers policies related to faculty research. It advises the president, the dean of the faculty, and the faculty on applications for designated college research funds.

Membership: The committee on research consists of five faculty members. The chair is a tenured member of the faculty elected for three years. Three other tenured members of the faculty are elected for two years, one from each of the divisions. The fifth member of the committee is elected at large for two years from the non-tenured (tenure-track, lecturers, or visiting) teaching faculty with academic suffrage. Two of the four members on two-year terms retire each year.

12. Committee on Admission and Financial Aid

Purpose: The committee on admissions and financial aid considers all topics relevant to the college’s practice, standards, and policies of admission and financial aid broadly construed. The committee (1) acts as a forum for the discussion of issues and policies related to admission and financial aid, (2) acts as a conduit for the flow of information among the faculty, the student body, and the administration concerning these issues, (3) presents for approval to the faculty changes in standards and policies regarding admission and financial aid which are relevant to educational policy. Any policy changes approved by the faculty must be submitted to the trustees for final approval.

Membership: The committee on admissions and financial aid consists of five members of the faculty, four members of the administration, and five students. Faculty members include the faculty co-chair, a tenured member of the faculty elected at large for a three-year term; three divisional representatives, one from each division, elected for two-year terms, one or two retiring each year; and the faculty athletics representative. In conformity with the rules of the National Collegiate Athletics Association, members of the department of athletics and physical education may not serve on this committee. Administrators on the committee include the dean of admission and financial aid (co-chair), director of financial aid, associate dean of the college for student growth and engagement, and dean of first-year students. The five students include at least one freshman. The vice president for communications serves ex officio.

13. Committee on Fellowships

Purpose: The committee on fellowships awards the income of college fellowships, except those for which a special procedure has been prescribed. The committee on fellowships reviews and makes decisions on applications for nationally competitive awards requiring institutional nomination or endorsement.

Membership: The committee on fellowships consists of the dean of studies (chair) and seven members of the faculty elected for two years, at least two from each division, three members retiring each year. No department is represented by more than one faculty member. Ad hoc committees review applications for particular fellowships in order to reduce the workload of the fellowship committee.

When a new fellowship opportunity is made available, the dean of studies and the director of the fellowship office, working sometimes with the development office, establish whether the applications will be reviewed by the full committee or by an ad hoc committee. Members of ad hoc committees are recruited by the director of the fellowship committee in some cases, and by departments in others. This work is separate from the work of the elected fellowship committee.

14. Committee on Assessment

Purpose: The committee on assessment examines and evaluates the practices in place to achieve the college’s educational goals as stated in its mission statement and elsewhere. Over a ten-year period it addresses all of the “Standards for Accreditation” published by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education.
Membership: The committee on assessment consists of three elected members of the faculty: a chair, who is tenured, and two members elected at-large. The term of service of the chair is three years; the term of service of the at-large members is two years. The dean or associate dean of the faculty and the director of institutional research serve on the committee, ex officio.
(Amended by the faculty Nov. 2015)

15. Academic Panel

Purpose: The academic panel reviews cases of academic dishonesty and assigns penalties. The three faculty members also serve as a court of appeals for students who, because of their unsatisfactory academic standing, are required to withdraw from the College by the committee on student records. The senior member of this court serves as chair and reports recommendations on appeals to the dean of studies and the president for final decision.

Membership: The academic panel consists of the dean of studies (chair); three faculty members elected for two years, one and two retiring in alternate years; and three students.

16. Campus Investor Responsibility Committee

The campus investor responsibility committee recommends to the trustee investor responsibility committee votes on social action proxies being considered by shareholders of public companies represented in the college portfolio. It also studies broader investor responsibility issues and makes recommendations to the trustee committee.

The committee consists of the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources, two alumnae/i, two students, two members elected from the faculty for two year terms, and two administrators. As one of its nine members, the Dean of Strategic Planning and Academic Resources chairs the committee, coordinates the selection of committee members who are chosen or appointed by the relevant constituency, and serves as a non-voting member except in the case of a tie. Each constituency may also be represented by an alternate.

17. Committee on Campus Master Planning *

Website

The committee formulates and revises the master plan for the development of the campus; provides a forum for the review and discussion of current issues and longer-range plans related to the maintenance and improvement of buildings and grounds; and advises the president, and through the president, the executive committee and the committee on buildings and grounds of the board of trustees, on matters of policy.

A. The committee on campus master planning includes the vice president for finance and administration (chair), the dean of planning and student and academic affairs, three faculty members elected to three year terms, one from each division, with one retiring each year, and three students. In addition, the committee includes, ex officio, the director of buildings and grounds, the director of capital projects and facilities planning, the director of disabilities services, an associate dean of the faculty, the director of academic facilities planning, the chief information officer, the director of residential life, and the sustainability coordinator. (Amended November 5, 1997, February 18, 2009.)

18. Classroom Committee

The Classroom Committee plans for renovations and improvement of teaching spaces and offices on campus. It is a working group chaired by the director of academic facilities development with representatives from Buildings and Grounds Services, the Registrar’s Office, Computing and Information Services, the Dean of the Faculty office, and Purchasing.
19. College Committee on Admission and Financial Aid *

The committee on admissions and financial aid considers all topics relevant to the college’s practice, standards, and policies of admission and financial aid broadly construed. The committee (1) acts as a forum for the discussion of issues and policies related to admission and financial aid, (2) acts as a conduit for the flow of information among the faculty, the student body, and the administration concerning these issues, (3) presents for approval to the faculty changes in standards and policies regarding admission and financial aid which are relevant to educational policy. Any policy changes approved by the faculty must be submitted to the trustees for final approval.

The committee on admissions and financial aid consists of five members of the faculty, four members of the administration, and five students. Faculty members include the faculty co-chair, a tenured member of the faculty elected at large for a three-year term; three divisional representatives, one from each division, elected for two-year terms, one or two retiring each year; and the faculty athletics representative. In conformity with the rules of the National Collegiate Athletics Association, members of the department of athletics and physical education may not serve on this committee. Administrators on the committee include the dean of admission and financial aid (co-chair), director of financial aid, associate dean of the college for campus life and diversity, and dean of first-year students. The five students include at least one freshman. The vice president for communications serves ex officio.

20. College Committee on Climate Action and Sustainability *

Website

The committee acts as a forum for the discussion of administrative and educational policies that foster a sustainable interaction between human beings and the natural environment. It presents for approval to the faculty policies that are related to educational policy and is advisory to the president on administrative policies. Any policy changes approved by the faculty is submitted to the trustees for final approval.

The college committee on sustainability consists of the college sustainability coordinator (chair); two members elected from the faculty; one student; one representative from the alumnae/i; and one representative from each of the following offices: buildings and grounds, computing and information services, purchasing, development, and dining services.

21. Committee on College Life *

The committee on college life reviews academic and residential policies as they affect students and recommends to the president revisions of college regulations. The committee is empowered to set regulations for the college community to ensure compliance with existing local, state and federal laws. The committee serves as the liaison, through the dean of the college and the president, between students and the trustees.

The Committee on College Life consists of the Dean of the College (chair), three administrators chosen by the Dean of the College, two members of the faculty elected for staggered two year terms, one house fellow, four students elected to represent each of the four classes, a member of the executive board of the VSA, and a student member chosen at large.

23. Community Works Committee

Community Works is Vassar’s annual giving campaign for local non-profit organizations. Funded by donations from employees, trustees, and students, Community Works has provided over $1 million in grants to over 50 different groups since its inception in 2001. Recipients are selected each year by an employee committee based upon nominations from members of the college community.

24. Faculty Athletics Representative
The Faculty Athletic Representative, currently a member of the faculty appointed by the Dean of the Faculty, is now an elected faculty position due to recently passed faculty legislation. The term of office is 3 years. The NCAA handbook states that the local duties of faculty athletics representatives vary from institution, but in every case the faculty athletics representative is or should be involved in the assurance of the academic integrity of the athletics program and in the maintenance of the welfare of the student-athlete. The Representative is a member of the newly created Faculty Athletic Advisory Committee, which also includes a member of FASC and a member of FPCC. The Representative must hold the rank of Professor and cannot be a member of the Department of Athletics and Physical Education.

25. Committee on House Fellows
The committee shall serve as the faculty's consultant to the board of house presidents of the VSA. The committee of house fellows shall consist of all the house fellows, one of whom it shall elect as chair.

26. Committee on Inclusion and Equity
The Committee on Inclusion and Equity (CIE) is a presidential advisory committee. The committee works with the President each year to identify college practices and issues that would benefit from a clearer articulation of the institution’s stance pertaining to diversity, inclusion, and equity. The committee researches high-priority campus concerns. It develops pertinent guidelines that are reviewed by the President and the shared governance structures of the College, before being proposed for adoption as official statements or policy. The Committee on Inclusion and Equity includes students, administrators, and faculty, some of whom are appointed by the President, and some of whom are elected. The appointed members include two faculty co-chairs and administrators from various campus offices. The elected members include two student representatives, one untenured faculty member, and two faculty members of any rank. The term of service for student representatives is one year and the term of service for elected faculty is two years.

27. Institute for the Liberal Arts Committee
The committee is advisory to the Faculty Director of the Institute for the Liberal Arts on issues related to the Institute’s strategic direction. It assists the Faculty Director in the development of the Institute’s short term objectives and is responsible for soliciting proposals for Institute programs from the Vassar community. The committee advises the Faculty Director on the selection of internal and external Institute programs, and as needed in matters related to external programming that is brought by the external management company. The committee will report annually to the faculty. The committee consists of the Faculty Director of the Institute for the Liberal Arts (Chair); the Program Director for the Institute for the Liberal Arts; the Associate Dean of the College for Campus Activities; the Faculty Director of Research Development; two faculty, elected from different divisions to two year terms and not to include the division represented by the Faculty Director of Research Development; one non-tenured member of the faculty elected to a two-year term; one administrator appointed by the Dean of Faculty, and two students.

28. Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee
The goal of each IACUC is to ensure the humane care and use of animals used in research, and compliance with guidelines and regulations, while maintaining flexibility to best meet the unique needs of the institution. Active participation by research scientists allows for the scientific needs of research investigators to be considered; participation by nonaffiliated members incorporates a public conscience; and the involvement of veterinarians ensures appropriate medical care and animal well-being. A program of continuing education is essential to ensure that animal care and use standards and ethical principles continue to be applied at the highest possible level.

29. Committee on Leaves and Privileges

All requests for academic leaves of absence, special privilege with respect to curricular requirements, acceleration etc. should be directed to the faculty Committee on Leaves and Privileges through the office of the dean of studies. All requests for privilege must be reviewed by the adviser. Requests for academic leaves and for acceleration must be accompanied by proposed academic programs reviewed and evaluated by the adviser.

30. Library Committee *

The library committee collaborates with the Director of the Library on library policies, initiatives and new directions that affect the library’s central role in the educational mission of the College. Its agenda reflects the curricular interests of the faculty and the interests of the community as a whole as they relate to the resources and services of the library. As educational technology issues arise, the library committee consults with the committee on academic technologies. The library committee reports annually to the faculty on its activities and brings all issues that may significantly affect the library’s role as an educational unit of the College to the faculty for discussion.

The library committee consists of the Director of the Library (co-chair); a faculty cochair, who is tenured and elected at large for a three-year term; the dean or associate dean of the faculty; the dean or associate dean of strategic planning and academic resources; one librarian; four faculty members, no more than two from any division, elected for two years, two retiring each year, and two students. No department is represented by more than one faculty member.

31. Pre-Health Advisory Committee

The Pre-Medical Advisory Committee is comprised of faculty members from the sciences. Additionally we have a Public Health liaison. Members of the committee work with students exploring health professions. Support is available to all Vassar students and graduates. The committee works together to draft, review and finalize all composite letters of recommendation.

32. Committee on Priorities and Planning *

The committee on priorities and planning is advisory to the president on issues relating to annual budget planning and the long-term allocation of resources at the college. Members of the committee are mindful of the overall mission of the college in their consideration of student charges, financial aid policies, compensation, endowment use, non-compensation operating expenditures, maintenance of the facilities, as well as other expenditures and sources of revenue.

Membership is at the discretion of the President, but may generally be composed of the following members: the president, the dean of the faculty, dean of strategic planning and academic resources, dean of the college, and dean of admissions and financial aid; the vice president for finance and administration; the chair and second year full professor of the faculty appointment and salary committee; the chair and the budget member of the faculty policy and conference committee; and two students appointed by the VSA, normally including the VSA president. Faculty representation from additional standing committees depends on the focus of the work of P&P in a given year. Examples include but are not limited to the faculty co-chair of the Committee on Admissions and Financial Aid, the chair of the Assessment Committee, and a faculty member of the Campus Master Planning Committee.
33. Committee on Research *

Website

The committee on research considers policies related to faculty research. It advises the president, the dean of the faculty, and the faculty on applications for designated college research funds. The committee on research consists of five faculty members. The chair is a tenured member of the faculty elected for three years. Three other tenured members of the faculty are elected for two years, one from each of the divisions. The fifth member of the committee is elected at large for two years from the non-tenured (tenure-track, lecturers, or visiting) teaching faculty with academic suffrage. Two of the four members on two-year terms retire each year.

34. Review Committee *

In the case of a recommendation to dismiss a faculty member for cause, the faculty member may request that a review committee be constituted. The review committee reviews the case and makes an independent recommendation to the president, the dean of the faculty, and the faculty appointment and salary committee as provided in The Educational Organization of the College. The appeal committee may also request a review committee be constituted if non-tenured faculty members allege that an abridgment of academic freedom significantly contributed to a decision to terminate their appointment at its expiration, as provided in The Educational Organization of the College. In such cases, the burden of proof rest with the faculty members for establishing the grounds upon which the allegations are based.

A separate review committee is constituted for each case. The committee on committees appoints the membership of the review committee, which consists of three tenured professors. The committee elects a chair from its membership.

35. Committee on Student Records

The committee on student records considers student academic records and makes final decisions on awarding of degrees with departmental honors. It recommends to the faculty the standards for continuance in the college and considers and acts upon the academic records of students whose standing is less than satisfactory.

The committee on student records shall consist of: the dean of studies (chair), the dean of first year students (a voting member only when freshman are under consideration), four members of the faculty appointed by the chair for two years, two retiring each year, and as non-voting member, the registrar. No department may be represented by more than one member.
